

SC to hear next week PIL on restraining CEC

Another plea last week sought Gyanesh's prosecution

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

The Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to hear next week a PIL seeking to restrain Gyanesh Kumar from functioning as the Chief Election Commissioner.

A Bench led by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant agreed to take up the PIL filed by Rakesh Kumar Singh after senior advocate Vikas Singh mentioned it for urgent listing. "The Election Commission is a multi-member body and under the statutory framework, its business is required to be transacted unanimously as far as possible, with differences being decided by majority," Vikas said, requesting an early hearing.

If the commission had not taken a unanimous decision, it was a serious issue, he told the Bench, which also included Justice Joyimalya Bagchi and Justice V Mohana.

He said there was serious doubt regarding the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls and in view of objections allegedly recorded by the other two Election

Commissioners, it was not clear if it was, in fact, a decision of the commission.

The CJI said it would be listed for next week. Citing reports that about 14 decisions were taken in the name of the Election Commission between October 2025 and August 2026 despite objections recorded by Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi, the PIL has sought to restrain Kumar from functioning as the Chief Election Commissioner.

The petitioner has urged the top court to declare that decisions vested in the Election Commission could not be taken unilaterally by the CEC. He wanted the court to issue a direction to Gyanesh to show under what authority he had acted and continued to act as though he was individually entitled to exercise the collective decision-making power vested by Article 324 of the Constitution in the Election Commission.

The PIL demanded the CEC's suspension pending adjudication, production of the poll panel's original records and constitution of an independent judicial inquiry commission or SIT headed by a retired Supreme Court judge.

Vikas cited Section 18 of the Chief Election Commissioner and Other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Term of Office) Act, 2023. According to Section 18 (1), "The Election Commission may, by unanimous decision, regulate the procedure for transaction of its business and also allocation of its business amongst the Chief Election Commissioner and other Election Commissioners."

Section 18 (2) states that "All business of the Election Commission shall, as far as

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 29

Within days of appointing Congress leader Sachin Pilot as the general secretary in charge of Punjab affairs, replacing Bhupesh Baghel, the party high command has set in motion the process to replace state unit chief Amrinder Singh Raja Warring.

The change of guard is expected over the next two days. Warring is expected to be called to New Delhi shortly.

Sources said the issue was discussed by Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, AICC general secretary KC Venugopal and Pilot at a recent meeting held via video-conferencing.

The decision has been delayed as the party leadership got busy with the nationwide protest against Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar. However, the decision is now expected

An indication in this regard was given on Tuesday to some senior Punjab Congress leaders on the sidelines of a CWC meeting in New Delhi, where the mood regarding a change of guard was reportedly conveyed to the Warring camp.

In a recent interview with The Tribune, Pilot had not ruled out the possibility of replacing Warring.

Though leaders are tight-lipped, sources said the probable candidates were former minister Vijay Inder Singla, Leader of the Opposition in the Punjab Assembly Partap Bajwa, former Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi, MLA Pargat Singh, MP GS Aujla and MLA Sukhbinder Sarkaria.

From a one-room house with buffaloes tied in the verandah, to a hesitant father sceptical of the high costs of shooting, and a bout of dengue that confined her to a Delhi hospital bed—nothing could stop Neeru Dhandha (26), a resident of Sangatpura village in Jind district, from taking aim at glory.

She went on to win the gold medal in the women's individual trap shooting event, becoming the first Indian woman to achieve the feat.

Her mother, Sudesh Devi, was standing in a queue to collect ration under the BPL scheme when she received a phone call informing her that her daughter had won the gold medal.

Elated over the success, Sudesh said Neeru was always confident about her performance. "We have been living in a one-room house, earning our livelihood by selling buffalo milk. But Neeru never complained and always used to say that we will have our own big house and car soon. She is now aiming for an Olympic gold," Sudesh said. The family and villagers are on cloud nine after Neeru's golden feat. "The entire village is proud of her. We will organise a huge function to honour her when she returns," said Sunil Kumar, husband of village sarpanch Soniya.

The family was concerned when she fell ill before the Asian Games. Her mother said, "She was down with dengue and had to be admitted to a hospital in Delhi. It delayed her departure for the Asian Games by four days."

