Stabbed Indian pilot airlifted to Abu Dhabi | UAE orders probe into possible hijack

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Indian pilot Captain Smit Machchhar, whose actions helped avert a mid-air catastrophe aboard a flydubai flight to Tel Aviv, has drawn praise from leaders across the world, even as investigators probe whether the dramatic cockpit attack that left him seriously injured had any terrorist motive or was part of a planned attempt to hijack the aircraft.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi led the tributes, hailing Machchhar's bravery in the face of grave danger. Modi said the pilot had fought valiantly to prevent what could have turned into another 9/11-like tragedy, putting the lives of passengers ahead of his own safety. He said he had also spoken to Machchhar's parents and wife.

"Today, the entire world is proud of him," Modi said, describing his actions as a source of pride for every Indian. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu called him as a "true hero" whose actions saved the lives of all 174 people onboard.

"My salute to the Indian pilot Captain Smit Machchhar for his extraordinary bravery," Netanyahu said, adding that

It began with a violent struggle in the cockpit and a sudden plunge that left passengers screaming and children crying.

Flydubai flight FZ1073, carrying 174 persons from Dubai to Tel Aviv, was cruising at about 34,000 feet when the copilot allegedly attacked Captain Smit Machchhar, stabbing the Indian pilot and sending the aircraft into a dive.

Flight-tracking data showed the Boeing 737 losing more than 16,000 feet in about 35 seconds, with its speed surging towards 700 mph.

Seriously wounded and bleeding, Machchhar managed to unlock the cockpit door. That single act opened the way for passengers and crew to rush in. Yaniv Hayoun, an Israeli passenger and a plumber by profession, was among those who entered. He grabbed the attacker in a chokehold and dragged him away from the controls.

According to reports, Hayoun said he pulled back on the aircraft's controls in an attempt to

Santhosh chairs 2-day BJP session on Pb poll

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI/CHANDIGARH, OCT 1 After the conclusion of its public outreach on the issue of drug abuse in the state, the BJP on Thursday commenced a crucial two-day brainstorming on the 2027 Punjab election strategy.

The discussions, being held at Red Bishop resort in Panchkula, are being led by BJP national general secretary organisation BL Santhosh, the main leader and the link between the BJP and the RSS at the national level.

Santhosh has called all district presidents, district unit in-charges and co-in-charges for deliberations on Thursday and Friday.

The meeting on Thursday was more in the nature of an introduction of all attending leaders. The main discussions will take place on Friday. The BJP has already begun pin-pointing strong seats where they believe they have a winning potential.

Feedback will be sought on the scale of organisational depth of the party, especially in rural areas where the party has been traditionally weak.

The alliance strategy and whether the BJP should go with the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) and the Akali Punar Surjit faction will also come up for discussion.

BJP president Nitin Nabin has repeatedly said that while the party is building its own strength across all 117 seats in Punjab, the alliance matters will be finalised later, depending on ground feedback and surveys and the aspiration of the voters.

Punjab BJP president Kewal Singh Dhillon said in a statement that discussions on Thursday evening focused on the public outreach carried out under the anti-drug yatra, the response of the people and the impact of the party's campaign on the drug issue. He said ways to strengthen the organisation, expand the party's activities at the grassroots and preparations for the upcoming elections were being discussed at the two-day meet.

Jaishankar's help sought for youth on death row in Saudi BJP state vice-president Subhash Sharma has written to Union Minister for Foreign Affairs S Jaishankar to take up the case of Nangal youth Gureet Singh facing a death sentence in Saudi Arabia. He said a mercy petition should be taken up before the Saudi government since Singh was the only son of his ailing mother.

Singh's mother, Jaswant Kaur, has also written to the Saudi king to grant, seeking a pardon in the narcotics case.

The family also approached philanthropist SPS Oberoi, who has declined to take up Gureet's case. "I had enquired about the case and found that the youth was facing serious drug smuggling charges. I do not take up cases involving drugs or rape," Oberoi said.

₹1,262 cr transferred into bank accounts of 36.87L women: CM

GOINDWAL SAHIB, OCTOBER 1 Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann today released the second instalment for the months of October, November and December under the Mukh Mantri Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana.

Addressing a gathering at Goindwal Sahib, Mann said Rs 1,262 crore had been transferred directly into the bank accounts of 36.87 lakh women. He said, "The AAP government is putting people's tax money directly into welfare schemes. If the Congress, BJP or Akali Dal comes to power in 2027, monthly assistance to women, free electricity and bus travel will be discontinued." "This is the sacred land where Guru Amar Das abolished the practice of 'sati' and strengthened the institution of langar, in which Mata Khivi personally rendered service. This is why we chose this great and historic land for the Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana," he added.

"Earlier, Rs 2,562 crore had been released as 'satkar rashi' among 73.99 lakh women. With today's disbursement, a total of Rs 3,824 crore has been transferred into the bank accounts of women. Our target is to extend the benefit to one crore women," he said, adding that 1.37 lakh "satkar sakhis" had been paid Rs 51 crore as incentives for registering women.

He said, "Earlier, politics was dominated by the Badal, Captain and Majithia families. Those who used to claim that they would rule Punjab for 25 years do not even have 25 leaders left with them today."

He said, "Sukhbir Badal and others are out on bail, while Ravinder Singh Brahmputra, whose father had served time in jail along with late CM Parkash Singh Badal, is now with AAP. The Akalis have misused religion and are now frustrated."

Referring to the Congress, Mann said Amrinder Singh Raja Warring had been removed from the PCC chief's post. "Even the new PCC president will not be able to unite the Congress leaders. Once the new head is announced, the fight among the Congress cadre will further intensify," he said, adding that the Congress has fewer workers but more leaders who aspire to become the CM. He said, "The Akali Dal and Congress ruled Punjab for 25 to 30 years each. However, the state did not witness the development it deserved. Since 2022, our government has laid the foundation for development and results are now visible."

Referring to Home Minister Amit Shah's speech at Jalandhar, Mann said, "Amit Shah targeted me throughout his entire speech on Wednesday. The Punjab Government is the best performer and is leading in every sphere."

The CM said, "Punjab has obtained first rank in school education. We have even surpassed Kerala by establishing smart classrooms and providing training to teachers."

He said, "When I assumed charge, only 80 students from Punjab were clearing NEET. We started free coaching for students and this year 882 students cleared NEET."

Curbs on use of workers' funds to stay: High Court

SAURABH MALIK

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1 The Punjab and Haryana High Court has continued its restraint on the release of funds meant for construction workers for the Mukh Mantri Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana. Among other things, the Bench held that the state scheme was not restricted to construction workers.

"As far as the Mukh Mantri Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana and its adoption by the Punjab Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board is concerned, we find that the scheme of the state is not restricted to construction workers. Therefore, the restraint imposed earlier on release of funds – meant for construction workers – for the Mukh Mantri Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana, shall continue to remain stayed," the Division Bench of Chief Justice Ashwani Kumar Mishra and Justice Rohit Kapoor said.

The order came in bunch of petitions, including a public interest litigation filed by Dr Ambedkar Workers' Union. The petitions against the state and other respondents had questioned the constitution of the Punjab Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board under the repealed Building and Other Construction Workers (Regulation of

NOD TO 16 PLANS

- State scheme not confined to construction workers, says Bench
- Funds allowed for 16 plans meant exclusively for registered workers Employment and Conditions of Service) Act, 1996, and also challenged the Board's adoption of the Mukh Mantri Mawan Dhiyan Satkar Yojana, notified by the state on July 2.

The petitioners had primarily contended that the eligibility under the scheme was not limited to construction workers and release of funds for such a scheme would therefore be contrary to the statutory scheme. The court had taken note of the contention while granting interim protection on July 23.

The state subsequently placed on record an amendment notified on August 13, constituting the Board under the Code on Social Security, 2020. The state's case was that the defect relating to the constitution of the Board under the earlier notification stood cured by the subsequent notification.

An affidavit was filed by the state stating that 16 schemes, made exclusively for the registered workers, were all notified before November 21, 2025, when the earlier Act came to be repealed.

HC asks state to decide on appointment of regular DGP

SAURABH MALIK

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1 Making it clear that an ad hoc arrangement "ought not to be allowed for an indefinite period", the Punjab and Haryana High Court has directed Punjab to take an appropriate decision on the appointment of a regular Director-General of Police (DGP).

The Bench of Chief Justice Ashwani Kumar Mishra and Justice Rohit Kapoor asked the state to inform the court about the decision taken regarding the appointment by filing the Chief Secretary's affidavit before the next date on October 13. The directions came on a public interest litigation seeking appointment of a regular DGP in Punjab in accordance with the Supreme Court's binding directions.

The PIL filed against the state and other respondents by advocate Nikhil Thamman said Punjab has not had a regular DGP for more than four years now. The highest post in the state police force was, as such, continuing under an additional charge arrangement.

Thamman submitted such a prolonged arrangement gave rise to serious institutional concerns, as an officer holding the post merely on additional charge might always remain in a potentially compromising position, lacking the institutional security and assured tenure contemplated for a regularly appointed DGP.

According to the petitioner, stable and independent leadership at the highest level of the police force was essential for maintaining the rule of law and public confidence in policing. The petitioner also relied upon the Supreme Court judgment in the case of "Prakash Singh and others versus the Union of India and others" and the subsequent order dated March 13, 2019.

It was submitted that the Supreme Court had prescribed a procedure for the selection of the state DGP through UPSC empanelment and had categorically held that there was no concept of an "acting" DGP.

Channi camp on board in PCC chief rejig

RAJMEET SINGH

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1 Amid strong buzz over former Sangrur MP Vijay Inder Singla emerging as the Congress high command's top choice for the PCC chief's post, certain Punjab leaders have expressed reservations over the move.

Speaking on condition of anonymity, these leaders said they had raised the issue with party president Mallikarjun Kharge, who is believed to be favouring Singla. They said the BJP had recently appointed Kewal Singh Dhillon as its state head. However, senior party leaders feel that AAP, which had appointed Aman Arora as its Punjab chief, was focusing on the Hindu vote bank in a major way.

Party insiders said the high command was wary of starting another bout of infighting among Jat leaders, as replacing Warring (a Jat Sikh) with another Jat Sikh would only add to the friction.

"The party has made it clear that being the PCC chief does not mean being the automatic contender for the CM post. Everyone will have to perform in their areas of influence to bring a maximum number of seats before the top brass decides on the CM face in the event of the party winning the 2027 Assembly poll," said a senior AICC leader.

Sources said while the replacement message was conveyed to Warring, the top brass took the leaders of former CM Charanjit Singh Channi's camp into confidence.

During the initial rejig, following the appointment of a three-member panel of observers comprising Ajay Maken, Meenakshi Natarajan and Bhajan Lal Jatav, the high command had proposed replacing Warring with Singla in June. However, the Channi camp reportedly opposed the move, leading to Warring's retention on July 1.

Now, leaders in the Channi camp have reportedly agreed to Singla's appointment, as it would balance the Jat Sikh, Hindu and Dalit Sikh faces in the party's social engineering. "Partap Bajwa, being the Jat Sikh face, is the leader of the opposition; the Hindu face is being made party president, and Charanjit Channi, a Dalit Sikh face, is being retained as the campaign committee chief," said an aide of Channi.

Gurdaspur MP Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa and Channi told mediapersons that changing the PCC chief was the prerogative of the party high command.

Not aware of move: Singla

Asked about being the frontrunner for the PCC chief's post, Singla said, "I am not aware. I am a loyal soldier of the party. Whenever the high command has given me responsibility to work in another state, I have gone there and worked for the party..."

The party's Hindu face, Singla, is serving as the party's joint treasurer, being in charge of assets and properties for the All-India Congress Committee (AICC), and is a member of the Congress Working Committee. A traditional Congressman, he comes from a political family—his father, Sant Ram Singla, was a former Congress MP from Patiala—and entered politics through the Youth Congress in the early 2000s

Warring drops PCC chief tag from social media

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1

Ahead of the formal announcement, Ludhiana MP Amrinder Singh Raja Warring changed his profile on X to mention himself as a former PCC chief.

As has been the Congress tradition, while announcing a change of guard, the party high command usually mentions that it appreciates the contribution of the outgoing PCC head.

While Warring remained incommunicado after changing his bio on his social media handles, the Ludhiana MP, when asked in the morning about his resignation as PCC chief, said, "I do not want to comment on anything. When the time is right, I will let you know." Asked if he had been called to Delhi, he said, "Some matters are internal." His close associates said he had to clear the air over his replacement. "There is no point in writing PCC chief when he has been told that he is being changed," said one of his aides. — TNS

AMRITSAR, OCTOBER 1

The Akal Takht has asked the Punjab Government to issue a notification keeping the Jaagat Jot Sri Guru Granth Sahib Satkar (Amendment) Act, 2026, in abeyance until a consensus is reached on the proposed amendments to the legislation.

The demand came after the state government informed the Akal Takht secretariat that it had constituted a seven-member committee on September 16 to examine the matter and consider the suggestions and guidance issued by the Sikhs' apex temporal seat. According to the information sent by the state Home Affairs Department to the Akal Takht secretariat on September 30, the government's committee would hold detailed deliberations and coordinate with the five-member committee constituted by the Akal Takht. The government said all suggestions and views would be considered before finalising the matter.

Akal Takht secretariat in-charge Bagicha Singh said the government's communication had been brought to the notice of Akal Takht Jathedar Kuldeep Singh Gargaj. He said the Jathedar had expressed displeasure over the government's non-serious and irresponsible approach to the matter.

