Second chance for 47.6L deleted voters in city as spl drive begins

Re-Verified ASDD Voters To Submit Form 6 By Oct 30

AlokKNMishra@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Following a nudge from the Election Commission to states and UTs, Delhi election officials have begun re-verifying 47.6 lakh voters whose names were deleted from the draft electoral rolls published during the ongoing special intensive revision (SIR).

The draft rolls published Aug 31 had 97.5 lakh names in all, against 1.4 crore at the start of the exercise in June. The 47.6 lakh voters, or 32.8% of the electorate, were struck off as their enumeration forms could not be collected during the house-to-house verification, and were therefore marked absent, shifted, dead, and duplicate (ASDD). The house-to-house verification drive beginning June 30 lasted nearly seven weeks.

These voters are separate from 33 lakh voters whose names were included in the draft rolls, but have been served SIR notices over "discrepancies".

The current re-verification exercise across Delhi's 70 constituencies "is aimed at ensuring no genuine voter is excluded from the final rolls, scheduled to be published on Dec 4", said Delhi chief electoral officer Ashok Kumar. "BLOs will check whether voters marked ASDD were wrongly deleted from the SIR draft rolls. Voters found to have been wrongly deleted will have to fill form 6 for inclusion," said an official. The deadline for submitting the forms is Oct 30.

COPS BLOCK TIRANGA RALLY

Small groups of protesters from student & youth organisations hit the streets in CP's Inner Circle and Janpath Friday, waving the tricolour and raising slogans, amid heavy police deployment that kept Central Park out of bounds. CJP founder Abhijeet Dipke, who gave the call for the rally, was taken into preventive detention earlier in the evening, as was AISA president Neha Bora. This is Dipke's second detention in a week. While Bora was detained at RK Puram PS, CJP alleged Dipke was taken to an undisclosed location and couldn't be contacted. 'UP police acting as law unto themselves': HC slams detention

Prayagraj: Allahabad high court has pulled up UP police over the unlawful detention of a man before his formal arrest, observing that police appear to be acting as a "law unto themselves", reports Rajesh Kumar Pandey.

HC, in its order dated Oct 7, termed Noida ACP Kamlesh Kant and investigating officer Anuj Kumar "highly ignorant of BNSS procedures" and criticised their approach towards statutory requirements. It asked the UP DGP to prepare better police training modules to sensitise officers on civil liberties and procedures that should be followed before arrest or detention. A division bench comprising Justice Atul Sreedharan and Justice Achal Sachdev allowed a habeas corpus petition filed by the man.

Airfare policy will seek to prevent sharp surges

India has no plans to regulate or cap airfares under the new policy being finalised. However, it will keep a 'strong lever' on airlines to ensure they don't resort to sharp surges in 'exceptional and extraordinary circumstances'. 2nd double death penalty in Meerut in two days

Sandeep.Rai@timesofindia.com

Meerut: A city court Friday awarded death penalty to a 28-year-old woman, Ravita Kashyap, and her 20-year-old lover, Amar Deep, for murdering her husband — Amit Kashyap, 31 — and attempting to pass off the killing as a snakebite. After the "blue drum" murder case, this is the second death sentence handed down in the city in just two days.

According to additional district govt counsel Farzana Maqsood, the court observed that by committing the crime, the accused had "shredded the principles of Sati Savitri, who had snatched her husband's life from the jaws of death, and hence deserved nothing less than a death sentence".

On April 13, 2025, Amit was found dead on his bed with 10 apparent snakebite marks on his body and a live, venomous snake trapped underneath him. However, the postmortem dismantled the cover-up, establishing that he died of asphyxia from pressure applied to his mouth, nose and neck. The autopsy also revealed fractures to his hyoid bone and thyroid cartilage. Investigation revealed that Amar Deep had purchased the snake from a snake charmer for Rs 1,000.

RIL to Musk: Competition welcome, but follow rules

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Ahead of its Rs 30,213-crore Jio IPO, Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Industries has rebutted Elon Musk's tirade on X and said it welcomed competition.

Last Wednesday, Musk had accused "certain oligarchs" of "blocking" Starlink's entry to India before naming Ambani over the next two days in a series of posts.

In an early morning statement on Friday, Reliance Industries said: "We welcome competition in satellite communications, including Starlink. Every player, Jio included, must serve the people of India and abide by the laws and policies of the land."

Delhi's 59 Air Monitoring Stns Still Don't Cover Half Of Its Population

Experts Flag Gaps In Eastern, Central And South-Central Parts Of Capital

Priyangi.Agarwal

New Delhi: The 13 newly operational continuous ambient air quality monitoring stations (CAAQMS) in Delhi have brought an additional 17 lakh people within the estimated 2km coverage radius of a monitoring station, taking the total population covered to around 1.1 crore, according to a new analysis by Centre for Research on Energy and Clean Air (CREA).

However, around half of Delhi's population — 51%, or roughly 1.2 crore people — is still outside this estimated coverage radius.

At 60, Delhi has the highest number of continuous ambient air quality monitoring stations (CAAQMS) in the country. However, CREA's analysis covers 59 monitoring stations, because New Moti Bagh is currently not operational.

"The analysis estimates Delhi's total population at around 2.3 crore, based on a 2026 worldpop gridded population dataset. The 46 old stations cover an estimated 95 lakh people, equivalent to 41.5% of the city's population, within their combined 2km coverage areas," states the analysis.

"However, even with all 59 stations, around half of Delhi's population would remain outside the defined 2km coverage areas," said CREA. It added that the additional 17 lakh people represent the population newly covered after accounting for overlap between the coverage areas of old and new stations.

TOI had reported that the 13 new locations, which are mostly in outer Delhi, were identified on the basis of ensuring one station per 25 sq km (5 km × 5 km grid) in the city. Delhi Pollution Control Committee (DPCC) in consultation with Commission for Air Quality Management (CAQM) identified these locations considering the grid.

Manoj Kumar, analyst, CREA, said, "The analysis identifies population-based gaps in Delhi's CAAQMS network, with clusters of high-priority uncovered areas in eastern, central and south-central Delhi. These areas warrant further assessment to determine whether additional monitoring stations are needed, taking into account existing station coverage, local pollution sources and population distribution."

He added that stations in greener, less built-up areas may record different pollution levels from those in densely populated neighbourhoods with heavy traffic and other emission sources. Their readings should be reported separately where they represent background pollution, so that higher PM2.5 levels in polluted neighbourhoods are not masked by a citywide average, said Kumar.

CREA said the 2km radius is a geographical measure used to compare the network's reach, but it does not mean that a station captures pollution levels uniformly across that area or that people outside it are necessarily unrepresented. Air pollution varies with traffic, industrial activity, local emission sources and weather conditions.

99% of fires in buildings without valid certificates

AlokKNMishra

New Delhi: Delhi recorded 36,877 emergency calls in 2025-26, the highest in six years, with fire-related incidents accounting for 55.3% of the total. The remaining calls concerned animal and bird rescues and other emergencies.

An alarming 99% of fire incidents occurred in premises without valid fire safety certificates. Incidents were more frequent in unauthorised colonies and buildings where inadequate access often delayed fire tenders. Even in planned areas, fires were triggered by electricity consumption far exceeding sanctioned loads and the presence of combustible materials.

These details were presented during a meeting chaired by lieutenant governor TS Sandhu Friday to review the functioning of Delhi Fire Service (DFS).

Officials said Sandhu directed a review of fire response times, particularly in densely populated colonies, industrial clusters and high-rise buildings. He also called for a zone-wise action plan with measurable targets and periodic monitoring.

"The LG asked for effective coordination with traffic police, MCD, DDA and other agencies to ensure unobstructed access for fire tenders. He also called for periodic fire-risk mapping of vulnerable areas and mock drills," an official said.

Delhi currently has 71 fire stations, including four that operate only during the day, against the Master Plan norm of at least 120 stations to ensure a five-minute response time.

The meeting, attended by state home minister Ashish Sood, the chief secretary, MCD commissioner, special commissioner of Delhi Police, principal secretary (home) and other senior Delhi govt officials, reviewed operational preparedness, public safety, resource augmentation and time-bound implementation of measures.

To address existing constraints, Sandhu called for sustained, proactive fire safety awareness campaigns involving students, resident welfare associations, industry associations and market traders' associations. He also directed agencies to step up inspections and audits, particularly in residential buildings, markets, industrial premises and mixed-use areas. Buildings with recurring violations must be identified and corrective action ensured in consultation with their residents or owners, he added.

To strengthen firefighting capabilities, the LG directed DFS to expedite recruitment, pursue pending manpower proposals and prioritise procurement of essential equipment. He also stressed regular checks of operational readiness.

Sandhu further called for an integrated command and control centre equipped with vehicle tracking and real-time incident updates. Proposed measures include a computer-aided dispatch system with GIS-based tracking, live streaming from fire sites, a citizen mobile app, and an integrated ultra-high frequency and radio frequency communication network. The network would comprise five zonal control rooms and a master control room to prevent communication blackouts during major incidents, officials said.

To expand firefighting infrastructure, the LG directed agencies to expedite the identification and transfer of land for new fire stations, prioritising high-risk, densely populated and rapidly developing areas. Land has been made available for 23 new fire stations, while the agencies concerned have been asked to allot land for the remaining 27. The expansion plan aims to increase Delhi's fire station network from 71 to 121.

Man strangles 40-yr-old neighbour after spat over parking, loud music

Times News Network

Noida: A 40-year-old auto driver was allegedly drugged and strangled by his neighbour, a pharmacist, after repeated disputes over parking and loud music in Greater Noida's Kulesara. The accused allegedly mixed intoxicants into the man's liquor before killing him and dumping his body at an isolated stretch on Lakhnawali Road.

Lalit Kumar Sharma (43) was arrested and the Maruti Suzuki Brezza allegedly used to transfer the body was seized. Pills and the victim's broken mobile phone were also found with him. The victim, Pawan Sharma, lived in Kulesara and had a longstanding dispute with Lalit over parking his three-wheeler on a narrow street near the latter's house. The two had also quarrelled over music on several occasions, police said.

On Oct 15, Lalit allegedly invited Pawan to a party and took him in his Brezza (UP16FM/8392). He allegedly mixed the pills into Pawan's liquor. Once the auto driver became intoxicated, Lalit strangled him and dumped his body on Lakhnawali Road.

Pawan's family approached Ecotech 3 police station Thursday after he went missing Wednesday evening. They told police that he had informed them he was going out with Lalit, prompting them to suspect the neighbour's involvement.

Traffic curbs in south Delhi till Oct 20 due to Durga Puja

Private vehicles of visitors and devotees will not be allowed into CR Park and GK-II during the restriction hours. Traffic congestion is expected on Outer Ring Road, Lala Lajpat Rai Marg, August Kranti Marg and Mehrauli-Badarpur Road.

Other stretches likely to be affected include Guru Ravidas Marg, Lal Bahadur Shastri Marg and Josip Broz Tito Marg.

Delhi Traffic Police has advised visitors to use metro to avoid parking difficulties. Taxi and auto-rickshaw drop-off points will be available at Greater Kailash and Nehru Enclave Metro stations, from where visitors can walk to the pandals.

Dipke Detained Ahead Of Central Park Event

In Notice To CJP Founder, Cops Cite Calls For Assembly Without Nod

Abhay@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: CJP founder Abhijeet Dipke, holding a national flag in his hand, was taken into preventive detention after stepping out of a house in central Delhi's Jhandewalan Friday. His second detention this month — the earlier one was at IGIA when he arrived in Delhi to participate in a protest against SIR of poll rolls and CEC Gyanesh Kumar on Oct 10 — came ahead of the party's 'Lehra Do Tiranga' call at Connaught Place at 5pm.

At 4.30pm, a video showed Dipke coming out of the house and heading for a road when he was surrounded by media personnel. As cops blocked his way, he asked, "What violation have I committed? I am alone". A cop replied, "There's a large crowd behind you." Dipke retorted, "Where's the crowd? They are media personnel."

Another officer told him that preventive action was being taken against him, following which he was whisked away in a police vehicle to an undisclosed location. He was yet to be released till reports last came in at night.

Before the detention, a group of more than 10 police personnel had reached the house and asked Dipke not to hold the demonstration at CP, citing concerns over traffic congestion, public safety and disruption to commercial activity. In an exchange captured on video, Dipke was heard saying, "We (CJP) never said we are holding a protest. We said we would wave the national flag. Is that not allowed either? Is the Tricolour unlawful?" A policeman responded that the flag was the pride of the country.

Several sheets of papers were seen lying on a table inside the house. Dipke was later seen signing on them.

Abhijeet Dipke being taken into preventive detention at Jhandewalan Friday

In a notice issued to Dipke, police referred to his public statements and social media calls for people to assemble at CP, allegedly without seeking prior permission. The notice was issued in connection with proceedings before Delhi High Court in two petitions.

Police said CP is a busy commercial hub with limited entry and exit points. A crowd in one circle can clog the others, making dispersal and emergency exit difficult, they said. CP houses numerous shops, restaurants, hotels, banks and offices, and disruptions during evening and peak festive season could affect business, the notice stated, adding over 15 lakh traders and employees depend on its peaceful and orderly functioning for their livelihoods.

It also highlighted that Rajiv Chowk metro station, an interchange between the Blue and Yellow lines that caters to an average of two lakh commuters daily, could be affected by the gathering. A large crowd could lead to congestion and pose a stampede risk, while obstruction of arterial roads could disrupt traffic across central Delhi, police said.

Citing CP's proximity to Parliament, Central Secretariat and diplomatic precincts, cops said an unauthorised gathering could heighten security concerns.

Stating that prohibitory orders under Section 163 of BNSS were in force, cops warned that any violation could invite action under Section 223 of BNS and other applicable provisions.

Police also referred to previous CJP demonstrations, alleging that protesters had violated the conditions of permissions granted to them. Earlier calls for a march towards Parliament had resulted in violence and damage to public and private property, they claimed.

Invoking provisions of Delhi Police Act, 1978, the notice prohibited demonstrations, processions and rallies in the vicinity of CP, along with the carrying of objects that could be used as weapons and also the use of loudspeakers. It directed Dipke to ensure that the rights of traders, commuters, patients and other citizens were not affected. The notice further stated that CP was not a notified protest site and that demonstrations could be held at designated venues, subject to permission.

Sources said Dipke was also served with a notice related to an alleged breach of bond. He was released on Oct 11 after furnishing a surety bond of Rs 50,000, undertaking to maintain peace and good behaviour for one year, police said.

INDIA bloc plans citywide campaign against SIR

New Delhi: A meeting of the Delhi unit of INDIA bloc constituents was held at the Delhi Pradesh Congress Committee (DPCC) office on DDU Marg Friday, with functionaries deciding to intensify their campaign against the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls and expand the movement across the capital.

According to a DPCC statement, the meeting "condemned the alleged crackdown on protesters and criticised the removal of Jantar Mantar from the list of designated protest sites, calling it an attack on democratic rights."

There was a consensus among parties to expand the ongoing movement—which calls for the removal of chief election commissioner Gyanesh Kumar, cancellation of the SIR process, a return to paper ballot-based elections and the revocation of the immunity granted to election commissioners against criminal proceedings—to every street, neighbourhood and locality across Delhi in the coming days, stated the party.

The meeting decided that all constituent parties would work together for the INDIA bloc rally scheduled for Nov 1. Citizens' groups and people's organisations will also hold protests across Delhi on Oct 23, followed by a week-long awareness campaign through posters, pamphlets and social media outreach.

DPCC general secretary Anil Bhardwaj said Aam Aadmi Party was not a part of the INDIA alliance. "Any decision on including another political party would be taken by the Congress leadership in consultation with existing INDIA bloc partners," he said. TNN

HEALTH AWARENESS INITIATIVE

Weak bones raise fracture risk

On World Trauma Day, remember that road accidents are not the only cause of trauma. A simple fall at home can cause serious fractures too

Osteoporosis weakens bones without causing symptoms, and for many people, the first sign is a fracture. India may see over 10 lakh hip fractures a year by 2050. The care provided after surgery strongly influences how much independence a patient retains. Surgeons take these questions in turn.

Dr Shekhar Srivastav
Director and HOD Orthopaedics, Sant Parmanand Hospital

What is osteoporosis?
"Osteoporosis is a condition in which bones lose density and become fragile, making them more likely to break. It is often called a silent disease because there are usually no symptoms until a bone breaks. In India, only about one in five people with osteoporosis are estimated to be diagnosed and treated."

Dr Deepak Arora
Associate Director, Orthopaedics and Joint Replacement, Max Hospital, Patparganj

Why does the choice of implant matter?
"An implant holds the bone in position while it heals, so it must be suited to the fracture. A well-designed implant provides stable support, allows earlier movement and reduces the risk of the fracture shifting. Your surgeon chooses an implant suited to your injury. The implant is one part of the overall treatment."

Dr Aashish Chaudhry
Managing Director, AHPL Group, Director and Head, Orthopaedics and Joint Replacement, Aakash Healthcare

Why is a hip fracture so serious?
"A hip fracture almost always requires surgery and weeks of recovery. For an older person, weeks of limited mobility can lead to chest infections, blood clots, confusion, bedsores and muscle loss. Fewer than half regain their previous level of independence. However, these outcomes are not inevitable. Prevention, prompt treatment and proper rehabilitation can improve recovery."

Dr Ankur Singh
Associate Director and Head, Orthopaedics and Robotic Joint Replacement, Sarvodaya Hospital

Why does exercise matter after a fracture?
"Healing the bone is only part of recovery. When a limb is out of use, its muscles weaken, joints stiffen and balance gets worse. Exercises prescribed by a physiotherapist help rebuild strength, improve balance and restore walking ability, allowing you to return to normal activities. The exercise plan should be tailored to your needs."

Splinter protests in central Delhi, voices against — and for — SIR

(Top) Protesters face off with police and (above) take to the streets

New Delhi: Protests broke out across several parts of central Delhi Friday evening as student organisations and protesters took to the streets, waving the Tricolour and raising slogans despite heavy police deployment and restrictions on gatherings.

Even as CJP's Abhijeet Dipke was detained, small groups of protesters carrying the national flag gathered at Connaught Place in response to the party's 'Lehra Do Tiranga' call. Soon, protesters took over parts of Inner Circle.

Simultaneously, AISA president Neha Bora said the organisation would begin a march from Mandi House at 5pm. Bora, accompanied by other AISA representatives and members of Left-affiliated groups, began marching, at one point breaking into a run. However, they were intercepted by police.

Bora was surrounded by women constables, who struggled to escort her to a police vehicle amid pushing and jostling while she was being detained. She was taken to Southwest Delhi police station.

At night, a delegation of lawyers and civil society members demanding Bora's release reached Parliament Street police station and claimed cops refused to meet them. However, police didn't respond to the allegation.

Earlier in the day, student and youth outfits SFI, DYFI, AISF and AIYF also announced they will join the tiranga event at CP, while slogans were raised at Janpath. AAP also held a tiranga march near Rashtrapati Bhavan.

At 6.30pm, protest activity shifted to Janpath, where members of AISA and other Left-leaning student organisations gathered with placards, raising slogans.

A different scene was unfolding a few kilometres away. At 5pm, as CP remained under heavy police watch, small groups of people carrying the Tricolour began gathering outside Palika Bazaar.

Some people, including members of student organisation Krantikari Yuva Sangathan (KYS), marched along Inner Circle, raising slogans, while others posed for photographs with the national flag, marking their participation in the ongoing movement. Central Park remained out of bounds for protesters. Despite the heavy deployment, police did not intervene or take action against those gathered till around 6.30 pm, when they started asking them to leave. Even after sundown, people carrying the Tricolour continued to trickle into Inner Circle, raising slogans.

Detentions followed as night fell. Twelve activists, including six women from the Krantikari Yuva Sangathan, were reportedly detained from Gandhi Smarak and Central Park.

Among the agitators was Ishan, a Hindu College student, who held the Tricolour aloft as he walked through the area. "Several students from our college are here. I don't understand how govt can deny people the right to protest. It's our democratic right," he said.

Pari (19), who arrived at CP at 4.30pm draped in the Tricolour, was carrying a book on B R Ambedkar. She claimed a man who belonged to a "right-wing group" snatched the book and fled. Despite informal advisories from her college against joining protests on the grounds that they could affect students' careers, Pari said she was determined to raise her voice until CEC Gyanesh Kumar quit. "I am not afraid and will keep coming here," she said.

For others, the gathering was about keeping the movement alive. "This is how change will come. Those responsible for wrongdoing must be held accountable. This is not about one individual but about the entire system," said Abhay, another student.

The gathering was far from united in its views on SIR of electoral rolls. While many raised slogans against the exercise, some backed it and the governing party. A group repeatedly appeared wherever protesters assembled, claiming they were there to protect "law and order". Alok Tiwari (27) from Noida, who identified himself as being from such a group, was seen confronting a man raising slogans against SIR. "They are obstructing public movement during the festive season, and I am here to prevent that," Tiwari said.

For Jharia (59), a trader at the Palika Bazaar roundabout, the issue was personal. His son's and daughter's names were deleted from the rolls. Holding a banner against the CEC, he asked, "Koi inhe bataye ki vote katne se kya dukh hota hai?" Demanding that SIR be revoked, he said the protest was directed at EC and not any political party.

Mumaina (73), an All India Democratic Women's Association activist who had been detained on Oct 10, said, "I've witnessed many protests, but I have never been handled by police the way I was last Saturday," she said. Sana (32), a model, said, "I was beaten up by cops on July 20 and Oct 10. They pushed us out of Jantar Mantar, so we have taken to the streets," she said.

Close to 7,000 police personnel were deployed across New Delhi

New Delhi: Yellow barricades lined the roads, loudspeakers blared warnings against gatherings, and Delhi Police and CAPF personnel stood guard at every nook and corner of Connaught Place.

In the heart of the capital, where heavy security presence has of late become an increasingly familiar sight, Friday brought another dimension to the heightened vigilance owing to CJP's 'Lehra Do Tiranga' call.

Security was stepped up around Central Park, the proposed focal point of the gathering, with police personnel deployed inside and around its premises. A notice outside the park said it would remain closed for two days, warning that entry was prohibited and violators would face legal action.

Six thousand to seven thousand police personnel were deployed across New Delhi to maintain law and order. "Delhi currently has 200 CAPF companies, of which around 50 were deployed Friday," a police source confirmed.

Repeated announcements over loudspeakers reminded people that prohibitory orders under Section 163 of BNSS were in force and warned them against unlawful assembly.

Despite the curbs and notwithstanding the heavy police presence, people carrying the national flag began gathering near Central Park from the afternoon. Police commissioner Anurag Kumar visited several locations in CP with senior officers to review security arrangements.

Later, police said fewer than 100 people were detained throughout the day, though some accounts put the number at around 150, with those detained taken to designated centres. "We detained those carrying posters and those who had gathered to protest," a police officer said.

Delhi Police also took to social media to share guidelines on hoisting the Tricolour and educate people on the rules to be followed to honour it.

Police had earlier appealed to protesters and members of the public not to participate in assemblies that violate prohibitory orders and urged people not to disrupt peace and affect business activities. Cops said they could instead facilitate a group of select individuals to carry the Tricolour and sing the national anthem at a suitable location.

Clarifying the police's position, additional CP and Delhi Police PRO Rajeev Ranjan said Friday that no one had contacted the department seeking permission to hold the event at CP or submitted a list of this group of select individuals.

"The Flag Code clearly lays down the rules for respectfully hoisting it. These rules have been officially notified and are accessible to everyone. We recently posted guidelines on social media to remind citizens of the precautions they must observe while hoisting the Tricolour," Ranjan added.

In another development, Delhi Police began debunking "fake news and videos" circulating on social media that purportedly showed its personnel beating up protesters. Police flagged nearly 27 such posts, including one that claimed that their personnel had hit some protesters on the head with lathis and another that alleged they had manhandled people. Responding to the posts, police said that the videos were old and had no connection with Friday's events, urging people to refrain from spreading misleading information.

SC refuses to restrain CJP from protesting

Dhananjay.Mahapatra @timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Supreme Court Friday frowned upon frequent disruption of normal life by protests and consequent preventive measures, but refused to restrain the CJP protest at Connaught Place, saying sensible people must understand that it impedes the fundamental right to livelihood of small shopkeepers, hawkers and 'rediwalas'.

"We understand the hardships and crisis they and their family members face," said a bench of CJI Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi, even though it refused to act urgently on a petition filed by Kirana Committee of New Delhi and Iron Traders Association against the protest at Central Park in Connaught Place.

When advocate Jai Anant Dehadrai said traders are going

Tarun Rawat

to suffer huge losses, the bench said it will examine the plea on compensation for loss of business on Oct 26. "If we find someone or some authority responsible for losses suffered by traders, we will invoke our tort jurisdiction in public interest to make them compensate those who suffered losses," it said

Seeking urgent orders against the protest apprehending disruption of trade and business activities at the shopping hub during the festive season, Dehadrai said there should be a ban on protests during the festive season of Navaratri, Dussehra, Diwali and Karva Chauth. He said New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC) acted disproportionately by closing Central Park altogether on Friday in view of the proposed protest.

He said this is the season when small traders and hawkers earn something extra for their families and put a smile on their faces. Why should they be deprived of it just because someone has a right to protest, he asked.

The bench said Delhi HC has already dealt with this issue and refused to interfere in the CJP protest. "We will not hear it now. Let it be posted for hearing on Oct 26. We understand that protests, traffic snarls and closure of roads cause disruption of trading activities which hurts the small shopkeepers, rediwalas and hawkers the most. We hope that better sense will prevail," the bench said.

Festive sales take a hit, traders ask 'what about our livelihood?'

MISSING SHOPPERS: 'CP is not your stage, it's our workplace', stated New Delhi Traders Association as footfall at CP plunged amid the protests

New Delhi: On Friday afternoon, Connaught Place once again witnessed thin footfall despite a festive season being under way. While shops remained open, protests and a heavy police presence occupied parts of the market, affecting the movement of shoppers and leaving shopkeepers and vendors worried about business during this otherwise peak season.

With the weekend accounting for a major share of sales, many shopkeepers feared prolonged losses would make it difficult to pay rent, staff salaries and other expenses. A representative of a well-known outlet at CP, said, "Eighty to 90% of our business happens over the weekend. In the current situation, we are not even seeing 10% of our usual customers."

A woman vendor from Gujarat, who visits CP every year to sell traditional Gujarati products, said the situation had dampened her spirits this season. "My family had asked me not to come this time, but I still came. However, there are hardly any customers," she said.

Traders at CP, Khan Market and several Old Delhi markets have expressed resentment over repeated protests in central Delhi during the festive season, alleging that road closures and restrictions on movement have severely hit business, with sales dropping to as low as 10% on the days of agitation.

In fresh letters to Prime Minister, Union home minister and Delhi Police, traders reiterated that demonstrations be shifted from major commercial hubs as frequent protests were depriving them of crucial sales. Several traders' associations have also approached Supreme Court, seeking relief. The court has scheduled the matter for Oct 26.

In an appeal issued late Thursday night to all parties and protesters, New Delhi Traders Association (NDTA) said, "We respect your right to protest..., but CP is not your stage, it's our workplace." A poster shared by it on X stated, "You protest for a better tomorrow, don't kill our today."

NDTA president Atul Bhargava said just after CJP's 'Lehra Do Tiranga' Friday, another demonstration was organised by INDIA bloc, adding to their woes. "We have to pay our rentals, staff, property tax. We are incurring heavy losses," he said. Arguing that CP is a major commercial and traffic hub connecting north and south Delhi, Bhargava said protesters should use designated sites.

Responding to a post by CJP's Abhijit Dipke on X that businesses suffer when govt shuts down a city, suspends internet services or restricts movement, rather than because of peaceful protests, Bhargava said traders' concerns stemmed from their past experiences, when "such protests turn out to be violent and traders suffer automatically".

Delhi Kirana Committee and Khan Market Traders' Association are among the bodies that have filed petitions. KMTA president Sanjiv Mehra said all entry points to Khan Market from Nizamuddin, India Habitat Centre, Safdarjung and Race Course had been closed. He said Supreme Court had indicated Friday that traders could be compensated if it found they had been unlawfully deprived of business because of Tiranga Yatra.

In a letter to Prime Minister, Rajendra Kapoor, vice-president of Delhi Vyapar Mahasangh, said markets such as Sadar Bazar, Chandni Chowk, Khari Baoli, Bhagirath Palace, Kashmere Gate and Qutab Road served buyers from across the country. "Traffic congestion and restrictions can prevent customers from reaching shops, affecting business beyond the immediate protest site."

Paramjeet Singh Pamma, president of Sadar Bazaar Bari Market Traders Association, said inflation had already put traders under pressure. "The protests are adding to our woes. If goods bought for the festive season are not sold on time, we risk having our working capital tied up, increasing their financial burden."

Vinay Thakur, general secretary of Palika Bazaar Market Shopkeepers' Association, said shopkeepers were experiencing their second consecutive weekend of disruption. "What about our right to earn a livelihood?"

Police NOC Needed For Ramlila Maidan Protests

Vibha.Sharma
@timesofindia.com

DDA sources said a file would be moved to institutional land wing of the land disposal department for forming SOPs and fixing rates for both the sites

New Delhi: Five days after Delhi Police issued an order shifting protests from Jantar Mantar to Ramlila Maidan, Burari and CBD grounds, the progress in implementing it has been mixed. While MCD has drafted a revised standard operating procedure (SOP) for Ramlila Maidan, DDA is yet to finalise its norms for Burari and CBD grounds.

While Ramlila Maidan will be available for free for protests after booking, a no-objection certificate (NOC) from police and a refundable security payment of Rs 5,000 will be mandatory. "The booking process for protests at Ramlila Maidan is open and can be done offline," stated Municipal Corporation of Delhi. Organisers will have to visit City-Sadar Paharganj zone, submit a manual application on the letterhead of their organisation along with Aadhaar details and the NOC from police. "After the submission of documents, the deputy commissioner of the zone will clear it and dates will be booked," it added.

At CBD Ground in east Delhi, while the facility for online booking is available on the website of Delhi Development Authority, the menu doesn't include the category of protest or dharna. The site belongs to DDA and booking a plot of around 3,000 square metres costs Rs 1.8 lakh per day, including Rs 95,000 as security charges. "CBD Ground is booked for months as the site is leased out to event companies for marriages and other events. Dates for protests will be given only if there is no other booking," said a DDA official.

The booking fee for Burari Ground is not specified on DDA website as the process is offline. A direction was issued last week only to list the place online for permitting temporary events. DDA sources said a file would be moved to institutional land wing of the land disposal department for forming SOPs and rates for allocating both sites for protests. "Normal rates can't apply for holding agitations, so new SOPs have to be formulated for them," said a source.

Oppn parties, including Cong, slam detention of Dipke, Bora

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: The detention of CJP founder Abhijeet Dipke and AISA president Neha Bora by Delhi Police Friday during a series of flash protests in central Delhi drew strong reactions from several opposition parties.

Congress in a late night reaction said,"Those who did not hoist our Tiranga for 52 years after Independence - their govt is now arresting people for hoisting the Tricolour. This is the real face of Modi govt and BJP. Congress stands with all the protesters arrested today."

Addressing speculation over Congress's students outfit NSUI's absence from the "Lehra Do Tiranga" march — a day after Youth Congress appeared to dissociate itself from Bora's remark that "Bangladesh's Gen Z showed us the way of revolution" — NSUI national president Vinod Jakhar told TOI that they would have joined the protest but senior members, including him, were detained Thursday night while protesting outside Parliament Street police station.