Initially, Neeru's father, Suresh Dhandha, a farmer, was hesitant to allow her to take up shooting because of the high costs involved. "However, we are thankful to our relative, Sombir Peahlan, whose son Lakshya Sheoran is also a competitive shooter. CONTINUED ON PAGE 8

India eyes China corridor to counter Pak flight curbs

UJWAL JALALI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

India is exploring the possibility of securing access to Chinese airspace over Xinjiang for its airlines, a move that could significantly shorten flight times to Europe and North America and save Indian carriers millions of dollars in fuel and operating costs currently caused by Pakistan's continued closure of its airspace.

Government sources indicated that discussions on alternative flight paths have been part of broader India-China engagement as New Delhi seeks to improve international connectivity and support the rapid expansion of its aviation sector. Any arrangement would require clearances from Chinese authorities, as parts of the Xinjiang airspace remain under military control.

The potential savings are substantial. Air India has estimated that access to a proposed route through Hotan in Xinjiang could reduce its losses by about $1.13 million a week—equivalent to nearly $59 million a year if sustained—while restoring up to 15 per cent of passenger and cargo capacity cut on some long-haul routes, according to a Reuters report based on an Air India document.

The Delhi-New York route illustrates the potential impact. Air India operates the route with its Airbus A350-900. The airline has reported that the Pakistan airspace closure has increased journey times on some long-haul routes by up to three hours and raised fuel costs by as much as 29 per cent.

An A350-900 burns about 5.8 tonnes of fuel an hour in long-haul operations. Thus, if the Xinjiang corridor were to eliminate three hours of additional flying, a single Delhi-New York sector could theoretically save about 17 tonnes of jet fuel.

Paddy procurement begins, high moisture content slows purchases

Rain delays harvesting, farmers seek relaxation in guidelines

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, SEPTEMBER 29 Paddy procurement began at several grain markets across Haryana on Tuesday after the state government pre-poned the start of procurement from October 1. However, high moisture content in the crop emerged as a major hurdle on the first day. Around 470 quintals of paddy had been procured at various grain markets in Karnal district till the filing of the report. Of this, 160 quintals was procured at Karnal city, 80 quintals at Indri, 65 quintals at Kunjpura and 165 quintals at Jundla, an official said.

Karnal Deputy Commissioner Dr Anand Kumar Sharma inspected the Karnal and Gharaunda grain markets to review arrangements and oversee the commencement of procurement. Assandh MLA Yogendra Rana also visited the Assandh grain market.

“The moisture content in the grain is high, due to which procurement could not be started at all the grain markets. The heavy rainfall that lashed the region on Monday contributed to the high moisture content and also delayed paddy harvesting by nearly a week,” an official said.

The official said arrivals were slow but were expected to pick up in the coming days.

“We have made all necessary arrangements for paddy procurement, and farmers will not face any difficulty. We appeal to farmers to bring their crop with the prescribed moisture content,” said Dr Sharma.

Meanwhile, farmers sought relaxation in the permissible moisture content. Bahadur Singh Mehla, spokesperson for the BKU (Sir Chhotu Ram), said rainfall had caused huge losses to farmers.

“We request the government to relax the paddy procurement norms related to moisture content,” he added. Kurukshetra: Paddy procurement also began at grain markets in the district, with farmers urging the government to ensure timely lifting of the produce to prevent a glut-like situation.

At the Shahabad grain market, BKU (Charuni) spokesman Rakesh Bains said, “A huge quantity of paddy is lying in the grain markets. The procurement has started today and the government should ensure timely lifting so that the farmers receive their payments on time. The government should also resolve all the issues related to the rice millers and commission agents and accept their genuine demands to ensure a smooth procurement season. The farmers must be allowed to sell their produce without any restrictions.”

At the Thanesar grain market, former minister of state Subhash Sudha visited the market and directed market committee officials to ensure smooth procurement.

At the Ambala Cantonment grain market, around 550 quintals of paddy was procured on the first day. Recent rainfall has affected harvesting in the area. According to the Agriculture Department, no crop loss has been reported, though harvesting has been delayed by a couple of days.

Hisar: Some farmers brought their PR paddy produce to grain markets in Uklana and Barwala. However, procurement could not commence as the crop’s moisture content exceeded the prescribed limit. Meanwhile, Haryana PWD Minister Ranbir Gangwa visited several grain markets to inspect procurement arrangements and issued necessary directions to local officials to ensure smooth operations.