Akal Takht asks govt to put anti-sacrilege Act on hold

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1

The seven-member committee, formed by the Punjab government to look into the amendments to the Jaagat Jot Sri Guru Granth Sahib Satkar (Amendment) Act, 2026, will hold its first meeting on the coming Tuesday.

Sources said the objections raised by the Akal Takht Jathedar and the suggestions regarding the provisions of the Act, after it was passed by the Punjab Vidhan Sabha, would be deliberated upon in the meeting. The committee will then decide on how and when to coordinate with a five-member panel formed by the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC).

The government-appointed committee, comprising former Akal Takht Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh, Damdani Taksal chief Sant Harnam Singh Khalsa, Sant Baba Sewa Singh of Rampur Khara, Justice Jaspal Singh (retired), Justice Gurbir Singh (retired), former IPS officer and former Punjab Public Service Commission chairman Jatinder Singh Aulakh, and law officer Preet Inder Pal Singh, had met the Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann to seek directions on how to proceed on the matter.

It may be mentioned that after the anti-sacrilege law was enacted in April, the Akal Takht had raised serious concerns over the legislation. Following the summoning and appearance of Sikh MLAs before the Akal Takht in June, the latter had suggested at least 10 changes to five clauses of the law.

Among the key suggestions was the removal of all provisions relating to the "custodian" of Guru Granth Sahib. Objections raised then also relate to the removal of provisions that mandate a central register for "birs"; uploading their details on an online portal and assigning unique identification numbers, saying the provisions amounted to government interference in Panthic affairs.

The Akal Takht had then also objected to Clause 7(5)(1), which prescribed imprisonment of up to five years and a fine ranging from Rs 5 lakh to Rs 10 lakh, for violation of the Act's provisions, excluding the offence of sacrilege.

The Akal Takht also objected to Section 6A of the Act, which empowered the government to frame rules through official notification.

Repeated wrong choices failed electorate: Badal

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

PATIALA, OCTOBER 1

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) chief Sukhbir Singh Badal today said Punjab had lost a lot due to repeated wrong choices, with Capt Amarinder Singh and Charanjit Singh Channi of the Congress and Bhagwant Mann of the Aam Aadmi Party failing the electorate.

"One person could change the destiny of the state," said Badal, asserting that he was a "development man" who could bring real change in the lives of Punjabis. Speaking during the 'Vibe Punjab Di' programme held at Khalsa College here, he took questions from students and urged them to make the right choice while selecting who would lead the state in 2027.

"Punjab has lost a lot due to repeated wrong choices, with Capt Amarinder Singh and Charanjit Channi of the Congress and Bhagwant Mann of the Aam Aadmi Party failing you. Punjab needs a person dedicated to development, infrastructure building and modernisation, all of which characterise my personality."

Ferozepur's historic cinema set to reopen after decades

ANIRUDH GUPTA

FEROZEPUR, OCTOBER 1

One of the oldest cinemas in this border town, Amar Talkies, which once drew large crowds, including visitors from Pakistan when the Hussainiwalla border was open for trade and transit, is set to reopen after remaining closed for several decades.

The historic cinema, the foundation stone of which was laid in the 1940s by Brigadier LE Macgregor, was once the only cinema serving the garrison community in Ferozepur Cantonment. Unable to keep pace with rapidly changing technology and evolving audience preferences, the single-screen theatre eventually shut down.

Now, after years of being defunct, it is being refurbished to make a comeback, this time with modern interiors and facilities designed to compete with the hi-tech multiplexes that have emerged on the outskirts of the city. The theatre's revival assumes added significance as most of Ferozepur's iconic single-screen cinemas have disappeared. Raja Talkies, Shimla Talkies and Joshi Palace, all located in the city, have remained closed for several years.

Amar Talkies, however, occupied a special place in the town's cinematic history as the only major cinema located in the neighbouring cantonment. It became a popular destination for civilians and Army personnel, particularly at a time when the armed forces did not have a separate movie theatre for the garrison.

According to information available locally, the theatre has changed hands and is being extensively renovated ahead of its proposed reopening. The majestic façade of the old cinema has been retained, preserving its architectural character and memories of a bygone era. The interiors are being revamped with contemporary features to give the theatre a modern look and experience.

"For several decades, Amar Talkies remained the only cinema in the cantonment and was patronised by the elite of the town," recalled Mahesh Sharma, an old-timer.

Renowned artiste Harinder Bhullar, who has worked in several Punjabi films, said the combination of the preserved old-world exterior and modern interiors could give the revived theatre a distinctive appeal.

After hearing the audio, Batta said he could identify the voices of Sharda and Bhullar. "The conversation was held before me on the controlled call," he said. The prosecution also produced the sealed cloth parcel containing the currency notes of Rs 500. "It is the same bag as the one in which I kept the bribe money before handing it over to Sharda. These are also the same currency notes that I used," Batta said. The court adjourned the hearing of the case for October 5 for further recording of his testimony. The court also directed the SSP to look into the matter ASI Sher Singh producing Bhullar before the court as he is himself facing trial in another case.

JALANDHAR, OCTOBER 1

The Punjab Police have identified 40 persons in connection with the alleged arson, rioting, vandalism and robbery at Lovely Professional University (LPU) on September 28 and 29. At least 10 of those identified are students of the university. The Kapurthala police have arrested five persons in connection with the incidents at LPU, including three students. Three accused were presented in court on Thursday. They were identified as LPU student James Dahiya and Gagan and Kamal, who are outsiders. Gagan is reportedly a pizza delivery person. Besides James, two other LPU students have also been arrested. Four FIRs have so far been registered at two police stations in Kapurthala, three of them concerning arson and rioting at LPU. Police sources said about 10 of the total 40 accused identified were LPU students. Former students, alumni, university dropouts and outsiders include those nominated in FIRs. Campus influencer Farhat Dev, who has 21,000 followers on Instagram, has also been named in an FIR registered at the Satnampura police station in Kapurthala. In all, 20 accused have been nominated in the FIR registered at this police station. Farhat, an LPU student and resident of a nearby paying guest facility, had initially participated in the protests backing students and girls. Following the vandalism, several videos of Farhat went viral on the Internet. In some, he could be seen masked. He also issued an online clarification claiming he was being targeted. An FIR (No. 163) was registered under Sections 326(g), 324(4) and 309(4) of the BNS, along with Section 4 of the Punjab Prevention of Damage to

Public and Private Property Act, on September 28 at the Satnampura police station. Farhat and other identified accused have since been nominated in the FIR. Two previous FIRs (Nos. 105 and 106) were registered at the Phagwara (Sadar) police station on September 28. The FIR No. 105 was registered under Section 285 of the BNS and Section 8B of the National Highways Act, 1956, while the FIR No. 106 was registered under Sections 109, 132, 221, 326(b), 326(g) and 324(5) of the BNS. Several persons have been nominated in one of these FIRs. There has been no headway yet in the initial FIR (No. 162) registered under Section 64 of the BNS following a sexual assault complaint filed by LPU students, the police said. An official said intensive checks and raids were under way across the district and state. More arrests were expected by morning. The police authorities were also expected to hold a media address on the issue on Friday. Sources said the FIRs were registered based on CCTV footage from 5,600 cameras on the LPU campus, on-campus databases, facial recognition, videos available on the Internet and investigations involving staff and personnel on the campus. Kapurthala SSP Gaurav Toora said, "The probe is on and specific revelations can be made only tomorrow. The accused have been booked for illegal activities, arson, attacks on police vehicles, rioting, targeting of police and robbery on the LPU campus. Stringent CCTV and video surveillance and probes with the help of AI-enabled facial recognition software have been employed to nail the culprits." Videos and footage on the Internet purportedly show students vandalising the campus, damaging property, looting stores and charging at police personnel.

Inspector Sunita Rani, who brushed off her arrest in a bribery case with the words "all is well", was dismissed on Thursday from the Punjab Police with immediate effect.

Faridkot Range Inspector General of Police Nilambari Jagadale passed the order under rules that allow dismissal without a regular departmental inquiry. Rani was produced in a Moga court on September 27. The dismissal orders noted that while being taken back, she was asked by the media about the Rs 50,000 bribe allegations. She smiled and answered in a lighter vein: "All is well, all is well. Look, a new module of the jail has started. It's a part of life. Absolutely, one should always remain bold." The order called her response, given in the presence of Vigilance officials, casual and flippant. It added that the conduct hurt discipline in the force, damaged public perception of the department and could influence other personnel. The order is based on a report by Moga SSP dated October 1, which recommended her dismissal.

Dismissal order terms her response 'flippant'

Residents say the dumping of waste has gone unchecked despite repeated complaints.

Waste piles up in Aravalli foothills along Nuh-Gurugram border

Villagers allege trucks unload garbage at night, set it on fire

SUMEDHA SHARMA

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

GURUGRAM, OCTOBER 1

The Aravalli foothills along the Nuh-Gurugram border are fast turning into a waste dump yard, with foul-smelling garbage allegedly being unloaded in the hills near Chahalka village night after night. Residents say the dumping is a continuing practice that has gone unchecked despite repeated complaints.

Villagers allege that vehicles arrive after dark, unload waste in the Aravalli hills and leave before dawn. The garbage includes plastic and other filth, which they say poses a grave threat to wildlife and has left the area reeking. They also allege that the waste is often set on fire at night, worsening air pollution in the ecologically fragile range.

“We have approached the administration several times. Industrial waste from nearby warehouses and industries is being brought here, dumped and even set on fire,” said a local Panchayat representative.

Residents have pointed to the mushrooming of warehouses and cold storage units along the Tauru-Sohna road. They allege that waste meant for authorised disposal is being secretly dumped in the Aravallis, even as contractors collect fees for disposal.

The stretch falls on the boundary of the Gurugram and Nuh forest divisions. Villagers say the two divisions often pass the buck to each other when complaints are made. Range Officer Dev Kumar said a forest department team was collecting information on the dumping.

“If it is found in our jurisdiction, action will be taken as per rules. This will not be tolerated in any circumstances,” he said. Environment Minister Rao Narbir Singh said an inquiry had been marked into the matter.

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1

In a technology-driven push for solid waste management at high-footfall tourist and pilgrim destinations, Haryana has devised a strategy that will use Internet of Things (IoT)-enabled bins to collect footfall data, conduct waste audits, and geo-tag littering hotspots.

Pilgrim centres, heritage sites, sacred water bodies, fairs and festivals attract heavy footfall through the year. The waste generated at such places is largely handled through temporary arrangements made for the event. Now, the urban local body concerned will assess each site covering its significance; annual, peak-season and peak-day footfall; and a minimum seven-day waste audit.

The database will be maintained at the urban local body and district levels, consolidated at the directorate, and updated after every assessment.

Gurugram, Faridabad may see easier approvals for shops, PGs, home businesses

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

GURUGRAM, OCTOBER 1

Haryana is set to flip its land use rulebook. Instead of listing what is allowed in each zone, the state plans to list only what is banned. The principle — “everything is permitted until prohibited” — could change how homes, shops, offices and factories are approved across the state, from Gurugram and Faridabad to Sonapat, Panchkula and Hisar.

A public notice issued by the Town and Country Planning Department proposes replacing the permissible-activities list (Appendix B) in the zoning regulations of development plans with a prohibited-activities list. Appendix A of the explanatory note of all published development plans will be deleted.

What it means for the common man

Until now, an activity had to figure on the permitted list for its zone. A new business or startup outside that list could wait months for separate permission. Under the proposal, anything not on the prohibited list could be allowed, with construction approvals following, subject to prevailing

HERC rejects discoms’ ₹1,134-cr recovery plea

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1

The Haryana Electricity Regulatory Commission (HERC) has rejected the power distribution companies’ petition seeking to recover Rs 1,134.54 crore under Fuel and Power Purchase Adjustment Surcharge (FPPAS) from consumers.

The Uttar Haryana Bijli Vitran Nigam (UHBVN) and Dakshin Haryana Bijli Vitran Nigam (DHBVN) had petitioned the HERC to relax Regulation 68 of the Multi-Year Tariff (MYT) Regulations, 2024, while seeking directions to recover the FPPAS amount for 2025-2026 financial year.

By dismissing the petition, the HERC has forced the companies to absorb these costs within their existing regulatory framework rather than passing the penalty down to the public.

Senior political leaders, including former state finance minister Prof Sampat Singh, had intervened by filing opposing petitions against the power distribution firms.

Singh, also the national patron of INLD, said the HERC regulations stipulated that any surcharge adjustment must be effected within two months, failing which the right to recover such expenses stands forfeited.

HC halts hotel push in Dalhousie’s Bakrota area

SAURABH MALIK
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, OCTOBER 1
The Himachal Pradesh High Court has set aside an order permitting the change of land use from residential to commercial for operating a hotel and guest house in Dalhousie’s green Bakrota area. The Bench of Chief Justice GS Sandhawalia and Justice Bipin Chander Negi made it clear that the authorities could not use their discretionary powers to permit

Sets aside land-use change, warns discretionary approvals could open floodgates to commercialisation of pristine green belt commercial construction in violation of the development plan. “The Secretary to the government, who itself is the guardian of the green cover, violated the mandate of the notification intended to provide protection to Upper Bakrota and preserve it as a green area. Therefore, the order cannot stand judicial scrutiny,” the Bench observed. It added the widespread exercise of discretionary power would cause rampant environmental damage, if such an order was allowed to stand. “It would lead to further consequential damage to the Bakrota area, a pristine green belt at the top of the Dalhousie peaks – offering a Samsung S26 bird’s-eye view of the plains below and remaining densely forested heights,” the Bench observed. The matter was placed before the Bench after Upper Bakrota Residents Association moved the court challenging the order dated January 3, 2020, allowing the change of land use. The Bench was told that the change was permitted on the grounds that commercial activities such as existing hotels, guest houses, and home-stays were already operating in the plot’s vicinity. Describing the impugned order passed by the Secretary (Town and Country Planning) as suffering from “patent illegality and arbitrariness”, the Bench asserted the Court could not “overlook the exercise of such blatant discretion, which was never within the ambit of the Secretary’s powers and devoid of any public interest”. The Bench noted that the permission violated the development plan, which carried statutory force. “Permitting this would open the floodgates to the commercialisation of Bakrota on the ground that permission has already been granted in one case to construct a commercial building in the form of hotels and guest houses, which instance has also not been given,” the court observed, adding that development was impermissible as tourism pressure in the restricted area would destroy it.