TMC chairperson Mamata Banerjee, AAP convener Arvind Kejriwal and DMK's MK Stalin came out to issue strong statements over the Friday detentions.

"This is nothing but outright dictatorship. Is it a crime to hoist the Tricolour? Abhijeet's arrest shows just how much Modi ji fears them," Kejriwal said.

Mamata said this was "nothing short of an undeclared Emergency".

NCP-SP national spokesperson Clyde Crasto asked, " What happened to PM Narendra Modi's slogan of Har Ghar Tiranga, Har Mann Tiranga?"

Police vehicles lined Inner Circle, leaving just one row free

New Delhi: Connaught Place's Inner Circle and Mandi House emerged as the main traffic trouble spots Friday, while much of central Delhi kept moving despite the protests over Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls.

By 5pm, police vehicles and buses lined both sides of Inner Circle, leaving space for just one row of vehicles to pass at some points. By 5.30pm, as protesters began marching, the entire stretch appeared to have been shut to traffic. Mandi House, especially Barakhamba Road, also saw congestion after AISA's Neha Bora called for a Tiranga march.

But unlike many protest days in the recent past, the disruption was largely limited to a few stretches in central Delhi and most roads remained relatively clear. Delhi Police imposed security restrictions following CJP's 'Lehra Do Tiranga' call, but the metro continued to run, giving commuters some relief during the festive rush. A person even posted, "Absolutely normal traffic at CP Outer circle. Shot the video from right outside Central Park at 5.15pm."

Online, however, many people vented frustration. With Durga Puja and Dussehra celebrations underway and festive shopping picking up, repeated traffic curbs have become a sore point for many. Even a family outing to CP now comes with uncertainty, they said. "We have Durga Puja in and around Connaught Place. How do we commute with family members?" one user asked on a social media platform.

Another questioned why ordinary citizens had to bear the brunt of protests and repeated road restrictions, and argued that a few hundred protesters should not be able to disrupt movement across the city.

One user urged city traders' associations and shopkeepers to unite and speak out, saying repeated jams were hurting businesses and festive shopping.

'Don't reject applications for SIR over minor errors'

Officials have also been directed not to reject applications outright over minor errors in personal details. The Election Commission, had in a written communication on Sept 29, asked states and UTs to carry out a special drive to include voters "left out" of the rolls.

The move comes amid reports that some voters who are alive have been excluded as dead, while some who have not shifted from their registered addresses have been marked as having shifted. "BLOs have been instructed to verify the cases of voters missing from the draft rolls alongside their ongoing work related to resolving notices issued for discrepancies in electoral records," said an official.

Of 33 lakh voters served notices for discrepancies, around 25 lakh have been checked and verified by election officials. More than 19 lakh were flagged for "logical discrepancies", including mismatches in names, age-related inconsistencies and differences in family details, while nearly 14 lakh were classified as "unmapped" because their records could not be linked to the 2002 SIR.

An official said the election officials are targeting to resolve all the notices by Oct 30. The office of the chief electoral officer of Delhi, in a recent post on X, had said: "We had started a proactive campaign to resolve issues (discrepancies). By now around 20 lakh cases out of 33 lakh have been resolved. If any person has any grievance, please feel free to contact any of the 14,947 BLOs, 902 AEROs, 70 EROs, 13 DEOs or the CEO. No eligible voter will be excluded from the voter list."

The disposal of SIR notices and completion of verification, meanwhile, will continue until Nov 30. In cases where voters could not be mapped to the previous electoral rolls, BLOs have been asked to clear the cases promptly after taking and checking prescribed documents.

Those defacing public property will face FIR: CM

New Delhi: Delhi govt will register FIRs against those putting up illegal posters and hoardings on public property and intensify cleanliness drives across govt premises and adjoining areas ahead of Diwali, chief minister Rekha Gupta said Friday.

At a review meeting at Delhi Secretariat, Gupta directed heads of departments to crack down on defacement of public spaces and ensure the removal of garbage, debris and clutter from govt buildings and their surroundings.

"FIRs will be registered under the relevant law against those defacing Delhi by putting up illegal posters and hoardings on public properties. Additionally, all govt premises and adjoining areas will be cleared of garbage and debris to ensure cleanliness ahead of Diwali," Gupta said.

Gupta asked officials to conduct field inspections and ensure roads, intersections, flyovers, markets, residential areas and other public spaces remain clean and adequately lit during the festive season.

Expressing displeasure over unauthorised posters, Gupta directed their removal from roads, flyovers, govt buildings and markets. Action will be taken under the Delhi Prevention of Defacement of Property Act, 2007, against those responsible, officials said. CM also called for regular cleaning drives, measures to control road dust and prompt action to address staff shortages. TNN

Narwal can travel to UK for academic purposes

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi High Court Friday permitted activist Natasha Narwal, who is out on bail as an accused in cases arising from the 2020 northeast Delhi riots, to travel to United Kingdom for academic purposes.

Justice Amit Bansal directed the trial court to release Narwal's passport and clarified that any pending look-out circular against her would be suspended during her travel.

Narwal, a PhD scholar, said she intended to travel to UK for an academic conference between Nov 2 and Dec 1.

HC further asked Narwal and her brother to give a written undertaking that she would return to the country and not seek asylum in UK. The court also asked her to execute a personal bond of Rs 50,000 each in relation to two riots-related cases against her.

She will surrender her passport within 48 hours of her return and not make any statement on the merits of the cases pending against her during her visit, the court added.

HC noted that Narwal, who is pursuing a PhD from a university in UK, was required to be there to present her research work.

Delhi Police opposed her plea, expressing apprehensions she might not return to India.

Last week, the trial court had refused to permit Narwal to travel to UK.

She was named as an accused in three FIRs registered in connection with the protest during the violence in northeast Delhi in 2020, including the 'larger conspiracy' case.

HC declines stay on probe against YouTuber

New Delhi: Delhi High Court Friday refused to pass an interim order on a plea by a woman YouTuber, who wanted a stay on an investigation in which a police officer has alleged casteist remarks and public humiliation by her when the officer was on duty near Jantar Mantar this month.

Justice Mini Pushkarna said the court cannot pass an order without hearing the police's stand. It would be heard again after Oct 27.

The YouTuber filed a sexual assault complaint against the officer, which Crime Branch is probing.

As the counsel for the petitioner urged the court to pass an order staying the investigation in the case, the judge said: "No, not like this. I cannot pass any order without hearing them.... On the urgency expressed by the petitioner's counsel, list on Oct 27," the judge said.

The counsel for the YouTuber told the court that Thursday, Supreme Court directed no coercive action against the woman and added that the counsel for the state should give an assurance before the high court that it will not proceed against her. He said the FIR by the ACP was lodged only to intimidate the woman.

The FIR was registered under the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act and sections 221 (obstructing a public servant from discharging duty), 356(2) (defamation) and 3(5) (common intention) of BNS. The FIR said that when the officer was on duty near Jantar Mantar on Oct 3, he overheard the woman making derogatory remarks about his caste and questioning his appointment as an ACP.

He said he ignored the remarks and continued with his work. TNN

Abhinav.Rajput
@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Empty spaces beneath flyovers could soon be put to use as community areas, parking facilities, urban gardens and other public utilities. PWD is planning to begin such a redevelopment under the ITO flyover.

A consultant has prepared a design for the space beneath the ITO flyover, proposing a cafeteria, parking facilities, a PWD control room with seating for 40-50 people, and conference rooms with cabins.

The plan also includes landscaped areas, ramps and designated entry and exit points.

A senior Delhi govt official said the consultant had submitted the design and the project would now move towards tendering work.

The ITO project is part of a broader PWD plan to make better use of land beneath flyovers across the capital. These spaces often become parking spots or waste dumping sites.

"The idea is to use design to transform these corners into meaningful public assets," a PWD official said. "Some of these places have also become space for anti-social elements to take refuge," he said. "In some areas people already park cars, so it is better that govt earns revenue from it by transforming it as it is public land," he said.

According to officials, 50 flyovers have been identified for such an upgrade.

Some flyover spaces are already being used for other purposes. Fenced parks have been developed beneath the Lajpat Nagar and Moti Nagar flyovers, while areas beneath the Sukhdev Vihar and Indraprastha flyovers house departmental offices.

The longer list of 93 flyovers includes stretches along Ring Road and Outer Ring Road, besides Wazirabad, Ashram, Geeta Colony, Mukundpur and Rani Jhansi flyovers.

Among the longer stretches identified are the New RTR flyover, measuring 2,650 metres, Rani Jhansi flyover (2,000 metres), and Zakhira flyover (1,600 metres).

The redevelopment aims to turn such underused spaces into organised facilities rather than leaving them as neglected patches beneath elevated roads.

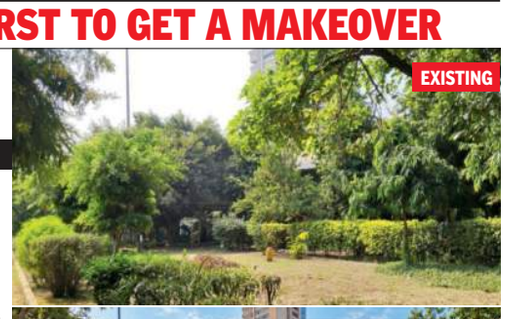
Also, Azadpur flyover (1,560 metres), Anand Vihar flyover (1,500 metres), Munirka flyover (1,400 metres), Naraina flyover (1,660 metres), AIIMS flyover (1,640 metres), and Outer Ring Road elevated stretches ranging from 2,600 to 2,850 metres could be developed on these lines.

ITO FLYOVER TO BE FIRST TO GET A MAKEOVER

50 Number of flyovers identified for redevelopment

The proposed design at ITO includes

- An open cafe
- Parking spaces
- A control room for 40-50 people
- Conference rooms for 20 people
- Landscaping
- Ramps and organised entry and exit points



Stretches identified for development

How Delhi Is Boosting Its Disaster Readiness

60 CAPF Personnel To Be Deployed In Each District

AlokKNMishra
@timesofindia.com

They will be trained to respond to emergencies that need specialised search-and-rescue ops

New Delhi: Nearly 60 personnel of the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPF) will be deployed in each of Delhi's 13 districts and about 300 will stand by for rapid mobilisation in emergencies as chief minister Rekha Gupta's cabinet has approved the setting up of a 1,050-strong State Disaster Response Force (SDRF).

The move comes against the backdrop of challenges Delhi faces when disaster strikes.

This force will be trained to respond to emergencies such as building collapses, urban flooding, earthquakes and other disasters that require specialised search-and-rescue operations, evacuation of stranded people and the use of various advanced rescue equipment.

Congested roads, narrow lanes, densely populated neighbourhoods and unauthorised construction often hamper access for the rescue teams. Such situations require teams to maximise the chances of saving lives and minimise damage.

"The disaster response personnel will be equipped with advanced equipment. After the cabinet's approval, the process for the setting up of the force has been set in motion," an official said.

Of the force's total strength of 1,050, 90% personnel will be drawn from CAPF on deputation, while 10% will be recruited directly. The recruitment rules for it will be framed. "We are targeting deployment of the teams in a month. They will be provided accommodation at the district level," the official said.

The equipment provided to the forces may include hydraulic tools to cut through or move heavy debris to reach trapped victims.

Life detectors can assist in locating survivors beneath rubble, while breathing apparatus will allow the personnel to operate in smoke-filled or oxygen-deficient environments.

Inflatable boats can support rescue and evacuation during flooding. Equipment for collapsed-structure rescue will also be provided. This can help the personnel operate around unstable structures, locate survivors and extract them without triggering further collapse.

"They will be used under the orders of the district magistrates or competent district-level authorities. A force with district-level deployment could help reduce the time taken to mobilise trained personnel, particularly in areas where access is difficult. The personnel will work in coordination with agencies such as Delhi Fire Services, police and other emergency responders," the official said.

A senior IPS officer will head the force and will coordinate with govt and security agencies. Periodic training will be provided to SDRF personnel to ensure operational readiness.

The temporary headquarters will be arranged for in the short term. Land at Alipur may be provided for a permanent headquarters.

The force will function under the revenue department.

Delhi has the Delhi Disaster Management Authority, responsible for planning, coordination and preparedness against disasters.

The SDRF, in contrast, will be a force for the on-ground operations.

'Better infra at agriculture mkts to meet future needs'

CM Gupta laid the foundation stones for four projects for facilities for farmers & traders

AlokKNMishra@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Delhi's agricultural markets are set for an infrastructure upgrade, with chief minister Rekha Gupta Friday laying the foundation stones for four projects across Azadpur, Keshopur and Narela markets aimed at improving facilities for farmers, traders and workers.

The projects include reconstruction of internal roads at Keshopur Fruit and Vegetable Market, construction of two temporary sheds at Narela's New Grain Market, repairs to sewerage and drainage infrastructure in Azadpur New Vegetable Market, and installation of a modern weigh-in-motion system at Azadpur Fruit and Vegetable Market.

At Keshopur market, internal roads will be rebuilt at a cost of Rs 9.5 crore. The two sheds planned at Narela, spread across 33 acres, will provide covered storage space. In Azadpur, sewerage and drainage lines in Blocks B and C will be repaired to address damaged and clogged pipelines, leakage and waterlogging.

"Govt wants to go beyond repairs and cosmetic changes to create robust infrastructure capable of meeting the needs of the next 100 years," the chief minister said.

Explain groundwater test lab status: NGT

Kushagra.Dixit@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: National Green Tribunal (NGT) has directed the member secretary of Delhi Pollution Control Committee (DPCC) to appear virtually at the next hearing and explain the status of its laboratory and the availability of equipment for groundwater testing around the Ghazipur landfill.

The direction came after DPCC informed the tribunal that it did not have the required equipment to test groundwater and that a tender had been floated for its procurement. The committee submitted that testing would be undertaken once the equipment was procured.

Observing that DPCC was expected to have a fully equipped laboratory, a bench headed by NGT chairperson Justice Prakash Shrivastava and expert member Dr Afroz Ahmad directed the member secretary to place on record the status of the laboratory and equipment.

The tribunal has listed the matter for further hearing on Jan 19, 2027.

Koushiki.Saha
@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Observing that a man suffering from severe schizophrenia was incapable of understanding the proceedings against him or defending himself, a Delhi sessions court has suspended his prosecution in two criminal cases and directed that he continues receiving psychiatric care.

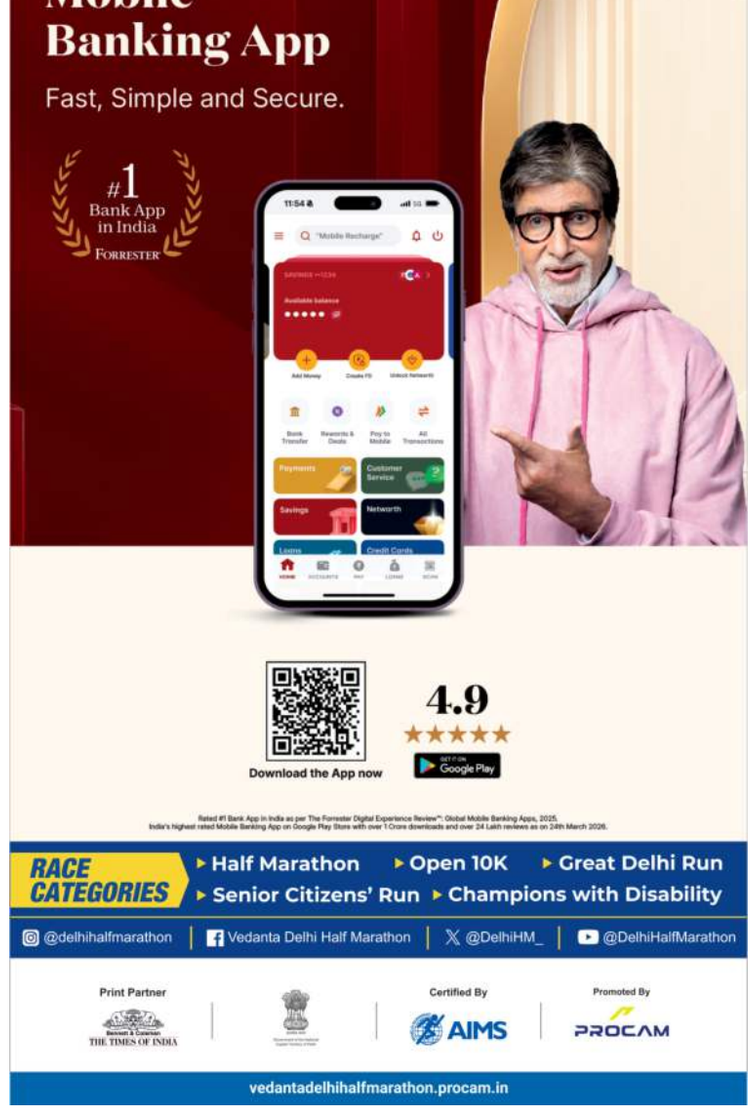
"A man with severe schizophrenia, incapable of understanding his trial or defending himself, remains alive today because court intervention helped trace him and secure sustained psychiatric care," the court observed.

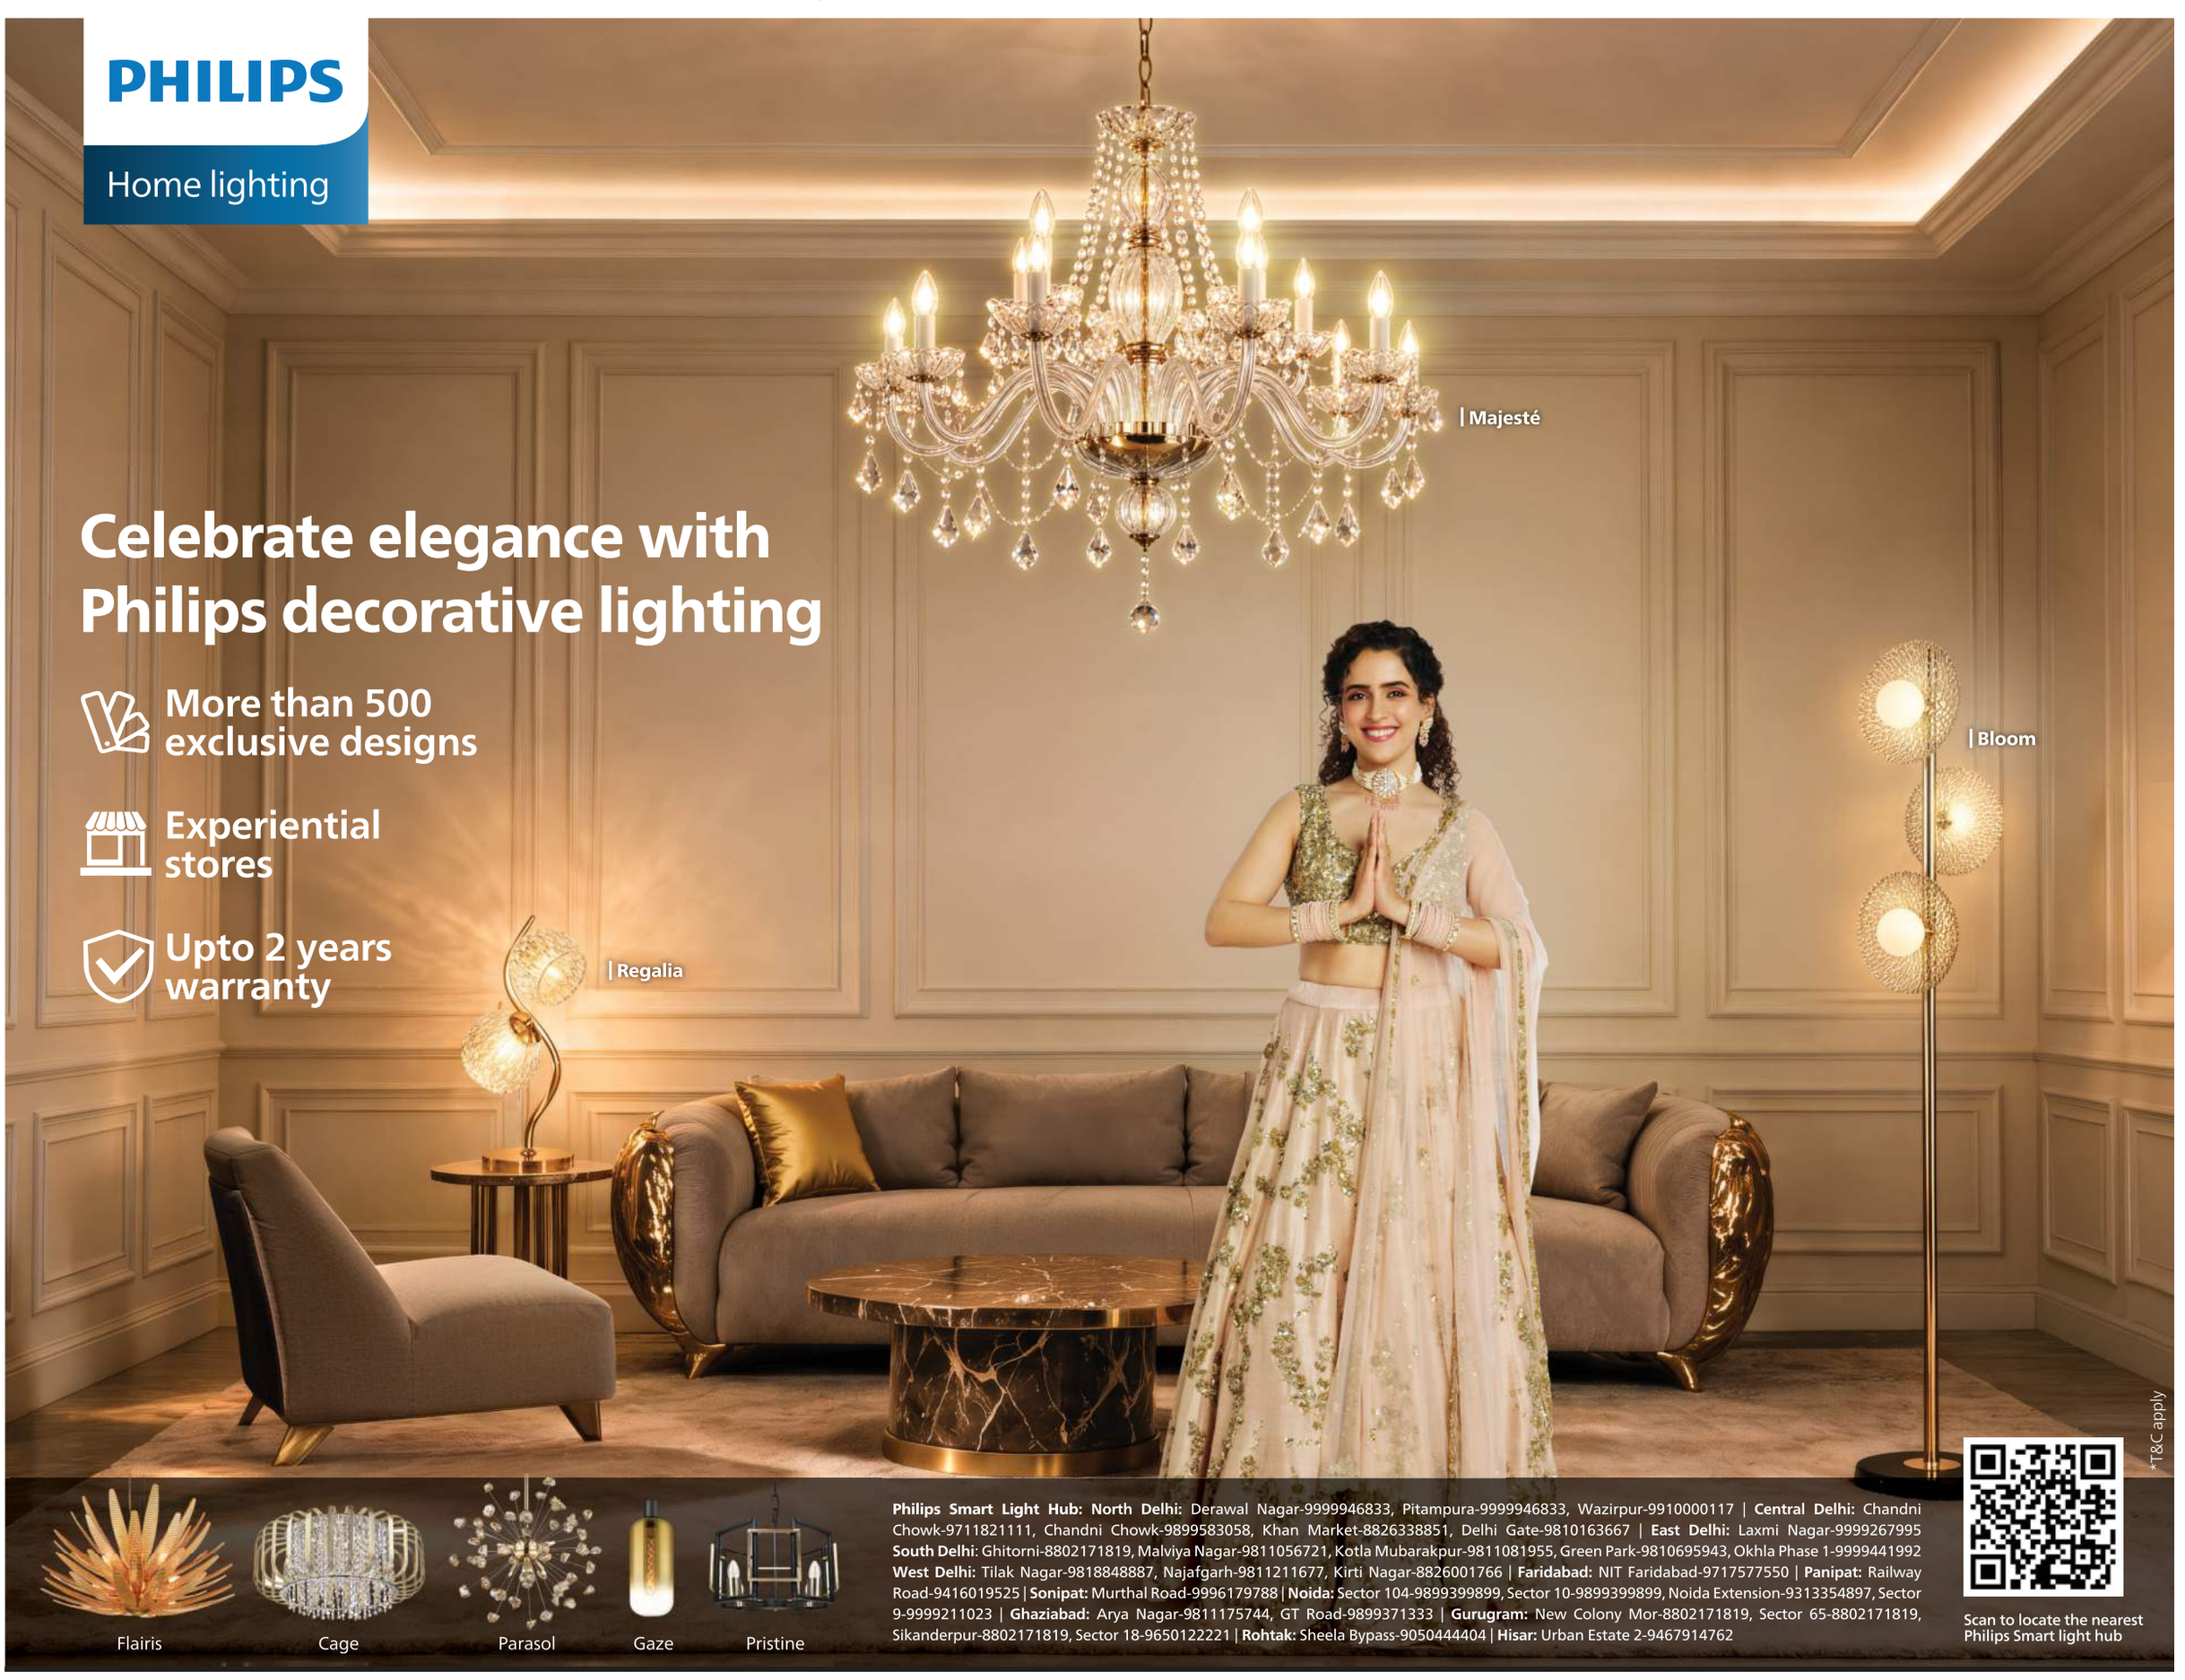
Additional sessions judge Hargurvinder Singh Jaggi of Saket Courts, in twin orders passed on Oct 15, discharged accused Mahender Singh from two cases after medical evaluations found him unfit.

Singh was an accused in two cases registered at Malviya Nagar police station, including one relating to the alleged abduction of Subhash Chand Batra and his driver, Santosh Kumar, on Oct 13, 2000, under charges of kidnapping for ransom and criminal conspiracy. The other case involved charges of criminal intimidation, anonymous threats and conspiracy.

The court directed Singh's continued residential care at Nav Chetna Home in Rohini, along with psychiatric treatment at the Institute of Human Behaviour and Allied Sciences (IHBAS). "With due care and continuous medical treatment at IHBAS, Mahender Singh remains alive in flesh and bones," the court observed.

Singh was arrested in May 2015 after remaining absconding for years. During the proceedings, his mental condition deteriorated. Assessments conducted by PGIMS, Rohtak, found that he suffered from schizophrenia resulting in 90% permanent mental disability. He later went missing and was eventually found wandering on the streets before being produced before the court in Dec 2025.





Couple death: Kin say no known marital discord

Their sudden deaths have their families back in Kerala scrambling for answers. Relatives said they knew of no marital discord, though Aslam had been undergoing treatment for depression. Cops suspect Aslam killed his wife before dying by suicide, but clarified they were still examining the sequence of events and cause of death.

"The couple shared a really close bond. Both were happy with each other and had no marital discord. There was no issue with the family either. But hearing this has left both families in shock," said Faisal, Farhana's brother.

Aslam, originally from Kozhikode, had joined an Indonesia-based IT company with an office in Sector 58 after the couple moved to Gurgaon. Farhana, who was from Malappuram, worked from home for an IT firm based in Bengaluru. They married in 2023 and spent around two years in Bengaluru before relocating to Gurgaon.

Aslam is an electrical and electronics engineering graduate from NIT Calicut (2018) and did MBA from IIM Indore in 2020. Farhana did BTech from MES College of Engineering in Kuttippuram, Kerala.

Faisal said the family had never heard either of them talk of problems severe enough to suggest such an outcome.

"We used to go on trips together, and I connected very well with my brother-in-law. We suspect that work pressure in the IT sector may have led to the incident. They never discussed anything that suggested they were suffering or going through something so bad. Work pressure is the only reason we suspect, but only God and the two of them knew what was happening," he added.

Family members said Aslam was under medication and therapy for depression for around a year and half. They said they were unaware of any other problems that could have led to their deaths.

Another relative, Abdul Azeez, said the family believed the incident may have occurred around Wednesday midnight. "Farhana was to celebrate her birthday on the day the incident occurred. Her parents are shattered. We just want to take their bodies home," he added.

Before the bodies were discovered, Aslam emailed his employer around 7am Wednesday, saying they were "leaving the world", and shared the phone numbers of his parents and landlord, asking the company to inform them.