Academic challenge to Asiad silver, Aashima makes Rohtak proud

Scored 98.6% in Class XII to pursue shooting; sets sights on Olympics

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

ROHTAK, SEPTEMBER 29

Shooter Aashima Ahlawat, a member of the Indian women’s shooting team that clinched silver in the women’s trap team event at the Asian Games 2026 in Japan on Tuesday, had to clear an academic challenge set by her mother before pursuing her dream of becoming a shooter. Her determination helped her score 98.6% in Class XII, paving the way for her journey to the international shooting arena.

“Aashima has always been a brilliant student, excelling not only academically but also in extracurricular activities such as debates and writing competitions. She opted for the medical stream in Class XI and developed an interest in shooting after watching competitions on television. One day, she expressed her desire to take up shooting, but I initially objected because she was doing so well in her studies. She kept insisting. I finally told her that she could pursue it if she scored 96% in Class XII. She accepted the challenge and scored even higher,” said her mother, Sumitra Ahlawat, a professor at CR College of Law, Rohtak.

She said the Covid-19 pandemic had disrupted normal life, but her daughter remained determined to explore opportunities in shooting. She researched training options and began her shooting journey at Manav Rachna University, Faridabad, after Class XII.

“Initially, Aashima travelled daily between Rohtak and Faridabad, spending nearly five hours commuting every day for three months. She subsequently shifted to Karni Singh Shooting Academy in Delhi. She started winning medals at state-level competitions and university games, followed by performances at Khelo India and national events before making her mark internationally,” Sumitra said.

Aashima lost her father in a road accident when she was six years old. Sumitra raised Aashima and her younger sister as a single mother, overcoming challenges while supporting her daughter’s sporting ambitions.

“I faced many difficulties throughout her journey. However, every time she competed, she made us proud by winning. She had promised us before leaving for Japan that she would return with a medal, and she has fulfilled that promise,” Sumitra said.

Aashima originally hails from Kharkara village, while her family resides in Rohtak. She is pursuing postgraduation at the Delhi School of Economics after completing her graduation from Lady Shri Ram College. The family is eagerly awaiting her return on October 2.

She has now set her sights on a bigger goal — winning a medal at the Olympic Games, said her mother.

Millers flag broken rice lifting, space crunch with FCI officials

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, SEPTEMBER 29

Concerned over the non-lifting of broken rice generated during the milling of improved rice, Haryana rice millers have sought a seven-day window for its lifting from mills.

A delegation of the Haryana Pradesh Rice Millers and Dealers Association, led by its state president Amarjeet Chhabhra, met Food Corporation of India (FCI) Executive Director (North Zone) Venkat Naagi Reddy at the FCI headquarters in Noida and raised several pending issues concerning the paddy procurement and milling season.

The delegation discussed the new standard operating procedure (SOP), milling charges for improved rice, lifting of broken rice, shortage of storage space with the FCI, the proposed 48-hour stack waiting period and payment of market transportation charges for rice.

Chhabhra said the shortage of space with the FCI was affecting the timely delivery of custom-milled rice (CMR) by millers.

“We have been facing a lot of problems due to shortage of space with the FCI, due to which millers could not deliver their CMR on time. We have requested the authorities to provide sufficient space to millers across the region,” he said.

The delegation also apprised FCI officials of the practical difficulties related to the new SOP, including natural drying of paddy, weather conditions and ground-level operational issues. It sought a 4% relaxation in moisture during physical verification of paddy, arguing that moisture levels undergo changes during the milling process.

Chhabhra said the association had also sought timely lifting of broken rice from mills. “We should be given a time of seven days for lifting broken rice from mills,” he said.

Retirement order clouds Arun Gupta’s extension prospects

State had sought one-year extension for 1992-batch IAS officer

GEETANJALI GAYATRI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 29

The Haryana Government, which had sought a one-year extension for 1992-batch IAS officer Arun Gupta recently, has, instead, issued his retirement order, fuelling speculation that the extension may not come through. The Centre’s response to the proposal, however, is still awaited.

The state government issued the order, signed by the Chief Secretary, stating that “the Governor is pleased to order that Gupta shall retire from the IAS in the afternoon of September 30 on attaining the age of superannuation”. Gupta is likely to retire tomorrow even as the names of “prospective successors” have started doing rounds.