Direct Delhi-Kullu flights suspended after Oct 24

ABHINAV VASHISHT

KULLU, OCTOBER 1
Alliance Air, the sole operator at Bhuntar’s Kullu-Manali airport, has suspended its direct flight operations between Delhi and Kullu after October 24, leaving the region’s tourism and travel industry alarmed. The airline had been operating the route five days a week.

Aviation experts say this is the first time direct flights have been withheld, particularly ahead of the Kullu Dasehra and the winter tourism season. Under the schedule released until March 27, 2027, flights from Kullu will operate to Jaipur and Dehradun after October 27. Passengers travelling between Delhi and Kullu will now have to take connecting flights. Jaipur-Kullu flights will operate on Thursdays and Saturdays, while Dehradun-Kullu flights will run on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Both routes are priced at around Rs 4,000. A Delhi-Kullu journey via Dehradun will cost about Rs

5,000, while the return journey via Dehradun will cost around Rs 7,000. Delhi-Kullu via Jaipur will cost around Rs 7,500, while Kullu-Delhi via Jaipur will be about Rs 9,000. The fares are considerably lower than the earlier direct flight fares of over Rs 20,000. While the lower fares may offer some relief to passengers, the reduction in operations from five days a week to only three days a week, with no direct Delhi connectivity, has emerged as a major setback for the tourism industry. Tourism stakeholders fear the change will discourage a large segment of potential visitors. The situation has been compounded by the suspension of the once-a-week Amritsar flight since May.

SHIMLA, OCTOBER 1
The omission of Himachal Pradesh cricketer Renuka Thakur’s name from the list of athletes announced for cash awards following their medal-winning performances at the Asian Games in Japan has left her family upset. Renuka’s family met Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu today, following which her brother said the CM assured them that her name had been left out due to an oversight and that she would receive the cash award along with other medal winners. Sukhu had announced a total of Rs 5.33 crore in cash awards for Himachal athletes who won medals at the Games. Under the state sports policy, Rs 33.33 lakh each was announced for four members of the gold-medal winning Indian women’s kabaddi team from Himachal Pradesh. Marathon runner Sawan Barwal was announced Rs 2.50 crore for his silver medal, while long-distance runner Seema

The Chief Minister’s assurance is expected to pave the way for Renuka’s inclusion in the award list.

CM leads anti-chitta rally, increases apple MIS price

SHIMLA, OCTOBER 1

New attire norms for CBSE teachers come into force

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SHIMLA, OCTOBER 1
Teachers in 148 government CBSE schools across Himachal Pradesh will now follow a prescribed dress code, with the new norms coming into force today. Director of School Education Ashish Kohli said the dress code had been introduced on the directions of Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu to promote discipline, professional identity and institutional dignity. The prescribed colours are light lilac, lilac purple and navy blue, with black specified for footwear and designated accessories. Women teachers can wear a saree with a blazer, kurta/kameez with pants, plazzo or salwar with a blazer, or shirt and trousers with a tie and blazer. Male teachers will wear a shirt, trousers, tie and blazer. Teachers and principals, including outsourced staff, will also be required to wear identity cards while on duty. The prescribed school or departmental logo will be displayed on the blazer. Relaxations may be permitted on medical, disability or pregnancy grounds with the approval of the head of the institution. The dress code is part of the government’s wider education reforms. Around 2,000 teaching posts have already been filled in CBSE schools, while 100 more CBSE schools are proposed to be opened from the next academic session. To strengthen accountability, teachers’ attendance will be recorded three times a day. From the next academic session, the category column will not be mentioned in the records of students enrolled in government PM SHRI schools. However, eligible families will continue to receive welfare benefits under existing provisions.

Court orders framing of charges against Yasin Malik, six others

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 A Delhi court on Wednesday directed framing of money laundering charges against jailed Jammu and Kashmir Liberation Front (JKLF) chief Yasin Malik and six others in a case relating to alleged funds received from Pakistan through hawala channels. Special Judge Prashant Sharma of the Patiala House Court, in an order passed on September 9, said there was a “prima facie strong suspicion” against the accused and directed framing of charges under Sections 3 and 4 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). The accused are Malik, Zahoor Ahmed Shah Watali, Abdul Rashid Sheikh, Shabir Ahmad Shah, Naval Kishore Kapoor, M/s Trison Farms and Constructions Pvt Ltd and Masarat Alam Bhat.

CASE REGISTERED IN 2017

The ED case stems from an FIR registered by the National Investigation Agency in 2017. The NIA case invoked several offences, including criminal conspiracy under the Indian Penal Code and provisions of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act.

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has alleged that the accused received funds from Pakistani establishments and used those to further a secessionist agenda and carry out subversive activities. The charges were scheduled to be formally framed on September 30. However, the accused could not be produced before the court physically due to security concerns. The court directed the ED to have the charges signed by the accused at the respective jails where they are lodged. The matter will now come up for further proceedings on October 30. The ED case stems from an FIR registered by the National Investigation Agency (NIA) in 2017. The NIA case invoked several offences, including criminal conspiracy under the Indian Penal Code and provisions of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act.

BJP protests NC govt’s autonomy resolution

JAMMU, OCTOBER 1 The BJP on Thursday held a protest against the Omar Abdullah-led National Conference government here, with party activists burning an effigy and raising slogans against its policies, particularly an Assembly resolution seeking greater autonomy. The protest was led by former Deputy Mayor Baldev Singh Billawaria and attended by party office-bearers, activists and residents of the Gangyal area in Jammu. Addressing the gathering, Billawaria said the BJP fully supported the restoration of statehood to Jammu and Kashmir but would oppose any attempt to use the demand to reopen constitutional issues settled by Parliament in 2019. “Statehood and the pre-1953 agenda are two entirely different issues. The National Conference government cannot use the genuine aspiration for statehood as a vehicle to revive the politics of autonomy. Parliament has taken a historic decision, and the BJP will not allow any attempt to dilute or reverse it,” he said. He added that the protest followed the Assembly’s passage of a resolution on statehood containing references to the 2000 autonomy resolution and the 2024 special status resolution, which he alleged showed the NC’s intention to keep old constitutional issues alive. — PTI

EV policy notified, sets six-year roadmap for cleaner mobility

OUR CORRESPONDENT

JAMMU, OCTOBER 1 The Jammu and Kashmir Government has notified the J&K Electric Vehicle Policy-2026 following its approval by the Council of Ministers chaired by Chief Minister Omar Abdullah. The policy sets a six-year roadmap for expanding clean, affordable and weather-resilient electric mobility across Jammu and Kashmir. The policy, covering the period 2026-32, aims to accelerate EV adoption, strengthen charging infrastructure and create an enabling ecosystem for electric mobility across all 20 districts of J&K. It targets 1.4 lakh electric vehicles by 2032, supported by demand incentives, climate-specific infrastructure, power-grid integration, public-private partnerships, skill development and employment generation. Under the strategic infrastructure roadmap, the policy envisages establishment of 900 public charging sites, including 140 fast-charging hubs across urban grids and highway corridors. It also provides for EV-ready parking, with building bylaws mandating EV-readiness for 20 per cent of parking capacity. Recognising J&K’s distinct climatic conditions, the policy introduces a Specialised Winter Validation

Protocol under which EVs will undergo winter-performance validation, particularly for operation in snow and sub-zero conditions. The framework also seeks managed integration of EV charging demand with the power system. To encourage adoption, the policy provides for 3-5 per cent interest subvention on EV loans for up to 36 months, with higher support aimed at reducing the cost of EV ownership for eligible beneficiaries. It also provides for scrappage-linked incentives, with an annual budgetary provision of Rs 50 crore to incentivise replacement of old vehicles with cleaner electric vehicles. The policy further provides early-adopter top-up incentives for the first 15,800 eligible adopters. The incentives include Rs 15 lakh for the first 300 e-buses, Rs 1 lakh for the first 1,500 personal cars and Rs 5,000 for the first 10,000 two-wheelers, subject to the eligibility and conditions prescribed under the policy. The policy also envisages phase-wise electrification of fleets, expansion of charging networks, greater private-sector participation and development of skilled manpower to support the emerging EV ecosystem. Chief Minister Omar Abdullah congratulated Transport Minister Satish Sharma and the Transport Department on the notification of the J&K Electric Vehicle Policy-2026. The Chief Minister said the policy provides a structured framework for advancing clean transport while taking into account the specific terrain and cold-weather conditions of Jammu and Kashmir.

Delays prevented J&K from getting full Central aid for Jal Jeevan Mission: CAG

ARJUN SHARMA

JAMMU, OCTOBER 1 The Government of Jammu and Kashmir was not able to receive full central assistance allocated under the Jal Jeevan Mission (JJM) due to delays in utilisation of funds and failure to meet the conditions required for release of funds, a report of Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) has observed. The flagship JJM scheme was launched on August 15, 2019, with the aim of providing functional household tap connection (FHTC) to every rural household. The performance audit of the scheme covering the period from 2019-20 to 2023-24 revealed that the institutional mechanism for successful implementation of the programme was not fully operational and effective in J&K. There were shortfalls in holding the prescribed number of meetings of the District Water Sanitation Mission, a lack of bottom-up approach in the preparation of action plans and non-preparation of district annual action plans. “The accumulation of idle balances, delayed execution of schemes and delayed access of potable water to rural households were also seen. Due to delay in utilisation of funds and inability to meet release conditions, the Government of Jammu & Kashmir could not receive the full allocation of central assistance,” the CAG report stated. The audit found that there was a shortfall ranging from 6 per cent to 93 per cent in the achievement of targets for FHTCs fixed under state action plans. As of 31 March 2024, 14,43,515 (77.15 per cent) households were reported to have been provided with FHTCs. Despite sizeable allocations of funds, persistent underutilisation of funds during the initial years was observed. Only 44 per cent schemes (1,440 out of 3,253 total schemes) taken up during 2019-20 to 2023-24 under the programme were completed as of December 2024. “The release of funds for support activities ranged from 0.17 per cent to 3.3 per cent, falling short of the prescribed ceiling of 5 per cent. While under Water Quality Monitoring and Surveillance (WQM&S) activities, it ranged from 0.08 per cent to 1.07 per cent, against the provision of 2 per cent. The non-adherence to prescribed funding allocations and poor utilisation under support and WQM&S components indicated inadequate emphasis after 2021-22 on critical activities like water quality surveillance, community awareness and institutional capacity building,” the audit stated. Out of 853 schemes taken up under JJM in the sampled four districts (Kulgam, Anantnag, Kishtwar and Doda), only 429 schemes had been physically completed as of November 2024. However, no operation and maintenance (O&M) plan was prepared by the department for the upkeep of assets created under these schemes, nor was any mechanism instituted to ensure availability of trained manpower at the village level, as required under the guidelines. In the absence of a planned framework for maintenance and local capacity building, the sustainability of the completed schemes remains at risk, the audit observed. “The department had also not initiated any action to assess the district-wise requirement of skilled manpower, nor had it engaged with Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojana (PMKVY) for training, certification and deployment of local youth for O&M activities. There was absence of a planned framework for maintenance, local capacity building and sustainability of the completed schemes,” the report read. The report also stated that there was no significant decrease in waterborne diseases except in Doda district where only 48 per cent JJM schemes had been completed. In Kishtwar and Kulgam districts where only 29 per cent and 36 per cent JJM schemes were completed, respectively, the prevalence of waterborne diseases was high with an increasing trend over the past five years.

was commissioned into the 3 Madras Regiment in 1991. Previously, he also served as GOC of the Kilo Force of the Army, which is tasked with anti-terror operations in J&K. Prior to taking over as the GOC of the White Knight Corps, Lt Gen Seth served as Commandant, Indian Military Training Team (IMTRAT), the Indian

Army’s training establishment in Bhutan. The White Knight Corps is one of the most strategic corps of the Army that secures the Line of Control (LoC) from Akhnoor in Jammu district to Poonch, besides manning other difficult terrains, including Kishtwar and Doda. In his military career spanning over three decades, Lt Gen Seth held various prestigious staff and command appointments in J&K, North-East and at the Army Headquarters. He has also served as Indian Army Liaison Officer, High Commission of India, United Kingdom. Many joint anti-terror operations are continuing in the forest areas of the Jammu division. The jawans of the Army and personnel from the Special Operations Group (SOG) of the J&K Police are continuing these operations in the tough terrains of the region. The White Knight Corps has been able to eliminate multiple Pakistani terrorists in mountainous Doda, Kishtwar, Rajouri, Poonch and Udhampur during the past years. Many successful operations were conducted by the soldiers of the Corps after Lt Gen PK Mishra took over the command in April last year.