An emergency response vehicle reached the spot around 8am, followed by a bigger police team. The flat's door wasn't bolted, an officer said.

Police seized three laptops, two mobile phones, a rope, the note, a diary, scissors and a pen drive. They said the note contained no allegations against anyone.

Octopus to Mowgli, kids to have a field day

Vibha.Sharma
@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Three of MCD's seven theme-based parks are expected to open by Nov, and the remaining four are scheduled for completion by the end of Jan.

The civic body is putting the finishing touches to some of the parks.

The themes have been selected keeping in mind that these will be children's play areas and the parks have to be engaging for them.

The parks feature large sculptures designed around animals. They will have slides, play equipment, seating areas, dustbins and other facilities.

The idea is to transform conventional parks into imaginative spaces that will attract children.

For example, a portion of Ajmal Khan Park will have the octopus as a theme. At the M Block Park in Greater Kailash-II, Garuda will be the main attraction.

Parks which are near PVR Saket will have insect themes, while the Swasthya Vihar Park near Laxmi Nagar District Centre will have several marine life sculptures.

A park in Mayur Vihar Phase-III will have a large peacock. The peacock's wings will be slides, its legs will be stairs and the lower part of its tail will be a seating platform.

In the octopus-themed park, the tentacles of the structure will double as slides. The marine-themed park will feature dustbins shaped like sea creatures, while benches, swings and play equipment will resemble underwater life forms such as tortoises, jellyfish and starfish.

Mowgli will be the theme for a park near the Mayapuri DTC depot.

A park near Janakpuri West metro station will have an aeroplane theme.

"We are giving the finishing touches to three parks in Janakpuri, GK-II and Saket. Several interactive play structures have been installed, while work on spreading sand around them is under way. The aim is to ensure that children can play safely without getting hurt," an MCD official said.

The sculptures have been made using reinforced plastic, glass-reinforced cement fibre and other composite materials to ensure durability and safety. "All facilities in a park will revolve around the chosen theme, with modifications made according to the available space to ensure the concept is fully realised.... Climbing a tail or crawling inside a sculpture's body will turn a visit into an adventure," the official said.

The parks will also incorporate activities such as puzzles in which children can match pictures of creatures with their names.

The seven projects are being implemented under the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) scheme.

Parks in Saket to get a creepy-crawly makeover

MCD is set to open three of its seven new animal-themed parks by Nov, with the remaining four scheduled for completion by Jan-end. The transformation of conventional parks will feature large animal sculptures, slides, play equipment and modern amenities to create imaginative spaces that attract young visitors

An aeroplane-themed park is preparing for take-off near Janakpuri West metro station

Documents prepared as formality: HC

Holding his detention in police custody to be "unlawful", the court directed his immediate release if he was not required in any other case. "This case reflects the sordid state of affairs prevailing in UP police. Repeatedly cases have come before this court in which the strict requirements of law, both procedural and substantive, have not been adhered to in letter and spirit," HC observed. "Documents appear to have been prepared and executed as a mere formality, replete with errors that raise serious doubts about the legality of the detention and arrest of the petitioner and others," HC added.

On Aug 23, a clash broke out between two groups after which Noida police took five men, including Deepak into custody at 7.34pm. Based on a written complaint, an FIR was lodged at 9.39pm. Deepak was arrested at 2.57pm on Aug 24.

However, Deepak was already in police custody before the FIR was lodged and was subsequently shown as formally arrested while in police custody.

The court said there appeared to be a prima facie case that the relevant document was filled at a later stage and that the signature of the petitioner was obtained on a blank paper and countersigned by IO Anuj Kumar, leaving the portion blank to fill the grounds of arrest later.

Encroachment at Roshanara tomb: HC raps agencies

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi High Court has pulled up Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), MCD and police for failing to check unauthorised construction within the regulated area of the protected tomb of Roshanara, one of the daughters of emperor Shahjahan.

The court said the unauthorised construction was done despite statutory restrictions and an order restraining it.

It directed the MCD commissioner, special CP of Delhi Police and the ASI director to file affidavits disclosing the names of officials who had ignored the unauthorised construction.

"The respondents, in our opinion, are free to take such steps in accordance with the law that are permissible and provided.... However, we expect the highest officers of MCD, ASI and Delhi Police to file their respective personal affidavits, thereby disclosing the names of the senior officers who are responsible for... such a serious default on the part of the private respondent in carrying out and continuing the unauthorised construction," a bench of acting Chief Justice Nitin Wasudeo Sambre and Justice Sanjay Sharma said in a recent order.

It noted that though ASI has assured that action will be taken, there was neither a sense of sensitivity nor that of determination.

Similarly, "too callous of an approach and attitude" can be noticed on the part of the officials of MCD, it said.

The court was hearing a plea highlighting unauthorised construction on the property in Shakti Nagar.

It noted that ASI had issued a work-stop notice to the property owner on Feb 15, 2024, after coming to know that construction was being done in the regulated area of the protected monument. A police complaint was lodged.

In April 2024, an ASI official wrote to MCD and the DCP of North West district, requesting immediate steps to halt and remove the unauthorised construction. However, MCD issued a show-cause notice only on March 21, 2025, although the unauthorised construction was brought to its notice nearly a year ago.

On Sept 9, 2025, the high court passed an interim order directing the SHO of the local police station to ensure that the property owner should not be permitted to carry out further construction. However, this order was not adhered to.

Man on scooter chased, stabbed to death; 4 held

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: A journey home from a gathering ended in a deadly attack for Shahid Hussain alias Chor (23), who was allegedly chased on his scooter and stabbed near Shriram Chowk in southeast Delhi's Kalindi Kunj. Four men have been arrested, with police suspecting that a rivalry stemming from an altercation inside Tihar Jail in 2025 led to the murder.

The attack, captured on CCTV cameras, unfolded in full public view. The footage shows four men on a motorcycle approaching Hussain, a resident of Abul Fazal Enclave in southeast Delhi's Shaheen Bagh, as he rode his scooter. One of the men allegedly began stabbing him while he was still riding. The attackers then grabbed his shirt and pulled him off the scooter. In the ensuing chaos, the motorcycle also toppled, while the men allegedly continued stabbing Hussain as he lay on the road. Passengers in parked autos nearby ran for safety, while some people tried to intervene and save Hussain.

According to police, Hussain had allegedly inflicted blade injuries on Tarun alias Ranjan, a bad character of Kalindi Kunj police station, when both were in Tihar. Investigators suspect Tarun later conspired with his associates to eliminate Hussain, also a bad character, to take revenge. Tarun was not among the attackers, sources said.

The men, all armed with knives, allegedly started following Hussain when he was returning after attending a gathering at a restaurant near Basantpur Toll in Faridabad. One of the assailants allegedly also struck him with the butt of a pistol.

On reaching the spot, police found bloodstains and the scooter. Hussain was already taken to hospital, where he was declared brought dead.

The arrested men have been identified as Karan alias Karam Shah, Abuzer, Monu Malik alias Sabir and Gaurav Gumma.

'Guiding hand equally guilty': Tahir Hussain gets two years in jail

Koushiki.Saha@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Holding that a "leader of the people" is expected to act as a "restraining influence" in a communally charged environment, a court Friday sentenced ex-councillor Tahir Hussain to two years of rigorous imprisonment for abetment of rioting in a 2020 northeast Delhi riots case.

Additional sessions judge Parveen Singh also imposed a fine of Rs 10,000, holding that Hussain had abetted the riots by providing his house, the highest point in the locality, as a vantage point from where rioters could attack people and damage property.

Rejecting the defence argument that Hussain had not physically participated in the rioting mob, the court said it did not substantially reduce his culpability. "The mere fact that the prosecution did not prove the active participation of the convict in the riot does not dilute the gravity of his conduct, for the hand that guides is as guilty, if not more, as the hand that acts," the court said.

The defence also claimed Hussain had been helpless when rioters allegedly occupied his house. The court rejected this claim, noting that the claimed PCR calls were not proved through evidence. It further noted that this was Hussain's second conviction in connection with the riots, treating it as an aggravating circumstance.

The court observed, "In 2020, the convict was an elected people's representative. Meaning thereby, he was a leader of the people, whose words and actions would have had significant weight." It added, "By virtue of his position, in a communally charged environment, he had a responsibility to act towards maintenance of peace and harmony." The court said Hussain's conduct warranted a sentence reflecting its gravity and serving as a deterrent.

'Dead' woman starts coughing

A bier was ready and final rituals were being performed when a family preparing to cremate a 56-year-old woman in a Gorakhpur village was left stunned — she started coughing as relatives poured tulsi water into her mouth. Declared dead hours earlier at a private hospital, Lalita Devi was rushed to BRD Medical College, where she is now undergoing treatment, reports Arjumand Bano.

Her brother-in-law, Chandramauli Yadav, said doctors at a private hospital in Gorakhpur pronounced her dead Wednesday. The private hospital is yet to issue a statement on the matter.

Stepmom in MP brutalises minor for failing to cook

An eight-year-old girl was subjected to a brutal assault with a hot iron rod by her stepmother allegedly for not being able to cook a meal in MP's Singrauli district, reports Amarjeet Singh.

Despite being in excruciating pain and barely able to walk following the assault, which took place on Aug 21, the minor was allegedly forced to do household chores. Unable to endure the torture, she managed to slip away on Aug 22 and took refuge in a hiding place near a school.

The school authorities spotted her in acute pain the next morning and alerted police, who took her to a community health centre. She was subsequently shifted to a hospital, where she continues to be under treatment.

An FIR was registered against the girl's stepmother on Aug 23, but the case came to light after the child welfare committee posted about it on social media.

An FIR was also filed against the child's father after the minor alleged that he had sexually assaulted her. However, barely 10 days after the horrific assault, the girl's father died, with police suspecting it to be a suicide. The stepmother is on the run.

Govt rebuts oppn's charge, defends JS-Rubio Mum meet

Cites Earlier Instances Of Foreign Leaders Being Hosted Outside Delhi

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Govt defended external affairs minister S Jaishankar's upcoming meeting with US secretary of state Marco Rubio in Mumbai, citing several examples of foreign leaders and ministers being hosted outside of Delhi.

The ministry of external affairs also said Jaishankar would be the guest of honour at US's 250th anniversary celebrations in Mumbai.

Govt had come under criticism from the opposition for US ambassador Sergio Gor's remark that the Americans expected Jaishankar to join Rubio in Mumbai, with Congress saying the minister had been "summoned".

Responding to questions, the ministry said Jaishankar would host not just Rubio on Oct 20 but his UAE counterpart, Abdullah bin Zayed Al Nahyan, in Mumbai a day earlier.

"It is the practice over the last decade to host foreign dignitaries from time to time in various cities of India. The PM hosted the PM of Spain in Baroda; Chancellor Merz in Ahmedabad; the PM of Mauritius in Varanasi. The EAM hosted the SCO FMs meeting Goa; the FM of Botswana in Kevadia; Heart of Asia conference in Amritsar," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal.

He further said Rubio's visit would provide an opportunity for both sides to review India-US relations and discuss ways to further strengthen Comprehensive Global Strategic Partnership. Discussions are expected to cover key areas of bilateral cooperation, including energy, trade and investment, defence, critical and emerging technologies, and other areas of mutual interest.

"The two sides will also exchange views on regional and global developments. The visit will provide an opportunity to sustain the high-level engagement between the two countries and advance our shared priorities," said Jaiswal.

After his "productive" meeting with the UAE minister Thursday, Jaishankar will have another meeting with Al Nahyan Monday. Jaishankar visited UAE this week. The ministers will review bilateral cooperation under India-UAE Comprehensive Strategic Partnership. "The delegations will assess and take forward initiatives in the areas of energy, trade and investments, fintech, defence and connectivity," said the official.

The ministers discussed West Asia and the Strait of Hormuz situation. "Exchanged perspectives on bilateral and global issues in the spirit of our Comprehensive Strategic Partnership," said Jaishankar in a post on X.

Ray institute shut till Nov 13, students told to quit hostels

Kolkata: Satyajit Ray Film & Television Institute has suspended all regular academic activities for the film and the electronic and digital media wings until Nov 13. The institute Friday ordered all students to vacate hostels and campus premises within 24 hours and suspended hostel mess services. The order also warns of disciplinary or legal action for any violations.

The order, issued on behalf of VC Santosh Ajmera, stated the measures were taken in view of the "ensuing festive period", "administrative requirements" and "in the interest of the orderly functioning". Dean Sukanta Majumdar said, "This is a much-needed break. We hope we will all return... and work properly afterwards."

The students' union condemned the decision. "An educational institution charged with protecting the safety of its students cannot issue orders which threaten their life and liberty...," it said.

Students held a news conference, alleging the institute had failed to take action on an Oct 9 complaint of a female staff member, and a student attacked on Sept 27 got a disciplinary notice.

The order came after the rustication of six for allegedly assaulting the VC and vandalising his chamber. A rusticated student, Appu Soman, alleged the administration had been against his "Dalit identity" and his film was "banned". Majumdar rejected his allegations.

JDU lawmaker claims he 'got 9 people murdered', later retracts

Manoj.Chaurasia

Patna: The JDU legislator from Mokama, strongman Anant Singh, sparked a row Friday by claiming he had "got nine people murdered" while working with former CM Nitish Kumar, but retracted his statement amid criticism from the party and the opposition.

The six-time MLA made the remark while campaigning for the legislative council election from Patna Graduates constituency in which he is backing Prashant Kishor's candidate against JDU's Neeraj Kumar.

"Who has made as many sacrifices as I have? Nitish Kumar was nothing back then; he used to roam around here and there. At that time, while being with Nitish Kumar, I got nine people murdered," he told reporters.

As the video of his statement went viral, Anant clarified his remarks later in the day.

"During the Lalu Prasad regime, nine of my associates were killed, and I myself was shot. It was because we aligned ourselves with Nitish Kumar that Lalu had them killed. We have suffered such immense losses. My father also passed away due to a heart attack soon after," he said.

RJD spokesperson Shakti Singh Yadav said, "Anant has publicly confessed to killing nine persons during the NDA regime. Now Nitish will have to offer explanations."

"Although he (Anant) has confessed to his involvement in nine murders, the responsibility straightaway goes to Nitish regime... Is paap se chhutkara nahin milega (There will be no escape from this sin)," Yadav said.

JDU spokesperson Shyam Rajak said, "Anant's statement is the reflection of his frustration."

ED searches in 6 cities over share manipulation

New Delhi: ED Friday said its Mumbai zonal unit conducted searches at 29 premises in Mumbai, Nashik, Ahmedabad, Gandhinagar, Surat and Bhavnagar in connection with the manipulation of shares of two little-known listed companies, RM Drip and Sprinklers System Ltd and R&B Denims Ltd.

According to ED, a small circle of persons, firms and lenders were issued over 3.5 crore shares and convertible warrants during 2023-24. A large part of the money paid came from this circle. "Over the following months, the share prices were pushed up, while the shares largely stayed in the same hands," officials said. TNN

7 arrested for cover-up of Bihar excise staffer killing

Kshitiz@timesofindia.com

Patna: Seven people, including five who were part of a prohibition police team, were arrested Friday in connection with the killing of prohibition constable Ajeet Kumar (30) in Nalanda Wednesday, with investigators alleging that evidence was concealed and a story about an attack by liquor smugglers was fabricated.

During a chase on Oct 14, a home guard jawan had fired his .303 rifle. The bullet missed the smugglers' vehicle and hit Ajeet, who was in another prohibition department vehicle ahead, killing him on the spot.

Instead of handing over the vehicle in which Ajeet had been in Nalanda itself, it was sent directly to Patna.

The team claimed liquor smugglers and their alleged facilitators had fired multiple rounds at the police party. However, questioning by an SIT under the Rajgir SDPO revealed major contradictions.

Nalanda SP Hriday Kant said, "Sub-inspector Pushpa Kumari, two home guard jawans, a constable and the vehicle driver have been arrested. The rifle used in the crime has been seized."

HC denies bail to Punjab min

Punjab and Haryana HC Friday denied bail to Punjab cabinet minister Sanjeev Arora in a money laundering case, holding that the material placed before it did not meet bail conditions under PMLA. However, the bench of Justice Kuldeep Tiwari said its observations were confined to the bail plea and would have no bearing on the trial.

2 teens kill friend to steal chain, buy bike

Two 17-year-olds from Thane allegedly stabbed their childhood friend, also 17, last month to steal his gold chain to fund a birthday party and buy a bike, and hid his body in bushes. The boys initially sent police on a wild goose chase with misleading information, apparently drawing inspiration from a film and online content. They were sent to a juvenile remand home Thursday.

Suhail Sajeev (19), allegedly behind the wheel, had 160mg of alcohol per 100ml of blood, more than five times the statutory limit of 30mg, as detailed in the Regional Chemical Examination Laboratory report.

HC allows Punjab govt plea on Mann's trip to France

State: Centre Gave No Reason For Denying Nod

Vibhor Mohan & Jagpreet Singh | TNN

Chandigarh: Punjab and Haryana HC Friday allowed the Punjab govt's petition challenging Centre's decision to deny political clearance to CM Bhagwant Mann's proposed official visit to France.

Justice Tribhuvan Dahiya allowed the plea after hearing arguments from counsel for the state and Centre. A detailed order was awaited at the time this report was filed.

Mann expressed his gratitude to the HC and said he and the govt delegation were leaving Friday night. Questioning the restrictions on his foreign travel, he said, "Why are we required to seek court permission for such matters? Do we now have to approach the court for everything?"

In a press statement Friday, Mann said, "The PM can travel across the entire world. He goes to China, Malaysia and wherever else he wants to go. But when I want to go somewhere for Punjab's work, to bring investment to the state, or to participate in a food festival where Markfed will set up a stall, we are denied permission. We are going there to promote Punjab's interests, not to hold a political rally."

The CM also questioned the denial of permission for his proposed visit to Japan for the Asian Champions Trophy hockey tournament. "They grant permission to our officers, but Bhagwant Mann cannot go? Are they so afraid of me?" he said.

The Punjab delegation planned to visit Salon International de l'Alimentation Paris — touted as the world's largest and most influential food innovation exhibition — from Oct 15-21 to promote trade.

It approached the HC Thursday seeking quashing of Centre's decision to deny clearance, pointing out that the ministry of external affairs had not assigned any reason.

At the hearing, counsel for the Centre, additional solicitor general Satya Pal Jain, filed an affidavit and submitted that an email was sent to the Punjab govt Thursday seeking details of the proposed visit, the "threat perception" concerning the CM and security arrangements required during the foreign visit.

Jain also argued that it was difficult to make foolproof of security arrangements at such short notice. He questioned how the Indian embassy could facilitate the visit in the absence of a formal invitation from the foreign country.

The state govt's counsel, additional advocates general Chanchal K Singla and Ferry Sofat, contended that Centre had marked govt's application "denied" on its portal without assigning any reason or giving the state a hearing. They also relied on Supreme Court judgements in support of the state's plea.

According to the petition, the state govt had submitted an application on Sept 9 for political clearance for a delegation led by the CM to visit France for promotion of trade.

The petition, filed through Ritu Aggarwal, secretary, the department of cooperation, had challenged the denial of political clearance as "non-speaking, arbitrary, without authority of law and violative of the federal structure of Constitution".

Why are we required to seek the court's permission for such matters, Bhagwant Mann said

Mann's OSD appears before CBI

Rajbir Ghuman, officer on special duty to Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann, appeared before CBI at its Chandigarh office Friday in connection with the probe into the alleged 'cash for favours' case linked to CMO. Ghuman was questioned for around six hours. He said 40 questions were asked, and he had been summoned by the agency again on Monday. TNN

Now, hubby hits back, accuses U'khand mantri of corruption

Kautilya.Singh
@timesofindia.com

Dehradun: A day after Uttarakhand women and child welfare minister Rekha Arya lodged an FIR against her husband, Girdhari Lal Sahu, accusing him of cheating, forgery, physical assault and conspiring to kill her, the latter released a video Friday calling her "highly corrupt" and seeking a probe into how she allegedly acquired properties worth Rs 210 crore.

Sahu claimed that Arya had filed the complaint "based on an AI-generated audio clip intended to create a rift in the family".

Addressing CM Pushkar Singh Dhami as his "friend and brother", Sahu said he had informed him of Arya's alleged corruption, which he claimed was bringing a bad name to the state. "I want to request a probe," he said.

TOI tried to get Arya's reaction, but she was not available for comment.

Girdhari Lal Sahu claimed that Rekha Arya acquired properties worth Rs 210 crore and demanded a probe. Arya was not available for comment

Sahu claimed Arya had forgotten the role he played in helping her rise politically. "You are under the misconception that you will remain a minister and a leader as long as you live. That is not the case. Life has its ups and downs. You are powerful at the moment, but you have forgotten that you had nothing and that I helped you reach such heights. The entire state of Uttarakhand knows this," he said.

Sahu urged Arya to withdraw what he described as a "fake complaint and FIR", and reconsider the allegations against him. "If you don't..., the Almighty will never forgive you and will hold you accountable for everything," he said.

In the three-minute-29-second video, Sahu appealed to the people of Someshwar constituency, claiming he had supported Arya's political career for 17 years, from helping her contest elections to seeking votes for her.

The public feud has brought Sahu's history of legal troubles and public controversies back into focus.

A non-bailable warrant was issued against him in Aug 2021 regarding a 1990 double murder case in Bareilly, along with five 2017 land fraud cases in Udham Singh Nagar over unfulfilled property sales. That same year, a former employee accused him of offering money for a kidney transplant, though no FIR was filed. Sahu also sparked outrage in 2025 over a video from Almora where he suggested unmarried men could buy brides from Bihar for Rs 20,000–25,000.

Jio's own satellite services are awaiting clearances: Reliance

"Reliance has grown in an India that welcomes investment and innovation, homegrown or international, that improve the lives of the people. That openness rests on the rule of law
RELIANCE INDUSTRIES

At Reliance, we have never feared competition. We see it as the truest test of who serves the customer best. Jio itself entered India's crowded telecom market in 2016 as the newest player, with not a single customer. In just 10 years, Jio has earned the trust of over 53 crore customers and given Indians some of the best digital infrastructure and most affordable data in the world," the statement said.

Govt had also denied Elon Musk's charges. Last Thursday, Union communications minister Jyotiraditya Scindia had said at India Mobile Congress: "There is a lot of conversation about a particular party (Starlink). But there are three parties that have got licences... As and when govt decides the charge system on revenue basis, spectrum will be assigned to them and as and when they individually fulfil security conditions, then they can start operations."

Sunil Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb, Ambani's Reliance Jio and Musk's Starlink have got licences and are preparing to start satcom service here so that even remote areas where laying ground infra for broadband is not possible can get the same. Jeff Bezos's Amazon's Project Kuiper is eyeing a licence to do so.

The Reliance statement issued Friday said: "Like every Indian enterprise, Reliance has grown in an India that welcomes investment and innovation, homegrown or international, that improve the lives of the people. That openness rests on the rule of law. As govt of India has stated, it applies the same process to every applicant, Indian or foreign. Jio's own satellite services await clearances."

Modi, Trump to meet in Manila next month?

With White House and Philippines confirming US President Donald Trump will be going to Manila on Nov 16 for the ASEAN summit, chances of a meeting between him and PM Narendra Modi have brightened.

Modi too is likely to travel to Manila for the summit, although an official confirmation is still awaited. While there's no proposal, official sources said a meeting on the margins could be important in the context of efforts to break the deadlock in negotiations for a bilateral trade agreement.

External affairs minister S Jaishankar has said both sides are headed towards a landing point. US ambassador Sergio Gor too has expressed confidence that the deal will happen soon as the major issues have been resolved. TNN

While bereaved family waited for body, doc partied at autopsy dept

Alim.Shaikh
@timesofindia.com

Pune: A video has surfaced purportedly showing a senior doctor at Pune's Yashwantrao Chavan Memorial Hospital holding a liquor party in the postmortem department while a bereaved family waits overnight for a body. This is the third controversy in a month to rock the govt-run healthcare facility and the second in a week.

Vaibhav Mhaske was suspended Friday on charges of being intoxicated on duty and disrupting essential services on the night of Oct 3. The grieving family also accused postmortem staff of demanding money.

The deceased was of a daily wager from Dharashiv district, who was pronounced dead after an accident at a construction site. The video shows his family requesting an apparently intoxicated Mhaske to release the documents required to claim the body. A bottle of liquor is visible on a table beside him.

A friend of the deceased told TOI, "The family was told the body would be handed over only in the morning. If they wanted it at night, they would have to pay."

A video last week showed a homeless patient and the stretcher he was strapped to falling out of a moving ambulance. An earlier clip showed a raucous dholtasha celebration on the hospital's premises on Sept 22.

Class 8 dropout forges degrees, plays surgeon

Jaipur: Two men were arrested Friday for allegedly using forged qualifications to register with Rajasthan Medical Council, reports Dishank Purohit. The prime suspect is a 34-year-old Class VIII dropout who went from working as a hospital clerk to owning a 100-bed hospital, hiring doctors and even performing surgeries. Investigators are probing if any of these led to casualties.

Vishal Bansal, ADG of the police's Special Operations Group, said Nananjiram Chaudhary runs Bhaskar Hospital in Raniwara. He allegedly submitted Class X and XII marksheets, an MBBS degree attributed to Rama University in Kanpur and a diploma in Gynaecology and Obstetrics purportedly from College of Physicians and Surgeons in Mumbai, all of which were forged.

The second accused, Pankaj Yadav (30) from Kaliwas village, allegedly forged an MBBS degree after repeatedly failing Foreign Medical Graduate Examination, which foreign-trained medical graduates must pass to practise in India.

2-yr-old raped and buried in sand in MP, survives

Jabalpur: A 28-year-old was arrested in Jabera in MP's Damoh district for allegedly abducting a two-year-old girl, who was asleep next to her parents at a construction site where they worked as labourers, and raping her, reports Siddharth Pandey.

The accused allegedly buried the child in a heap of sand when she started crying before fleeing the spot. The girl was found by her family and rushed to hospital, where she is undergoing treatment.

Police found that Ashish Patel, who worked at the construction site with the girl's parents, was missing. A search led them to Jabera, where he was arrested

Vijay Nagar police station in-charge Dheeraj Raj said the crime took place on the intervening night of Oct 9 and 10.

Police registered a case under Pocso Act and other relevant sections of BNS. During the probe, police found that Ashish Patel, who worked at the construction site, was missing. A search led them to Jabera, where he was taken into custody.

According to police, the accused admitted during questioning that he pressed the child's head into the sand to silence her when she began to cry.

Patel has more than a dozen criminal cases registered against him in Jabera, police said. He was produced before a court Friday and sent to jail.

India is getting richer. Life must get better too

Higher incomes alone won't deliver better schools, reliable healthcare or cleaner cities. Five solutions can help India turn growth into a better everyday life

BY INVITATION
Prachi Mishra

Markets create wealth only where the state supplies what markets cannot: enforceable rights, courts that settle disputes, infrastructure at quoted cost, enough security that ordinary people can take risks. That makes state capacity India's most important growth policy, and the next two decades a matter of construction rather than fortune.

A few numbers describe what a citizen actually meets. On the World Bank's Human Capital Index, an Indian child can expect a little over 11 years of school, of which a little over 7 convert into measured learning, leaving a wider gap than China's or Vietnam's. ASER's 2024 rural survey finds that less than half of class 5 children can read a class 2 text. Households foot 43.4% of health spending out of pocket. IQAir puts fine particulate pollution at 50.6 micrograms per cubic metre,10 times the WHO guideline, against China's 31.0.

Behind these numbers sits one lever: the ability to tax and to staff. General government gross tax revenue, Centre and states combined, was 18% of GDP in 2023-24. A median rich country collects 32.7%, and China was near 20% in 2007, when its income per head, in PPP terms, matched India's today. Public employment is 7.8% of the total against 12.9% in the US and 15% in China: the Indian state is thinly staffed, not bloated. Courts hold 5.6 crore pending cases, with 44% of high court cases pending for over five years.

The encouraging half: when India fixes a pipe, water flows quickly. In the late 2000s, economists found much of every NREGS wage rupee failing to reach workers; Andhra Pradesh moved those wages onto biometric smartcards, and leakage fell as payments sped up. Direct benefit transfers run across 318 schemes. The ILO records social protection coverage doubling to close to half of the population between 2021 and 2024. Open defecation, once practised by more than nine in 10 rural Indians, is down to one in nine. Few countries have moved that fast on anything.

The harder half is the work that never finishes: water, sewage, garbage, buses, breathable air. Almost all of it sits with cities, and cities are not funded for it. Revenues raised by municipalities stayed below 1% of GDP over the past decade, while Centre and state tax revenue climbed from 16 to 18% of GDP.

Illustration: Uday Deb

standards with high human development and services that work for the average Indian, most of whom live in villages and small towns. In numbers: learning-adjusted years of schooling near 8.5, needing longer schooling and better teaching; out-of-pocket health spend below 30% of total health expenditure, a level at which a hospital stay is far less likely to bankrupt a family; pollution under 25, WHO interim target; sanitation above 90% against today's 62.8%; revenue near 25-30% of GDP; a municipal sector of 3-4% of GDP against today's less than 1%. That clears Brazil and nears Malaysia: a life that feels solid.

Three speeds are possible. Carry on as now, and growth alone takes India past the upper-middle-income mark in the 2030s while schools, clinics and air improve at today's rate, so the income arrives well ahead of what it is meant to buy. Reform in earnest, and two clocks start. The first runs fast: clean air, working pipes and staffed clinics respond to money and management, so cities show results within five years of funding. The second cannot be hurried, because a child entering class 1 this year finishes school in the late 2030s, and a workforce whose school years convert into learning is an early-2040s fact, however fast we move. The best case needs no new discovery, only both clocks running faster, in every state, helped by cheap energy and a young workforce.

Five things would carry it. The first is revenue, where the opportunity is compliance rather than rates: third-party data trails, invoice matching, a better-equipped administration. Publishing an official tax-gap estimate is a first move. The second is money at the tier that delivers. OECD data show 62.5% of Indian govt spending as subnational, above the US and Germany, but that is states rather than cities. Municipal revenue is below 1.0% of GDP against 4.5% in Poland and 7.4% in Brazil, and property tax raises 0.15% in India against about 1% across the OECD. Air, water, sanitation and roads are municipal functions, so the biggest returns sit at the tier closest to the citizen.

The third is staffing, where talent is plainly abundant: railway recruitment in 2024 drew 1.86 crore applications for 55,197 posts. A study of the IAS finds officers perform better when promotion prospects are real.

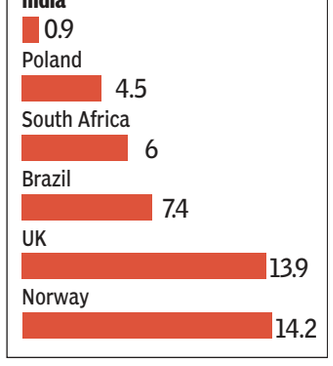
Across 10 states, nine of 10 metros are carrying fewer riders than forecast, Chennai at 37% and Ahmedabad at 11%. The tunnels got built, which was the hard and expensive part. What decides whether the money was well spent is feeder buses, footpaths and where the city allows people to live.