Sources in the bureaucracy said such a retirement order was usually issued only in the afternoon of the last working day of the officer concerned. “However, this order has come nearly 48 hours in advance. This means that an extension is practically ruled out. Such an order was not issued for Chief Secretary Anurag Rastogi on his last working day, though the approval for the extension in service came only in the evening,” an officer said.

The Haryana Government had recently written to the Centre seeking a one-year extension for Gupta, who is currently serving as Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister and holding the charge of Finance Secretary.

The sources said an extension for the Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister, if it does get the Centre’s nod, would be “unusual”, as an extension in service is usually only given to the Chief Secretary on the recommendation of the state government.

Though a clear picture will emerge only by tomorrow evening if no communication on the extension is received from the Centre, officials said the possibility of a three-month extension remained.

“If the Centre’s approval does not come by tomorrow evening, Gupta, who will retire tomorrow, still stands a chance of continuing in office for a period of three months, till December 31. The government can ‘continue’ with him against the cadre posts — his present charges — despite his retirement. However, this extension would be considered as re-employment and does not need the nod of the Centre,” another officer explained, adding that it was unlikely that Gupta would be interested in a three-month extension.

Notably, the Centre’s approval for Chief Secretary Anurag Rastogi’s second service extension, for six months, came only on June 30 this year, the last day of his one-year extension. The Centre approved the state government’s recommendation, allowing Rastogi to continue as Chief Secretary till December 31, 2026.

Officers maintained that with the retirement order issued, it was unlikely that the government would receive any communication from the Centre.

Why Kuldeep Bishnoi is on public outreach drive sans BJP banner

Adampur defeat, denial of Lok Sabha, Rajya Sabha tickets raise questions over his next political move

DEEPENDER DESWAL
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

HISAR, SEPTEMBER 29

Former MP Kuldeep Bishnoi, the political heir of Haryana’s longest-serving Chief Minister Bhajan Lal and once described as the “PhD of politics”, has stepped up public outreach across his traditional areas of influence, but notably without the BJP’s organisational banner. The outreach programmes in Hisar, Sirsa, Jind, Kaithal and Charkhi Dadri have triggered speculation over Bishnoi’s political strategy at a time when his political fortunes and equation with the BJP have undergone significant changes.

Bishnoi’s camp suffered a major setback in 2024 when his son Bhavya Bishnoi lost the Adampur Assembly seat — the family’s traditional stronghold — to Congress’s Chander Prakash. Kuldeep Bishnoi was also not given a BJP ticket for the Hisar Lok Sabha election, while his reported expectation of a Rajya Sabha nomination did not materialise.

The latest outreach programmes are being organised without BJP flags, banners or other party symbols. Bishnoi has been holding both public-contact programmes and closed-door meetings with supporters, indicating an effort to maintain a direct connect with his political base.

The development assumes significance as the BJP is also seeking to retain its connect with the Bishnoi community in the region. The appointment of Prof Narsi Ram Bishnoi, former Vice-Chancellor of Guru Jambheshwar University of Science and Technology, Hisar, as Vice-Chancellor of Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner, has also attracted attention in local political circles.

Another development that could concern Bishnoi’s camp is the exit of his close aide Ajay Pratap Singh, alias Bablu Khatana, who joined the Jannayak Janta Party in the presence of former Deputy Chief Minister Dushyant Chautala.

Bishnoi has also been dealing with a prolonged dispute involving the All-India Bishnoi Mahasabha, of which he had been patron for 12 years. He resigned from the post in December 2024, citing personal reasons, amid differences and legal disputes involving members of the rival camp.

His political journey has been marked by repeated shifts in political alliances. He broke away from the Congress in 2007 and formed the Haryana Janhit Congress, later aligned with the Bahujan Samaj Party and the BJP, before the HJC-BJP alliance ended in 2015. The HJC subsequently merged with the Congress in 2016. Bishnoi again left the Congress and joined the BJP in 2022.

The political equation within the family also remains unusual. His elder brother Chander Mohan is a Congress leader, though relations between the two brothers are stated to remain cordial.

The Bishnoi family has also been in the news over a legal case involving Kuldeep Bishnoi’s sister Roshni Bishnoi. A Gurugram court has directed her to appear in person by October 6 in a forgery case. The case relates to allegations concerning the use of forged documents in the transfer of plots in Gurugram. Roshni Bishnoi and her husband Anoop Bishnoi are accused in the FIR.