Modi, Bibi hail flydubai pilot as...

the pilot’s courage had prevented a catastrophic mid-air disaster. The praise has come amid emerging details of the incident, which Israeli authorities have suggested may have had a terror-related dimension. In comments to US media, Netanyahu said the co-pilot allegedly responsible for the attack appeared to have undergone radical Islamist indoctrination and was suicidal. He identified the attacker as an Omani national and said preliminary information pointed to ideological radicalisation. Netanyahu also said there was currently no evidence linking the incident to Iran. Israeli authorities have alleged that the co-pilot stabbed Machchhar in the cockpit and then attempted to crash the aircraft. Despite suffering severe injuries, the captain reportedly managed to open the cockpit door, allowing passengers, crew members and off-duty pilots travelling onboard to enter and overpower the attacker. The aircraft lost thousands of feet in altitude during the struggle before control was restored. The flight, FZ1073, was travelling from Dubai to Tel Aviv on Wednesday with 174 passengers onboard. The plane was diverted to Tabuk in Saudi Arabia, where it landed safely. Two off-duty pilots are reported to have assisted in stabilising the aircraft during the emergency, while a dentist travelling as a passenger treated the injured captain, who had suffered significant blood loss. Machchhar was initially treated in Saudi Arabia before being airlifted to Abu Dhabi for further medical care. On Thursday, India’s Ambassador to the UAE, Dr Deepak Mittal, visited the pilot and his family at the hospital. The Indian Embassy said Machchhar was in good health and recovering well. It added that the mission remained in close coordination with local authorities to ensure his continued treatment and well-being. Meanwhile, the UAE has launched a formal investigation into the incident, including whether it was linked to terrorism or a possible hijack attempt. UAE Attorney-General Dr Hamad Al Shamsi has ordered the formation of a specialised prosecution team to investigate the circumstances and causes of the attack aboard the flydubai aircraft. The UAE has clarified that it has not classified the episode as a terrorist attack. However, investigators will examine any possible motive to hijack the aircraft, links to terrorist activity, and whether the act was planned, directed or part of a wider plot. The investigation now spans three countries, with authorities in the UAE, Saudi Arabia and Israel examining different aspects of the case. The UAE has asserted jurisdiction on the grounds that the aircraft was registered and operated under its flag, meaning UAE law applies to offences committed onboard even outside its territory. Investigators are expected to examine the cockpit voice recorder and flight-data recorder, reconstruct the sequence of events inside the cockpit, and scrutinise the background, communications and possible motivations of the accused co-pilot. The probe is also likely to focus on whether there were any warning signs before the flight and how an attack was able to occur inside a secured cockpit. The UAE Ministry of Foreign Affairs has thanked Saudi authorities for their cooperation and urged the public to rely on official information rather than speculation while the investigation is underway.

Singla tipped to replace Warring as Pb Cong chief at the time was shelved to avoid further friction in the state unit ahead of the 2027 Assembly poll. The party has now revived the idea to place a Hindu leader at the helm of state presidency. The newly appointed Congress general secretary for Punjab, Sachin Pilot, who replaced Bhupesh Baghel, had in a recent exclusive interview with The Tribune, signalled that Warring’s replacement was not ruled out. Insiders today said bringing a Hindu face as a leader, besides being a politically crucial move, would also serve to placate Jat Sikh aspirants for the post of chief ministership in Punjab. “A Hindu being appointed as the state Congress chief would give a signal that the position of CM is open for any Sikh leader in a positive post-election scenario. The CM-ship will obviously be reserved for a Sikh leader as per historical convention in Punjab which is a Sikh majority state,” said a source though there is no official word yet on the matter. Politically, Congress sources say it made sense to elevate Singla, a Hindu and former Sangrur Lok Sabha MP, who represents Malwa, politically the most crucial belt of Punjab with 69 Assembly seats of the 117. Most other leaders in contention for the state chief’s post are from Doaba or Majha. The Congress may adopt the Kerala strategy in Punjab by giving the reins to state leaders and asking Lok Sabha MPs to drive the campaign from behind. Punjab Lok Sabha MPs, like Kerala Lok Sabha MPs, are unlikely to be asked to contest the Assembly poll because the party cannot afford to lose even a single Lok Sabha seat with the ruling NDA drafting several Constitution amendment agendas, including women’s reservation-delimitation and the one nation, one election Bills. Warring, Charanjit Singh Channi, Sukhjinder Randhawa and Gurjeet Aujla, other leading aspirants for the top job in Punjab, are all sitting Lok Sabha MPs. State leaders Partap Singh Bajwa, Pargat Singh and Sukh Sarkaria are also said to be on the radar but Singla, insiders say, has an edge right now. Singla is not an MP and is a former state minister. He enjoys the complete confidence of Rahul Gandhi.

Captain Smit may get Ashoka Chakra for mid-air heroics of Smit. “The PM applauded the bravery of Smit, which saved hundreds of lives,” government sources said. They said the PM also stressed that Indian missions were providing all possible help. Leaders across the political spectrum came out and hailed Smit as a hero. The Gujarat Government today announced state award “Vishisht Gujarat Garima Award” for his indomitable bravery, with special prayers being organised at the Somnath Temple and the Kashi Vishwanath Temple in Varanasi for his speedy recovery. The Machchhar surname is commonly associated with Gujarati Nagar Brahmins. If chosen for the Ashoka Chakra, Smit will be the second aviation leader to get the high honour after Pan Am Flight 73 senior flight purser Neerja Bhanot in 1987. Bhanot had died saving passengers on the hijacked flight and Smit overcame his co-pilot despite serious injuries and thwarted his attempt to crash the plane. The Somnath Temple, in an update, said, “For the pride of the nation — brave pilot Smit — a special grand worship was performed at the first Jyotirlinga for his excellent health and long life.”

Plumber, dentist turn unlikely...

arrest the dive. He later told Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu that he had learnt about such emergencies from television documentaries. Others joined the struggle and helped restrain the attacker. Among them was Dr Shota Musaev, a dentist who was travelling on the flight. He rushed to Machchhar, who was lying on the cockpit floor with severe injuries and had lost a large amount of blood. Musaev provided emergency treatment and later said the pilot’s condition was so critical that even a short delay could have proved fatal. He also helped restrain the attacker using headphone cords and zip ties. With the cockpit secured, off-duty pilots travelling as passengers took over the controls. They stabilised the aircraft, despite damage to its rudder and tail, and diverted it to Tabuk in Saudi Arabia, where it landed safely.

‘Who ordered change in Form 6’: Rahul seeks answers from EC, TCS

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi on Thursday demanded to know who within the Election Commission (EC) ordered Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) to alter the online Form 6 for voter enrolment, and whether the company was pressured into making the change.

“The online Form 6 was changed illegally — as the EC’s own Commissioners have recorded. Who at the EC ordered Tata Consultancy Services to make that change? Who at TCS signed off on it? And were they pressured into doing it?” Gandhi asked.

His questions came amid a controversy over an additional declaration linked to the Special Intensive Revision (SIR), which was added to the online version of Form 6, the statutory application used by new voters to seek inclusion in the electoral rolls.

‘Govt failed Balaghat Adivasis’: LoP flags malnutrition deaths

Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi on Thursday met families in Balaghat, Madhya Pradesh, whose children had died of malnutrition and other diseases, accusing the Centre and the state government of abandoning the tribal population and failing to provide basic healthcare, education, employment and welfare support.

He met the bereaved families and offered his condolences, saying the government had failed them when they needed its support most. He said Adivasis in the area were not being granted proprietary rights under the Forest Rights Act, adding that a Congress government would ensure that Adivasis received their due.

LoP Rahul Gandhi interacts with affected tribal families during his visit to Balaghat, MP. PTI

Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi had objected to the alteration, saying the statutory form could not be changed without following the prescribed legal process, according to reports. The declaration required applicants to provide information linking themselves, their parents or grandparents to earlier electoral rolls. The issue was among at least 14 objections recorded by Sandhu and Joshi over decisions relating to the electoral-roll revision process in the past 10 months.

The EC has since withdrawn the additional SIR-linked declaration from Form 6 in states where the revision exercise has been completed. The decision followed objections within the commission. The EC has maintained that the statutory Form 6 itself was not changed and that the additional declaration was linked to the SIR process.

The withdrawal, however, has not ended the political controversy. Gandhi’s questions have put the focus on the chain of responsibility behind the digital change, from the EC’s decision to its implementation by TCS.

The Congress has alleged that the change was made without the authority required to amend a statutory form.

24 EVMs stolen from MP warehouse, case registered

MANIKANT MISHRA

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Twenty-four electronic voting machines (EVMs), including eight ballot units (BUs) and 16 control units (CUs), have been reported stolen from a warehouse behind the old tehsil office in Anuppur, Madhya Pradesh, where they had been stored for local elections since 2014.

The theft has come to light days after polling for 103 posts was held on September 29 as part of the state’s three-tier panchayat byelections.

The posts included 79 of sarpanch, 15 janpad panchayat member, five district panchayat member and four of panch. EVMs that were left in the warehouse have since been shifted to another location.

The complainant has been identified as Karratola resident Phoolsingh Sahu, now an assistant teacher at Government Primary School, Sitapur, who had been attached to the Anuppur election office in 2014 on the district collector’s orders.

At the time, 620 CUs and 1,670 BUs meant for the panchayat elections were stored at the old tehsil office after being sealed.

The warehouse was inspected on March 16 and the machines were found properly arranged, the complaint said. Subsequently, dismantling work began as the building had become damaged, and the rear wall of the EVM storage room was found broken.

The machines were shifted on September 21 to Room 6 on the ground floor of the tehsil office, functioning from the Polytechnic College premises.

Verification conducted between September 24 and 28 found 24 machines missing.

The SDM office subsequently wrote to the police seeking registration of an FIR, providing the serial numbers of the missing EVMs.

Kotwali police station in-charge Umesh Upadhyay said a case had been registered under sections 331(4) and 305(A) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS).

‘ONE NATION, ONE ELECTION’

Top court ‘declines’ Parl panel visit; committee claims meet ‘shelved’

RINKU BEHERA

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1

A parliamentary panel examining the ‘One Nation, One Election’ Bills has shelved its proposed visit to the Supreme Court on October 6 for an interaction with judges on the legislation, committee chairman PP Chaudhary said on Thursday amid concerns raised by Opposition leaders over separation of powers. Chaudhary said the visit had been put off due to scheduling conflicts.

The proposed visit had drawn objections from the Opposition, with at least one member of the joint committee writing to Chaudhary seeking its cancellation, it is learnt. However, sources said the Supreme Court had declined the committee’s proposal for a meeting. “No meeting is happening with the Supreme Court on ‘One Nation, One Election’,” a source said. Earlier in the day, Rajya Sabha MP Kapil Sibal raised objections to the proposed visit, calling it “unconstitutional” and contrary to the concept of separation of powers.

Joke on Constitution: Sibal

Sibal, a senior advocate, said he had never come across a parliamentary panel holding an interaction with Supreme Court judges over proposed legislation that could later come before the court for adjudication. He claimed a programme circulated by the Chaudhary-led committee listed a “local study visit” to the Supreme Court on October 6, including an informal discussion with the CJI and other judges on simultaneous polls. Sibal argued that while it was Parliament’s prerogative to enact laws, it was for the judiciary to subsequently examine their constitutional validity if challenged.

Describing the development as “a joke on the Constitution”, Sibal said he was “shocked, disturbed and dismayed”. He added that it was Parliament’s right to pass laws and the court’s duty to decide whether a law was constitutional.

In another extension, top information officer gets 1-yr post-retirement role

MANIKANT MISHRA

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1

The Centre has extended the tenure of yet another senior government official, with Press Information Bureau Principal Director General Dhirendra Ojha being re-employed for one year beyond his superannuation. According to an order issued on Wednesday, President Droupadi Murmu approved Ojha’s re-employment as Principal Director General on a contractual basis for one year from October 1, 2026, to September 30, 2027, or until further orders.

The order was issued on the day of his scheduled retirement.

Ojha’s continuation adds to a series of recent extensions granted to senior officials occupying some of the Centre’s most important administrative and strategic positions.

In August, the government extended Cabinet Secretary TV Somanathan’s tenure by one year beyond August 30, 2026, while Home Secretary Govind Mohan was given a one-year extension up to August 22, 2027.

National Security Adviser Ajit Doval, meanwhile, was granted a third five-year term in June 2024. The latest order thus comes amid a wider pattern of experienced senior officials being retained beyond their normal retirement timelines, either through formal service extensions or — as in Ojha’s case — contractual re-employment.

Courage in the air

Flydubai ordeal raises troubling questions

THE bravery of an Indian pilot and others who helped save 174 lives aboard a Flydubai plane deserves a grand salute. The flight from Dubai to Tel Aviv plunged after the captain, Smit Machchhar, was stabbed by his co-pilot. Despite his injuries, he managed to open the cockpit door, allowing passengers and crew to confront the attacker. Israeli flyer Yaniv Hayun was among those who incapacitated the co-pilot before the aircraft made an emergency landing in Saudi Arabia. Their timely response prevented what would have been a catastrophic tragedy.

There are several key questions that the ongoing probe needs to answer. Why did the co-pilot attack the captain? Was the act premeditated? Was there an ideological motive, a personal grievance or another explanation? Investigators from Saudi Arabia, the UAE, Israel and other countries must establish the facts. This task requires cooperation across borders. Premature conclusions must be avoided. The theories doing the rounds range from terrorism to radicalisation and mental health issues. Claims of Iranian involvement have not yet been substantiated.

The harrowing incident, which comes days before the third anniversary of the Hamas attacks on Israel, has turned the spotlight on aviation security. How did the co-pilot gain access to a weapon? Were existing cockpit security procedures followed? Were warning signs ignored? A transparent examination of aviation protocols is required. For now, the clearest takeaway is human rather than political. The wounded captain, along with crew members and passengers, acted under extraordinary pressure to keep an aircraft in the sky. Their courage deserves utmost respect and appreciation. Looking at the big picture, the aviation authorities owe passengers the strongest possible safeguards against the recurrence of such an episode.