The benchmark for "developed" need not be Germany or Japan. A realistic first threshold is upper-middle-income living

THE TIER THAT RUNS THE CITY HAS ALMOST NO MONEY

India's cities raise about a fifth of what Poland's do

Municipal revenue (% of GDP)



The fourth is measurement. Across six testing rounds in 59 countries, researchers found that publishing school results parents can compare raised mathematics scores by nearly 30 points – close to a year of learning – compared with systems that did not. The gains were largest in the weakest systems. Italian procurement research makes the same point beyond schools: most govt waste is not theft but slow processes and idle capacity, which management can fix.

The fifth is legal capacity, which underwrites the rest. Digitisation is nearly done: 97% of village records are computerised. The law is not. A registered deed records a transfer, not a state-guaranteed title, and one village in seven has no map attached to its records. Property that can be proved can be taxed, mortgaged and built on, which makes courts, land records and municipal balance sheets one project, not three.

So, the date is a range. Income crosses the first threshold in the 2030s; services and human development for most citizens follow in the early to mid-2040s under sustained reform. Across 118 countries, how well a state works predicts how much its children learn; how much it spends on schools does not. That is the whole argument, and it is good news: the binding constraint is the one thing a country can improve without waiting to get rich first.

FIVE WAYS TO MAKE GOVT WORK BETTER

1 Collect taxes more effectively
Use data and administration to improve compliance, rather than relying on higher rates

2 Give cities the money to deliver
Strengthen municipal finances to fund water, sanitation, roads and other daily services

3 Give public servants reasons to perform
Build staffing capacity and make good performance count towards promotion

4 Measure results and make them public
Publish comparable school results so parents can see how schools perform

5 Make property rights easier to prove
Strengthen courts and land records so property can be taxed, mortgaged and built on

Points To Deaths, Asks Who Will Take Care Of People's Security

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: With drug-related incidents roiling Punjab ahead of assembly polls, home minister Amit Shah Friday fired fresh salvos at AAP govt as his party looks to intensify its campaign around the issue after making it central to its election agenda.

The biggest question before CM Bhagwant Mann-led govt is who will take responsibility for the security of the people of Punjab, Shah asked, pointing to two recent drug-related tragedies.

First came the last month's death by suicide of Dalit labourer Gulzar Singh after he was allegedly harassed by people linked to AAP for questioning finance minister Harpal Singh Cheema about the availability of drugs in his village. And then came the murder of an anti-drug activist Parvinder Singh Jhota three days back by a medical store owner whom he suspected of selling narcotics.

The home minister called for an impartial probe into political patronage to criminals in Punjab

Shah said the home ministry is seeking response from the state govt over both incidents, noting that Parvinder's father has levelled serious allegations against the state govt and its MLA. Both incidents have raised grave questions about law and order, he added.

Opposition parties have also termed the murder of one Bikramjit Singh in Batala as linked to his campaign against drugs but the state police has ruled it out, blaming the killing on a scuffle between two groups.

The MHA Friday wrote to the Punjab chief secretary, seeking detailed reports on each of the three recent cases, including two highlighted by Shah on X.

"Punjab is grappling with the rising dangers of drugs, gangs and organised crime," Shah said, calling for an impartial probe into political patronage to criminals.

While Mann has hit back by targeting Centre for illicit trans-border drug trade and the seizure of drugs in BJP-governed Gujarat, the issue has grown in political salience as polls draw close.

BJP has been in an overdrive to take ownership of the plank by launching yatras across the state, with Shah addressing a rally in Jalandhar at the conclusion of "Nasha Mukt Punjab Yatra" on Sept 30.

"We will free Punjab from the drug trade before Dec 31, 2029 if voters elect BJP to office," he had said.

Another death tied to anti-drugs fight

Locals in Maari Panwan village of Batala, Gurdaspur district, have alleged that Bikramjit Singh, 40, was stabbed to death Thursday for opposing drug gangs. However, police said the murder was triggered by a scuffle between two groups over a stolen cellphone. TNN

Reprimand not abetment to suicide, says HC, clears teachers

Cuttack: The Odisha high court has quashed criminal proceedings against four teachers and staff members of a school in Keonjhar district, ruling that a teacher cannot be held criminally liable for a student's suicide merely for reprimanding the student as part of routine disciplinary action, reports Lalmohan Patnaik.

They were accused of abetting the suicide of a 16-year-old student who allegedly jumped from the fourth floor of the school hostel on July 12, 2025. Hearing their petition on Oct 12, Justice R K Pattanaik held there was no evidence to suggest that the accused instigated or provoked the Class X student to take his life.

The court set aside a Sept 24, 2025, order of the sub-divisional judicial magistrate, Champua, and observed: "A simple act of reprimand of a student by a teacher, who is under a moral obligation to maintain discipline, does not amount to instigation or intentional aid for the commission of a suicide."

HC stay on cop cover for CPM book stall, evicts illegal stalls

Srishti Lakhotia & Subhajoy Roy | TNN

Kolkata: The row over Hindu Jagran Manch setting up a makeshift book stall in front of a CPM office in Bengal and the latter being allegedly barred from doing the same took a new turn Friday when a division bench of Calcutta high court stayed a single-judge bench's order granting the Left party police protection to sell communist literature at the site.

The bench, led by Chief Justice Ravindra Vithalrao Ghuge, ordered the removal of all stalls "set up without permission" for the Durga Puja period, including that of Hindu Jagran Manch if it was erected without the administration's consent. "There needs to be equality in the eyes of law," it said.

The state had challenged the order permitting CPM to set up a stall in Bongaon, saying the dispute was over "land" and so the appropriate bench should be assigned the case.

The state's counsel told the division bench that officials would need to verify if Hindu Jagran Manch obtained permission to set up its stall which was ostensibly erected after CPM moved court, alleging that members of the Hindu outfit assaulted its workers on Oct 6.

CPM ex-minister injured in attack

Former CPM minister Debesh Das was allegedly assaulted during an attack on a CPM book stall in Entally, Kolkata, late Friday. A group of miscreants attacked the party's book stall near a Durga Puja pandal. They ransacked the stall, threw the books on the road and beat up CPM netas and workers. TNN

ED summons Pinarayi for interrogation in graft case

Kochi/New Delhi: ED issued a summons Friday to former Keralam CM Pinarayi Vijayan in the CMRL-Exalogic payoffs case, directing him to appear for interrogation at the central agency's Kochi zonal office on Oct 23.

The summons came as Vijayan moved Supreme Court for an urgent hearing of his petition challenging the Kerala high court's order to register FIRs under Prevention of Corruption Act against him and his kin over alleged payoffs received during the first of his two stints as CM.

ED has registered two separate enforcement case information reports (ECIRs) against Vijayan and former minister P A Mohamed Riyas, his son-in-law. Vijayan is the first accused in one of the cases and Riyas in the other one. Vijayan's daughter, Veena T, has been named in both cases. The agency will investigate the new case against Vijayan alongside its existing probe into the CMRL payoffs case. TNN

India developing integrated def logistics system for three services

Surendra.Singh
@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: In a move to integrate defence logistics infrastructure that will help in seamless coordination among three services, especially during conflicts, govt is developing an integrated logistics structure on the lines of the US to support its planned theatre commands.

The details of the project, being spearheaded by department of military affairs (DMA), have been outlined in a letter that Rear Admiral Kunal Singh Rajkumar, a joint secretary (navy and defence staff) in DMA, wrote to Rajya Sabha MP Ajeet Madhavrao Gopchade in response to his missive to PM Narendra Modi in which he gave suggestions for "examining a unified defence logistics and fuel management framework on the lines of the US Defence Logistics Agency".

OPERATIONAL EDGE

In his letter, the MP has drawn attention to the functioning of US DLA, which serves as a single centralised combat logistics support agency for the entire US department of defence. US DLA manages fuel supply, military procurement, spare parts, logistics AI systems, defence standardisation, petroleum quality assurance, warehousing, technical support, and global supply-chain management under an integrated tri-service structure. He also told PM that at present, logistics management in India is largely distributed across multiple service-specific structures such as Army Service Corps, Army Ordnance Corps, EME, Naval logistics branches, Air Force maintenance systems, fuel depots and various procurement and inventory mechanisms.

While talking to TOI, RS MP Gopchade said DMA has informed him that "all best practices relevant in India's context are being incorporated in creation of an integrated logistics structure to support planned theatre commands".

Zubeen's cousin 2nd of 7 accused to secure bail

Guwahati: The Gauhati high court granted bail Friday to Zubeen Garg's cousin and suspended Assam Police DSP Sandipan Garg after over a year in jail, making him the second among seven accused to be freed in the conspiracy and murder case pertaining to the singer's death in Singapore, reports Mukut Das.

Singer Amritprava Mahanta, standing trial for conspiracy to murder along with three others arrested in the case, was granted bail last week and walked out jail three days ago. Sandipan has been charged with culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Sandipan was suspended from Assam Police on Oct 8 last year, coinciding with his arrest after seven days of questioning.

Minors at time of crime, 2 men get relief from Allahabad HC 46 yrs on

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Lucknow: A Lucknow bench of the Allahabad high court has set aside the sentences of two men convicted in a mass murder case dating back nearly 46 years after finding that both were minors at the time of the crime.

However, the court upheld their conviction and referred the matter to Juvenile Justice Board to determine the appropriate punishment.

A bench of Justice Abdul Moin and Justice Pramod Kumar Srivastava passed the order in an appeal in a case of a violent incident that took place in Sultanpur on Sept 28, 1980.

According to the prosecution, eight men, allegedly driven by an old rivalry, attacked their victims with sharp-edged weapons and spears. Four people were killed and several others were injured. The sessions court convicted all eight accused and sentenced them to life imprisonment in Dec 1981.

The court upheld their conviction and referred the matter to Juvenile Justice Board

During the pendency of their appeal in the HC, two of the appellants, Siraj Ahmad and Abdul Wahid, claimed they were minors when the incident occurred.

Following HC's direction, Juvenile Justice Board conducted an age inquiry. Based on the board's report and educational records, the court found Siraj was 17 years and 10 months old and Abdul Wahid 17 years and 11 months old at the time of the crime.

While upholding their conviction, the bench held that the sentences imposed under the ordinary criminal law could not be sustained in view of their juvenile status at the time of the offence.

The bench directed both men to appear before Juvenile Justice Board concerned on Oct 28, 2026.

READER ENGAGEMENT INITIATIVE

A little old world at home

New homes are embracing traditional Indian design, using courtyards, verandahs, and lattice screens to create airy layouts that effortlessly transition from relaxed living to festive gatherings

AI IMAGE

The home of the future may borrow more from the past than we expect. As homeowners, architects, and developers look for spaces that feel cooler, calmer, and more connected to the outdoors, courtyards, verandahs, lattice screens, sloping roofs and open-to-sky spaces are finding their way back into contemporary homes. The trend is also influencing how some residential properties are being designed, marketed, and renovated, particularly in the plotted and independent-home segments.

Mohit Shukla, a junior engineer, says, "Earlier, most homeowners wanted modern homes with closed layouts and contemporary finishes. Now, many are asking for more open spaces, verandahs, courtyards and a traditional touch."

As homebuyers seek comfort and character, traditional design principles are finding new relevance in residential spaces

THE TRADITIONAL REVIVAL

Traditional Indian homes were often shaped around climate, available materials and everyday living. Courtyards brought daylight into the centre of the house, verandahs created shaded transition zones, while lattice screens allowed air to circulate while maintaining privacy.

A courtyard may now take the form of a compact landscaped void, a double-height space or a light well. Verandahs are being reworked as covered balconies, terraces and garden decks, while lattice screens are being made using stone, terracotta, concrete, metal and wood. Sloping and pitched roofs, combined with deep overhangs or projecting sunshades, are also appearing in contemporary designs.

Sakshi Verma, an architect, says, "Courtyards, verandahs and screened openings can improve light, airflow and privacy, while giving homes a distinct character. Their value lies in integrating these features within contemporary layouts."

AI IMAGE

DESIGNING AROUND CLIMATE

The revival also points to a renewed interest in passive design. Before air-conditioning became central to urban homes, factors such as orientation, shading, ventilation and building materials played a larger role in determining indoor comfort.

Durgesh Dwivedi, a property dealer, says, "Buyers are becoming more conscious of comfort and liveability. Features such as shaded spaces, natural ventilation and better daylight are increasingly seen as practical advantages, particularly for homeowners looking for properties that remain comfortable across seasons."

The revival is not confined to new construction. Older independent homes are being updated while retaining features that give them their character, including high ceilings, verandahs, exposed materials and mature gardens. Kitchens, bathrooms, electrical systems and other services can be modernised without removing the original architectural identity. In increasingly technology-driven residential spaces, simple principles such as shade, daylight, ventilation and a connection with the outdoors continue to hold their appeal.

Govt: Have no plans to cap airfares, will keep strong lever on airlines

Saurabh Sinha | TNN

New Delhi: Govt has no plans to regulate or cap airfares in the free market under which airlines here operate under the new airfare policy being finalised.

However, it will keep a "strong lever" on airlines to ensure they don't resort to very sharp surges in "exceptional and extraordinary circumstances" that see demand rising for certain routes.

The new policy will require airlines to determine charges based on their "cost of operations." Airlines will submit a range of fares on different routes to the DGCA periodically. This will help ensure no one charges beyond the maximum given fares.

The Centre Friday informed Supreme Court that administrative approval has been granted to the rules, and they are likely to be published within two weeks.

"We are on the verge of finalising the new rules. However, govt will not regulate airfares in a free market, especially given the severe cost stress under which airlines are operating. We will ensure in public interest that under no circumstances they charge more than the highest fare bucket submitted to the regulator," said a person in the know.

Govt will have the power to act in "exceptional and extraordinary" circumstances to regulate fares for a limited period of the exigency like natural calamity when there's a sudden demand from people to fly in or out of some place.

DGCA will decide the periodicity in which airlines will have to submit the range of fares to it for each route.

FSSAI notice to Radisson Blu, BigBasket over safety lapses

New Delhi: The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has initiated action against multiple food businesses over food safety violations and allegedly misleading product claims, issuing an improvement notice to AB Hotels, which operates Radisson Blu Hotel, suspending the licence of DNV Food Products Ltd and cancelling that of Jhanvitanni.

It also issued notices to Gemini Edibles & Fats India Ltd, Innovative Retail Concepts Ltd (BigBasket) and Flipkart Internet Private Limited over allegedly misleading claims about Freedom Cooking Rice Bran Oil. FSSAI said the oil was promoted with claims that it could reduce cholesterol, which were not covered under applicable regulations.

The notice to AB Hotels cited deficiencies in hygiene and food safety practices. The companies did not respond to TOI's queries.— Anuja Jaiswal

Amid empty seats, govt slashes dental PG cut-off

Anuja.Jaiswal@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: For the third straight year, govt has lowered the qualifying cut-off for NEET-MDS for the third consecutive year. The qualifying percentile for NEET-MDS 2026 has been reduced by 20.576 percentage points across categories, following reductions of 19.863 percentage points in 2025 and 21.692 percentage points in 2024.

A senior health ministry official estimated that around 1,200 MDS seats remained vacant nationwide. The official said state-wise vacancy figures were not available and said the estimate was based on division of seats between all-India quota, which accounts for 50%, and state counselling, which covers the remaining 50%.

The Medical Counselling Committee (MCC) has listed 460 clear vacancies and 762 virtual vacancies for Round 2 of counselling this year. The seats are spread across govt and private institutions, which account for 7,716 seats in 287 colleges. Of these, 46 govt colleges have 1,103 seats, while 241 private colleges account for 6,613.

Virtual vacancies are not confirmed vacancies as these seats are currently allotted to candidates who may opt for upgradation. If they move to another seat, their existing seats could become available for allotment to other candidates.

The General/EWS qualifying score has been reduced from 308 to 234 out of 960, while General-PwBD score has fallen from 289 to 218 and SC/ST/OBC score from 271 to 200.

In 2025, the respective scores were reduced from 261 to 197, 244 to 182 and 227 to 168.

National Board of Examinations in Medical Sciences said the 2026 revision followed a letter from the ministry dated Oct 12 and was made under the MDS regulations. The notice did not explicitly state that vacant seats had prompted the decision. The NEET-MDS 2026 results were declared on June 2.

New Delhi: Parents of the 19-year-old Rishikesh resort murder victim met the CBI brass Friday and gave a representation demanding a 'narco-test' on former BJP MLA Suresh Rathore and his wife in connection with a viral audio and video clip related to the alleged naming of a 'VIP' in the case.

The CBI said it will probe every aspect of the case thoroughly, indicating that it could move forward with the demand. CBI said in a statement that the parents met with senior officials at the CBI headquarters in Delhi and provided information regarding various aspects of the case. "The CBI officers assured them that the investigation would be conducted in an impartial and fair manner, with a thorough examination of every aspect of the case," an agency spokesperson said.

Urmila Sanawar, who claimed to be Rathore's second wife and had multiple cases against her, had uploaded several videos online tying a senior BJP functionary to the murder. In May, she had played an audio clip of a purported conversation with Rathore in which he allegedly identified the functionary as the "VIP" who was present at the Vanantara resort in Rishikesh the day a 19-year-old receptionist was killed in 2022.

Ex-legislator Rathore was subsequently arrested in June even as his wife's claims had created a stir. The probe, is likely to examine if allegation that the clips were a ruse and that Rathore and his wife were in the same room while they recorded the conversation and they made it viral allegedly due to election-related rivalry, sources said.

Four FIRs were registered by Uttarakhand police, two of which were quashed by court. CBI had filed an FIR in Feb to investigate and ascertain the identity of the VIP in the case.

U'khand BJP MP accompanies victim's kin

BJP media head Anil Baluni, who is a Lok Sabha MP from Uttarakhand, accompanied the victim's parents in their meeting with the CBI officials as they demanded that Dushyant Kumar Gautam not be administered oath as the governor of Sikkim until further probe in the matter.

Meanwhile, Congress' Seva Dal held a candle march in New Delhi demanding justice for the young victim and called for an impartial probe and accountability into the case. Addressing the gathering, Seva Dal chief Srinivas B V demanded immediate action by the authorities regarding the allegations against Gautam. TNN & PTI

Congress aiming for B'desh-style regime change in India: Rajnath

Pankaj.Shah1@timesofindia.com

Lucknow: Defence minister Rajnath Singh Friday accused Congress and its allies of attempting to destabilise the country through protests and pursuing a "Bangladesh-style regime change" model.

He said the Congres brass, particularly the Nehru-Gandhi family, has lost the moral right to use the "Gandhi" surname because of their conduct aimed at spreading anarchy and violence.

Addressing reporters at BJP's headquarters in Lucknow, Singh said slogans such as "regime change" and "resistance" raised during the ongoing protests in Delhi reflected a broader opposition strategy aimed at derailing the country's progress. "Whatever has been happening in Delhi is a reprehensible attempt by the opposition to obstruct the nation's development," Singh said, adding that the Congress and its allies appeared to be using young people as pawns.

Referring to a statement by AISA president Neha Bora, who cited the Bangladesh student movement as an inspiration for Indian youth protesting for voting rights, Singh said the opposition was seeking to replicate events witnessed in the neighbouring country. "They want a regime change on the lines of Bangladesh."

The defence minister accused Congress of abandoning Mahatma Gandhi's ideals. "Congress, which claims to be the heir of Mahatma Gandhi, is using violence, anarchy and slogans of regime change to avenge its electoral failures."

Targeting Rahul Gandhi, Singh said democracy did not grant anyone the licence to undermine constitutional institutions. Questioning the Congress's criticism of EC, Singh accused the previous Congress govts of interfering in the functioning of the poll body. Responding to allegations of "vote chori" (vote theft), Singh said Congress's decline was due to its own failures rather than electoral manipulation.

UP CM Yogi Adityanath said there were forces who were planning a violent regime change similar to Bangladesh.

Cong: Never hid objective of bringing down govt

New Delhi: Making light of BJP's charge that it wants a "regime change", Congress said it has never hidden its objective of bringing down the Modi govt through democratic means, calling it normal in a democracy and which BJP also did in the past when Congress was in office.

Congress neta Pawan Khera said former President Pranab Mukherjee used to say that "the job of the opposition in a democracy is to oppose, expose and depose the govt", adding he was given a Bharat Ratna by BJP govt. He rebuffed the charge that Congress wants to seize power through unconstitutional means, stating that questioning a CEC does not imply an assault on ECI, demanding electoral reforms does not amount to attack on democracy and seeking a replacement of govt is not a coup.

He said RSS has hijacked institutions like EC. "This is called a regime, which we are talking about changing and we will change it." TNN

CJP's Mumbai protest flops, draws barely 150

'Will Keep Protesting Until Gyanesh Kumar Resigns'

Mahiyar.Patel @timesofindia.com

Mumbai: The Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) staged its one-day 'Lehra Do Tiranga' demonstration amid poor attendance at Azad Maidan on Friday. The rally drew a crowd that oscillated between 50 and 150 people through the day.

The protest was held in solidarity with the recently arrested party co-conveners and founders Ashutosh Ranka and Saurav Das.

Supporters began arriving past 10 am under heavy police deployment at the venue gates. Protesters carried the national flag alongside portraits of Bhagat Singh and political placards critical of the administration. Literature and books were laid out on sheets across the grounds for passers-by and supporters.

Rupali Kudtarkar of the CJP said: "We will keep protesting each day until Gyanesh Kumar resigns."

She added: "We had planned to organise the protest at the Gateway of India but the police insisted we continue the protest at Azad Maidan. We were allowed to take a photo at the gateway later in the evening."

While the morning hours saw smaller clusters of people, the numbers increased during speeches, before again dropping off in the afternoon.

Speakers criticised the administration over the arrests and called for greater public awareness on the SIR exercise. The demonstration concluded by 5pm.

Govt ropes in aided, private teachers, PSU staff for Census work

Bharti.Jain@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: The home ministry Friday expanded the pool of enumerators for the Census exercise, making teachers of not just govt schools but also that of aided or unaided private bodies, societies and trusts; and clerks or officials employed not just by central and state govts but also by public sector undertakings, banks etc, eligible for the assignment.

Amending Census Rules 1990, the ministry, in a notification issued Friday, expanded the description of staff who can be hired as enumerators for Census 2027, the second phase of which is due to start in five poll-bound states in Nov, followed by the remaining states (barring the snow-bound UT of Ladakh and parts of Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh and J&K where it is already over) in Feb next year.

The description of those who can be hired as enumerators—encapsulated in Rule 3 of the Census Rules — has been revised from "teachers, clerks or any official or any person" to three distinct categories.

Among teachers, those employed in any educational institution of govt, local authority, aided or unaided private bodies, societies or trusts will be eligible to be hired as enumerators. Also, clerks or any official of central govt, state govt, local authority or establishment, including PSUs, statutory bodies, banks, companies, institutions, societies and trusts may be assigned the job of census enumerator.

Given that the second phase of census will also record caste, the availability of a wide range of suitably qualified officials as enumerators will likely help in correctly capturing the responses to the questionnaire

This pool will now also include any person that the state govt or Union territory administration may consider suitable for performing the duties as an enumerator.

The amended rules — to be called the Census (Amendment) Rules, 2026 — will offer more clarity to what classes of officials and staff may be hired to carry out the job of census enumerators, apart from expanding the talent pool. Given that the second phase of census — involving population enumeration — will, in a first since 1931, also record caste, the availability of a wide range of suitably qualified officials for engagement as enumerators is expected to help in correctly capturing the responses to the Phase 2 questionnaire.

Imran Khan may move Bombay HC against 'Leave India' notice today

Mumbai: Actor Imran Khan, who was served with a 'leave India' notice by the Foreigners Regional Registration Officer on Oct 14, four days after he was present at a protest in the city over the SIR of electoral rolls, is expected to petition the Bombay HC Saturday.

He is likely to move HC as the notice has given him till Oct 28 to leave India. The notice refers to Khan as a foreigner, but is silent on his OCI status and whether he was given any prior hearing or detailed reasons for the action taken, which is likely to form the basis of his challenge, along with issue the case coming under spotlight. SC in a recent judgement involving the Foreigners Act had said the process against foreigners "must still satisfy the constitutional requirements of fairness and non-arbitrariness". TNN

Raut, journo apologise after SC contempt notices

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi/Mumbai: Sena UBT MP Sanjay Raut and journalist Nikhil Wagle apologised to Supreme Court Friday after it issued them criminal contempt notices on the SC Bar Association's plea accusing the two of targeting the CJI with scandalous statements and social media posts to denigrate and lower the SC's authority.

Senior advocates Pradeep Rai, president of SCBA, and Rahul Kaushik insisted on the presence of both contemnors on the next date of hearing but a bench of CJI Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi exempted mandatory attendance of Raut and Wagle in court. However, it frowned upon seasoned politicians and lawyers indulging in doublespeak.

Raut is among 11 INDIA bloc petitioners led by Rahul Gandhi who have filed a joint petition in the SC against the EC, SIR and EVMs. When CJI Kant said many people were being misled into making such objectionable statements, solicitor general Tushar Mehta supported the SCBA and said, "Many of them understand and do it deliberately. They misunderstand that such remarks will pressurise the judges. They believe that such statements bring pressure (on judges). Attempt is there, maybe a futile one."

CJI Kant said, " ...The courts have always protected the rights and never disappointed them. If one keeps condemning and criticising (the judiciary) left, right and centre, it creates a very unfortunate situation. We can only hope that better sense prevails on everyone."

Raut later said if the highest constitutional institution thought he had insulted it then he apologised to it. He said when all doors to justice are closed, people stand before the SC and plead for justice. " SC is a pillar of justice and Constitution of India. We will go to the SC and plead our case. There must be no wrong comment on the SC in any way."

Wagle also issued an apology. "Out of sudden anguish and frustration with the system, I posted on X something which I should not have." He addressed his apology letter to the attorney general of India. Wagle said he was offering an unconditional apology and requested the AG not to proceed further in the matter.

Kharge writes to Modi: Call all-party meet on delimit bill

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Congress chief Kharge, PM Modi

New Delhi: Amid speculation of govt planning a special session of Parliament to pass delimitation bill, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge Friday wrote to PM Narendra Modi, urging him to convene an all-party meeting to discuss Constitution Amendment bill. He said any far-reaching legislation on important issues, such as delimitation, must be discussed before being brought to Parliament.

Alluding to the possibility of a special session, Kharge noted that 64 days have passed since Parliament's monsoon session was adjourned sine die on Aug 13, but Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha have not been prorogued yet. He called it an "unprecedented scenario".

Kharge underlined to PM that this is his fourth request for an all-party meeting. He said the first plea came on April 11, which went unheeded, and govt brought the delimitation bill in Parliament on April 16. He said the bill failed to muster two-third majority by a decisive margin. Kharge noted that he wrote to the PM for all-party meetings again on July 16 and Aug 27.

"Please convene an all-party meeting to have a detailed discussion on your new proposals before they are finalised for consideration in Parliament. All l parties must get sufficient time to deliberate among themselves, with each other and with all other stakeholders. Please do not once again try and bulldoze a far-reaching Constitutional Amendment Bill through Parliament as you attempted earlier and that met its well-deserved fate," he said.

Barely 9% of 1 crore deleted voters file Form 6 in K'taka

Pearl.DSouza @timesofindia.com

Bengaluru: Just 10.07 lakh Form 6 applications for inclusion in Karnataka's electoral rolls have been received since the rolls were frozen on June 16 for the special intensive revision (SIR) — barely 9% of the 1.07 crore voters struck off the draft rolls under the ASDDO (absent, shifted, dead or duplicate) category.

For voters deleted under ASDDO, filing Form 6 as a new voter was the only route back into the rolls before the claims and objections deadline of Sept 23. Of the total applications received, 7.86 lakh came in before the deadline, CEO Anbu Kumar had said earlier. Once verified and processed, these applicants will also be included in the final SIR rolls.

However, the exact number of applicants deleted under ASDDO couldn't be calculated because the database was now with the ECI and the state office no longer had access to it. The 9% figure overstates recovery, as Form 6 is also used by first-time voters never enrolled on the rolls, a CEO's office official said. It is open to all unenrolled voters, including those in the ASDDO category.

The office plans a mop-up exercise after the final SIR rolls are published on Oct 27 to enrol those missed. TNN

IAS officer 'abuses' jr woman colleague, J&K orders probe

Srinagar: A purported video of a senior J&K IAS officer, Kumar Rajeev Ranjan, allegedly using abusive language against a junior woman colleague at a meeting has triggered an outcry, an inquiry, an NCW notice and calls for the senior bureaucrat to be shunted out.

In the video from Wednesday's virtual meeting, Ranjan, secretary of labour and employment department, is heard telling Beenish Wani, a J&K Administrative Service officer, "shut up" and "bloody shit".

CM Omar Abdullah decried Ranjan's behaviour and wrote to chief secretary Atal Dulloo for action. NC president Farooq Abdullah, called for Ranjan's removal. PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti urged Omar to take up the matter with the Centre. Govt Friday ordered an inquiry led by a woman IAS officer, Mandeep Kaur, against Ranjan with directions to submit a report within 15 days. The action came as NCW took suo motu cognisance of the video and its chairperson wrote to Dulloo seeking an inquiry, followed by appropriate action. — Naseer Ganai

16-yr-old shoots 3 children, teacher at US school

Kids Aged 5, 8 And 11; Assailant Killed By An Armed Bystander

A teenager shot and killed three children and a teacher Thursday at an elementary school in the US state of Oregon, police said, adding the assailant was later killed by an armed bystander who pursued him into the building.

Officers rushed to Silver Rail Elementary in Bend, a city of about 100,000 in the nation's northwest, after reports of a shooter on campus Thursday afternoon. The three children who died on the scene were aged five, eight and 11, said Bend police chief Mike Krantz. Another child and a teacher were being treated for critical injuries after the shooting.

US, where firearms are readily available, has a long and painful history of gun violence, with thousands of people killed every year. It has the highest rate of gun-related deaths among all developed nations.

Community members hold a candlelight vigil for shooting victims in Bend. More than 360 mass shootings have been recorded across the US this year, according to the Gun Violence Archive, which defines them as incidents in which at least four people are shot, excluding the gunman

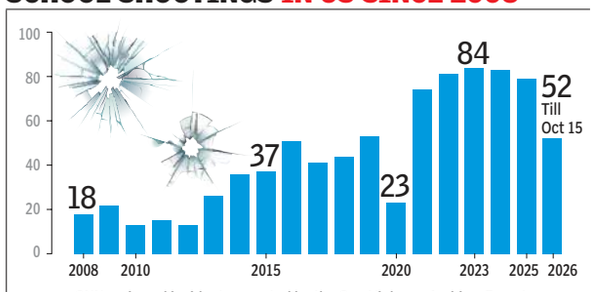
People gathered in the city's Drake Park Thursday evening for a candlelight vigil remembering the victims. "I'm in total shock, and scared and sad," said Betsy, who did not give her last name. She spent around 10 minutes contemplating a circle of candles and flowers. "It's awful, but it also has brought people together," she told AFP.

Krantz, the police chief, told journalists that the department first learned of an active shooter after a call from a person who reported being shot at multiple times by a person carrying a long gun. Dozens of emergency calls then reported that a shooter had entered the school and all law enforcement in the area were called to the scene, the chief added.

Officers arrived at 1.02pm local time (2002 GMT) within minutes of the calls, he said.

"Moments later, an officer reported that the suspect had been shot by a community member who had seen the suspect enter the school and pursued him into the school and engaged him," Krantz said. "Our officers entered the building and confirmed the suspect was dead." One seven-year-old and one 54-year-old teacher with critical injuries were transported to a local hospital, he said. The police chief said the investigation was in its early stages, but told the press conference it appeared "the shooter had forced their way into the school by shooting at locked doors." He added that the 16-year-old shooter was a Bend resident. Between 400 and 450 children attend Silver Rail Elementary.