Against this backdrop, political observers see Bishnoi’s renewed public activity as an attempt to retain his political relevance and keep his support base engaged.

“Though he has made it clear that he is in the BJP, his reply indicating himself as a chief ministerial face to a question regarding Haryana political leadership indicate that he has something up his sleeve,” said a political observer.

The observer said Bishnoi had recently been upset with BJP leaders, including then state president Mohan Lal Badoli and Rajya Sabha MP Rekha Sharma. Bishnoi had publicly objected to remarks concerning his father Bhajan Lal, leading to a public exchange with the state BJP leadership.

The controversy had briefly exposed strains between Bishnoi and the BJP leadership, although the party subsequently moved to defuse the issue. Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini later attended Bhajan Lal’s birth anniversary function in Adampur, a move that was seen as an effort to ease tensions.

With Bishnoi continuing to assert that he remains with the BJP, his decision to conduct a series of programmes without the party’s organisational symbols has nevertheless added a new dimension to the question of his political future.

34L votes deleted, alleges Dushyant; targets poll panel

OUR CORRESPONDENT

SIRSA, SEPTEMBER 29
Former Deputy Chief Minister and JJP leader Dushyant Chautala on Tuesday alleged that 34 lakh votes, around 13% of the total, had been deleted in the first round of the electoral process, accusing the Election Commission of favouring the BJP.

Addressing public meetings in Bansudhar, Dhotar, Sultanpuria, Dhanur, Nakauda, Sant Nagar, Kariwala and Rania as part of his public outreach campaign, Chautala alleged that democratic institutions were being weakened and claimed that the Election Commission had acted like a “puppet” of the BJP.

He said the role of the two Election Commissioners had further raised questions over the functioning of the poll panel.

Chautala said people were increasingly voicing their opposition to government policies, while young people were being forced to take to the streets.

Targeting the Nayab Saini government, he alleged that the Panchayati Raj system had been weakened and even minor development works in villages were not being carried out properly.

On farmers, Chautala said during his tenure as Deputy Chief Minister, arrangements had been made to transfer crop payments directly into their bank accounts. He alleged that farmers were now facing delays in receiving payments.

New ideas to get wings; govt to provide seed funding for innovation

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 29
The Haryana Government has taken an initiative to realise the concept of ‘Idea to Innovation and Innovation to Solutions’ and to establish a bridge between academic research, innovation and administrative requirements.

In this direction, the Haryana Network for Academic Vision, Applied Creativity and Holistic Administrative Research (Navachar) Yojana has been formulated. A discussion on the scheme was held and in-principle approval was accorded to it at the general body meeting of the Haryana State Innovation Society, chaired by CM Nayab Singh Saini on Tuesday.

Under the scheme, if a student presents a new technology, solution or idea that can potentially address a real problem in the state, the government will provide seed funding to develop the idea into a prototype and practical solution.

The CM said research projects would be taken forward in accordance with the concept of ‘Lab to Field and Field to Policy’. The objective is to test the knowledge, technology and innovations developed in universities and research institutions in real-world conditions and to utilise successful outcomes for the benefit of government departments and the public.

Eligible universities and higher educational institutions will have the opportunity to submit research projects related to the state’s priority areas. Following initial screening and evaluation, selected proposals may be provided initial seed funding of up to Rs 1 lakh for preparation of a Detailed Project Report (DPR). Thereafter, the DPR prepared in coordination with the department concerned will be submitted for financial approval for implementation of the project. This will help promote a culture of research and innovation while enabling the government to develop new and practical solutions.

Nuh rally was a success: INLD

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 29
Addressing a press conference at the party headquarters in Chandigarh today, INLD national patron Prof Sampat Singh and state president Rampal Majra said the party’s recent Samman Diwas Rally in Nuh has marked a major political turning point in Haryana.

Sampat Singh said despite the Congress winning all seats in the region during the last election, the massive turnout at the rally showed that people were dissatisfied with both the Congress and the BJP due to misgovernance.

Targeting the BJP government, he claimed that inadequate infrastructure and a shortage of teachers in schools and colleges were depriving young people of quality education.

Majra criticised the government for not beginning procurement despite crops being ready for harvest and demanded compensation for crop damage caused by recent rainfall.—TNS

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 28
The Haryana Government has launched the Subsidy Provision for Cultivation of Horticultural Crops scheme, offering assistance of up to Rs 1.4 lakh per acre for horticulture cultivation.