Drug seizure

Massive haul underscores the challenge

ANY massive drug haul highlights the soundness of the strategies to prevent smuggling, but also lays bare the enormity of the challenge. As the use of drones complicates the sea and land route matrix, border security is a 24/7 test for the intelligence and interception capabilities. The seizure of 526-kg heroin and methamphetamine from an Iranian dhow near Lakshadweep underscores the critical role of inter-agency cohesiveness. The Gujarat Anti-Terrorism Squad and the Indian Coast Guard acted in tandem to intercept the Rs 3,000-crore consignment. It was booked by a Nigerian, in all likelihood to be transported to Punjab from Tamil Nadu. A transnational syndicate was dismantled at the initial stage itself.

Narcotics smuggling and drug abuse are at the centre of a heated political debate in poll-bound Punjab. A daily dose of accusations and counter-allegations has become par for the course. Peculiarly, the existing anti-drug strategies are dismissed rather than debated, with the result that even the space for constructive criticism shrinks. Lost in the humdrum is a genuine exchange of lived experiences, and with it the collective urgency to firm up or relook at earnest efforts to deal with the drug menace. While the pledge to eradicate drug smuggling and addiction is commendable, it requires a unified effort and shared wisdom. Political messaging matters on the ground. No one party has all the answers, and no isolated strategy can succeed on its own. A common meeting point on how to tackle the grave issue is essential. Working at cross-purposes is no solution.

The presence of five Pakistanis aboard the dhow is a reminder, if any were needed, of the complex threat India faces. As new transit corridors and entry points for domestic distribution emerge, enhanced vigilance and coordinated operations are non-negotiable.

LAHORE, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1926

Half the battle

CF Andrews did not in the least exaggerate the truth when in the course of an interview with the Associated Press on the eve of his sailing for South Africa on Wednesday, he said that “the desire for a settlement of the South African question was now apparent on both sides, and that was half the battle.” So far as the Indian community is concerned, the desire has always been there. The struggle is not and has never been of its own seeking, and it knows that it has nothing to gain and a great deal to lose by prolonging it, if it can possibly have a settlement consistent with its self-respect, its inalienable birthright and its elementary self-interest. Of the European community, one important section, led by General Smuts, has always been in favour of some sort of a settlement, though it has not seen eye to eye with the Indian community itself as regards the precise lines on which this settlement is to be effected. Only recently, in a speech made by him at Windsorton, General Smuts said: “Although you cannot solve this problem for ever, you can make arrangements and compromises; and I do feel that a settlement can be arrived at which will safeguard the rights of everyone and that we shall not have any great trouble about the matter.” General Smuts is no mere theoriser, no armchair politician. For years, he wielded the supreme power in the State. He is perfectly familiar with all the difficulties of the problem, of which the Union Government has been making so much. Indeed, there is no another South African statesman who has had so long or so close an acquaintance with the problem as has General Smuts.

Military academies must raise the bar

There is a pressing need to review the selection procedure and training methodology

ADMIRAL ARUN PRAKASH (RETD)
FORMER CHIEF OF NAVAL STAFF

THE Indian armed forces, apart from contributing to the defence and security of the nation, also form a distinctive strand in India’s multi-ethnic and multi-religious fabric. In the chaos that often prevails, they not only embody order and discipline and uphold our democratic, secular traditions but also set high standards of integrity, professionalism and excellence for their compatriots.

For these reasons, our military leaders were held in high regard by civil society as exemplars of honourable and ethical conduct. But today, we find that the armed forces are slipping in the estimation of their fellow Indians, not only because of occasional misdemeanours but also due to signs of politicisation and public display of religiosity among the higher ranks.

India’s social and economic transformation has been accompanied by a steep decline in standards of private and public conduct. Hand in hand with corruption goes the politicisation of every system, including the police, the bureaucracy, the legal framework and the media. Communalism and parochialism are on open display at election time since votes are sought on the basis of region, caste and religion.

The slide in the military’s ethical standards is often justified on the grounds that since soldiers are drawn from society, their conduct is bound to reflect prevailing societal norms. This facile logic must be firmly rejected. Not only does every soldier swear an oath of allegiance to the Constitution, but also the armed forces have traditionally set their own standards and codes of conduct and are governed by stringent disciplinary regulations. It was their adherence to this self-imposed code — not their place in the Warrant of Precedence — that earned them a high standing in society.

More than just a shield against external threats, the armed forces serve as a fundamental anchor of the country’s social stability and national well-being. In order to maintain the public’s trust as well as its own internal cohesion, our military leadership requires rigorous grounding in key foundational pillars such as upright and ethical conduct, secular principles and apolitical neutrality.

There is an old saying: “Mighty oaks from little acorns grow.” To produce military leaders with a strong moral fibre, fit to occupy leadership positions, the defence forces must groom candidates along the right path from the earliest possible stage.

Apart from the tri-service National Defence Academy (NDA), five key institutions impart ab initio training — ranging from 12 months to four years — before commissioning young men and women as officers. It is the rigorous physical and academic training, along with the mental inculcation imparted in these “cradles of leadership”, that moulds the character of these youth forever.

The quality of the nation’s military leadership is an issue important enough for the Chiefs of Staff Committee to take urgent note of.

Having passed out of the NDA’s portals in 1964, I returned 33 years later as its Commandant to find that the institution had seen vast improvement in infrastructure and facilities, the enhanced syllabi and above all, the motivation levels of the young trainees. But what came as a nasty surprise was the advent of a new ethos, which required a cadet to possess a basic “skill set” for survival.

This included cheating, manhandling juniors, minor theft and even impersonation — all against the academy’s rules and unheard of when I was a cadet in the 1960s. Even more dismaying was the benign and tolerant attitude of the training staff towards such misdemeanours. Many of the young staff officers believed that not only was such conduct an “academy tradition,” but that unless a “smart” cadet was resourceful enough to “beg, borrow or steal” a few small things and tough enough to give and take a little manhandling, he would be useless as an officer!

If we were to examine past or recent trespasses by senior officers which have earned the armed forces a bad name, the fundamental cause of misdemeanours is the inability of an individual to distinguish between the “easier wrong” and the “harder right”. It becomes obvious that the instincts that motivate a young cadet to commit minor offences in the academy mutate into serious character flaws in later years and erode the integrity of senior officers, leading them to commit ethical lapses.

A number of disturbing trends have been emerging from our service academies, but they do not seem to evoke the necessary alarm or remedial responses from the military hierarchy. There have been periodic fatalities among cadets and a growing number of withdrawals at early stages of training in academies. These indicate that the selection processes employed by the Union Public Service Commission and the Services Selection Boards, including the medical criteria, may have become outdated and need drastic revision. This is also a reflection not only on the physical training methodology and syllabi being followed but also on the unwarranted liberty granted to senior cadets to conduct “training” (ragging?) of juniors.

The selection of training staff — both military and civilian — needs to be far more stringent and discriminating so that only persons who can provide mature and sensible guidance shape the trainees’ outlook. In this context, the academy’s Commandant exerts an outsized influence on the cadet body — by his personality as well as personal example.

Unfortunately, this post is often treated as a convenient short-term parking slot by service headquarters (HQs) and some “hand-picked” incumbents have even been removed from command for serious misconduct. Finally, many Commandants have taken liberties with the training curriculum and even the customs and traditions of these institutions by making arbitrary changes. Such matters need to be codified in the form of a “Blue Book”, approved by service HQs for implementation in letter and spirit by the Commandant and the staff.

The quality of the nation’s military leadership is an issue important enough for the Chiefs of Staff Committee to take urgent note of. It’s time for them to convene a high-level military commission to review the processes for the selection and induction of officer candidates into the services, evaluate the training syllabi and methodology being followed in our service academies and recommend reforms where required.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

How well soldiers fight depends much on how well they are trained, motivated and led. — Maj Gen Ian Cardozo (retd)

Gandhi’s timeless path of nonviolence

BHARAT DOGRA

MAHATMA Gandhi, whose birth anniversary falls today, was a man of peace who demonstrated how humankind could be guided by nonviolence. At a time when the world is beset by wars, civil strife, violence against women and children, and online abuse, Gandhi’s path of nonviolence deserves far greater attention.

Can we begin, in the spirit of Gandhi, with ourselves and our immediate surroundings? When I conduct workshops on peace and related issues, I begin by asking how often participants become angry in a week and whether they later regret what they said or did under its influence. I also encourage them to consciously avoid anger during a workshop and then reflect on how they feel. The results are usually encouraging: many report feeling calmer and more relaxed.

Another useful exercise is to become aware, over time, of whether our words and actions cause distress to others, even in small ways. Such awareness can reduce everyday stress and become a practical way of learning nonviolence.

These may seem like tiny steps compared with the national movements spearheaded by Gandhi. Yet many such steps, taken together, can bring about major change — an important lesson from the Mahatma’s life.

Questions were raised during Gandhi’s lifetime about whether violence could be justified against those responsible for extreme injustice. His enduring contribution was to demonstrate a path of nonviolent resistance to injustice. Despite many obstacles, he persisted in the belief that injustice could be strongly opposed and sometimes defeated without violence. His approach was appreciated by prominent figures such as Albert Einstein and Martin Luther King Jr. Practising nonviolence can promote happiness and peace, contributing to emotional and spiritual well-being. Although people differ in temperament and instincts, most of us need to make a conscious effort to imbibe the philosophy of ahimsa. Self-restraint, thoughtfulness, education and training can steadily strengthen this capacity. The first step, however, is recognising that such change is needed.

Gandhi’s legacy offers lessons beyond the freedom struggle. He also devoted himself to social equality and non-discrimination, prohibition of alcohol, public hygiene, rural self-reliance and greater participation by women in public and social life. These concerns remain important today. Social and environmental movements continue to draw inspiration from his vision of a life guided by need rather than greed.

The path of nonviolence, therefore, is not merely a memory of the past; it remains a practical and creative avenue for building a more peaceful and humane future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Address the liability issue

Refer to ‘Delhi gang-rape was administrative failure’; Astha Kunj was not an aberration, it was a design failure. The heinous crime in a public park should shock us not only for its brutality but also for its predictability. The simplest yet the most hazardous response now is to lock parks after sunset, which unfairly punishes both victims and the city. Delhi requires three essential actions. First, address the liability issue; second, illuminate faces rather than roads; and third, conduct mandatory CPTED (Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design) audits for every park. A faulty light fixture is not just a maintenance issue; it undermines public trust.

ASHOK AGGARWAL, KURUKSHETRA

Making Ayushman scheme work

Refer to ‘Healthcare hurdle’; the Ayushman scheme, launched with good intentions, needs practical reforms to make healthcare truly accessible. Automatic digital verification should eliminate paperwork, while emergency procedures should receive immediate, time-bound pre-authorisation. A single-window online system can reduce bureaucratic delays and enable patients to track approvals. Higher government healthcare spending and faster reimbursement to hospitals can improve implementation. Hospitals should be required to provide rational and effective treatment without unnecessary testing or inflated billing.

VIJAY KUMAR KATIAL, PANCHKULA

Proactive efforts needed

Refer to ‘Healthcare hurdle’; the Rohtak experience should not only be a wake-up call for the state of Haryana but also for other states. To convert each eligible patient into a beneficiary, all that the government needs to do is adopt a multi-pronged approach. Intensifying awareness campaigns through gram panchayats, schools, ration shops, ASHA workers and vernacular newspapers is one effective method. Hospitals must put up a list of the services covered and a list of patients who were denied these services, so that course correction can be done. To ensure that each beneficiary has access to dignified and affordable healthcare, all stakeholders must be completely aligned.

BAL GOVIND, NOIDA

A brave act saves many lives

Refer to ‘Indian captain fights off co-pilot trying to crash Israel-bound plane’; confronted with a sudden and grave crisis after being attacked by the co-pilot, the Indian captain showed extraordinary presence of mind and courage. Though badly injured, he managed to stabilise the plane till help came from other crew members. The motive of the attacker co-pilot is still unclear. But for Capt Smit Machchhar’s bravery, the plane could have met a disastrous end. He has rightly been hailed as Hero No.1 by Modi, Netanyahu, Trump and other world leaders.

WG CDR CL SEHGAL (RETD), JALANDHAR

Testament to human courage

Apropos of ‘Indian captain fights off co-pilot trying to crash Israel-bound plane’; the harrowing incident aboard a Flydubai flight serves as a chilling reminder of mid-air vulnerabilities, yet it ultimately highlights an extraordinary act of courage. Despite being severely injured, Capt Smit Machchhar fought back, preventing a crash and enabling passengers and cabin crew to enter the cockpit to neutralise the attacker. In a world often marred by tragedy, the Indian pilot’s valour shines as an inspiring testament to human bravery and professional duty. The mid-air assault carries crucial lessons for global aviation. Air safety standards must evolve to address internal security breaches with the same seriousness as applied to external threats.

SANJAY CHOPRA, MOHALI

Protect India’s diversity

The ongoing digital census operations appear to be selective and partisan. Caste questionnaires smack of politics, which is being played with impunity. A dichotomy is perceptible as Pandora’s box has opened up. Census operations have been advanced in states going to polls shortly, whereas uniformity in their timing should have been the hallmark of the exercise. There is a dearth of vision and insight on the part of leaders. So arbitrary rules and regulations must be reviewed to protect and promote India’s composite culture and peaceful coexistence.