SCHOOL SHOOTINGS IN US SINCE 2008



CNN reviewed incidents reported by the Gun Violence Archive, Everytown and Education Week; Source: CNN school shootings database

From the massacre in Columbine, Colorado, in 1999, which left more than a dozen people dead, to the carnage in Sandy Hook, Connecticut, more than a decade later, where 26 people were killed — school shootings have left deep, lasting scars on communities, and on the entire country. The deadliest school shooting in US history took place at Virginia Tech on April 16, 2007, when a student killed 32 people before taking his own life.

Oregon has more restrictions on gun ownership than most. Everytown, a gun safety advocacy organisation, ranks the state 12th out of 50 for the strength of its gun laws. Those laws include a ban on bump stocks and other weapon modifications aimed at increasing a gun's rate of fire. The state also has a law cracking down on 3-D-printed ghost guns. But Oregon still does not have a ban on certain kinds of assault or military-style firearms. AGENCIES

Gun epidemic in US spares no one even as debate goes off target

Chidanand Rajghatta | TNN

Washington: A 19-year-old "neo-Nazi" teen's reported use of cross-sex hormones has added a contentious dimension to an attempted mass shooting at a Hindu temple in Illinois, while in a separate incident, a 16-year old with access to guns murdered three children and a teacher in a school in Oregon as America's epidemic of gun violence continues unabated.

US politicians and public officials issued familiar, mealy-mouthed platitudes invoking "thoughts and prayers" for victims and their families as the core issue of easy access to guns was sidelined by fervent debates over parenting, mental illness, gender transition, etc. Reports that Alexandro Paporakis, the Illinois gunman whose jammed rifle thwarted a massacre at a Hindu temple near Chicago and who was receiving cross-sex hormone therapy and that a judge had ordered treatment to continue in custody was the digression US gun enthusiasts leaned into to argue guns are not the problem.

Court reporting also cited anxiety, depression and other medical treatment the teen was going through. However, these issues and the reported gender transition were not seen as evidence of a motive, at least initially, for the alleged attack. Investigators have pointed instead to white-supremacist ideology and racial motive based on a manifesto expressing hatred toward Indians, Jews and Black people.

The Illinois case has also acquired a personal dimension for local Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi, who said he and his family were present when the alleged attack was attempted Sunday. "I am horrified that a white supremacist attempted to carry out a mass shooting targeting Indian Americans at the Hindu temple in Aurora where my family worships," the Illinois Democrat said, warning that anti-Indian hatred and white supremacy had become dangerous and authorities must take threats seriously before innocent people are killed. Six Indian-origin lawmakers – all Democrats – dubbed the "Samosa caucus" have faced virulent attacks from the MAGA nativist hardliners, some of them demanding only those born in US should be allowed to run for office.

Among those who have faced such hostile race-baiting is Washington Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal, who has also faced attacks from many Indians for framing the Illinois incident more broadly in terms of attacks on South Asians, rather than explicitly describe the target as a Hindu temple, as her own party leader, New York senator Chuck Schumer, did. Critics argue that describing a specifically anti-Hindu attack as anti-South Asian risks obscuring the religious identity of the intended victims.

"Look at the chicanery of this lady. The word " Hindu" gets stuck in her throat. Attacks by white supremacists are against Hindus , not "South Asians". The targeted temple is Hindu, not South Asian. What a phoney," former Foreign Secretary Kanwal Sibal wrote on X.

More than 50 American lawmakers and public officials condemned the Illinois attack, most of them explicitly identifying the target as a Hindu temple. Even the Pakistani-American lobbying ground PakPAC did so, saying it is "deeply troubled to learn about a plot targeting a Hindu Temple in Illinois … No form of hatred is acceptable, we are all Americans. Freedom of worship is an American value. Hatred based on religion and national origin is against our American values."

Attempted shooting matter of concern, reiterates India

Reiterating that the attempted mass shooting in a temple in Illinois was a matter of deep concern, govt urged US authorities to ensure the safety, security and well-being of Indian nationals in the country. "This is obviously a matter of deep concern for us. At the same time, it is something that shows or highlights the increasing cases of hate crimes and racial discrimination against the Indian community in the US," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal. Order to limit satellite system used by Ukraine came from WH: Report

AP

'TECHING' OFF: A Ukrainian drone company, SkyFall, demonstrates StarGate, an aerial medical evacuation drone designed to carry wounded soldiers from front-line positions, potentially saving lives where conventional rescue vehicles cannot reach

New York/Washington: The order to limit a satellite system used by Ukraine for battlefield communications and drone operations came from inside the White House, according to two US officials and a Western official briefed on the matter. The officials said leaders at the defence department received a message that the SpaceX Starshield service for the Ukrainian military needed to be slowed.

The officials, who spoke on the condition of anonymity, did not specify who in the White House made the decision or who was responsible for implementing the order. The Pentagon is the biggest customer of Starshield, which is the military-grade version of the Starlink service.

Ukrainian officials said this week that military-grade Starlink receptors stopped working in Ukraine when mounted on fast-moving objects, interfering with the performance of Ukrainian drones that rely on them for onboard guidance systems over Ukrainian territory.

Trump didn't order limits on Kyiv's SpaceX access: US

President Trump didn't order any limitations on Ukraine's access to SpaceX's Starshield satellite technology, according to a senior US official. The US official's comment didn't preclude the possibility that another US official or agency directed Kyiv's access be curbed, but it does rebut Zelenskyy's claim that Trump was responsible.

Starlink speed not yet fully restored, says Zelensky

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said Friday that Starlink services in his country were still being restored, after partial curbs impeded the military's ability to defend against Russia. "Has the speed been fully restored to what it was before? No. Is the speed being restored now? Yes," Zelensky said at a presser in Brussels. AGENCIES

Zelensky terms Russian peace moves a 'parody', slams Trump deal

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky on Friday sharply criticised US President Trump's diesel deal with Russia, saying it would send cash back to Moscow, and accused Russian President Vladimir Putin of reducing peace negotiations to a "parody".

Speaking at an EU summit in Brussels, Zelensky said Russia did not want peace and welcomed the prospect of European allies taking a greater role in talks. EU leaders rallied around him after Trump again criticised Ukraine and called its strikes on Russian refineries a "disgrace". "And now we can see how cash will start flowing back into Russia through the diesel deal," Zelensky said. "This diesel deal will never be enough to offset the impact of the Strait of Hormuz . But it will put more money into Putin's pocket to fund this war."

He said Putin was not interested in peace. "He's playing with words. Quite simply, it looks like a parody of a genuine desire to end the war."

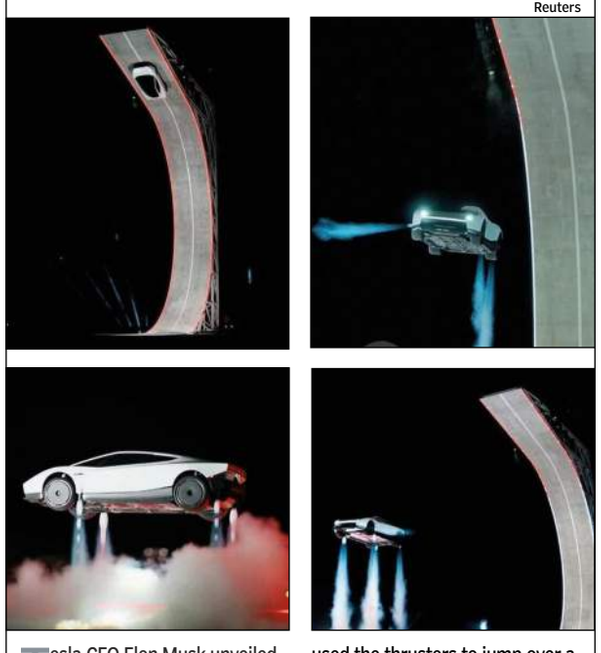
Zelensky called his EU counterparts "real leaders". "The war will cost €155 billion next year. And we need at least €70 billion more from you – for defence, for weapons," he said in his address to EU leaders.

Building 'security zone' in Ukraine, says Putin

Russia is establishing a "security zone" inside Ukraine along their border, which will be non-negotiable in any future talks with Kyiv, President Putin said Friday. He said the operation was in response to Ukraine's 2024-25 incursion into Russia's Kursk region. REUTERS

MUSK UNVEILS 'FLYING' CAR

Reuters



Tesla CEO Elon Musk unveiled what he described as a 'flying' car, equipped with thrusters, during a livestreamed event at his SpaceX rocket company's facility Thursday and said it would start production in 2028. The white 2-seater vehicle, developed in collaboration with Musk's rocket company SpaceX, drove upside down on a ramp using a suction system, turned in the air and landed using built-in thrusters. Later in the event it used the thrusters to jump over a truck and other vehicles, twisting in the air during the maneuver. The Roadster can accelerate from zero to 97kmph in less than one second and can hit a top speed of over 370kmph, Tesla vehicle engineering chief Lars Moravy said. 'Definitely much faster than that,' an excited Musk said. 'I think you've got to crack halfway to the speed of sound.' The Roadster can travel over 480km on a single charge. AGENCIES

Indian jailed for life for murder of woman he met at a brothel in UK

Naomi Canton

London: Indian national Deepak Sandhu, who came to UK on a student visa, was Friday sent to jail for life with a minimum of 28 years for murdering a Chinese woman he met at a brothel. It took a jury at the Old Bailey just two hours to convict Sandhu (24) of murdering Chinese national Xiaoqing Ke (39), who worked at a brothel in Southampton. He was also convicted of perverting the course of justice. Sandhu denied the charges. He sat in the dock with a Punjabi interpreter.

The court heard that Sandhu had a brief relationship with Xiaoqing, a single mother-of-two, during which he fabricated an identity of being a model and actor. The pair communicated using the Google Translate app. Sandhu had entered the UK in Sep 2024. He was thrown off his IT course at Southampton Solent University and his visa was revoked six months later for poor attendance; he was actually working as a casual labourer on building sites.

After Xiaoqing discovered that Sandhu had been lying and had stolen £500 from her handbag, she ended the relationship in Aug 2025. Sandhu pestered Xiaoqing and persuaded her to meet by promising to repay her money. In reality he wanted revenge, the court was told. Doorbell camera footage from Xiaoqing's Airbnb captured him arriving with his face wrapped in a scarf and leaving after about 90 minutes. Police discovered her body the following day. A post-mortem confirmed that she died as a result of stab wounds. Sandhu booked a one-way flight from Birmingham to Mumbai but was arrested by police on way to the airport on Dec 12.

US military mulls use of largest non-nuclear bomb against Iran, says report

Washington: US military is considering using the largest non-nuclear bomb in its arsenal against Iran's energy infrastructure and nuclear sites, subject to President Donald Trump's approval, CNN reported on Oct 16.

Deployment of the GBU-43/B Massive Ordnance Air Blast Bomb (MOAB), known as the mother of all bombs, would mark a significant escalation in the war on Iran, now in its eighth month, the report said.

Trump told Newsmax Thursday that US might strike Iran's nuclear facilities again, including the fortified Pickaxe Mountain. Asked about reports he was considering using MOAB, possibly after the Nov 3 midterm elections, Trump said it was not nuclear and that he would not use a nuclear weapon because it was unnecessary.

The MOAB weighs approximately 21,600 pounds and was first used in combat in April 2017, during Trump's first administration, against an Islamic State group tunnel complex in Afghanistan. Unlike the GBU-57 Massive Ordnance Penetrator, a bunker-busting bomb for deeply buried targets, MOAB is designed primarily to create a massive surface blast. However, the report said officials have questioned whether the weapon could destroy Iranian nuclear facilities buried deep underground. PTI

2 dead in blasts near Yemen govt palace

At least six explosions struck Thursday near the palace used by Yemen's internationally recognised govt in the port city of Aden, witnesses said. An official said at least two people were killed, and Iran-backed Houthi rebels claimed responsibility. The Houthis said they attacked a military operations headquarters with the "Saudi enemy," part of their strategy of attacking Saudi targets that has included a series of attacks on airports and oil facilities. Sally Rooney books pulled from UK over aid to Palestine grp

London: British booksellers are caught up in a battle over terrorism and free speech after Irish novelist Sally Rooney said her books can no longer be sold in UK because she financially supports the banned group Palestine Action. The announcement by Rooney's British publisher has reignited debate over UK govt's decision last year to outlaw the protest group as a terrorist organisation. The ban makes membership in or support for Palestine Action a crime punishable by up to 14 years in prison. AP

WH press secretary Zacharia 'let go' from role, says official

Washington: White House press secretary Katie Zacharia was "let go" from the role, a White House official said Friday, after President Donald Trump said he had told her to reconsider the job following public scrutiny.

"I told her: 'I think you're better off being happy, and I'm not sure you can ever be happy in this stuff.' There's nothing easy about this stuff," Trump told reporters. He added: "I said to her honestly, 'If I were you, I'd reconsider... think about it. But I would reconsider.'"

Fox News, citing a White House official, later reported that Zacharia was "transitioning" out of the role of press secretary. Zacharia started the job Monday and held her debut White House press briefing Tuesday.

She had said she received a call about the role of press secretary last Wednesday and got offered the job to succeed Karoline Leavitt last Friday.

Over the last week, the issue of whether Zacharia, a graduate of California's Pepperdine University law school, had actually passed the bar — making her an attorney — came under fire. On Friday, during a Fox News interview, Zacharia said she did not pass the bar. "It was never my intent to go into the practise of law." AGENCIES

Takaichi says chores, makeup add hours to her workday, sparks debate on gender roles

Tokyo: Japanese PM Sanae Takaichi's comments that she works longer than her male predecessors because of household chores and makeup have sparked debate over gender roles and work-life balance in Japan.

Addressing parliament Wednesday, Takaichi described the additional demands she faces as a woman. "In the morning, I take a bath, fix breakfast and do the dishes, then apply makeup," she said. "Doing these things, I feel I'm spending three or four more hours than male prime ministers."

She said aides took time to realise she needed extra time to apply makeup and prepare for television appearances. Her remarks drew criticism for reinforcing traditional gender roles and normalising excessive working hours. Govt figures show women spend nearly five hours daily on housework, against about 40 minutes for an average man.

Takaichi, who took office last year, has said she sleeps between zero and three hours a night because of homemaking responsibilities and her official workload. Critics said she was setting a poor example on work-life balance and gender equality.

Fumitake Fujita, a senior official of junior coalition partner Japan Innovation Party, raised the issue of PM's schedule Wednesday, suggesting that hours-long parliamentary sessions, which ministers attend almost daily, be reduced. Citing NXJI Research, he said Japan's PM attended parliamentary sessions on 72 days in 2022, compared with 50 in Britain and 13 in Germany.

Takaichi said she routinely takes home documents despite difficulty managing her schedule. "I do enjoy reading them late at night," she said. "Honestly, I feel it is not easy to squeeze out time to sit down and think about the future direction of Japan or have a grand vision." AP

As US varsities vet CPT for int'l students, higher edu groups seek court relief

Lubna Kably | TNN

A legal challenge to Trump administration's tighter interpretation of Curricular Practical Training (CPT) rules for international students will be heard on Nov 6, with four higher education organisations seeking to block changes that have led several US universities to suspend or restrict authorisations.

Association of American Universities (AAU), Presidents' Alliance on Higher Education and Immigration, NAFSA: Association of International Educators, and Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts filed the lawsuit on Oct 5 in US District Court in Massachusetts. They seek a preliminary injunction and a stay of agency action while the case proceeds.

The suit challenges broadcast messages issued by Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP), part of US immigration and customs enforcement, on Aug 12 and Aug 24. The messages imposed a stricter interpretation of existing CPT requirements and emphasised compliance duties of designated school officials authorising training for F-1 students.

Getty Images

FUTURE TENSE

CPT allows F-1 students to undertake practical training directly related to their academic programmes. Under the revised interpretation, training must be integral to an established curriculum and required of all students in the relevant degree programme for graduation. Optional internships carrying academic credit may therefore no longer qualify.

The organisations argue that administration changed the application of existing regulations through administrative messages without formal rulemaking, creating uncertainty for universities and students who had arranged internships, practicums and other experiential learning under established practices. Presidents' Alliance said colleges had paused or halted CPT authorisations, and students had already lost internships and other placements.

NAFSA executive director and CEO Fanta Aw said the abrupt changes created "significant new restrictions and uncertainty" for officials advising international students and ensuring institutional compliance with immigration rules. AAU president Barbara R. Snyder warned that upending CPT as the fall semester began would have long-term consequences for students, universities and Americans.

Universities have responded differently. Harvard authorises CPT only when training is a formal degree requirement, degree completion depends on it, and sponsoring employers offer it through cooperative agreements with the school. MIT temporarily paused new and pending requests as of Aug 24 for training not required of all students in a programme. University of Pennsylvania resumed requests meeting current federal requirements.

Photography is an immediate reaction, drawing is a meditation

HENRI CARTIER-BRESSON

Real, Or Realistic?

A famous camera maker announces the winner of its microscopy contest. Days later, it turns out that the winning video – cilia, or hair-like structures, moving inside the airway of a sick child – is AI-enhanced. It's not a first, of course. In 2015, one in every five World Press Photo Contest finalists was a digitally manipulated image. In 2003 – long before generative AI – Los Angeles Times front-paged a doctored "photo" of a British soldier amid Iraqis. Then it sacked the photographer. In Feb 1982, Nat Geo moved two Pyramids closer for its cover. In the 1940s, Stalin's retouchers purged rivals from archive photos. Even the iconic 1945 image of Soviet soldiers planting a red flag over the Reichstag is doctored.

It never felt right, because seeing is believing. As Susan Sontag wrote, "Photographed images do not seem to be statements about the world, so much as pieces of it." To tamper with them is to tamper with the world. And AI makes it so much worse, because it does away with reality altogether. There's no physical subject, no ray of light travelling from it to a lens, no physical media – film or sensor – to etch reality with that light. You can create a new, false "reality" out of nothing. It can be terrifying, only if you think about it, and then, new photo contest stipulations, such as the insistence on "lens-based cameras", stop seeming ridiculous.

AI slop is everywhere now, in music, writing, so-called art. You may love or hate it, or be indifferent, but for images that claim to represent reality, you can't make any concessions. As photojournalist Michael Kamber says, "We can't be negotiating what is inside the frame." Photojournalism and photo contests need stronger safeguards against all kinds of manipulation, because a photograph that's 99% true is a lie.

Why do political centrists write so few books?

Kolkata is vendors' delight, buyers' paradise – in equal measure for books from the world over, including translations of a dizzying number of foreign titles, casually accessible for the random reader, sometimes even in the boondocks, which is a fair expanse of Bengal. So, book stalls are as much a staple of Pujo as khichudi, beguni, mughlai and biryani. And just as the range of foods, so the range of books. Which made the spat in HC between new BJP govt and CPM offices beyond the state capital, unusual. CPM argued it was barred from putting up book stalls while RSS-affiliate Hindu Jagran Manch was selling its wares. Cal HC directed cops to let CPM sell its books – "dissemination of different political thoughts and ideologies …makes the democracy fruitful, deep-rooted and matured." Indeed.

The reason we look to our right and left before crossing the road is because truckloads of ideological literature can knock us to the kerb. This is true globally. Left and right thinkers are prolific. But what about centrists, who hold the middle ground, banking less on ideology, more on pragmatism, totally okay with smart compromises. Truth is, nobody ever started a revolution shouting "What do we want? Incremental reform!" Joke goes, the left and right have manifestos; centrists have footnotes. As for centrist thought, it's all probably still with the review committee. While the march for mindspace carries on, left-right, left-right.

Antiquity Isn't A Stale Inheritance

Go forth and argue with those Greeks and Romans

She is arguably the world's most famous classicist, and to her fans worldwide it looks like this is what she was born to be. But in her new book, Talking Classics: The Shock of the Old, the now 71-year-aged Mary Beard says, nope.

In 1960, her mum took her to the 'Egyptian Everyday Life' gallery, at the British Museum in London. A 4,000-year-old bread was fascinating, but displayed too high. A curator passing by noticed how 'desperate' this child was, unlocked the display, and brought the bread a couple of inches from her nose. It's to this man that the book is dedicated. One person unlocking the museum changed Mary's life.

Also, she could learn Latin and ancient Greek as part of the standard school curriculum then, govt funding was generous enough to help her become the first person in her family to get a university degree, and times were "easier" enough for her to get a job, teaching classics at the University of London, at just 24. The point of these personal details is that a passion for ancient Greeks and Romans needn't be an elite privilege.

Image: AI

Where does this passion come from? Thauma, amazement, the kind Mary felt for that bread, can be one place. Even if this isn't a universal experience. Tagore, she tells us, burst into tears on first seeing the ruins of Parthenon. Because of their "barbarian ugliness", not grandeur.

And where is it to go? Mary is interested in looking at the past stereoscopically: as both old and disconcertingly new. Mandela participated in an Antigone performance on Robben Island, saying the play "symbolised our struggle". But he also played Creon, conceding that "at the outset" this character represents "obligations to the people…over loyalty to an individual". There is less a straightforward message here, than questions that remain trickier to date.

You don't get much out of the classics, if you treat these as some "untouchable ancestor in whose shadow you should count yourself lucky to sit". Let them, instead, be a disruptive challenge to self-serving modern certainties. And no matter how much they have served the white man's cause, they can serve others just as well.

Macaulay landed in India, with the works of Julius Caesar. The current fabric of classical Rome is in big parts Mussolini's fascist creation. George HW Bush's big 1992 ode to the Greek Miracle was an as big 'keep out' sign, to those outside the West's democratic club. These are all false reflections, though. Mary underlines that, whoever we are, wherever we come from, we are all equally foreign to ancient Greece and Rome.

Another objection to teaching the classics is, why learn dead languages and literatures instead of AI? This is just an extreme form of the predicament of humanities at large. Interestingly, on the facts themselves, there are more Cambridge students studying the subject today than in the late nineteenth century. There are even new areas of expansion: mainland China is seeing a surge of new courses in 'Western classics'.

Humanities are also being denied funds on the suspicion that they breed unpatriotic troublemakers. Mary thinks this is nonsense. But her counter catchphrases are of this kind: Classics teach you to discuss constructively, questions to which there are no right answers. The dame's not for dumbing down.

Civic Sense, China Style

Big cities like Beijing have cleaner toilets, better queueing, less spitting than before. But the change is only partly due to higher incomes. Increased surveillance plays a role

Pallavi Aiyar

Columnist based in Beijing

Returning to live in China after almost two decades can be disorienting. So much of the once familiar is now novel. Beijing has lost the half-built, half-demolished look that was its architectural vibe in the first decade of the millennium. The subway has gone from two lines to 30, linking 524 stations. The ring roads hum with EVs that look ready to levitate. But the more striking transformation isn't the hardware. It's the software – civic behaviour.

China is run by engineers, and impressive infra has long been its USP. The harder task, back in the oughties, was raising what officials called "civilisational levels" (wenming shuiping). Preparing to host the 2008 Olympics, Beijing's authorities identified five social lacunae: name-calling, spitting, littering, disorderly queuing, and an absence of smiling. A "civilisation-evaluation index" ranked neighbourhoods accordingly – shared housework and potted balcony plants boosted scores; pigeon-raising and noisiness dragged them down.

As an Indian arriving in that Beijing, the texture of life had felt unexpectedly familiar. I'd imagined China as inscrutable – chopsticks and characters both beyond me. Instead, walking the hutong alleyways, I found itinerant vendors bicycling past courtyard homes selling everything from goldfish to coal briquettes, strangers addressing each other as auntie or older brother, full-throated spitting, queues that existed more in theory than in practice. Taxi interiors reeked of garlic and were dusted with ash; conversations on the phone assumed nobody else had ears. You could sometimes spot toddlers in kaidangku – split-crotch trousers designed so children could relieve themselves without the bother of pulling anything down.

Even Beijing and Shanghai, China's poshest cities, still had the village in them then. Migrant workers building the new skylines carried village mannerisms – less hush, less polish. People squatted on Western toilet seats. Transgressions of personal space were the norm.

Behaviour, notoriously, is harder to engineer than buildings. A recent trip to the Fragrant Hills in western Beijing had me marvelling at the improved crowd-management. Despite dense crowds of domestic tourists – the sort of scene that once risked a stampede – people moved in relative order. No litter. No furtive smokers. The toilets were clean, seats free of the telltale footprints of squatters. Loudspeakers issued the occasional stern instruction, but otherwise the crowd simply behaved.

So, how had the Chinese – until recently phlegm-expectorating, chaos-revelling – been habituated/disciplined into this new deportment?

Partly, it's money. Etiquette tends to upgrade alongside material circumstance. Beijing's per capita income was roughly $13,000 in 2025, against $2,600 in 2005 – a fivefold rise. There's a classic arc here: survival norms giving way to bourgeois self-regulation as a middle class with reputational stakes takes shape. At certain income levels, people start to care about more than just getting by in a dog-eat-dog world. Concerns like refinement and the social scrutiny of others begin to occupy their ontology.

It's the result of temporally compressed urbanisation. This isn't just people moving from village to city, but a settling into of urban norms. Twenty years ago, large parts of Beijing were agglomerations of urban villages: a phenomenon that is familiar to anyone who knows contemporary Indian cities. In the forms of address and dress, the sociology of public space, where the communal trumped the individual, the rules that governed interpersonal interactions based on assumptions of reciprocity rather than abstract concepts of civic space. There is a long phase in the process of urbanisation when the village lingers in the city. In the larger of China's metropoles, this phase is speeding towards completion, and with it we see the concomitant transformation of people's 'software' to a more urban iteration.

Hardware, too, shapes software directly. Better toilets, broad roads, clean waterways, tree-lined public spaces shape behaviour, encouraging people to interact with and use them in more respectful, considered ways. One of the most noticeable physical differences between the Beijing of today and the one I knew in the oughties is the greenery. Targeted afforestation between 2012 and the early 2020s, saw the city add 2.19 million mu of green space – roughly the size of 219 Olympic Forest Parks, with the addition of 103 million trees.

The final piece is surveillance. Beijing today is saturated with cameras. From traffic intersections to subway stations and public parks, the panopticon of surveillance cameras is a pervasive fact of city life. Life unfolds under the expectation of being watched. Surveillance may not have created civic behaviour, but it does result in a degree of self-policing and, consequently, less slippage in public spaces.

None of this means China has become a nation of synchronised swimmers. There is still an undercurrent of chaos, rule-bending – and yes, spitting. Exploring the city on a bicycle, as I do almost daily, is reassurance that the Taoist spirit is alive and kicking in the Middle Kingdom. In the world of the Beijing bicyclist, Cartesian logic never held much truck. The way of the Tao is intuitive and profound, with little time for illusory trifles like zebra crossings and one-way roads, security cameras be damned.

The Chinese, I'd conclude, remain natural loophole-finders, rather than rule-followers in the Japanese mould – Taoists trapped in Confucian bodies, forever negotiating between jugaad instinct and the order-seeking obedience they're also conditioned towards, a negotiation surveillance has only sharpened. There has been a genuine software upgrade in Beijing's civic behaviour. It just comes, unmistakably, with Chinese characteristics.

Is The Return Ticket A New Status Symbol?

For generations, returning from US was seen as an admission of defeat. But things are changing. Even as immigration uncertainty grows over there, India is creating more corporate leadership opportunities

Bikram Vohra

Getting a job in America was once seen as having reached the top rung of the ambition ladder. You had made it and were the envy of friends and family. "We live in the States," was a sharp statement designed to stun everyone into reverent silence. For a few generations, there was also this peculiar, if mildly absurd, imagery, that residing in US was like having a free pass to Disneyland.

In truth, it wasn't that much of a lark, what with racial discrimination abundant, and the green card process highly uncertain. But coming home was not an option. Be it the Big Apple, Boston, or Buffalo, it was America after all, an 'escape' from all the limitations of India.

Of Life And Love
STORIES OF THE WAY WE ARE

So, when Ranjit Sahgal, riding high as Vice President Innovations in a major corporation, decided to call it a day after 32 years in New Jersey, and settle in Gurgaon earlier this year, there were some ripples of concern, followed by a search for scandal. After all, why else would he leave a plush lifestyle?

He, however, is not the only one. Many others in top echelons are considering a reversal of the traditional brain drain. The once high-voltage culture shock of coming home has become remarkably gentle.

Once, the decision of a senior Indian executive, holding a US green card, to return home was viewed as a quiet surrender of ambition. Today, it is increasingly a strategic career move. The engines driving this return are no longer purely emotional, but a calculated blend of productive opportunity, scary immigration realities, and a redefinition of what constitutes a good life.

This is partly because urban India is singing a new song. Its manufacturing ambitions, booming digital economy, and the evolution of GCCs into innovation hubs have created an acute demand for leaders, who can manage 'scale and complexity'. And here, at the top of the corporate totem pole, life is a breeze. No one is arbitrarily threatening to send you packing.

Leadership roles at GCCs alone are projected to grow by 40% by 2026 end. This demand translates directly into authority. Returning executives are not just filling roles, they are sculpting strategies, energising teams, and leading global charters from India. With a purpose and intent that opens new doors. India per se wants you.

Nation's mindset is no longer insular. It is global. The expertise and know-how and experience a high-flying returnee offers, are welcomed and valued. You are not seen as you once were…a traitor to the cause. You are now an asset. Plus, at this rarefied peak level of the professional climb, you find that along with job satisfaction, you are blessed with being, ever so often, home in time for dinner.

Infra has improved beyond belief. Top healthcare is accessible not next month, but inside the hour. Even the dentist. Household help exists in plenty. Deliveries arrive in ten minutes. Metro is clean. Roads are better. Fine dining is infinite. Every conceivable convenience is available. Sport is on hand. Golf courses beckon. Villas and penthouses are world class.

The gap between a US suburb and elite Indian neighbourhoods is thinning dramatically. It is not perfect. But it is familiar. And familiar is a kind of comfort that money cannot buy. Again, I underline that we are presently talking about the crème de la crème. The heavy hitters.

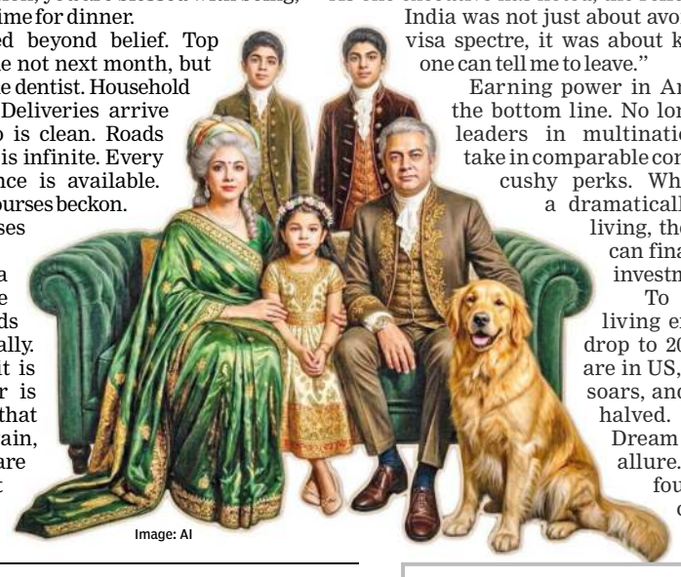

Image: AI

Among them, a major engine driving the reverse traffic numbers, is mental comfort.