Under the scheme, farmers cultivating fruits, vegetables, flowers, spices and aromatic plants will receive subsidies for adopting horticulture-based farming practices. According to the Department of Horticulture, the initiative is aimed at encouraging diversification and promoting high-value cultivation across the state.

Farmers can avail benefits for establishing new orchards and cultivating spices on up to 5 acres. For vegetable cultivation, general category farmers are eligible for assistance on up to 5 acres, while Scheduled Caste farmers can claim benefits for up to an acre. Subsidies for flower and aromatic plant cultivation are also available for a maximum of 5 acres.

However, the benefit will be available only to farmers adopting integrated cultivation methods such as mulching, drip irrigation, low tunnels or bamboo staking.

For other horticultural crops, subsidies range between Rs 15,000 and Rs 30,000 per acre for spices, Rs 8,000 and Rs 40,000 per acre for flowers, and ₹8,000 per acre for aromatic plants. All incentives will be transferred directly into beneficiaries’ accounts.

Bajra farmers on warpath

REWARI, SEPTEMBER 29
Farmers have intensified their protest against the proposed purchase of bajra under the Bhavantar Bharpai Yojana, demanding that the crop be procured at MSP.

Heavy arrivals have been reported, but procurement is yet to begin. Farmers claim the delay, inadequate storage and bad weather have forced them to sell their produce to private buyers at lower rates. — TNS

Border Range IG Gurpreet Singh Bhullar said the arrests and recoveries were made on the basis of intelligence inputs received by the team of Amritsar Rural SSP Kawalpreet Singh Chahal.

tional border and a drain. The orchard was allegedly being used as a collection point for consignments dropped by drones during the night.

Investigators said Sandeep would allegedly visit the orchard with his wife on a scooter or another vehicle, using their family relationship and legitimate orchard work as a cover. The police suspect that the duo collected the consignments and transported them to designated locations.

The police said Sandeep had a previous criminal record. He was arrested in an Arms Act case registered in Amritsar city in 2022 and had also been wanted in two separate cases involving the recovery of 5 kg of heroin each, registered at the Lopoke and Gharinda police stations in 2026.

The investigation is being expanded to identify the Pakistan-based handlers and the local network allegedly receiving the consignments. The police are also examining the accused's mobile data and deleted chats through forensic analysis.

Bhullar said the police were also probing the financial trail and would initiate proceedings to freeze and attach properties allegedly acquired through illegal activities.

Specs change ousts 2 bidders from ₹75-cr PSPCL tender

The Tribune EXCLUSIVE

RUCHIKA M KHANNA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 29

A change in technical procurement specifications for 900 units of 11-KV vacuum circuit breakers (VCBs) by Punjab State Power Corporation Limited (PSPCL) has narrowed competition for the Rs 75-crore tender, with two bidders being disqualified following the revision.

Documents available with The Tribune show that the specifications were changed after the original tender was opened on June 25, when four entities had expressed interest. The tender was subsequently cancelled, and PSPCL modified the specifications by dropping an undertaking clause during its Board meeting on August 14, 2026. A fresh tender was issued on August 20.

The revised requirement for type-test reports led to M/s Jyoti and M/s Pascal Switch Gear India Pvt Ltd being disqualified. BHEL and M/s Stelmec, an existing supplier to PSPCL, are now in the fray.

The rates quoted in the fresh tender are also around 12 per cent higher than those quoted in recent comparable tenders floated by Punjab State Transmission Corporation Limited (PSTCL), according to documents.

Sources said an administrative reshuffle within PSPCL took place after a senior officer reportedly raised reservations over the matter. The charge was subsequently given to another officer of the same rank.

Meanwhile, PSTCL, which is procuring similar VCBs for its 132-KV and 220-KV substations, has retained the original undertaking clause. The decision was approved at its Board meeting on Tuesday.

Gurkirat Kirpal Singh, who recently took charge as Chairman-cum-Managing Director of PSPCL and PSTCL, said the tender rates and PSTCL's decision to retain the original clause would be considered at PSPCL's upcoming Board meeting before the VCB procurement is cleared.