ECI row does a disservice to the right to vote

VIVEK KATJU
FORMER SECRETARY, MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

ANATIONAL daily broke a story on September 23 about the objections raised by Election Commissioners, Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi, to some key decisions taken by the Election Commission of India (ECI), either without consulting them or against their views.

It was reported that they had recorded their views on 14 occasions in 10 months, but their concerns remained unaddressed. They asserted that in some important matters, the ECI was going against its own statute, which provides that decisions should be taken unanimously, but wherever that is not possible, the majority view would prevail. The Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) is only the first among equals. He cannot assume the powers of the ECI.

Sandhu and Joshi were upset at apparently being ignored by CEC Gyanesh Kumar. Hence, even though they took a different position internally on certain important statutory points relating to the Special Intensive Revision (SIR), they had publicly endorsed the exercise.

There is no evidence indicating that they considered whether there was sufficient time to reach all voters efficiently and effectively before elections were held in Bihar and West Bengal when the SIR decision was taken in June 2025. Nor did they object to its methodology, which put an enormous strain on a large number of legitimate voters.

It was, therefore, premature for Rahul Gandhi at his media conference on September 24 to praise Sandhu and Joshi for their internal objections.

What he overlooked was that both of them were appointed by the same process as Kumar and that the considerations which led to his appointment would have been applied to theirs too. It was difficult to visualise that either would, after assuming office, really and publicly, do a Thomas Becket.

That they were cut from the same cloth as Kumar's became clear when they joined him at a media conference on September 26 after a full CEC meeting. The meeting's note shows that Kumar climbed down from his high horse and agreed that he would take the Commissioners along, as the statute requires him to do. Did an unseen hand advise him appropriately? Likewise, did the same hand counsel Sandhu and Joshi that they should not publicly embarrass the poll panel? A compromise was obviously worked out. Both the Commissioners implicitly reiterated that the SIR was a unanimous ECI decision and also that the controversial additions to Form 6 for the duration of the SIR were valid.

Now that the Supreme Court may examine if, in some matters, Kumar had exceeded his authority, it remains to be seen whether the exposé will have unintended consequences for the CEC and the government, too. On its part, the ruling dispensation will throw more weight behind Kumar because the INDIA bloc has decided to go all out to target him as part of its 'vote chori' campaign.

The political class should come to an understanding on not allowing Election Commissioners to enter politics after they demit office.

Kumar is also taking some corrective action, as witnessed, by restoring the original Form 6 in states where the SIR exercise has been completed. However, the Supreme Court will have to specifically weigh in on the manner Form 6 has been used during the SIR.

A Supreme Court judge recently stated that the ECI should be manifestly independent. This can only be achieved if the political class comes to an understanding that the Election Commissioners would not be allowed to enter politics after they demit office.

Unfortunately, past experience suggests that this may be impossible to achieve. The Congress not only appointed a CEC who was widely believed to be sympathetic to the party but also made former CEC MS Gill a Rajya Sabha MP as well as a minister. Was this proper even if no law was transgressed? Should umpires of the electoral process be made players?

The ECI's handling of the SIR has been lacking in many respects. Some corrective action is now being taken to address logical discrepancies and mapping issues. The Commission made onerous demands on many voters, some of which were almost impossible to fulfil. But the real problem is in respect of proving that a person is a citizen if she was born after 1987.

It can be asserted that once the country moved away, in that year, from treating anyone born in India as a citizen, no single document — like a birth certificate — could authoritatively prove a person's citizenship.

Indeed, it can equally be asserted that now not even all documents taken together can conclusively prove a person's citizenship if his parents were born after 1987. Ironically, only naturalised citizens have conclusive papers relating to their Indian citizenship.

The SIR exercise has been upheld by the Supreme Court. In the lakhs of disputes relating to West Bengal where persons were left out of the electoral rolls, the Court decreed that judicial officers would adjudicate appeals against exclusion.

When it was pointed out that the process could not be completed before the Assembly elections in the state, Justice Joymala Bagchi, who was part of the Bench hearing the matter, initially remarked: "This election perhaps they (meaning voters) can't vote. The more valuable right to remain on the rolls will be preserved".

More recently, CJI Surya Kant, heading a Bench that declined to urgently hear a plea relating to pending appeals in West Bengal prior to the October 6 byelections, was reported to have said: "They are only byelections, that's all."

With great respect, this writer would submit that the maxim guiding the courts in matters relating to elections should be 'Every voter's rights are sacred in every election'.

Even if the right to vote is not a fundamental right, it is so precious that its sacredness should be recognised by the courts. A citizen who is found later to be entitled to vote but was denied to do so in an election would bitterly consider herself as being a child of a lesser god. Should the courts go along with such agony?

Reusable rocket pact plugs a vital tech gap

DINESH C SHARMA
SCIENCE COMMENTATOR

LAST week, the Union government's Department of Science and Technology (DST) signed an agreement with a private space firm, Agnikul Cosmos, for extending financial support of Rs 200 crore under the Research Development and Innovation (RDI) Fund for the development of a reusable launch vehicle or rocket. The idea is to recover from space not just a part of a rocket after the launch but to make the rocket fully reusable. The technology is aimed at reducing launch and manufacturing costs greatly, and minimising the generation of space debris.

Developing a reusable launch vehicle (RLV) is a complex challenge, involving a slew of technologies to support controlled descent and recovery, propulsion systems for restart and deep throttling, as well as critical capabilities for descent and landing operations. That's why RLV development remains the Holy Grail of the space industry.

The move comes on the heels of reports from China and Japan. In July, China demonstrated reusable rocket technology by recovering the first stage of its Long March 10B rocket after it placed a satellite in orbit. The rocket was designed to return to Earth through controlled descent at a sea-based recovery platform.

This has made China only the second country, after the US, to have achieved a vertical landing of an orbital-class rocket. SpaceX, founded by Elon Musk, has performed dozens of such landings, bringing down the cost of space transportation.

A few days after China, Japan conducted the first experimental flight of its RLV prototype developed jointly by the Japanese space agency and Mitsubishi. This is a precursor to a bigger project to develop a single-stage reusable rocket in collaboration with French and German space agencies.

India has been alive to the need of developing its own RLV for a long time. The RLV project of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) was approved in 2012, and since then, several technologies like autonomous landing, supersonic flight and powered cruise flight have been developed and evaluated. ISRO's RLV is a winged vehicle like the now-retired space shuttle of NASA. It looks similar to an aircraft but combines the complexity of both a launch vehicle and an aircraft. In 2024, RLV was given a name — Pushpak. Agnikul's rocket is called Agnibaan.

The quantum of assistance (Rs 200 crore) extended to Agnikul may give rise to an impression that the government, perhaps for the first time, is supporting a private company in direct competition with a government R&D entity engaged in a highly strategic and globally competitive technology area. Such aid need not automatically imply that ISRO's RLV project has not been adequately backed (it gets milestone-based funding) or will get a lower priority after the government support to Agnikul.

Reusable rocket technology is aimed at reducing launch & manufacturing costs and minimising the generation of space debris.

In any case, a comparison of the two RLV projects is not fair because they follow two different technological architectures. ISRO's RLV is a winged spaceplane (to be propelled into space by a rocket which may or may not be reusable) and Agnikul's RLV is a reusable vertical take-off and return rocket. The end use of the two vehicles may also differ. Still, the government should make it clear that it has no intention of deprioritising ISRO's RLV project, particularly in view of the concerns raised by scientists' unions about the entry of the private sector.

While the government has taken a balanced approach by funding two parallel projects in a deep tech area of national importance, the manner in which these investments are executed is equally critical. Agnikul is not the only private project to have received such a level of government funding. Last week, two more agreements were signed for providing sizeable financial support. GalaxEye Space Solutions of Bengaluru will get Rs 63.84 crore to develop a multi-sensor satellite with extremely high-resolution imaging capability. Ubifly Technologies gets Rs 285 crore in financial support (out of the total project cost of Rs 570 crore) to develop a small electric plane to be used as an air taxi.

In most of these projects, the government funding accounts for nearly 50 per cent or more of the respective project costs. If the funding is given by way of equity, the government would be a majority shareholder in these startups and thus have a say in their governance. But the government support is being given in the form of Optionally Convertible Debentures, in which finance is extended as debt with an option to convert it into equity.

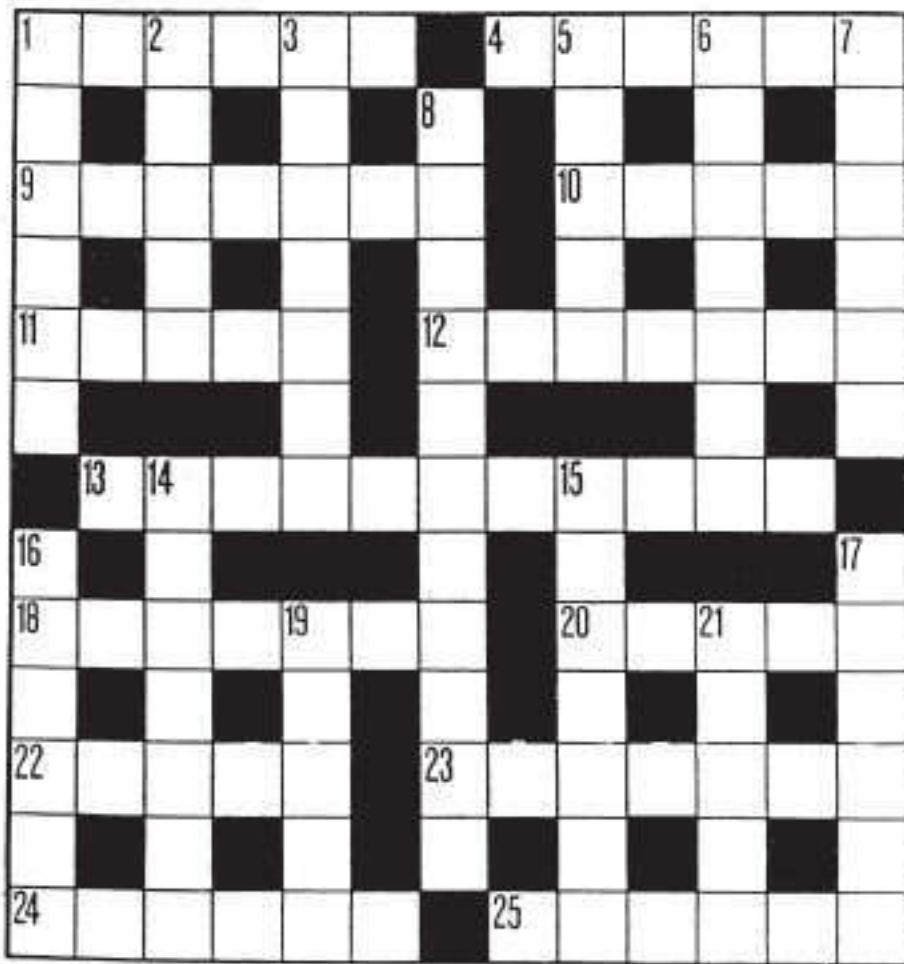

Private companies are answerable to their investors and shareholders and not necessarily to the government, even though it may have extended the seed money in the form of debt. Mergers, acquisitions and technology transfer for the sake of profit-making are normal in the private sector. If a strategic technology is developed using public funding extended by DST and the company gets taken over by a multinational or a bigger rival, then the very purpose of developing strategic capability with public money would be lost.

This is not a hypothetical situation — it happened with vaccine development in the late 1990s. The Technology Development Board of the DST, the entity which is funding Agnikul and Ubifly, funded biotech startups to break the monopoly of multinational vaccine suppliers. With liberal grants from the DST for R&D, two Indian companies could successfully drive down Hepatitis vaccine prices globally. However, soon thereafter, one of the two vaccine firms supported by the DST was taken over by a competing multinational company, and the DST or the government could do nothing about the transaction. In effect, public funding was used to build a capability in a critical area which ultimately landed in the hands of a multinational vaccine company.

Let's not end up in a similar situation in the deep tech sector. The government must put in place necessary checks and balances wherever it is committing public funding to private projects. The stakes are high both in terms of the level of funding and the strategic importance of the technologies involved.

Maha picnic turns tragic as eight students drown

Victims were Class XI and XII students from Pune

MUMBAI, OCTOBER 1
Eight students on a picnic drowned in the Arabian Sea off the popular Diveagar beach in Maharashtra's Raigad district on Thursday, with all bodies recovered, the police said.
The victims, students of Classes XI and XII, were part of a group from Winners Academy, a private coaching institute based in Alandi in Pune district. Located around 170 km from Mumbai, Diveagar is known for its beach and historic temples.
According to a police official, the group comprised 48 people — 25 boys, 17 girls and six teachers — who had travelled to the beach for a picnic.

Eight students entered the sea and were swept away after reportedly misjudging the depth of the water and the strength of the currents, the official said. Search and rescue teams were rushed to the spot after an alert was raised and recovered all bodies.
Police personnel and local authorities remain at the site to complete legal and administrative formalities.
Meanwhile, Shiv Sena MLA Mahendra Dalvi, who represents the Alibag Assembly constituency, described the incident as “heartbreaking” and expressed concern over what he called inadequate safety measures at the beach.