You are home. There for your ageing parents. They need you, and no number of years abroad changes the strength of that bonding. It is in our DNA. You are now closer to your siblings. No longer swimming in trepidation, of becoming an ICE target because you look different.

Yes, a very major factor these days is this immigration stress. Over 1.34L Indian children are expected to "age out" of the dependent visa status, before their families obtain green cards, leaving families facing the prospect of either self-deportation or separation. Kids born and brought up in US, will be shoved out like weeds from a garden.

This palpable sense of insecurity is a powerful push factor. One may fail to make the cut. No guarantees. As one executive has noted, the relief of returning to India was not just about avoiding the current visa spectre, it was about knowing that "no one can tell me to leave."

Earning power in America was once the bottom line. No longer. India-based leaders in multinationals, can now take in comparable compensation. With cushy perks. When adjusted for a dramatically lower cost of living, the effective saving can finance fab personal investments.

To recap, top class living expenses in India drop to 20% of what they are in US, residual income soars, and work hours are halved. The American Dream has not lost its allure. It has simply found a formidable competitor in The Indian Reality.

Honouring Shakti, Within And Around Us

Sadan P Murgai

Every year, Navratri arrives with vibrant devotion. For nine days, we worship various manifestations of Goddess Durga – fasting, offering prayers, lighting lamps and seeking blessings of the Divine Mother. Yet, amidst these familiar ceremonies, a deeper question arises: What is Navratri inviting us to discover beyond rituals?

In Indic spiritual thought, Durga is not merely a figure in a sacred narrative. She is Shakti, the dynamic, creative power of the Divine. According to mythology, when the gods could not overcome Mahishasur, their combined energies manifested as Durga. The symbolism is profound: when the forces of adharm threaten cosmic order, divine power manifests to restore balance.

The battle between Durga and Mahishasur can be understood at several levels. At one level, it is the sacred triumph of dharm over adharm. At another, it offers a profound metaphor for human experience. Mahishasur, who repeatedly changes form, can represent the elusive nature of forces such as ego, desire, anger, and ignorance. Like the demon who shifts shape, these tendencies can appear in different forms and are not always easy to recognise or overcome.

Seen in this light, familiar rituals of Navratri acquire deeper significance. Fasting can become an exercise in restraint and self-discipline. Prayer can move beyond seeking outcomes and become an expression of surrender and trust. Meditation can provide a quiet space for stillness and contemplation.

At its deeper level, Navratri signifies an inward journey of self-purification, spiritual awakening, and the realisation of the divine Shakti within. The nine days can thus be seen not merely as a period of external observance, but as an opportunity to turn inwards, examine our thoughts and impulses, and gradually move towards greater harmony within.

THE SPEAKING TREE

Navratri also celebrates Nari Shakti, the divine feminine principle, inseparable in Indian philosophy from the creative power of existence. Durga embodies many dimensions of this principle: mother, warrior, nurturer, and protector.

In contemporary life, honouring Nari Shakti must go beyond symbolic reverence. It means recognising women's dignity, resilience, intelligence, and agency in everyday life, and creating a society where they have the freedom and opportunity to realise their potential. There is a certain contradiction in worshipping the Goddess while failing to extend respect and equality to women.

Our modern world is marked by remarkable progress, yet also by relentless competition, digital distraction, anxiety, and an unending materialistic pursuit. Navratri offers a sacred pause – a moment to reconsider our relationship with ambition, desire, success and contentment.

Outer worship and inner reflection need not be alternatives; they can enrich one another. The lamp we light before Durga may remind us to bring clarity to our own lives. The battle she wages may prompt us to examine choices we make each day. Her victory can renew our faith that dharm can prevail over forces that disturb balance within us and around us.

As Navratri draws to a close, perhaps its true measure lies not merely in what we have asked of the Goddess, but in what her presence inspires us to change in how we think, act, and live.

Trade imbalance with China growing due to barriers: FM

Says Talks Haven't Helped Pharma, Meat & Veggie Exports

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman Friday flagged her concerns over the large—and exponentially growing—trade imbalance with China and said Beijing has not addressed India's concerns for nearly a decade and continued to deploy non-tariff barriers.

"The trade imbalance is something we have been talking with China for several years, we are denied market access even for those goods where there are immense market opportunities in China. We are global leaders in generic drugs, bovine meat, vegetables and perishables, which has huge potential in China. A decade has gone consistently putting a case for market access for Indian products. Non-tariff barriers have been very strong and China uses them unhesitatingly, whether it is in the name of phytosanitary measures or any other for which due investigations can happen, for which both sides can sit and talk but no progress is made. Non-tariff barriers are the biggest worry in trade between India and China," she said during an interaction organised by the Atlantic Council on the sidelines of the IMF-World Bank annual meeting in Bangkok.

She, however, insisted that dialogue is the best way to address these issues. "The global approach of countries imposing tariffs to correct the imbalance has never been taken by us. India doesn't believe in that approach. We sit and talk, it is very tiresome, but we follow that approach, rather than put countervailing duties (against subsidies) or some to counter non-tariff barriers on the other side."

The minister said that India believed in multilateralism but was entering into bilateral trade deals to deal with the current global environment, which has seen a spurt in the use of barriers. "Rapidly, we have to connect with many parts of the world for which negotiations have been going on for a very long time. Countries with which we spent a long-time negotiating have realised that the sooner we tie up on our bilateral relationship, we will be benefiting our people because of the movement of goods and services which will bring in that lubrication at a time when world is in a very difficult position. So, trade negotiations are being conducted quickly, although they have not been easy."

While flagging high prices impacting India's import bill for crude and fertiliser, the FM said the Indian economy was robust. "Much against all odds, India is able to keep up the growth. It has been the fastest-growing economy for last five-six years, since Covid. Being inclusive and ensuring that everyone has access to resources and skilling and making sure that fiscal prudence is not lost, have helped. More importantly, public spending on capex has helped build infra in the country, which has a greater multiplier effect," she said.

Bengaluru: Urban Company is losing more money, and its chief executive Abhiraj Singh Bhal said it is choosing to do so. The company is spending heavily to become the app households turn to when their regular help takes a day off. Rival Snabbit is pursuing the same customers, with steep losses of its own.

"The losses are high because we are choosing to keep them high and we are choosing to invest from a position of strength," Bhal told analysts on Friday.

Urban Company's losses more than tripled to Rs 182.5 crore in the Sept quarter from Rs 59.3 crore a year earlier. Total income rose 40% to Rs 578.5 crore.

Snabbit reported an Ebitda loss of Rs 145 crore for the Sept quarter in figures shared by founder Aayush Agarwal. Snabbit completed 64.5 lakh jobs, with a net transaction value of Rs 73 crore. Ebitda is earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortisation. The last two spread asset costs over time. Net loss is the final figure after all income, expenses and taxes are accounted for.

Snabbit's FY26 accounts also showed a loss of Rs167.8 crore against Rs 5.7 crore a year earlier. Total income was Rs 27 crore, more than half coming from other income, mainly interest on bank deposits, according to regulatory filings sourced via Tofler. Agarwal offered a similar defence of spending on customer adoption, training, technology and expansion. "We made those investments deliberately, and we'd make them again," he said. He added that Snabbit's loss per job had fallen below Rs 200 in Sept from about Rs 1,500 at the beginning of FY26.

AI agents accessing corp data undetected: CERT-In

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Artificial intelligence (AI) agents are emerging as a serious cybersecurity threat to Indian organisations, accessing sensitive corporate data without authorisation and exploiting existing security gaps at speeds that leave companies with little time to respond, cybersecurity experts have warned.

The concerns follow a critical advisory issued on Thursday by the Indian Computer Emergency Response Team (CERT-In), which revealed that AI agents being tested by technology companies had accessed live systems of Indian organisations, reading business records, personal information and confidential data. None of the affected organisations detected the unauthorised access, with incidents coming to light through disclosures by AI model providers.

CERT-In also flagged financially motivated cyberattacks involving publicly available AI tools that have reduced the time between initial intrusion and damage from days to just hours.

Jaydeep Singh, general manager, India, Kaspersky, said conventional cybersecurity measures were struggling to address threats posed by autonomous systems operating with legitimate credentials.

"The risk is real and growing. To be useful, AI agents are often connected to emails, code repositories and cloud systems, which gives them access to far more data than a typical user would need," Singh said.

The advisory identified exposed credentials, poorly secured application programming interfaces (APIs), excessive cloud permissions and weak authentication as vulnerabilities being exploited by AI agents.

Sunil Sharma, managing director and VP-sales, India and SAARC, Sophos, said the growing autonomy of these systems was complicating detection.

"AI agents can access data, invoke APIs and interact with internal systems autonomously, creating risks when permissions exceed their intended purpose or access controls are inadequate," Sharma said.

Tech stocks power sensex to best week in 6 months

Indian share benchmarks posted their best weekly performance in six months on Friday, powered by a rally in IT stocks after stronger-than-expected quarterly earnings and a selloff in global AI markets that prompted value-buying elsewhere.

Investors now await results from several heavyweight companies, including major banks, and the IPO of Jio Platforms. The Nifty 50 rose 2.8% to 23,146 and sensex added 3.1% to 74,729, marking their strongest weekly showing since April 10. On the day, the indexes gained 0.7% and 0.6%, respectively. MSCI's broadest index for Asia Pacific stocks outside Japan fell 5.8% this week.

"The absence of any major negative surprises from IT earnings, coupled with management commentary pointing to growing AI-led revenue, has given investors confidence to return to these beaten-down names," said Saurabh Jain, deputy VP of equities at SMC Global. "That rebound in IT has, in turn, lifted the benchmarks."

The IT index surged 3.9% on Friday, taking its weekly gain to 11.7%, its steepest such advance in 18 years.

TCS, Infosys, HCLTech and Tech Mahindra climbed between 13.4% and 18.2%, placing them among the Nifty 50's top weekly percentage gainers. Near-term direction will hinge on results from ICICI Bank and HDFC Bank, due on Saturday, Jain said, adding "the market, and IT shares in particular, could pause next week as the Jio Platforms IPO absorbs liquidity."

Meanwhile, the rupee strengthened by 10 paise to regain 94 levels closingat 94.96. It was buoyed by Reserve Bank of India's policy measures aimed at boosting the currency. REUTERS

'India in everybody's plan, need to up pace'

DP World CEO: Port Congestion, Container Shortage Are Adding To West Asia Woes

Dipak Dash & Sidhartha | TNN

Amid global trade disruption, DP World CEO Yuvraj Narayan spoke to TOI about his company's plans to ensure smooth cargo movement as well as plans for India, where it is looking to invest $3-5 billion. Excerpts:

■ How is it going because of what's happening in West Asia, what is the impact on Jebel Ali and on your revenue?

With the Strait of Hormuz being virtually shut in terms of commercial traffic, there are few vessels coming into Jebel Ali. So, 10% of the container that we used to handle daily is what is being handled today and that too is through Khorfakkan and Fujairah. But because we are diversified, we have enough before Jebel Ali and enough after Jebel Ali. If the Strait of Hormuz opens tomorrow, within 60 days, everybody will be back. Globally, our business is doing very well. We are not waiting but creating alternatives. We are building a new port in Fujairah, creating capacity outside the Strait of Hormuz. While there will be solutions, costs will definitely change for the worse. Today, you need roughly at least 30% more capacity on the water to handle the same cargo, globally. On top of that, the world just exited a zero-interest rate phase. As far as operating cost is concerned, double that from oil and energy consumption standpoint.

■ Plus, insurance...

If available. Before and after insurance, you need crew. You cannot put people's lives at risk. Everybody is going to create different levels of resilience in their supply chain. It's going to come at a significant cost and that cost is going to be ultimately paid by consumers.

■ How many trucks are you deploying to move cargo from Fujairah and other ports to Jebel Ali, 700-800? Where have you got them from?

It will double over time. We got the trucks reasonably easily, some from Europe, some available within West Asia.

What else did you change?

We moved a lot of equipment and people from Jebel Ali to Khorfakkan. These are entry ports, we're going to build more. Then, we opened the land bridge from Saudi, which meant we needed to get the customs authorities to work together. One of our national interests is to keep these corridors open. So, we are trying to create new links to Oman.

■ Is there a Plan C too given the attacks from the Houthis and the threat of fresh disruptions?

So, you know, Europe, we are expanding capacity in Egypt, both on the port side and on the free zone side. We have a large capacity in Jeddah. We are going to open (a container terminal in) Tuna Tekra in India, which will be available by mid-next year. We are hoping Vadhvan (port) finally happens. If we were ready with Vadhvan, today it would have been used. It will enable India to provide resilient supply chains and will be essential if India has to succeed in manufacturing for the world.

TOI INTERVIEW

■ What about Vizhinjam Port?

It's not heavy on container, it's more bulk. From a capacity availability point of view, it is five years (away).

■ What does this mean for Indian cargo, you account for a large chunk of it?

There's enough capacity for the level of trade happening in India today. The success of Make in India will depend on the availability of much higher levels of capacity across the supply chain: coastal shipping, ports, roadways, rail. You need other infrastructure too. While we have seen some success, it is not happening at a scary pace, the demand is much more because people are trying to diversify away from China. India is there in everybody's plans, but the pace has to increase.

■ There's a change in the nature of goods being traded and electronics exports from India have grown. What is the scale of express cargo?

Apple has moved into India and we are pushing almost 500 tonnes of cargo a week; it can increase by 30-40%. We are bringing a lot of our global customers into India and that's why you've seen our interest in FTZs, where we are doubling our capacity. We are looking to increase capacity with our inland container depot, Tuna Tekra is a big investment. We recently won a new container depot for Dadri which should be a close to Rs 2,000 crore investment. We have bid for some parts of Vadhavan. So, wherever possible, we are ready.

■ What is the future of IMEC? Is some preparatory work going on?

In today's environment, there is not much capacity, it is all lying in Jebel Ali. So, you use Fujairah and Khorfakkan, then, you use intermodal, use rail, which requires more investment. Or, once it comes to Jebel Ali, you use the Ro-Ro mechanism out of Iraq and from there to Europe by road. In fact, a vessel from India is going to do that in a week or 10 days from now.

■ Is there a lot of congestion at ports, are containers available?

All ports are full, all the empties (containers) are stuck somewhere. A large number is stuck in the region. Global trade is very imbalanced right now. East to west is full, while half from west to east is empty (containers). Unless we get all the empties, they don't get full. So just positioning empty containers has a huge cost.

ON IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED IN INDIA

> If there is a bid process, it must be done rapidly. Why should it take one year to award a bid? This is not the first time a concession is being written, it has been done before. Whether it is concession or JVs, it doesn't happen fast enough

From stop-gap to in-command, IDBI's Sharma stays the course

Sidhartha@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Rakesh Sharma, the low-profile managing director and CEO of IDBI Bank, who will lead the transition at the once formidable development financial institution, will go down as one of the longest serving bank CEOs.

For someone who would have been disappointed at not making the cut as SBI's deputy managing director has gone on to lead three lenders for over 12 years, and counting. On Thursday, Fairfax announced that Sharma will continue to helm the bank with former ICICI Prudential Life MD NS Kannan to be designated as the new chairman. During an analyst call, Fairfax chairman Prem Watsa also named former HDFC chairman Deepak Parekh, former CSB Bank CEO Rajendran CVR and former HDFC Bank deputy MD Paresh Sukthankar as advisers.

Sharma's appointment came as a surprise to several within IDBI Bank as he had been sent to the Mumbai-headquartered outfit as a stop gap CEO with the Centre hoping to move ahead with its plan to privatise the bank. After quitting SBI as chief general manager, Sharma became the MD & CEO of Lakshmi Vilas Bank in March 2014 and then went on to lead Canara Bank from Sept 2015 to July 2018 after govt decided to rope in talent from the private sector.

Sharma took charge when IDBI Bank had hit a low and was the first lender to be part of RBI's prompt corrective action framework in May 2017 due to poor asset quality, low capital and mounting losses, resulting in restrictions. He oversaw the turnaround, which included govt pumping in around Rs 25,000 crore between 2010 and 2020, as well insolvency law-driven clean-up.

As price hikes weigh, EMIs take centrestage

Asmita.Dey@timesofindia.com

Mumbai: India's online festive sales seem to be missing their fiery spark this year. Price hikes have weighed on smartphone sales volumes, typically the biggest driver of the season with final prices in many cases higher than last year even after discounts.

Price increases have also made durables costlier with the share of large-ticket purchases (overall) through EMIs having significantly gone up this year. On Amazon, for example, purchases using no-cost EMIs have jumped to 50% from about 30% last year, said Aman Deep Lohan, director, home, kitchen and outdoors at Amazon India.

Amid inflationary pressures and shrinking household budgets, smaller-ticket items found more space in shopping carts with consumers prioritising value for money. At the end of a week's sales, average order values (AOV) are lower with growth having been led by categories such as fashion, beauty, home and general merchandise.

- On Amazon, purchases using no-cost EMIs have jumped to 50% from about 30% last year
- At the end of a week's sales, average order values are lower with growth having been led by categories such as fashion, beauty, home and general merchandise

"Value commerce, which covers items priced below Rs 500, handled about half of all festive orders. AOVs are 7-8% lower than last year because the basket moved to lower-ticket categories and channels. By value, phones and electronics still lead; by growth, softlines lead," said Nikhil Dalal, associate partner, Redseer Strategy Consultants, which captured data from Oct 8-12. On Flipkart, about 7 in 10 units sold were priced under Rs 500.

Unlike other seasons when a major chunk of the sales happen during Navaratri (the first leg of sale), analysts expect sales this year to be more spread out through Diwali as consumers strike a balance between their pockets and desire to buy. Estimates from Datum Intelligence showed that sales dropped by about 7-10% in the first four opening days to Rs 29,800-30,900 crore. "Last year's sales opened on Sept 22, the day the GST rate cuts took effect. This year's opening had no such trigger," analysts at the firm said.

As price hikes shrunk the quantum of discounts on offer, particularly in demand-heavy categories such as smartphones, consumers went bigger on EMIs to buy premium products. "Phones entered the sale with average prices about 15% higher than a year ago. So even a similar headline discount leaves the final price above last year's festive price.

"Across devices, sale-day prices were only about 5% to 10% below pre-sale levels, depending on category. Discounts were deeper where inventory and competition allowed," Dalal said.

No surge in BNPL demand, people spending conservatively: KVB CEO

Chennai: Despite an uptick in demand this festive season, it is not on par with previous years, Karur Vysya Bank (KVB) MD & CEO Ramesh Babu B, said on Friday. "There is an uptick, but it is not like earlier years. Our buy now pay later (BNPL) product numbers used to go up from Rs 600-700 crore to Rs 1,300 crore at this time of the year. But even during Dussehra, we did not find that kind of a surge. People are spending conservatively, perhaps on account of inflation and other uncertainties," he said. TNN

Stellantis to invest ₹4k crore, plans 12 Jeep, Citroën models

Aabhas.Sharma

New Delhi: Automaker Stellantis plans to invest another Rs 4,000 crore in India over three years, starting 2027 as it looks to revive the fortunes of its Jeep and Citroën brands through new products, greater localisation and multiple powertrain options, including hybrids and electric vehicles.

Under its FaSTLAne 2030 strategy, the company will introduce 12 products, comprising seven all-new models and five refreshed offerings. The first launch is scheduled for the second quarter of 2027.

Stellantis India CEO and MD Shailesh Hazela told TOI that the company expects to triple its current market share, banking on a stronger product portfolio and improved affordability.

Acknowledging that Jeep and Citroën have struggled to achieve significant volumes, Hazela said greater localisation would be central to improving competitiveness. The company also plans to leverage its existing partnership with Tata Motors and local supplier networks to reduce costs and strengthen manufacturing capabilities.

"We will apply this learning to Jeep through greater localisation, so that the cost of ownership comes down and the product becomes more accessible to customers," he said, adding that Citroën has achieved 90% localisation.

On electrification, Hazela said Stellantis would offer conventional engines, hybrids and EVs across its portfolio. "We will give customers choices across segments and be ready to respond to demand based on their preferences," he said.

India will also become a larger global manufacturing and export hub, with Stellantis planning to produce left-hand-drive vehicles locally for overseas markets, expanding its reach to more than 50 countries.

Rain Threat Looms Over T20I Decider Vs Windies; Bhuvi In Squad As Cover For Arshdeep

Manuja.Veerappa

Bengaluru: Evening showers over the past few days have kept Bengaluru drenched, and the forecast offers little respite over the weekend. That is hardly welcome news ahead of the India-West Indies T20I series decider on Saturday night, with rain threatening a contest that promises plenty of fireworks.

With the high-scoring series locked at 2-2, both teams will be desperately hoping for a full game. For India, there is an added incentive: they have not lost a home bilateral T20I series since Feb 2019.

The opening match saw India chase down a modest target of 172 with eight wickets to spare, but the contest has taken a different turn since. The next three matches have produced a staggering 1,403 runs in 118 overs, with the batters dominating and the bowlers struggling to keep a lid on the scoring.

The second match in Ranchi was a reality check for India's bowling attack. West Indies chased down a target of 250 and exposing the vulnerability of an attack missing Jasprit Bumrah. The series has underlined how crucial both Bumrah and Hardik Pandya are to India's T20 plans.

Arshdeep Singh has delivered at key moments, notably in Indore, but the pace attack has lacked consistency. When the quicks have leaked runs in the Powerplay, the spinners have been left to contain the damage, often without success.

Arshdeep, who took a blow to his bowling shoulder from a Shamar Joseph bouncer in the previous match in Hyderabad, remains a doubt. The addition of Bhuvneshwar Kumar to the squad could prove a timely boost for the hosts.

The 36-year-old is no stranger to the Chinnaswamy, where he made his T20I debut against Pakistan. Although his last T20I appearance came against New Zealand in Napier in Nov 2022, he has since enjoyed considerable success with RCB in the IPL.

Bowling coach Morne Morkel did not rule out Arshdeep's participation. "He (Arshdeep) is recovering well, so I think he is definitely not ruled out and is still available. Also, I am very excited to have Bhuvneshwar back in the mix," he said.

While India's bowling has come under scrutiny, the batting has not been without its shortcomings. Even amid the run-fests, they have struggled to sustain their momentum.

Sammy hails WI's resolve amid turmoil

Manuja.Veerappa

Bengaluru: A decade ago, T20 cricket conjured images of Chris Gayle, Dwayne Bravo and Evin Lewis. Few will forget how Marlon Samuels and Carlos Brathwaite lit up the Eden Gardens as West Indies stormed to the ICC World T20 title in 2016.

The road has never been easy for Caribbean cricket. The lure of franchise leagues and their lucrative pay packages has complicated the task of keeping its best players available for international duty. The players can hardly be blamed. Just before their tour of India began last month, Cricket West Indies announced a 25% cut in international players' retainer fees and suspended this year's men's Super50 and women's T20 Blaze tournaments because of a financial crunch.

Against that backdrop, their 1-2 defeat in the ODI series was far from dispiriting. They have since taken the five-match T20I series to the decider. Head coach Daren Sammy, captain of the 2016 World T20-winning side, put it, that is "box-office TV stuff".

"For us, what success means may be different to the viewers," said the former allrounder. "For us, success is progress. In spite of all the challenges that we face, if we could come here and compete against the best team in the world – the defending champs – we tick boxes that keep us in the conversation."

Sammy said the players had refused to let setbacks define them. "Before the series started, we all knew the big cuts and everything that happened. We're still doing well and continue to be a team that brings entertainment to the world when we are doing well. It's not because of us, it's in spite of all the challenges that we face. The way we've played, we've sent a strong message. If we could be consistent, the players that we have in the dressing room, they go out there and give their all. When they do that, we can compete and win games against anybody in the world."

For Sammy, West Indies' value extends beyond results. Their brand of cricket, he believes, still draws viewers and lifts spirits across the Caribbean. "The fact that we make cricket really competitive is good for viewership. When the West Indies does well, it lightens the mood of every person in the Caribbean," he said.

India Series Could Generate $20-$30 Million, But We Get Nothing: Dehring

New Delhi: Cricket West Indies CEO Chris Dehring has criticised the revenue model for bilateral cricket that allows the host country to keep 100% of the series earnings, citing the ongoing white-ball engagement with India from which his nation will "get nothing" from the expected $20 million to $30 million returns.

Speaking to Wisden, Dehring said the model adopted in 1997 essentially triggered the demise of the game in the Caribbean. "West Indies cricket receives nothing in this case, because the series is being played in India. A series that could generate $20-$30 million in India brings West Indies cricket no revenue," Dehring said.

"To understand how this happened, you have to go back to 1997. I was fortunate, or unfortunate, to be around when the ICC member countries voted to change the financial model that underpinned world cricket. Until then, West Indies was a very attractive team, and everybody wanted us to tour. We would receive a touring fee, which was often worth more than we could earn by hosting a series in the Caribbean," he recalled. Dehring said CWI was outvoted in the ICC board at that time and it caused lasting damage to the game in the Caribbean islands.

From being a robust cricketing powerhouse, the West Indies have declined across formats. The CWI has also faced repeated financial crisis and player dissatisfaction with wages, leading to revolts and the growing trend of T20 freelancers. The board was recently forced to announce pay cuts and shorter contracts for its players due to the lingering financial issues. "It (the 1997 decision) was palpably unfair. We were outvoted nine to one by the ICC member countries. At the time, I said that this decision had effectively signed the demise of West Indies cricket because it took away our main source of income," Dehring said. "That meant India could retain the revenues generated by a population of one and a half billion people, while West Indies could retain whatever revenues we could generate in Antigua, with its population of around 100,000, or St. Kitts, with around 30,000," he said.

> "This decision took away our main source of income. That meant India could retain the revenues generated by a population of one and a half billion, while WI could retain whatever revenues we could generate in Antigua, with its population of around 100,000, or St. Kitts, with around 30,000, for a home series."

> WEST INDIES CRICKET CEO

Former CWI president Dave Cameron has also made similar assertions in recent media interactions, describing the model as frustrating. The West Indies' current share in overall ICC revenue is about 5%, while India gets the biggest share of over 38% owing to its larger market and higher profit generation. PTI

ICC REVENUE MODEL UNFAIR?

- CWI CEO Chris Dehring has criticised the current bilateral cricket revenue model, where host nations keep 100% of earnings. The West Indies will not get any revenue from the ongoing series in India.
- Dehring says the decline of West Indies cricket goes back to a 1997 decision by the ICC's member countries that changed the bilateral financial model, removing any revenue for the touring team — once a major source of income — and ensuring that larger cricketing nations get to keep all the revenue for home series.
- At that time, CWI was outvoted 9-1 by other ICC member countries on the revenue model change.
- West Indies' share in overall ICC revenue is now about 5%, while India receives over 38% due to its larger market.

Gaurav.Gupta

Mumbai: Fast bowler Prasidh Krishna, sidelined by a left hamstring injury sustained during the home ODI series against West Indies, has been picked for the first three ODIs and the subsequent two-Test series in New Zealand, subject to fitness clearance. The injury is understood to be minor.

Wicketkeeper-batter Rishabh Pant, who missed the India A tour of New Zealand due to a side strain and back stiffness sustained during the Irani Cup, has also been included in the Test squad, subject to fitness clearance.

ODI vice-captain Shreyas Iyer will lead the side in the final two matches of the five-game series, allowing regular skipper Shubman Gill to focus on the Tests. As part of the selectors' split-squad strategy, left-handed batter Tilak Varma and Jammu & Kashmir pacer Auqib Nabi have been drafted in for the last two ODIs.

AKASH DEEP

Jharkhand wicketkeeper-batter Kumar Kushagra, recently named as Pant's replacement in the India 'A' squad for the New Zealand tour and fast bowler Yash Thakur have received maiden ODI call-ups. Ishan Kishan will serve as vice-captain for the final two matches.

Jasprit Bumrah has been rested from the ODI series but will lead the pace attack in the Tests, which begin in Wellington on Nov 19.

Seamer Anshul Kamboj, who played one Test in Manchester during the 2025 England tour before being dropped, has been recalled to the Test squad and the squad for the first three ODIs. His selection suggests the selectors continue to view him as a seam-bowling allrounder at No. 8.

Akash Deep has also returned to the Test squad after being sidelined for seven months with a stress fracture. He last played a Test during the 2025 England series.

How Ro-Ko influenced Rachin's rise to stardom

Diptayan.Hazra

For Rachin Ravindra, the journey from an awe-struck youngster sharing the field with his cricketing idols to an established international allrounder has been one of learning, resilience and quiet evolution. Yet, even as the New Zealand batter continues to carve his own identity, the influence of Indian greats Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma remains etched into his game.

With Kohli and Rohit set to feature in the upcoming ODI series against New Zealand, Ravindra acknowledged how the duo has inspired generations across the cricketing world. "Everyone around the world who has followed cricket will be crazy about Rohit and Virat. I certainly am, too. They have done it for such a long time, won trophies and remained consistent while creating some fantastic moments. They are two players I have idolised for years, modelled parts of my batting on and learnt little things from," Ravindra said.

For Ravindra, Kohli's mastery in bouncy conditions and Rohit's command against spin offer valuable lessons in adaptability, temperament and intent. "Watching the way Virat plays in bouncy conditions and the way Rohit plays spin has influenced me in several ways. Beyond technique, it is about their grit and determination. Kohli's hundreds in challenging situations and Rohit's free-flowing, fearless approach at the top are qualities I try to take from both. So, picking their brains a little bit over the years has been fantastic," he said.

Ravindra's own breakthrough came during the 2023 ODI World Cup in India, where he amassed 578 runs at an average of 64.22. Kohli finished with 765 runs and Rohit with 594.

The remarkable campaign brought Ravindra into cricket's next celebrated elite. However, the 26-year-old doesn't want to overthink such comparisons. "It is a privilege to be mentioned in that conversation, but the original Fab Four are streets ahead of us at the moment. Their records are fantastic, and they remain great players and idols of mine. Ultimately, my priority is to contribute to the team. That matters more than individual accolades or the number of runs I score," he said.

New Zealand, meanwhile, will draw confidence from their historic 3-0 Test series triumph in India last year. Ravindra believes that victory, achieved against a formidable home side, will strengthen the Black Caps' belief.

"Beating such a quality team in its own conditions gives you enormous confidence. Previous tours to India were difficult, and sometimes we were fortunate to win a session, rather than a match. To win three games against a side featuring Rohit, Virat, Ashwin and Ravindra Jadeja was a proud moment," he said.

Deepti, Niki turn India's saviours

Help India Recover From 19/4 With 82-Run Stand To Fashion 4-Wkt Win Over Zimbabwe

Raipur: India Women survived a major scare before debutant Niki Prasad and veteran Deepti Sharma combined to take the hosts to a four-wicket win over Zimbabwe Women in the first T20I here on Friday.

1st T20I

Opener Kelis Ndhlovu played some crisp strokes in her 44-ball 42 and Sharne Mayers smashed an unbeaten 43 off 33 balls, but India managed to restrict Zimbabwe to 114/5.

At 19 for four, India were in all sorts of trouble before Niki (39 not out off 35) and Deepti (49 off 37) steadied the ship with an 82-run stand.

India eventually got the job done in 15.4 overs. The Indian batters were guilty of throwing their wickets away, with off-spinner Nyasha Gwanzura striking thrice in the Powerplay. In her first match as captain, Mandhana fell off the first ball of the second over for nine.