What has changed

The original clause allowed bidders with outdated or non-compliant type-test reports to undertake fresh testing at their own cost before supplies began. This enabled technically capable manufacturers to bid without completing costly testing beforehand. The revised tender required valid type-test reports at the bidding stage, effectively restricting participation.

All four bidders in the June 25 tender including BHEL, Jyoti, Pascal Switch Gear India Pvt Ltd and C-Sec Technologies had agreed to furnish the undertaking. PSPCL had introduced the clause after reviewing restricted competition in 2020 and obtaining technical consultancy from PEC, Chandigarh.

Dismissed AIG's police remand extended till Oct 3

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

MOHALI, SEPTEMBER 29

A Mohali court on Tuesday extended the police remand of dismissed AIG Raj Jit Singh Hundal till October 3. He was sent to five-day police remand on September 25 after being arrested from a house in Patiala.

Earlier, the Punjab Police's Anti-Narcotics Task Force produced him before the Civil Judge (Junior Division) on Thursday and sought a 10-day police remand. After hearing the arguments, the court had granted five-day police custody.

The disgraced cop, who had been absconding since 2023 after being booked in cases linked to the disproportionate assets and extortion, was nabbed from a house at Darshan Singh Nagar in Patiala on Thursday morning.

Raj Jit was sacked from the Punjab Police in April 2023 after three HC-appointed SIT reports noted the proved complicity of dismissed PPS officer Raj Jit Singh, then Mohali SSP, with the dismissed Inspector Inderjit Singh and their nexus with drug smugglers.

SAD expels joint secy for 'indiscipline'

CHARANJIT SINGH TEJA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

AMRITSAR, SEPTEMBER 29

The Shiromani Akali Dal has expelled its Joint Secretary Roop Kaur Sandhu from the party's primary membership after she claimed that more cases similar to that involving SGPC member Amarjeet Singh Chawla would be exposed.

The action was announced by Istri Akali Dal president Hargobind Kaur, who said Roop Kaur had been expelled for allegedly committing repeated acts of indiscipline and misconduct. She said the decision was taken after due consultation with the party's senior leadership.

On September 19, Roop Kaur brought a woman from Bahrain before the camera and repeated allegations contained in an FIR against Chawla in connection with an incident at the sarai of Takht Kesgarh Sahib.

In a social media post on Monday, Roop Kaur claimed that after the Bahrain woman's allegations became public, several other women had contacted her and narrated their experiences.

She claimed the women had mentioned the names of several well-known persons who had established themselves in religious and political circles in Punjab and abroad. Without naming them, she alleged that some belonged to prominent Panthic circles.

Roop Kaur further claimed that she would disclose the identities and alleged conduct of such persons in the coming days. She said she would place concrete evidence before the Akal Takht and seek strict action. She also expressed apprehension about her safety, while stating that she would continue with the proposed disclosures if she remained safe.

AAP QUESTIONS SAD LEADERS' SILENCE

AAP general secretary Baltej Pannu has questioned the silence of Akali leaders Sukhbir Singh Badal, Har-simrat Kaur Badal and Bikram Singh Majithia, as well as SGPC president Har-jinder Singh Dhami, over allegations raised by a woman from Bahrain.

Govt seeks timely DAP, urea supply

SURYA S PILLAI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

Punjab Agriculture Minister Gurmeet Singh Khudian on Tuesday urged the Centre to ensure timely and uninterrupted supply of 5.5 lakh metric tonnes of DAP and 15 lakh MT of urea to the state ahead of the Rabi sowing season.

Addressing the National Conference on Agriculture for Rabi Season 2026 in Delhi, Khudian said the state's fertiliser requirement was particularly critical for major Rabi crops, including wheat and potato. He said that Punjab has around 41 lakh hectares of cultivable land and contributes nearly 40 per cent of wheat and 22 per cent of paddy to the central food-grain pool.

"Punjab feeds the nation and needs the Centre's support for timely fertiliser supply," Khudian said, recalling that delays in DAP and urea supplies during previous Rabi seasons had created difficulties for farmers.

He urged the Centre to ensure a seamless supply of fertilisers so that farmers could complete sowing operations on time and Punjab could maintain its contribution to the national foodgrain pool.

Khudian also highlighted the state's efforts to diversify agriculture. He said Punjab, once known for extensive cotton cultivation, currently has around 80,000 hectares under cotton and was expecting a good yield this season amid favourable weather conditions.