“The lives of eight students ended tragically during their trip to Diveagar from Pune,” he said.
“Such incidents have occurred there repeatedly, and the local administration must strengthen safety arrangements. Young students may not be able to assess risks posed by the sea, including tides, currents and water depth,” Dalvi said. — PTI

SC junks Mamata TMC faction's plea to operate 4 frozen bank accounts

SATYA PRAKASH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1
The Supreme Court on Thursday dismissed a plea by the Mamata Banerjee-led TMC faction seeking to operate four debit-frozen bank accounts with Indian Bank containing around Rs 804 crore, saying it was not inclined to interfere with the Calcutta High Court's order refusing to grant such relief.
A Bench led by Justice MM Sundresh noted that the Election Commission (EC) had frozen the party's symbol and that the larger issue of which faction was entitled to the funds was pending adjudication.
“We refrain from going into the merits. We are not inclined to exercise our jurisdiction under Article 136. We request the high court to expedite the hearing,” the Bench said.

The top court, however, asked the high court to decide expeditiously the party's plea challenging the July 7 order of the police cyber cell freezing the bank accounts.
The matter is likely to be

WB'S REPLY SOUGHT ON MAHUA'S PLEA

The SC has asked West Bengal and other respondents to reply within a week to a plea filed by TMC LS MP Mahua Moitra, alleging obstruction in the execution of works under the MPLADS in her Krishnanagar constituency. A Bench of Justice Joymalya Bagchi and Justice V Mohana asked them to respond to Mahua's petition that sought adequate protection during her visit to Krishnanagar.

taken up by the high court after the Durga Puja vacation.
The cases stem from a complaint filed by West Bengal MLA Biswanath Das before the Bidhannagar cybercrime police on June 18, alleging that funds generated through illegal activities, misuse of influence and dishonest financial dealings had been routed through the party's bank accounts.
The Mamata Banerjee-led TMC faction moved the Calcutta High Court challenging the criminal proceedings and the freezing of its bank accounts.

Nine former women Naxals from Sukma to get a shot at Bollywood

ANSHITA MEHRA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1
Women who once carried weapons are now preparing to face the camera. Nine former Naxal women from Sukma, who have left the movement and are rebuilding their lives, are set to get an opportunity to act in a Hindi film, opening a new chapter in their journey back into the mainstream.
The opportunity came after their appearance at a handloom fashion show in Raipur. Women from the Sukma rehabilitation centre walked the ramp in traditional Chhattisgarhi handloom attire at an event organised by the Gramodyog Department on National Handloom Day in August.
Their confident appearance caught the attention of filmmaker Aakash Aditya Lama, director of 'Bengal 1947'. Lama, who has himself worked in Naxal-affected areas of Chhattisgarh, expressed his desire to work with the women in one of his upcoming films. The film is expected to be shot at various locations across Chhattisgarh, including Sukma, in November and December.

The former women Maoists who participated in a ramp walk on National Handloom Day organised by the Gramodyog Department.

Before stepping on to the film set, the women will audition for roles. Those selected will subsequently undergo a 10-15-day acting workshop to learn the nuances of the craft.
An official from the team that organised the fashion show said the filmmaker approached the department after watching the women walk the ramp.
“He came to meet our commissioner and secretary after the show and expressed his desire to make a film with the women. Since the girls walked the ramp with confidence, the director felt they could also face the camera and expressed his interest in working with them,” the official said.

For the women, the journey from a rehabilitation centre to a fashion ramp and now potentially to a film set represents a striking departure from the path they once followed. Having surrendered and returned to mainstream society, they are now being given an opportunity to learn a new skill and present themselves on a public platform.

Trust UPSC's biggest asset: PM

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1
As the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) marks its centenary year, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday called for a rethink of how India selects its civil servants, saying the recruitment process must prepare officials for a country that will be more urban, technology-driven and characterised by higher public expectations by 2047.

Speaking at the UPSC's centenary celebrations, Modi said the commission's greatest asset was the trust it had built over the past 100 years. — TNS

Investigators probe flydubai attacker’s motive as Israel seeks his extradition

Currently in Saudi, Omani co-pilot set to be handed over to UAE

JERUSALEM, OCTOBER 1 Investigators on Thursday worked to determine why an Omani pilot stabbed the captain of a flight to Israel, causing the plane to plummet dangerously before others on board landed it in Saudi Arabia.

Israel’s National Security Minister Itamar Ben-Gvir on Thursday said he would seek his extradition as the country steps up scrutiny of aviation security following the mid-air incident that left an Indian pilot seriously injured.

The suspect is currently being held in Saudi Arabia after the aircraft, carrying 174 people, including 27 children, made an emergency landing at Tabuk on Wednesday following an altercation in the cockpit.

Passengers have described how the bloodied Indian captain managed to open the cockpit door to let them in before they grappled with the co-pilot and stabilised a descent so sharp that the plane’s rudder was torn away.

“We felt helpless, suspended in mid-air, and I didn’t know who to turn to. But it was all instinct to survive,” Asaf Rajuan, who was among those who intervened, said in a statement shared by Israel’s presidency.

A regional official briefed on the investigation said the suspect, an Omani citizen, was under arrest and confirmed that Saudi authorities were working with countries, including Israel, to try to determine a motive.

He said the UAE, the United States and Oman were also involved.

“All possible scenarios, from terrorism to mental disorders, are being looked into. Nothing is ruled out for now,” said the official.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu claimed the attacker underwent Islamist indoctrination.

The co-pilot has not been publicly identified. Video shot inside the plane by Shota Musayev, a dentist who treated the captain, shows the co-pilot on his knees, with his hands tied behind his back.

Israeli intelligence and security officials were in Saudi Arabia to help investigate the co-pilot, according to another regional official.

Israel had requested that the co-pilot be sent to Israel for the investigation, though it was unclear if that request would be granted, the official said. — AP/PTI

Second judge blocks Trump’s $100K H-1B fee

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 1 A second federal judge on Wednesday blocked an unprecedented $100,000 fee that US President Donald Trump has imposed on new H-1B visas for highly skilled foreign workers.

US District Judge Haywood Gilliam in Oakland, California, ruled that US Citizenship and Immigration Services and the State Department failed to follow necessary rule-making processes before implementing Trump’s fee.

Gilliam, appointed by then-President Barack Obama, a Democrat, granted a request by a coalition of unions, employers and non-profits to block the agencies from implementing Trump’s fee pending the outcome of a lawsuit they filed in October.

The fee was temporarily blocked in June by a federal judge in Boston, ruling in a separate case brought by 20 states. A Boston-based appeals court in July declined to pause that decision. The Department of Homeland Security in August moved to adopt a per-

Rubio ‘asked’ Araghchi’s UN team to leave early

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 1 Secretary of State Marco Rubio ordered Iran’s Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi and his delegation to the UNGA to leave New York earlier than they had planned, two US officials said on Wednesday.

The Trump administration had granted visas, albeit with severe restrictions, to Iran’s President, Araghchi and the delegation to attend the annual meeting despite the hostilities between the two countries. While President Pezeshkian left New York a day after speaking at the UN last week, Araghchi had remained behind ostensibly to participate in indirect talks with the US on ending the conflict.

Araghchi had planned to stay in New York until Wednesday. After little progress was made in meetings between Iranian and Qatari mediators, Rubio lost patience and told the Iranians on Monday that Araghchi and his delegation had to leave New York immediately. — AP ment. We also exchanged views on G20 deliberations under US Chairship.”

On February 7, the two countries disclosed a structure for a temporary trade accord. The framework addressed tariffs, market entry and various trade matters.

Its purpose was to facilitate a broader Bilateral Trade Agreement between the countries. The agreement, however, has not been officially finalised yet.

Francis-Noble win nation's 1st-ever sailing silver medal, Harshita-Shital clinch women's bronze

GAMAGORI CITY, OCTOBER 1

The Indian pair of Manu Francis and Prince Kurisinkal Noble bagged the silver medal in the men's skiff opening race 9 of the Asian Games sailing competition here on Thursday.

The team of Harshita Tomar and Shital Verma won the bronze medal in the women's skiff sailing event.

The Indian duo concluded the competition with 24 net points and 28 total points across nine races to finish ahead of China, who were disqualified thrice in race 2, race 6 and race 8.

Japan won the gold medal with 11 net points and 14 total points, while Hong Kong bagged silver with 15 net points and 18 total points. Earlier, the 31-year-old Francis and the 30-year-old Noble, who hail from Ernakulam, Kerala, and are first cousins, combined for a total of 23 points after nine races and finished behind China, who totalled 16 points in the competition where the lowest total score wins the regatta.

The Chinese team comprised Wen Zaiding and Liu Tian. Points in men's skiff sailing are decided by the finish position in each race and a first place brings in one point to the total.

The Indians managed to win race 3 and finish second race 1, 5 and 9 during the competition. China, on the other hand, emerged on top in four races to end up as the best-placed side.

Skiffs are small light boats

Son of a fisherman, who had died during the 2018 catastrophic flood in Kerala, Noble said winning a medal in his debut Asian Games was a special feeling.

Games and winning a medal is very special. It was a tough competition and we somehow won the silver," Noble told PTI after the final.

Both train at the Army Yachting Node in Mumbai. "It was very tough actually. It was windy. We are not much comfortable with windy conditions. But we survived and somehow won a silver," Francis said.

"In light (windy) conditions, we are pretty good. We train in India, and in India almost every time it is light wind." For Francis, it was a mixed feeling as he felt they could have won gold.

"We don't feel much about it. Happy and not that much happy. Because we could have won the gold," he said.

"Initially, we didn't know we were in the silver medal position. We thought we were fighting for bronze, so it was lucky. We lack good technique in these kind of windy conditions. It was very choppy. But in the last race, the boat was flying. So we were happy about that.

"But we need to work more on (sailing in) heavy windy conditions." On their chemistry, Francis said: "We are cousins, our mothers and we grew up together. We understand each other and that make it easier to coordinate."

According to a profile shared by Sports Authority of India, Noble and Francis developed an interest in sailing at a young age and had trained at the National Sailing School in Bhopal and Muziris Yachting Club in Kerala.

They had earlier combined to win a bronze medal in the Asian Sailing Championships. The Indian combination could not win any of the nine races but managed to finish second in race 3 and 4. — PTI

Judoka Inungambi loses bronze medal bout

NAGOYA: Indian judoka Inungambi Takhellambam lost her bronze medal bout to Mongolian Anujin Uran-Ulzii in the women's 70kg category at the Asian Games here on Thursday. Anujin secured a Waza-ari victory after a four-minute bout, having already scored two Yukos before delivering the decisive throw at the 3:06 mark. Consequently, India missed out on a bronze medal in the event. The match started cautiously with Inungambi adopting a safety-first approach against Anujin. Neither athlete had scored until a video review altered the scoreboard, granting Anujin a yuko for a flip as the Mongolian fighter held a 2-0 lead.

India lose 0-3 in men's volleyball quarterfinals

NAGOYA: The Indian men's volleyball team's dream of ending a 40-year medal drought at the Asian Games was shattered on Thursday as it suffered a 0-3 defeat to arch-rivals and higher-ranked Pakistan in the quarterfinals. The Indian spikers looked completely off colour as they lost 19-25 23-25 18-25 against world no. 38 Pakistan in the first quarterfinal that lasted one hour and 22 minutes. With the defeat, world No. 48 India's hopes of securing a podium finish for the first time since winning bronze in South Korea in 1986 were dashed. India have two other Asian Games medals in men's volleyball: a bronze in 1958 and a silver in 1962. Ashwal Rai was the highest scorer for India with nine points. PTI

Ganesh adds bronze to archery medal haul

NAGOYA, OCTOBER 1

Indian compound archer Ganesh Mani Ratnam Thirumuru produced a commanding performance to win the men's individual bronze medal at the Asian Games here on Thursday.

Ganesh, who was a part of the gold-winning men's team on Wednesday, defeated Vietnam's Cong Duc Dang 149-144 in the bronze medal playoff after bowing out of individual gold contention with a semifinal loss. It was perfect shooting from the 20-year-old Indian in the playoff as he was on mark in 14 out of his 15 shots.

Ganesh had lost 144-148 to Kim Jongho of South Korea in the semifinal after he could not replicate his stupendous quarterfinal form. He trailed throughout in the last-four stage and eventually went down 29-30 29-30 29-28 29-30 28-30.

On winning a medal, Ganesh said, "I had some wonderful scores out there and it feels great to get the first individual medal (in compound) for India (at the Aichi-Nagoya 2026 Asian Games).

"It is down to all the hard work we have gone through and having the team behind us." Asked about losing in the semifinal, he said, "My psychologist prepared me.

Whatever is done, you have to prepare for the next match and be ready for it. — PTI

Pakistan to face India in gold-medal match

NISSHIN, OCTOBER 1

Ishan Kishan's calculated 46-ball 80 on a difficult track laid the foundation as defending champions India hammered Sri Lanka by 124 runs in the Asian Games men's cricket semifinal here on Thursday to set up a gold medal clash with arch-foes Pakistan.

Kishan and Vaibhav Sooryavanshi (38 off 21) took India to 169 for seven in 20 overs on a turning track after Sri Lanka put them in to bat on winning the toss.

While chasing the 170-run target, the island nation first collapsed to 31 for six inside the powerplay before being eventually bundled out for 45, which is the joint lowest T20 International total by a Test-playing nation. West Indies was dismissed for the same score in 2019 against England.

Jasprit Bumrah struck twice in his opening over and was then joined by Axar Patel, who also claimed two wickets.

"We have to perform in both batting and bowling to win. We've been waiting for some days, there was a lot of rain around. To switch on and perform like this after a long break is commendable," Axar said after the match referring to the washed out quarterfinal against Afghanistan and cancellation of practice sessions due to the inclement weather here.

Sri Lanka's collapse included two run-outs, which was ample proof of them being rattled by the pitch and the loss of early wickets.