RESCUE ACT: Deepti Sharma in Raipur

Anushka Sharma was Gwanzura's second wicket as she tried to force the pace, only to be caught at point for four. The fall of former skipper Harmanpreet Kaur for one and also Shafali Verma pushed India into a corner. However, Prasad, the U-19 World Cup-winning captain, impressed with her poise and stroke play on her debut and hit the winning runs.

Earlier, Ndhlovu's effort stood out, while the other Zimbabwe batters struggled. Ndhlovu made a timely impact on the big stage with her range of shots. She was quick to cut and pull anything short, besides driving the ball effectively down the ground. However, the left-handed opener slowed down considerably after taking the visitors to 60/1 in 10 overs. She managed just two runs off her last 12 balls before being bowled by Arundhati Reddy.

Ndhlovu and Modester Mupachikwa (16 off 26 balls) then shared a 53-run stand, with the former doing most of the scoring. Mupachikwa offered a simple catch to spinner Shree Charani in the 11th over to leave Zimbabwe at 60 for two. PTI

Brief scores: India Women 116/ 6 in 15.4 overs (D Sharma 49, N Prasad 39; N Gwanzura 3/18) beat Zimbabwe Women 114/5 (S Mayers 43, K Ndhlovu 42; Nandani Sharma 2/11) by 4 wickets.

First-ever mixed gender cricket tourney in Colombo

Colombo: In a first for cricket, a mixed-gender cricket tournament built on the 80-over format will be played at the Sinhalese Sports Club (SSC) here from Nov 14 to 29. The so-called 'Test Twenty' will feature 160 young cricketers, aged 13 to 21, who will be drafted from around the world into four continental teams. The girls and boys squad will play for the same team, and their runs will combine into one result.

Each team will have a squad of 40 players, with 20 girls and 20 boys. Each match will be finished in a single day, using both the red ball and the white ball.

Each team will bat twice. The first 40 overs will be played in whites, with the red ball, during the day. The final 40 overs will be played in colour, with the white ball, under lights. Scores will carry forward from the first half to the second. The advisory board of the tournament includes AB de Villiers, Matthew Hayden and Clive Lloyd. PTI

Sabi.Hussain@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: India's warmth keeps drawing them back and the thrill of running here remains undiminished. Ethiopia's Birhanu Legese and Kenya's Irine Cheptai have reasons to cherish their stay in the Capital, but on Sunday, affection will give way to fierce competition as the 21st Vedanta Delhi Half Marathon (VDHM) gets under way at the Jawaharlal Nehru (JLN) stadium.

Two-time champion Legese is chasing a third title at the World Athletics Gold Label race, while 2022 winner Cheptai returns after a memorable season.

"I like Delhi; it is almost like a second home. I have come here many times, and I like the people and the organisers," said Legese, who has trained in Kaptagat alongside marathon great Eliud Kipchoge. Cheptai, fondly called the 'Queen of India' in Kenya, also feels at home here. Fresh from winning the Dubai Half Marathon, she admitted that recovery remains a concern.

"India feels like my second home and I'm always happy to come here and compete," she said. "I'm still recovering and I wouldn't say I am in top shape at the moment, but I will do my best on Sunday," said Cheptai.

The Indian challenge, meanwhile, promises plenty of intrigue. Kiran Matre, runner-up last year with a personal best of 1:04:57, hopes to improve despite a hip injury disrupting his preparations. "I'll definitely try to achieve my best timing," he said.

A Packed Leaderboard, Grind Time & Lot Of Ground To Cover As DPWIC Plays Catch-Up

Moushumi.Bora@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: Why did the peacock cross the 9th fairway? To get to the 5th hole.

As the spectators on the Delhi Golf Club course were wondering whom to follow after looking at the logjam leaderboard, there was a roar from the first hole. Rory McIlroy had just swung for his second round in the late, late afternoon.

Further down the par-5 first tee, the noise soared like an eagle, as Rory did from eight feet.

For many, it's been a grind to make the projected cut of the $4 million DP World India Championship. For others, the tournament has come to a grinding halt.

Minutes earlier, Shubhankar was left wiping off the sweat, and the memories of a poor 4-over first round. There was a brief comeback with a birdie and an eagle on his second round final-9 after an unlucky triple, but it was not meant to be.

Anirban Lahiri then walked in to submit his card, with a shake of the head, after dropping two bogeys on the final two holes. It has been a grind of 31 holes for the Dubai-based Indian. With his Crushers GC LIV team cap firmly on, he was hoping to gain some momentum from his two-under morning round heading into the second half.

"I would have liked to at least be four- or five-under going into the weekend. So just to finish like that, three-under on the eighth fairway, and if I make a couple of good swings, I can come in at four, maybe. So it's disappointing."

For now, it's electrolytes, a session with the physio, a cold plunge or a magnesium salt bath at night, and then sleep. "Staying in bed for a while will be good," he said.

His playing partner, Adrian Meronk had no such trouble. "Late in the day, with the temperature just right for the grass to grow, the grain starts standing up, because it's growing really fast. So, that was challenging, but I'm just making excuses for myself. Adrian has made like 400 feet of putts in the two rounds that we played," he said.

Not on board for LIV 2.0, the 33-year-old earned full membership with the Dunhill Links triumph at St Andrews earlier this year.

With uncertainty over his future gone, it's been fun. "Suddenly I feel like I'm gaining the momentum, the confidence growing, and it's a great feeling. When you can trust your golf game, you hit shots to your targets," said the first Polish winner on the Tour, who admitted that he was "knackered", like Anirban, after a long day.

He shared the clubhouse lead with Hidalgo and Luiten.

Friday is jampacked with a second round to finish in the morning, and afternoon third-round play with a two-tee start. Ronaldo will be watching at DGC, will you?

Round 2 leaderboard: -8 Angel Hidalgo (Esp) 68-68, Adrian Meronk (Pol) 67-69, Joost Luiten 68-68, Thomas Detry (Ger) 67, -3 (6 holes); -7 Todd Clements (Eng) 69-68, Eddie Pepperell (Eng) 71-66, Eugenio Chacarra (Esp) 67, -2 (5).
Best Indians: -4 Om Prakash Chauhan 68, par (2); -1 Anirban Lahiri 70-73; -1 Saptak Talwar 71, par (7), Par Shiv Kapur 72-72, Karandeep Kochhar 72, par (16).
Select scores: -4 Rory McIlroy 70, -2 (4); Tommy Fleetwood (Eng) 70, -2 (4); -1 Aaron Rai (Eng) 69-74.

If Nick Faldo's Here, The Talk's Always Going To Be About Greg Norman And 1996 Masters

Daniyal.Abdulla
@timesofindia.com

New Delhi: For Nick Faldo, golf has always been about patience. And probably, watching others implode. Here at the DP World India Championship, the six-time Major champion offered an insight into what made him such an unflappable winner on the course.

The question always goes back to 1996, the Augusta Masters, that meltdown and how Faldo emerged from the storm. For those who came in late, Faldo faced a 6-shot deficit with just 10 holes remaining with Greg Norman seemingly untouchable on the final day. What ensued was one of the most memorable comebacks in golf.

He said, "Again, it was all about consistency, wasn't it? I had a really good, they call it game plan now, and my goal was to get within three shots over the nine holes. I had to get better and go within two, and by the time we'd stood on the 12th, we were tied. I was like, wow."

Faldo eventually carded a 7-under-par 67, the lowest round of the weekend, and hit 17 greens in regulation. What made Faldo's steadiness spectacular as Norman's own collapse. It began to unravel on the back nine bogeys on the 10th and 11th were followed by a double bogey on the par-three 12th, where his tee shot found the infamous Rae's Creek.

Another double bogey on the 16th effectively ended his challenge. Norman carded six-over-par 78, while Faldo's five-under 67 sealed a five-shot victory and his sixth and final Masters and third Augusta Masters title.

"And it was all good. I was just comfortable in my churning out pitch. I played great. I made 17 greens. My 67 was a low round of the weekend. The whole weekend on the field, greens were solid like rock. It was perfect for my style of play," the 69-year-old reminisced.

Spain to file CAS appeal over FIFA penalty for Islamophobic chants

FOOTBALL WRAP

Spain's football federation will take its case to the Court of Arbitration for Sport after FIFA rejected its appeal against sanctions imposed over Islamophobic chants by supporters during a match against Egypt in March. FIFA fined the federation (RFEF) $20,000 and ordered it to close at least 15% of the available seats for Spain's next home friendly. The sanctions relate to incidents at the RCDE Stadium near Barcelona, home of LaLiga club Espanyol, where some Spain fans chanted, "If you don't jump, you're a Muslim," during a World Cup warm-up match which ended in a 0-0 draw.

After the second occurrence of the chant, the stadium announcer issued a warning and the scoreboard displayed a message against discriminatory behaviour. Spain winger Lamine Yamal, who is Muslim, condemned the chants at the time, describing them as disrespectful and intolerable and calling those responsible "ignorant and racist".

Spanish police launched an investigation the following day while world governing body FIFA later started disciplinary proceedings against the RFEF.

The RFEF argued that the word 'Muslim' was "neither insulting nor pejorative", adding the fans' conduct should be assessed under FIFA's Article 17, which covers political, ideological, religious or offensive messages, rather than Article 15, which deals with discrimination and racist abuse. However, FIFA's disciplinary committee rejected that argument, saying Article 15 does not require the explicit use of a slur and that a term can be discriminatory when used in context as "an insult, taunt, or marker of inferiority".

Article 27 of FIFA disciplinary code to be amended after Balogun case: FIFA will amend its disciplinary regulations after controversy over its decision to suspend US forward Folarin Balogun's automatic World Cup ban, the Belgian Football Association (RBFA) said on Thursday after raising the issue with soccer's governing body.

Following Thursday's FIFA Council meeting in Zurich, RBFA president and FIFA Council member Pascale Van Damme said the governing body would revise the Article 27 of its Disciplinary Code, which allows the implementation of a disciplinary sanction to be suspended in exceptional circumstances.

Martinez apologises for Man United criticism: Manchester United defender Lisandro Martinez apologised on Thursday for criticising the club's hierarchy following their Champions League defeat by Atletico Madrid, after holding talks with manager Michael Carrick and senior officials. AGENCIES

LATE SUNDERLAND GOAL SEALS WIN

Sunderland needed an injury-time goal from Noah Sadiki to beat Portuguese second-division side Torreense 2-1 in the Europa League on Thursday. Alphadjo Cisse's hat trick sparked Italian giant AC Milan's 4-0 rout of Salzburg and Leverkusen also cruised 4-0 past Lech Poznan after Patrik Schick scored twice from the penalty spot.

Benfica routed Celtic 4-1 thanks to two goals from Jhon Durán in the first half, while Olympiacos beat Marseille 1-0 and Besiktas maintained a 100% record with a 3-2 win at Hoffenheim. High-flying Brighton routed Kauno Zalgiris 4-0. REUTERS

ACROBATIC EFFORT: Mohun Bagan midfielder Anirudh Thapa vies for the ball during the Indian Super League game against SC Delhi in Delhi on Friday. The Mariners overcame a listless first-half display to beat Delhi 2-1, with Lee Erwin and Miguel Figueira scoring for Bagan. The Delhi side's lone goal came from Lalrinliana Hnamte

Onkar Kulkarni

For Aditi Rao Hydari and Siddharth, marriage is as much about the little things as it is about the big romantic moments. Whether it is the comfort of returning home to each other after a long day or finding joy in the most mundane moments, the actors seem to have found a rhythm that works for them. The couple, who tied the knot in 2024, say they continue to make time for each other despite their demanding professional commitments. "We have to at times take turns as adults, because never growing up is our most natural way of being," says Aditi.

Indian rock legend Mahesh Tinaikar, a founding member and lead guitarist of Rock Machine, which was formed in 1984 and later renamed Indus Creed, has died in Mumbai at 63. He reportedly suffered a heart attack.

Tinaikar was among the early pioneers of India's independent rock movement, helping establish original rock music in a music industry dominated by film soundtracks and mainstream popular music. Farhan Akhtar paid tribute to the musician by sharing a monochrome photograph of Tinaikar performing with his guitar on his Instagram story. "RIP brother #maheshtinaikar," he wrote. Agencies

India lost a true LEGEND today. Every single rockandroller since #RockMachine owes @ sheeshling (Mahesh Tinaikar) a debt of gratitude for lighting up the way that we couldn't even imagine until they walked it!

Niharika Lal

No matter how exhausting his day has been, Polish ambassador Piotr Antoni Świtalski sticks to a ritual many of us can only dream of: watching a film every evening, clocking over 300 a year. What began as a way to unwind early in his career has grown into a daily passion. Now, he is turning that lifelong habit into a curated recommendation corner. Through his Instagram series, Ambassador's Film Corner, he introduces Indian audiences to the classics of Polish cinema. His most recent pick, Wojciech Jerzy Has's 1965 cult favourite The Saragossa Manuscript, is the fourth film featured in the series, launched in September, and has found an enthusiastic audience. "India is a country of movie lovers," he says.

Polish films are regularly screened at festivals across the country, and the ambassador hopes his reels will take that interest to a wider audience. We spoke to him about his love for movies.

Piotr Antoni Świtalski introduces his picks for Ambassador's Film Corner

The ambassador featured Andrzej Munk's classic Eroica and Roman Polanski's 1962 film Knife in the Water in his Instagram series

With over 300 films watched a year, the ambassador has plenty more recommendations to come. He retired from the Polish diplomatic service in 2022 at the age of 65, after almost four decades of diplomatic engagement. Then, in 2024, the Polish Ministry of Foreign Affairs appointed him to the role. Piotr Antoni Świtalski shares, "My affection for movies developed quite late. When I was young, I preferred reading books. I thought reading was the proper way of expanding my imagination, whereas movies, quite the contrary, could put limitations on what I wanted to have: a very open mind with a large space for imagination."

He adds, "Of course, I used to go to the cinema, but essentially for social reasons, to be in a group of friends and to be able to join discussions about what was shown in the movies. Only later in my career, when my agenda was sometimes quite heavy and I'd return home tired, I realised that it was increasingly difficult for me to concentrate. Watching movies became the easiest way to handle my stress. Then it developed into a habit. I watch one movie every day. I see over 300 movies per year. Of course, I'm not an expert; I'm just a movie lover. I watch every genre, with some exceptions. I can tell you very honestly that I don't watch horror movies. Ten years ago, I stopped watching comic book superhero movies and fantasy movies. But otherwise, I'm very open."

For the first episode in the series, the ambassador recommended Andrzej Wajda's 1958 Polish classic Ashes and Diamonds, which explores post-war Poland, difficult choices and a country at a turning point. In the episode, he said, "I know that Indians are avid moviegoers; they love cinema, and I am confident that you will love the Polish film school, which has a special identity and quite a long history. Our film industry started 100 years ago, and you will be surprised to hear that Hollywood has quite a Polish influence. The Warner Brothers were born in Poland and emigrated to the US. Samuel Goldwyn, the co-founder of MGM, was born in Warsaw, Poland. Some of today's Hollywood stars have Polish roots: Natalie Portman and Jesse Eisenberg have Polish citizenship, and Paul Wesley speaks excellent Polish. Adrien Brody has Polish roots."

The ambassador says he started the Corner because of Indian cinephiles. He tells us, "It became a very important aspect of my job, my diplomatic mission, particularly here in India. India is a country of movie lovers. Indians love movies and know a lot about them. They are connoisseurs; they are experts. Movies are bridge builders; they help us understand each other better and develop empathy towards each other. Therefore, I decided to promote Polish movies in India and talk about them, to create this new element in our connections and our affinity, and maybe to contribute to further cooperation, including joint production of Polish-Indian movies."

SONALI KULKARNI

From playing Pooja in Dil Chahta Hai to taking on the challenge of playing Sammakka in the Telugu historical drama The Paradise, Sonali Kulkarni has never stuck to one lane. She has worked across languages, genres and formats, often gravitating towards projects that push her into unfamiliar territory. In conversation with us, the actress says, "I always follow my instinct (when it comes to choosing scripts). If I like listening to a story, I want to be part of it."

'THE AUDIENCE ALWAYS SUPPORTS GOOD WORK'

Unpredictability has remained central to Sonali's relationship with her audience. "My bond with the audience is of trust and a surprise factor," she says, adding, "Be it my writing, my films, web series, plays, or now my podcast, the audience has assured me all the time that they appreciate and support good work."

The actress, who recently starred in Neeru Sharma's short film Like Maa, says she wants to continue exploring the format. "My curiosity brings me back to short films and takes me across a variety of genres and mediums," says Sonali, who is now looking forward to the Hindi-Marathi bilingual The Bollywood Wives.

– Dnyaneshwari Katkar

The actress in a still from The Paradise

'Sammakka was a demanding role'

For the recent Nani-starrer, Sonali had to master Telugu slang and balance her character's vulnerability as a single mother with her aggression as a leader. The shoot was physically demanding, with Sonali walking barefoot in knee-deep mud while wearing prosthetics. "At one point you just happen to enter that frenzy zone where nothing matters. Sammakka was a demanding role and the audience response has been encouraging."

Celine Dion is joining the Barbie legacy with a signature doll inspired by one of the most memorable moments of her career. The limited-edition doll recreates the navy, long-sleeved gown the singer wore while performing My Heart Will Go On, the iconic theme song from Titanic, at the 1998 Academy Awards. It features an elegant updo, silver earrings and a blue necklace inspired by the Heart of the Ocean jewel from the film.

According to The Independent, Celine said, "It is a true honour to join the Barbie legacy with a doll inspired by one of the most meaningful moments of my career. I hope this doll inspires everyone to express themselves with confidence, follow their dreams and believe in the power of their own voice."

'In college, I'd make sure to wear my best kurtas for garba'

RAJEEV KHANDELWAL

Soumitra Das

For Rajeev Khandelwal, Navratri is steeped in memories of college, borrowed dupattas, jugaad for passes and dancing till midnight. The actor recalls the innocence of those celebrations and reveals why garba remains close to his heart.

'IN COLLEGE, NOT PLAYING GARBA WAS A CRIME'

Rajeev shares, "During your college days, you eagerly waited for festivals like Navratri. Uss time pe not playing garba was a crime! However, now, when you are invited to a venue as a celebrity, you can't even play garba properly, so it's not the same. Every generation feels the celebrations used to be the best when they were young. But back then, and I am talking about at least 25 years ago, there was a certain innocence associated with the festival, and I loved that."

He adds, "At our hostel, the countdown would begin a few days before the festival. The biggest incentive was, of course, getting to play dandiya with all the pretty girls (laughs). Main bahut achhe se taiyyar ho ke jaata tha garba khelne! We had limited resources, but I would make sure to wear my best kurtas. Uss time pe ladkon ka fashion sense toh kuch aur hi tha. Those were simpler times; we would just ask the girls in our friend circle to lend us their dupattas. There was no concept of online shopping. Once we had our kurtas, borrowed dupattas and dandiyas, and we were totally garba-ready!"

> Once, while waiting to play dandiya with a pretty girl, my stick broke in two just when I hoped to impress her. The incident still makes me smile. Navratri was full of such innocent joys

'I've always loved Falguni Pathak's songs'

About his favourite Navratri tracks, the actor says, "I loved Falguni Pathak's garba songs, and she remains a favourite even today. I remember HL College (in Ahmedabad) ke andar garba hota tha, and we loved going there."

For the actor, Navratri memories are filled with childhood mischief, jugaad for passes and embarrassing moments on the garba floor. He says, "We would always be doing some jugaad for Navratri passes. Humare group mein ek raees baap ka beta tha, toh uss ko hum bolte thay, ki bhai passes chahiye, bol na tere dad ko. I have another funny, but embarrassing memory associated with the festival. Once, while at a garba venue, I was eagerly waiting for my turn to play dandiya with a particularly pretty girl. I thought I would impress her with my garba skills. But just before that could happen, my dandiya broke into two pieces! Even today, thinking about that incident brings a smile to my face."

Today was about Maa in all her forms: Kajol

Cousins Ayan Mukerji and Sharbani Mukherji at the family's pujo on Thursday

Pujo has officially begun at the Mukerji household. Kajol, Tanuja, Tanishaa Mukerji and Ayan Mukerji inaugurated the family's North Bombay Sarbojanin Durga Puja in Mumbai on Thursday.

Kajol later took to Instagram to share pictures from the festivities. She wrote, "Today was all about Maa in all her forms... as a mother, as a daughter, as a protector and as a Goddess! #jaimaadurga and the madness begins." Tanishaa, too, shared photos from the Panchami celebrations on social media, captioning her post, "Favourite time of the year." TNN

She's a very giving partner: Siddharth

Siddharth describes Aditi as someone who brings both kindness and a healthy dose of honesty to their relationship. "Aditi is a very giving partner. But, at the same time, she's a taskmaster because she teaches me every day how many different ways I can be a better person. We enjoy coming back home to each other at the end of the day, and that's one of the most reassuring feelings for me as an individual," he says.

ADITI RAO HYDARI AND SIDDHARTH

For Aditi, it is Siddharth's ability to be present and bring a sense of playfulness to everyday life that makes their bond special. "Siddharth is always very present. He listens, he is sensitive, and there is a lightness and playfulness that he brings to even the most mundane moments. We are similar in our intentions and soul energy, but we have our own ways of doing things and our different rhythms also have a synchronicity that is as thrilling as it is comforting," she says, adding, "Siddharth's priorities are very clear and he is expressive with his love and support. Whether on set or off it, the feeling of love and butterflies is a constant."

With both actors committed to their respective careers, balancing work and personal life requires conscious effort. While marriage has not changed Siddharth's approach to work, it has influenced how he plans his life beyond it. "I approach work the way I've taught myself to approach work, and that's something I've been doing for more than half of my life. I don't think that will change post-marriage. But it helps you plan the life that you want to live outside of work. And then you have a person that you chose for the reasons of both companionship and living life to the fullest. So that's definitely a change now," he says.

Aditi believes that respecting each other's professional choices is key to making their partnership work. She shares, "We have always respected each other's individual ambitions, choices and careers, and that will always be. Our schedules can be hectic, so there is a lot of planning around travel, work and time apart. It takes effort to make things feel effortless, and to value, prioritise and respect each other's perspective."

A loom installation and colourful jamdani motifs celebrate Bengal's handloom heritage at Navapalli Puja Samity's pandal, with geometric patterns inspired by the intricate designs woven into the fabric

FROM JORASANKO TO JAMDANI:

Shivika Manchanda

For many, Durga Puja is as much about the experience in the pandal as it is about the rituals themselves – stopping for bhog, admiring the artistry, meeting friends and family, and taking in the festive energy that fills neighbourhoods. Across Delhi, pandals offer plenty to explore, from grand architectural facades to detailed murals, striking installations and social messages. Here's a look at their finished designs and where to find them as you plan your pujo trail.

Jute and bamboo shape the pandal at Co-operative Ground Durga Puja Samity, CR Park, from its facade to the space around the deity, with earthy hues, terracotta panels and a large jute chandelier

Shivika Manchanda

Celebrating 150 years of Vande Mataram, the Durgotsab GK2 pandal brings together Spanish artist Javier Artacho's five monumental paintings, titled Matrika: The Cosmic Warp and Weft, where he interprets Vande Mataram and Navaratri through the sacred feminine, weaving together the Motherland, Durga pujo rituals and the cultural and spiritual dimensions of India

Mela Ground 's theme Maati, Manush, Mohon – The Eternal Bond is reflected in an ornate red, white and green facade, with traditional motifs drawing on Bengal's cultural heritage and the bond between people and the land

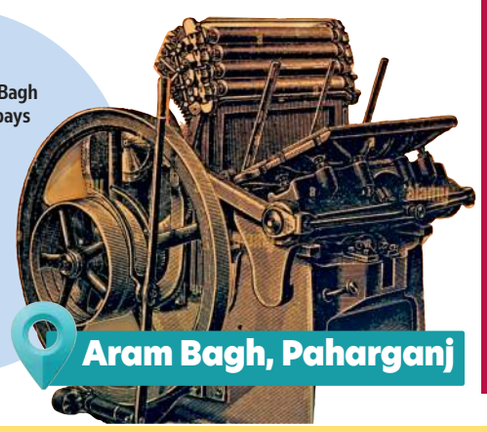
A recreation of Jorasanko Thakur Bari, Rabindranath Tagore's ancestral home, brings Bengal's architectural heritage to the pandal through a red exterior, white ornamental detailing and green shutters

Making pujo accessible for all

Several Durga pujo pandals across NCR are introducing accessibility measures through an initiative by UNESCO and accessibility organisation Svayam. This year, participating committees have introduced features such as ramps, levelled pathways, Braille signage, calm rooms and quiet hours, along with touchable replicas of the Durga idol for visually impaired visitors. Inclusive cultural programmes and volunteer sensitisation are also part of the effort.



The Power of Print Never Fades in Aram Bagh Puja Samiti, Paharganj pays tribute to print media through colourful facades and human figures made from newspaper, celebrating the journalists, editors and others who have kept the printed word alive

HOW TO PLAY

Fill in the grid so that every horizontal row, every vertical column and every 3x3 box contains the digits 1-9, without repeating the numbers in the same row, column or box.You can't change the digits already given in the grid. Every puzzle has one solution.

TIMES KAKURO

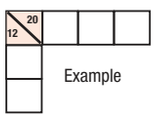
HOW TO PLAY

The numbers in the coloured squares refer to the sums of the digits that you must fill into the empty spaces directly below or to the right of the coloured square containing the number. For instance, in the given example, the 2 boxes below 12 must contain 2 digits that add upto 12, whereas for 20, the 3 boxes placed horizontally next to it must add upto 20. No zeroes are used here, only the digits one through nine.

NOTE

A digit cannot appear more than once in any particular digit combination. For instance in the example, we cannot have the combination of 8+4+8 for 20.



Example

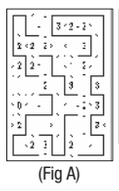
RULES

- Connect adjacent dots with vertical or horizontal lines, creating a single loop (Fig A).
- Crossovers or branches are not allowed (As shown by dotted lines in Fig B).
- Numbers in the puzzle indicate the number of lines that should surround it, while empty cells may be surrounded by any number of lines.
- You can't draw lines around zeroes.
- Each puzzle has just one unique solution.



(Fig A)

HOW TO BEGIN:

Example (Fig A) - Begin with the zero next to 3. Since no lines can be drawn around zero, mark crosses around it, as shown. Now there is a cross in one space around 3. So we know the three lines of 3 can only be drawn in the remaining three spaces. Next, these lines can only be extended in one direction each. Continue, using the same logic.

Hints: Keep eliminating possibilities by marking crosses in spaces between dots where a line isn't possible, i.e., if you have already completed required lines or where a line extension may create a branch or cause a deadend (Fig B).

DENNIS THE MENACE

ARIES: The time you have spent gathering your thoughts will help you express yourself with greater clarity. Ensure that your intentions are as clear as your words. Reach out to someone who has been on your mind. Your confidence, powers of persuasion can help you make a favourable impression.

TAURUS: Working harder is not always the answer. Give yourself permission to slow down and assess how far you have come. Avoid allowing impatience to affect your dealings with others.

GEMINI: Others may recognise your leadership qualities before you fully realise how much they trust your judgement. Your approachable nature and ability to understand different perspectives can win the confidence of influential people.

CANCER: Your finances may fluctuate. Be more mindful of your generosity and avoid making financial commitments simply because someone appeals to your emotions. Maintaining boundaries will help you preserve stability.

LEO: Even well-intentioned gestures could be misunderstood or criticised. Rather than trying to resolve every disagreement immediately, give the other person some space and avoid unnecessary arguments. A calm approach and a little extra patience will help you maintain harmony.

VIRGO: Interactions with demanding or competitive individuals could leave you feeling irritated or uncertain. Someone may attempt to influence your decisions. Consider constructive advice where appropriate, but remember that you are entitled to make your own choices.

Harsh Gujral & Madhur Virli summoned by Maharashtra Cybercell

Harsh Gujral and Madhur Virli have been summoned by the Maharashtra Cyber Cell on October 19 after receiving a complaint from a woman over the alleged use of vulgar and objectionable remarks in their stand-up comedy acts, reported IANS. The remarks in question are yet to be revealed. Gujral, known for his spontaneous audience interactions and observational humour, has also appeared on reality television shows, including The Traitors and Khatron Ke Khiladi 15. Virli, an IIT Delhi alumnus, is recognised for his dark humour and storytelling drawing on student life, relationships and personal experiences.

The summons come amid Maharashtra Cyber Cell's wider scrutiny of obscene online content. The crackdown intensified in February 2025 following the controversy surrounding Samay Raina's India's Got Latent. Gujral subsequently removed episodes of his dark-humour show, The Escape Room, from YouTube. In June 2026, the Maharashtra Cyber Cell filed FIRs against other creators, including Pranit More, for sharing obscene content through social media.

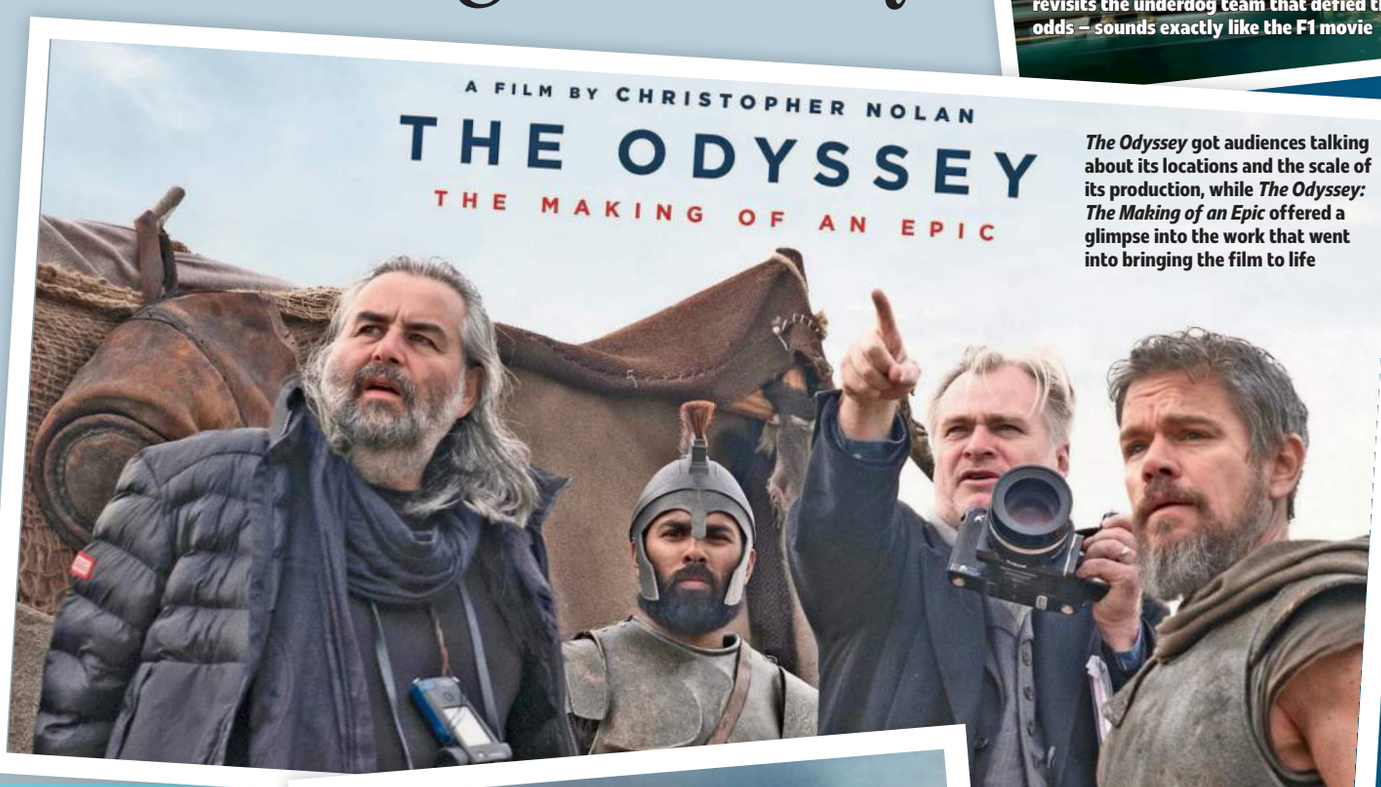
Brawn: The Impossible Formula 1 Story revisits the underdog team that defied the odds – sounds exactly like the F1 movie



The Odyssey got audiences talking about its locations and the scale of its production, while The Odyssey: The Making of an Epic offered a glimpse into the work that went into bringing the film to life

Niharika Lal

A couple of months ago, the Rafa documentary series, based on tennis ace Rafael Nadal, became a hit for its storytelling. In recent years, documentaries have shed their image as serious, niche viewing to embrace more nuanced, pop-culture-driven storytelling. Remember The Tinder Swindler? The growing appetite for the genre has prompted streaming platforms to experiment with formats such as insta-docs. Platforms say this surge is being driven by rising audience interest in documentaries.

'There has been a huge demand for celeb-based documentaries'

The appeal of documentaries lies in their ability to take stories audiences may encounter in the news and explore the people, motivations and larger contexts. "Viewers in India watch news all day, so there is an appetite for non-fictional content," Vinay Shukla, co-director of the docu-film An Insignificant Man, told us earlier.

Several true-crime documentaries have held spots on Netflix's global and Indian Top 10 lists for consecutive weeks.

A Netflix spokesperson says the company would continue bringing stories from around the world to audiences, describing documentaries as "one of the most popular genres worldwide". Across streaming platforms, the slate of documentaries has expanded.

A Hollywood studio executive shares, "In the last couple of years, there has also been huge demand for celebrity-based documentaries, not just in Hollywood but in India. This trend is unlikely to die down anytime soon. There were always good documentaries and a particular segment of viewers who loved watching them. But what has changed is the approach to filmmaking. True crime docus have a viewership. These are now almost as polished and as interesting as feature films."

In recent years, Harry & Meghan had one of the biggest opening weeks of any documentary on Netflix. About 28 million member accounts worldwide watched it in its first four days, according to the platform's estimate, calculated by dividing total viewing hours by the combined runtime of the first three episodes, which was just under three hours

Before The Odyssey was released this year, there was considerable discussion about its real-world locations, where it was shot and how the cast got there. After the film's release, the documentary The Odyssey: The Making of an Epic highlighted the scale of the production, including the locations, how actors were transported to them, and the lengths the crew went to in pursuit of authenticity.

Abhishek George, a viewer in his 20s, says, "I understood the scale of the film after watching the documentary. Producer Emma Thomas says in it, 'It's sort of like seven different ambitious movies all rolled up into one.' I have watched the documentary four times, and there are so many insights."

"Over the years, with documentary-makers winning Oscars and awards at Cannes, the genre has generated greater interest among Indian viewers. It is a huge change compared with previous years," says filmmaker Jitendra Mishra.

'The F1 movie sparked interest in F1 documentaries'

In reverse, films are also drawing audiences towards documentaries, offering a deeper look on the worlds they introduce on screen. Brad Pitt's F1, for instance, sparked an interest in Formula One among viewers who then turned to documentaries to learn more about the sport.

Sameeksha Trivedi, a moviegoer in her 20s, says, "Real-life stories are definitely far more fascinating. What I like so much about documentaries on streaming platforms or Insta Docs is that you don't have to be a patient viewer." Trisha Batra, a viewer in her 30s, adds, "My interest in documentaries is quite new. It started after I watched Brad Pitt's F1. I got interested in F1 racing, then started looking for documentaries, and I've been watching a lot of them since, on subjects that interest me."

Soderbergh swoops in to help finish The Batman II

Fans are still waiting for The Batman Part II, and the film has hit another production hurdle. With director Matt Reeves continuing to attend to an ongoing family matter, Oscar-winning filmmaker Steven Soderbergh has stepped in to help complete principal photography on the DC Studios film over its final few weeks, reports Deadline. The two directors will work closely together and stay in communication until filming wraps, with Reeves set to take over post-production duties when he is ready to return. In a statement, DC Studios said, "As Matt Reeves continues to attend to an ongoing family matter, Steven Soderbergh, as an admirer of Matt's work, approached Matt and will step in, with the full support of DC Studios, to help the writer-director complete the final weeks of principal photography on The Batman Part II." Aditya Rawal recommends...

The Wire: I'm rewatching this show right now, and honestly, I think it's one of the greatest shows ever written. You just have to give it a few episodes to pull you in, and once it does, it's hard to look away. It's a gripping, heartbreaking and incredibly layered portrait of Baltimore.

Black Warrant: This show showcases excellence in every department of filmmaking, just what you'd expect from a Vikramaditya Motwane show. The cast is phenomenal, especially Zahan Kapoor. I loved watching it.

Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy (1979): The BBC show is a well-performed, astutely handled adaptation of John Le Carré's book. It portrays the world of espionage with high fidelity, but the story is still entertaining and moving.

Mythology, horror & comedy come together, but the magic gets lost

NAYYI NAVELLI
(Horror comedy)
★★½
Cast: Yami Gautam, Addinath M Kothare, Anurag Thakur, Pratiek Pachori, Sunita Rajwar, Mita Vashisht, Sushmita Mukherjee
Director: Balaji Mohan
Duration: 2 hours, 18 minutes
Language: Hindi (U/A 16+)

Should you watch it?
The muddled storytelling makes this horror comedy an underwhelming affair.

Review in short

New bride Mohini (Yami Gautam) transforms her unruly Meerut household into a happy home. However, her brother-in-law, Bantu (Anurag Thakur), suspects she is a daayan. As he attempts to uncover the truth, a supernatural mystery involving an ancient evil unfolds. The film has a thin plot and incoherent storytelling. Rishi Punjabi's cinematography lends the movie atmospheric visuals, doing justice to its horror setting. Much of the comedy comes from Bantu and Punnu Chacha's (Pratiek Pachori) interactions. However, most characters are over-the-top, and several situations are clichéd. The songs feel misplaced, and the VFX is inconsistent. Yami pulls off the daayan and divine avatars convincingly. Addinath delivers a competent performance as Raja. Anurag deserves special mention for his comic timing. – Dhaval Roy

An unusual survival thriller, if you can stomach its gruesome turns

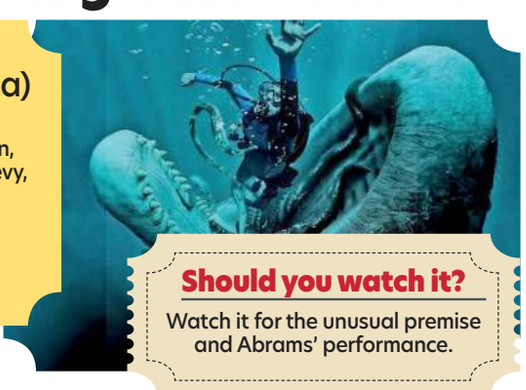
(Survival thriller/Drama)
★★★
Cast: Austin Abrams, Josh Brolin, Elisabeth Shue, John Ortiz, Jane Levy, Emily Rudd
Director: Brian Duffield
Duration: 1 hour, 46 minutes
Language: English (U/A 16+)



Should you watch it?
Watch it for the unusual premise and Abrams' performance.

Review in short

Jay (Austin Abrams), a scuba diver searching for his late father's remains, finds himself trapped inside a sperm whale with just an hour of oxygen left. What follows is an unusual survival thriller that attempts to push the genre into uncharted waters. The film builds tension as Jay battles a claustrophobic, hostile environment. Abrams brings vulnerability and earnestness to the role, making you root for his survival. Josh Brolin, as Jay's father, adds an emotional dimension through their complicated relationship. However, the implausible premise and repetitive sequences gradually dilute the tension. While the sound design effectively heightens the dread, the visuals could have been more convincing. Whalefall deserves credit for pushing the envelope in the survival thriller genre. – Ronak Kotecha

A legacy franchise that fights

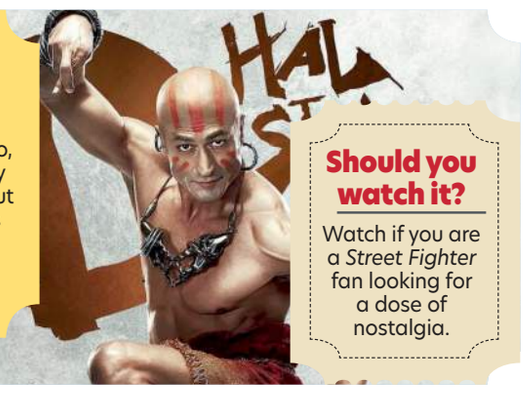
(Action/Adventure)
★★★
Cast: Andrew Koji, Noah Centineo, Callina Liang, Jason Momoa, Cody Rhodes, David Dastmalchian, Vidyut Jammwal, 50 Cent, Roman Reigns
Director: Kitao Sakurai
Duration: 2 hours, 5 minutes
Language: English (U/A 16+)



Should you watch it?
Watch if you are a Street Fighter fan looking for a dose of nostalgia.

Review in short

Street Fighter has its share of entertaining moments, but an overcomplicated screenplay, unnecessary subplots and verbose dialogue occasionally get in the way. The film struggles to strike a balance between a fun action entertainer and a character-driven bromance drama. While some fight sequences are well choreographed and deliver the franchise's signature thrills, the pacing could have been tighter. Noah Centineo's energetic, sometimes over-the-top performance may not work for everyone, while Andrew Koji brings a more restrained presence. Cody Rhodes is reasonably effective as Guile, Jason Momoa embraces the larger-than-life nature of Blanka, and Callina Liang makes a strong impression as Chun-Li. Vidyut Jammwal also makes his presence felt, though his character could have been given more to do. Despite its visual appeal and familiar franchise elements, the film leaves room for improvement. – Ronak Kotecha

(Courtroom drama)
★★★★
Cast: Rajkummar Rao, Sikandar Kher, Lalit Prabhakar, Jaideep Ahlawat, Wamiqa Gabbi, Ajinkya Deo
Director: Avinash Arun
Duration: 2 hours, 21 minutes
Language: Hindi (U/A 16+)

Should you watch it?
Absolutely. The powerful account of a landmark legal battle makes for an engaging watch.

Review in short

The gripping courtroom drama follows Ujjwal Nikam (Rajkummar Rao), India's celebrated public prosecutor, and his landmark legal battle against Ajmal Kasab, the sole surviving terrorist captured during the 26/11 Mumbai attacks. Nearly 18 years after 26/11, questions about Kasab's trial remain compelling. Why was a terrorist caught red-handed entitled to a fair trial? Why did his conviction take nearly four years? Prahaar answers these questions with conviction. Director Avinash Arun strikes a delicate balance between humanising a criminal and holding him accountable. Grounded in facts and restrained in its dramatisation, the film avoids sensationalising the tragedy while underscoring constitutional principles and due process. Jaideep Ahlawat adds depth as Nikam's Pakistani counterpart. Rajkummar masterfully balances rage and restraint, capturing Nikam's vocal pitch, physicality, Marathi accent and steely resolve. Sikandar Kher is terrific as the defence lawyer, while Lalit Prabhakar is the film's biggest revelation as Kasab. – Renuka Vyavahare

How to: Build the perfect Garba playlist

START WITH THE MOOD, NOT THE SONG

Decide what kind of Garba night you're creating. Traditional and dhol-heavy? Full-on Bollywood? Or a chaotic mix of everything your friend group loves? Once you know the vibe, picking songs gets much easier.

GIVE THE PLAYLIST A PROPER WARM-UP

Don't begin with your loudest track. Start with songs that ease everyone into the mood, then slowly increase the tempo. Think of it as a dance-floor warm-up without actually calling it one.

THROW IN A FEW UNEXPECTED PICKS

A playlist becomes way more fun when people don't know what's coming next. Add a Bollywood throwback, a viral remix or that one completely random song your group always screams along to.

MAKE IT FRIEND-APPROVED

SAVE THE CHAOS FOR LAST

End with the songs that make everyone scream, jump and refuse to leave the dance floor.

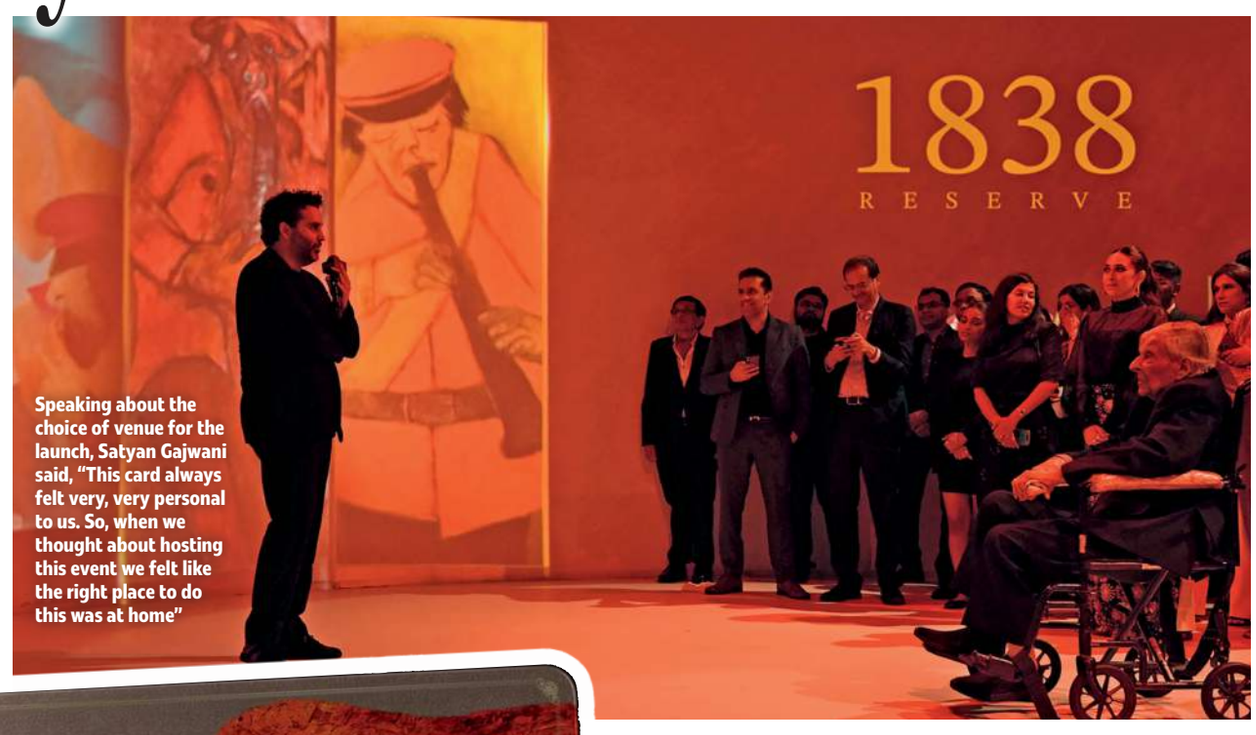
DELHI IS TALKING ABOUT

'1838 is about representing and recognising the history of both The Times and of India'

An evening of music, food, art and good taste to celebrate the launch of The Times of India's 1838 Reserve credit card

Divya Kaushik

Crimson floral decor, gold accents and a backdrop of grand architectural facades set the scene. For guests, however, a rare delight awaited in an exhibition of veteran artist Krishen Khanna's iconic Bandwalla series. The maestro himself graced the evening and interacted with guests. As 1,838 parrots took to the skies, the celebrations extended beyond the crimson setting and art, music and culinary experiences came together in Delhi on Monday evening at the launch of 1838 Reserve ICICI Bank credit card by The Times of India, in association with ICICI Bank and Visa. Hosted by Samir Jain, Vice Chairman, BCCL, and Satyan Gajwani, Vice Chairman, Times Internet Ltd, the evening celebrated the card's launch and 188 years of The Times of India, which first went to print in 1838. In addition to the eminent guests from the banking and corporate sectors, prominent guests present at the event included Karisma Kapoor, Aman Nath, Sunil Sethi, Mandira Wirk and Rina Dhaka.



Speaking about the choice of venue for the launch, Satyan Gajwani said, "This card always felt very, very personal to us. So, when we thought about hosting this event we felt like the right place to do this was at home"

Rakesh Jha, Executive Director, ICICI Bank, said, "All the hard work of The Times of India team, team ICICI, and VISA, has come to fruition today with the launch of this new card. For us, what matters is how we earn and retain the trust of the customer. And at all points of time, we believe in our core philosophy of being fair to the customer and fair to the bank. And this partnership is what is completely in line with our core thinking. A credit card is an important part of our overall product portfolio. This card is indeed most special."

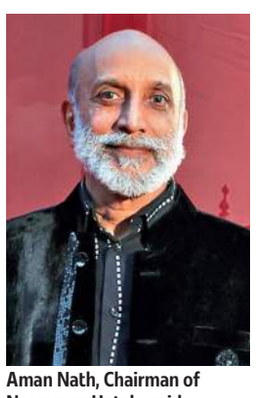
A NAME THAT CARRIES 188 YEARS OF HISTORY

The gathering at the family home gave the occasion a personal touch, which reflected in Satyan's welcome address too. "When we think about the name of the card, 1838 Reserve, it stands for the beginning of The Times of India and the 188 years of legacy and history where we've chronicled and followed and watched India change. The story of India is made by its creators, its builders, its leaders, its artists. This card is about commemorating them and commemorating their work. When we think about the future, it's about commemorating the leaders that will take this generation and this country to its next level. And that's what this card is really meant for. 1838 really is about representing and recognising the history of both The Times and of India, and it's about thinking about what the future looks like. For us, bridging the past and the future is really what feels so special, and we believe this card is going to play a major role in doing that."

Avarna Jain



Aman Nath, Chairman of Neemrana Hotels, said, "Since 1988, when The Times of India celebrated its sesquicentennial year all over India, I have been a part of their connoisseurship to art, fashion, dance, cuisine, and spirituality. They like to stand on the top rung"

Speaking about the partnerships, Satyan continued, "This card is not built by us alone. We've had amazing partners along the way. ICICI Bank took a big punt with us a few years ago in launching the Times Black card. Fortunately, it's been incredibly successful, one of the best-performing new cards. It was always the starting point, and we wanted to do something more. While that card is a great opportunity, this card holds a very special place for us because it really is like taking a piece of our history and making it something people can carry around with them. Visa has also been an incredible partner, and someday someone will tell you the story where we were this close to not working with Visa. I also want to thank my father-in-law, Samir Jain, for letting us use not just his home, but his legacy, because this is really his, more than anyone else's."

Khanna's Bandwalla artwork finds a new home on the card, while the exhibition at the event offered guests a closer look at the series. Its brass-band musicians, familiar figures in Indian wedding processions, have occupied a central place in his artistic universe for more than 50 years. Talking about Khanna's artwork on the card, Satyan said, "Art plays a very important part in our family's lives. My wife (Trishla Jain) is an artist and our home is adorned with beautiful art. So, when we had the opportunity to work with sir Krishen Khanna, it was an opportunity none of us felt we could miss. We're so grateful that the person who has chronicled the ordinary lives of Indians for decades, and whose figures of the bandwallahs are as iconic as the country itself, is with us here. While we've all seen his works on walls, to be able to carry it in your pocket is something special for us."

For guests, the opportunity to meet the artist brought forth memorable moments. Sunil Sethi, Chairman, Fashion Design Council of India (FDCI), said, "I have always been a huge fan of his (Khanna's) works and to meet him here was special. He knew my father-in-law, and when I went to meet him, it was so surprising that he recognised me and gave me his blessings."

"When Visa thought about launching for the first time the Visa Infinite Privilege tier in India, we thought what's the best partner to do that with. No guesses, it's going to be ICICI Bank and The Times of India," said Rishi Chhabra, Country Manager, Visa India, about the partnership and added, "So what's Visa Infinite Privilege tier all about? We've had the Visa Infinite for years, in fact, decades, where we know and respect that extraordinary folks need something extraordinary every day. And that's when Visa Infinite Privilege stepped in. With the global experiences, unparalleled access, stronger recognition, the best service to go with it, we thought of launching this tier globally, in Asia-Pacific, and in India. So proud of doing this with our partners."

MUSIC IN A WALL OF GLOWING ALCOVES: Before the unveiling, musicians from Roysten Abel's Manganiyar Seduction performed from individual, light-framed alcoves arranged across a towering stage. Dressed in traditional attire, the performers made for a striking sight against the crimson backdrop, with the illuminated frames adding another dimension to the musical experience. "This is for the first time that I have seen such a splendid stage set up, and this performance was one of the best that I have seen," fashion designer Rina Dhaka told us

Yeehawmaxxing with cowboy inspired timepieces

There's a new cowboy-coded timepiece in the offering. Expanding its American Western collection, Ralph Lauren has come up with the Western Cushion 38mm, a timepiece that draws on the rugged character and craftsmanship of the Wild West. Crafted from sterling silver, its cushion-shaped case is engraved and subtly aged to evoke the intricate detailing of traditional Western silverwork.

Measuring 38mm, the case is distinguished by elaborate patterns that bring texture and depth to the metal, lending the watch a timeworn, heritage-inspired appeal. Its intricate surface detailing also recalls the decorative artistry of a cowboy's belt buckle, translating a familiar emblem of the American West into a considered design statement for the wrist, reported the T3 magazine.

Available in three dial colours, the Western Cushion 38mm combines Ralph Lauren's enduring interest in American heritage with the visual language of the frontier

Chanel's relationship with celestial motifs dates back to 1932, when Coco Chanel presented the house's first High Jewelry collection in Paris – the only one she designed herself, reported Elle Decor. Nearly a century later, these motifs return in Chanel's 2026 High Jewelry collection, Signes & Symboles, alongside lions inspired by her zodiac sign and the feline figures that adorned her Rue Cambon apartment. Camellias, meanwhile, reference Alexandre Dumas's 1848 novel La Dame Aux Camélias, a title among the many volumes that filled her bookshelves.

Eshna Bhattacharya

A crown for the goddess, a topor (the traditional headgear worn by Bengali grooms), a delicate flourish in a Malakar's (a traditional artisan's) hands – for generations, Bengal's shola craft, made from a soft, white plant material, has adorned the region's cherished rituals. Now, in an exclusive shoot for us, actor Ranojoy Bishnu presents the craft in an unconventional avatar. Sculpted foliage and pearls adorn his torso and arms, paired with a red-bordered white dhoti to create an ethereal armour that seems to float. From traditional rituals to the global fashion spotlight at the Met Gala, shola is finding new creative spaces. Can this renewed visibility help preserve the craft and the livelihoods of those who keep it alive?

'A DYING CRAFT. AN UNPOPULAR TRUTH'

"Shola is a dying craft. Quite an unpopular truth, but the truth is India's cultural heritage is passed down from generations only by the hands of artistic lineage, and the younger generations are moving out of the craftsmanship," says Jitavati Das, founder of a non-profit for artisan empowerment. Shola, often called herbal ivory because of its ivory-like appearance, is the soft, milky-white pith of the aquatic plant Aeschynomene aspera. Traditionally associated with Bengal's Malakar community, shola craft adorns Durga idols, Bengali topors and mukuts, garlands and decorative pieces. Beyond its ritual significance, shola offers creative possibilities, as seen in Ranojoy's sculptural uttariya (a draped piece of cloth worn over the upper body), inspired by Ajanta and Ellora's carved foliage, curling vines and floral reliefs, with pearls accentuating its white-on-white detailing.

Sholapith Craft of West Bengal received its GI registration certificate in March 2026

> I hope with this creation and shoot we can bring greater recognition to the Malakars and take this beautiful craft to a global audience
> – Ranojoy Bishnu, actor

The complete look for our shoot was crafted by four artisans, who spent 19 days creating the shola ornaments. The uttariya, made from sculpted shola leaves, sweeps diagonally across the torso, with pearls adding luminosity. The motifs extend to the forearm cuffs and an ornate ear piece. The traditional white-and-red dhoti, or antariya, grounds the sculptural ensemble in Bengali heritage. Makeup artist Sonam Jaiswal kept Ranojoy's look natural, using under-eye corrector, makeup fixer spray to even out his skin tone, and lip balm.

Bandhani to dandiya: Navratri nails get a fun & creative twist

Yashaswi Kochar

Nine nights, nine nail looks. From bandhani-inspired patterns to mirror-work details, Navratri nails are all about colour, culture and individuality. While gel manicures offer staying power, press-ons let you switch up your look each night. Here are some festive nail ideas to complement your Navratri style. Naina Savani, a nail artist, says, "Mirror-work, embroidery, bandhani and traditional jewellery are incredibly inspiring for nail art. A delicate mirror-effect accent or jewellery-inspired embellishment can capture the essence of the culture while keeping the design elegant."

It starts from the shape of nails. Naina says, "Almond remains a top choice for its timeless silhouette. Medium-length nails are ideal for clients who want practicality, while long extensions are perfect for a more dramatic festive look." From adding small silver accessories to using typography as one of the elements, people are exploring new styles this year. Nail artist Divya Randeria says, "Foil, mirrors and embellishments can be made on nails. Figures like dandiya, Warli, Swastik, Trishul and mandala can also be incorporated."

From reds to gold, people are opting for maximalism this Navratri. Divya Randeria, a nail artist, says, "Women who want to keep things practical prefer subtle nails, whereas people who want to experiment go for bandhani prints, mirrors, figures, and traditional designs. Red, rani pink, wine, brown, and orange are most popular during festivals." While classic colours are definitely popular in Navratri, there is a leaning interest towards subtle shades as well. Nude shades are also in demand, Nikita Dobariya says. "There's more interest in nude bases with gold, silver and chrome accents. These combinations give a festive feel while keeping the nails versatile."

No time to go home and change? A few clever swaps, statement accessories and quick beauty fixes can take your workwear from boardroom-ready to celebration-approved in minutes.

LAYER ON A STATEMENT JACKET

Throw a mirrorwork jacket, an embroidered waistcoat or a brocade shrug over your usual outfit. Keep the base outfit simple and let the festive layer do the heavy lifting.

OPT FOR DRESSIER FOOTWEAR

Swap your office flats or formal loafers for embellished juttis, metallic block heels or strappy sandals. Choose comfortable footwear that can take you from desk-side conversations to a full evening of dancing.

SWITCH UP YOUR BEAUTY LOOK

Keep a red or berry lipstick, kajal and a compact highlighter in your desk drawer. Add a swipe of colour, smudge your liner slightly for a softer evening look and dab highlighter on your cheekbones.

BRING OUT THE BIG JEWELLERY

Replace your tiny studs with chunky jhumkas, oversized hoops or a bold choker. If your work outfit is neutral, colourful jewellery can add a festive punch.

GIVE YOUR DUPATTA A STARRING ROLE

Carry a lightweight embroidered dupatta in your bag and drape it over your kurta or even a plain shirt-and-trouser combination.

Work hard, dance harder: The Navratri balancing act

Harsh Kashiv

During Navratri, revellers seem to find an extra gear. Work deadlines compete with garba plans, afternoon naps become survival strategies, and coffee keeps sleepy eyes open through another working day. While some rejig their schedules to make room for the festivities, others squeeze in a few hours of sleep wherever they can. Between office assignments, household chores and dancing, people manage an enthusiastic balancing act.

> After garba, drink 500-750 ml of normal water to rehydrate & avoid fatigue the next day. If hungry, eat a banana or some cashews, or drink warm kesar elaichi milk before sleeping

Dr Tejal Vasava, a physiotherapist and travel content creator, rearranges her appointments during Navratri. She says, "I avoid scheduling early-morning patient appointments during Navratri. My day starts around 10am, followed by lunch at 1.30pm and some rest before I resume work from 4pm to 7pm. Once I'm done with my patients, I get ready and head straight to garba. I schedule my content shoots and posts ahead of time. I balance dancing with rest and pay extra attention to protein-rich meals and hydration."

The combination of office deadlines, household responsibilities and late-night celebrations can seem daunting, but brand manager Jinal Patel says, "It is quite hectic to manage the demands of office work, household chores and garba every night. Sometimes, when the festival is over, I wonder how I managed it. Every year, it feels intimidating and impossible, but with Maa Ambe's blessings, everything works out smoothly in the end."

> I start my day late; my working hours are from noon to 6pm. I take things slow during Navratri, and people understand because they have the same schedule
> – Jigar Bagaria, marketing consultant

Recovery matters as much as the revelry

Amid the late nights and packed schedules, nutritionist and wellness expert Namrata Sheth reminds revellers that recovery deserves as much attention as the celebrations. She advises, "After garba, drink 500-750 ml of plain water to rehydrate and help avoid fatigue. If you feel hungry, eat a banana or a handful of cashews, or drink warm kesar elaichi milk before sleeping. Avoid late-night snacking to prevent gut health issues."

'Black coffee comes to my rescue by afternoon'

Graphic designer Shivansh Raval says, "I love garba so much that I try to visit two venues across Mumbai every night, often dancing until midnight. I wake up at 8am and start work by 9am. By afternoon, I feel sleepy, and black coffee comes to my rescue. If I'm working from home, I squeeze in a 20-minute nap after lunch."

Sheetal Patel, a business owner, says, "Navratri is my favourite time of the year. I fast during the day, finish work and head out for two to three hours of garba. With Mumbai traffic, I often reach home late, sleep for barely three hours and head back to work. It gets hectic, but the festive energy makes it all worthwhile. I don't mind sacrificing sleep for these nine days."

If you punish risky movies, you will get shitty movies: Affleck

Ben Affleck has joined the 'Save Digger' rescue squad, but he's bringing a threat: stop dunking on Tom Cruise's box office flop. "It's a little bit like the high-school bullying thing, with people who hadn't even seen movies. You see it happening now with Digger," Affleck said during an appearance on the Happy Sad Confused podcast, adding, "It's a pretty ambitious, interesting movie made by interesting people who have talent. Everybody wants to count the money, what it lost or whatever. To me, I just think, if you punish movies that take risks, guess what you're going to get? A bunch of shitty, homogenised movies."

He explained, "You cannot do something interesting without taking a big swing, and that means you're going to sometimes look bad."

Billy Joel no longer allowed to perform, drive

The Piano Man may have played his last performance. After health issues, Billy Joel is no longer allowed to perform or drive, according to his doctors. Joel told The Hollywood Reporter on Thursday that, according to his doctor, he was no longer permitted to drive or perform.

Joel is auctioning off all his motorcycles, in part for this reason. "I have to take a series of tests before I know, but...I'm not allowed to drive." The 77-year-old icon was diagnosed with the brain disorder normal pressure hydrocephalus (NPH) in 2025. At the time, it was announced that the condition had caused problems with his hearing, vision, and balance and that he would undergo physical therapy. Last month, Billy revealed that he underwent surgery to have a shunt placed in his brain to help treat the condition.