The odd ball was flying off the surface, sowing doubts in the batters' minds. In the end, India took just 9.5 overs to dismiss them. The Lankans will now fight for bronze in the play-off against Bangladesh, who

INDIA TO OPEN ODI WC CAMPAIGN AGAINST OZ

India will open their campaign in the men's ICC World Cup against defending champions Australia at the Newlands Stadium in Cape Town on October 7, the world body announced on Thursday. Shubman Gill's men will meet arch-rivals Pakistan at the Wanderers Stadium in Johannesburg on October 10. India will also meet one of the Qualifiers on October 14 at the Centurion.

India beat Pak in thriller to enter hockey final

KAKAMIGAHARA, OCTOBER 1

Defending champions India survived a scare before Abhishek struck with just 45 seconds remaining to snatch a dramatic 4-3 victory over arch-rivals Pakistan and seal a place in the Asian Games hockey final here on Thursday.

India will take on Malaysia, who beat South Korea in the other semifinal, in the gold medal contest on Saturday.

Harmanpreet converted two perfectly executed penalty corners in the 5th and 13th minutes, while Sukhjeet Singh scored a field goal in the 23rd minute. Abhishek scored the winning goal for India from a field play in the final minute of the game.

Pakistan's goals were scored by Abu Mahmood (30th minute), Hannan Shahid (45th) and Waheed Rana (49th).

The defending champions looked set for a comfortable semifinal win after captain Harmanpreet's brace and Sukhjeet Singh's field strike put them firmly in control.

But a stunning second-half collapse allowed Pakistan to claw their way back as they scored three goals and push India to the brink of an embarrassing defeat before Abhishek's late strike rescued the team. — PTI

Nitesh’s Asiad silver ends India’s 64-year Greco-Roman medal drought

MUKESH TANDON
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

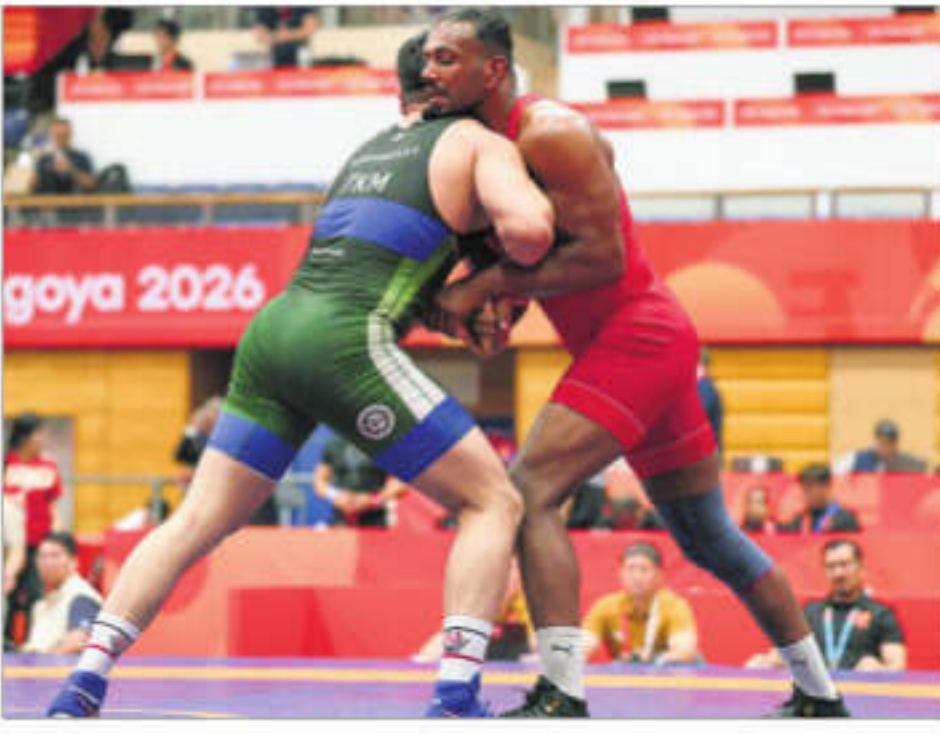

PANIPAT, OCTOBER 1 Wrestler Nitesh Siwach brought laurels to the country by clinching the silver medal in Greco-Roman wrestling at the Asian Games 2026 in Japan on Thursday. Nitesh’s silver also ended India’s 64-year wait for a medal in Greco-Roman wrestling at the Asian Games.

Wrestler Ganpat Andalkar had won the gold medal in the 97+ kg weight category while Malwa Singh won the gold medal in the 52 kg weight category at the Asian Games in Jakarta in 1962.

Posted in the Railways, Nitesh belongs to Jagsi village at Gohana in Sonapat district, but his family lives in Sector 6, Panipat. His father, Anand Siwach, owns a milk business here. Anand buys milk from his village and sells it either from his shop or door-to-door in Panipat.

Born in a farmer family on October 21, 2002, Nitesh learnt basic techniques of wrestling from his father. Anand told The Tribune that Nitesh took to wrestling at the age of five in a village akhara and spent two to three years there. Later, he was admitted to a wrestling academy at Pratap School in Kharkhoda.

Nitesh suffered a knee injury while training at the academy and had to quit the game. After he underwent a surgery, it took him around two years to recover from the trauma. During this period, Nitesh told me that he wanted to join wrestling again. As I was also a wrestler and wanted him to pursue the sport, I asked him to join his wrestling team again,” Anand said.

“We have a joint family. Two sons of my younger brother — Sushil and Ansh — have also taken to wrestling in the past three years,” he said.

“Nitesh practised very hard. We are hopeful that he will win a medal at the Olympics too,” Anand said.

“Although we were hoping for the gold, we are happy with his silver feat at the Asian Games. His win has not just made us proud, but the entire country,” said Nitesh’s father. Family members distributed laddoos to celebrate his win.

Gurvanti, mother of Nitesh, said it was a proud moment for the entire family as Nitesh had brought laurels to the village, state and the country at the international level.

“He is fond of eating ‘choorma’ and likes home-made food. When he comes home, will will prepare ‘choorma’ for him,” she said.

In 2019, Nitesh won a silver medal at the Cadet Asian Championships followed by a bronze at the U23 World Championships three years later. After bagging a bronze at the 2025 Senior Asian Championships, he upgraded his medal to silver in this year’s edition.

From textile engg to passion for aviation

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 For Indian pilot Smit Machchhar, hailed as a hero for averting a crash of an Israel-bound flydubai jet, aviation was never part of his childhood dreams.

Machchhar had his sights set on the family’s textile business, until the aviation bug bit at the age of 19, which scared his mother.

After school, he enrolled in a textile engineering course with the aim of continuing the family’s business before pursuing management studies at Mumbai’s Welingkar Institute of Management, where he discovered flying at the age of 19 at an aviation seminar.

FLYDUBAI COCKPIT HORROR

Mumbaikars rally behind Smit

SHEKHAR SINGH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 The quiet neighbourhood of Ghatkopar, where Captain Smit Machchhar grew up, turned into a gathering point of pride and anxiety on Thursday, as friends and neighbours rallied outside his Mumbai residence after the Indian pilot was injured in cockpit attack aboard a flydubai flight.

At Swastik Heights in Ghatkopar, residents assembled carrying the Tricolour and photographs of the pilot. For many of them, the incident involving the flydubai flight was difficult to separate from memories of the boy they had seen growing up in their midst. Ghatkopar residents say for them, Smit remains the composed youngster they knew from their housing society.

His childhood friend Prateek Gandhi, who continues to live in the same building, recalled Machchhar as a disciplined and level-headed child. He had spent much of his childhood playing cricket with Smit.

The incident initially came as a shock to the neighbourhood as residents found it hard to accept that the pilot being discussed in reports was the same Machchhar they had known for years. The mood, however, changed as residents learnt that he had undergone surgery and was recovering.

Machchhar is in good health and recovering well after being airlifted from Saudi Arabia to the UAE, the government said. Residents said the family also left for Saudi Arabia soon after they learnt about the incident. Locals have remained in contact with the family and have been seeking regular updates about the captain’s condition.

Machchhar’s family has been based in Dubai since he joined flydubai in 2022. However, his parents have retained their Ghatkopar residence, ensuring that the Mumbai building remains closely linked to the family.

What particularly moved the residents, they said, was learning that Machchhar continued trying to safeguard those aboard the aircraft despite being injured. A resident said the incident had left his family extremely concerned, even as they remained proud of his actions.

Airline suspends UAE-Israel flights

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Flydubai has suspended all flights to and from Israel following a cockpit stabbing incident aboard its Dubai-Tel Aviv service on Wednesday.

The incident aboard flight FZ1073 also prompted Emirates to suspend its code-share services on the route with immediate effect, while Israeli airlines have begun preparations for rescue flights to bring stranded passengers back from Dubai.

The suspension was announced following recommendations from the Israel Security Agency as the authorities probe the incident. — TNS

Decision on 114 more Rafale jets by year-end, says Defence Secretary

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 The Ministry of Defence expects to decide on getting 114 more Rafale jets for the Indian Air Force from French plane maker Dassault Aviation by the end of this year.

Dassault aviation has submitted its commercial bid for making a bulk of the planes in India. “The bids are being evaluated. We should be able to reach some conclusion in that regard before the end of this year,” Defence Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh said.

The planes would have significant levels of indigenisation and integration of Indian systems and weapons. The plane maker has agreed to integrate Indian weapons on the 114 jets and also on already contracted Marine version of the Rafale jet.

On the getting an imported 5th generation jet as a stop-gap arrangement till the indigenous Advanced Medium Combat Aircraft (AMCA) is ready, the Defence Secretary said “As of now, we haven’t taken a decision, to go in for any global or outside fifth-generation aircraft. Our programme is AMCA and we are putting all our eggs in this basket as of now”.

On sixth-generation fighter aircraft programme, Defence Secretary said there is a programme involving the UK, Japan, and Italy and another one being done by France. “We had expressed interest in both. But are veering around to the French, since we have a large inventory of French aircraft, is something we should examine. We are pursuing discussions with the French, and we’ll see how that goes”.

On the next generation Tejas Mark 2 jet, a significant upgrade over the existing Tejas jets, the Defence Secretary said “The first flight is scheduled for the middle of next year”.

Defence Secretary also mentioned about exports saying, “BrahMos is a kind of benchmark for our export story. We’ve got contracts or agreements to sell from The Philippines, and Indonesia and Vietnam”. The system has been proven in battle during Operation Sindoor. — TNS

Delhi HC: Senior citizens can seek children’s eviction over ill-treatment

SHEKHAR SINGH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Senior citizens can approach a District Magistrate to seek the eviction of children or legal heirs from their property if they face non-maintenance or ill-treatment, the Delhi High Court has ruled, upholding the validity of a provision framed under the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act.

A Division Bench of Chief Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Tejas Karia dismissed a challenge to Rule 22(3)(1)(i) and (iv) of the Delhi Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Rules, 2009, holding that the provision was intended to provide relief to elderly parents suffering from neglect or ill-treatment.

The Bench said the rule derived its authority from Sections 22 and 32 of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007, which empower the state government to prescribe measures for protecting the life and property of senior citizens and frame rules for implementing the legislation.

“Rule 22 (3)(1)(i) of the 2009 rules provides relief to a senior citizen/parents to mitigate his/her sufferings on account of non-maintenance and ill-treatment,” the court observed.

Scrutiny of FCRA Bill ‘meaningless’ sans consultation, says Venugopal

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 Congress MP and Public Accounts Committee Chairman KC Venugopal has questioned the functioning of the Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) examining the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Amendment Bill, 2026, alleging that there had been no meaningful consultation with stakeholders. He has also urged Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla to ensure a comprehensive scrutiny before the legislation is taken up in Parliament.

In a letter to Birla, Venugopal said the Bill was referred to a 31-member JPC on August 12 with the purpose of obtaining inputs from every stakeholder and bringing a “well-considered and flawless Bill”. “However, no meaningful consultation with stakeholders is taking place,” he alleged.

SC stays execution of 2008 Gujarat blasts convict

SATYA PRAKASH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 1 The Supreme Court on Thursday stayed the execution of Ahmed Bawa, alias Abbu Abubakar Barelvi, an operative of terror outfit Indian Mujahideen (IM) and a convict in the 2008 Ahmedabad serial blasts case, which claimed 56 lives.

A Bench, comprising Justice Vikram Nath, Justice AG Masih and Justice Sandeep Mehta, issued notice to the Gujarat Government on Barelvi’s petition challenging the Gujarat High Court’s July 2026 verdict upholding the death sentence awarded to him by a Special Court. The Bench also called for the trial court records.

Issues notice on Barelvi plea against HC verdict on death penalty

Appearing for the state, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta described it as a “serious case”. Fifty-six persons were killed and more than 200 injured when 21 explosions ripped through different parts of Ahmedabad within a span of 70 minutes on July 26, 2008. Blasts also occurred at hospitals where victims were being taken for treatment, marking the first known targeting of medical facilities in a terror attack in India.

A total of 78 accused were put on trial after 35 police cases, comprising 20 FIRs related to the Ahmedabad blasts and 15 linked to unexploded bombs recovered in Surat, were clubbed together.

In February 2022, a Special Court in Gujarat convicted 49 accused, awarding the death penalty to 38 and life imprisonment to 11, while acquitting 28 others. It also upheld life imprisonment awarded to 11 other convicts, holding that their roles in terror training camps in Gujarat and Kerala, and logistical support to the conspiracy had been proved.

In July 2026, the HC rejected all appeals filed by the convicts and confirmed the February 2022 judgment of the Special Court, which had sentenced 38 IM members to death and 11 to life imprisonment. The criminal antecedents and roles of the 38 convicts established that they had carried out a terrorist act warranting the death penalty, the High Court said.