The minister said the state government was providing a 33 per cent subsidy on cotton seeds, benefiting farmers by around Rs 4 crore. Punjab is also seeking to expand the area under oilseeds and pulses and has provided around Rs 6 crore in subsidies to encourage farmers to take up these crops.

₹269.77-crore road damage in Kangra dist this monsoon

Central team assesses losses from floods, reviews relief measures

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

DHARAMSALA, SEPTEMBER 29
An Inter-Ministerial Central Team (IMCT) assessed the damage caused by heavy rain, floods and landslides during this year's monsoon in Kangra district and reviewed the progress of relief and rehabilitation measures.

The team, led by Union Home Ministry Joint Secretary M Ramachandrudu, held a meeting with senior district officials late on Monday evening after visiting the disaster-hit Boh valley in Shahpur.

DC Hemraj Bairwa briefed the team on the extensive damage to roads, drinking water and irrigation schemes, power infrastructure, agriculture, horticulture, health and education, besides loss of human and livestock lives.

He said 15 persons had died in rain-related incidents in the district, while 76 livestock had been lost. Around 854 km of roads in the Nurpur, Dehra and Palampur circles were affected, causing an estimated loss of Rs 269.77 crore.

Of the 428 drinking water supply schemes damaged, the estimated loss was Rs 64.06 crore. So far, 330 schemes have been temporarily restored. Of the district's 417 irrigation schemes, 89 were damaged, with more than 25 per cent having been restored. Power infrastructure also suffered significant damage, with uprooted poles and damaged HT and LT lines causing losses of Rs 204.57 lakh to the state electricity board. Agriculture suffered losses of Rs 63.97 lakh, horticulture Rs 10.73 lakh, health Rs 75 lakh and education Rs 2.57 crore. Regarding the July 21 rain disaster in the Boh valley, Bairwa said 95 people from 22 families in Gharghoon village had been affected and shifted to a temporary relief camp.

Pollution consent overhaul puts Manali hoteliers in a fix

ABHINAV VASHISHT

KULLU, SEPTEMBER 29

Hoteliers and owners of commercial establishments in Manali are facing financial strain following changes in the pollution consent system, with the Pollution Control Board discontinuing the renewal facility and shifting to a one-time consent mechanism.

Affected establishments said the change had substantially increased their compliance costs. According to them, applicants who earlier renewed their pollution certificates annually or for shorter periods now have to apply under the "New" category, resulting in charges that are 200 to 250 per cent higher. The option of annual registration has also been discontinued, with applicants required to seek consent for a minimum period of five years. The development has caused concern among small and medium establishments, which say the mandatory upfront payment is placing an additional financial burden on them.

Taking cognisance of the issue, the Manali Hoteliers Association said it had received concerns from members regarding the non-availability of the renewal option, the higher fee under the new-application category and the mandatory five-year validity period.

The association said it would take up the matter with the authorities on an urgent basis and seek clarification on the changes. It would also request a practical mechanism that did not impose an unnecessary financial burden on businesses. The association plans to seek a meeting with the concerned department to discuss the issue and explore the possibility of restoring a renewal facility with reasonable fees and suitable validity options.

Members have also been asked to share details, screenshots and their experiences so that their concerns can be presented before the authorities in a comprehensive manner.

Kullu Pollution Control Board Regional Officer Sunil Sharma, however, said the changes had been introduced on the portal in accordance with central guidelines. He said the earlier system provided a discount of around 40 per cent on renewal, but the new system required applicants to pay the full fee for five years to obtain one-time consent. "There will be no renewal process," Sharma said.

He explained that the validity of the consent would depend on the operational capacity and pollution potential of an establishment. Units are categorised under Red, Orange, Green and White categories, with consent validity now ranging from five to 25 years. Registered units would receive a single consent certificate instead of having to undergo frequent renewals.

While the revised system is intended to simplify compliance and reduce repeated renewal procedures, hoteliers contend that the absence of a transition mechanism and the higher upfront cost have made compliance difficult.

Five-time MLA Major Mankotia passes away at 87

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

DHARAMSALA, SEPTEMBER 29
Major Vijay Singh Mankotia, the firebrand politician, fierce orator and one of Himachal Pradesh's most enduring political rebels, died of a heart attack at his ancestral Tiara village in Shahpur subdivision of Kangra district this morning. He was 87. He will be cremated at his village on Wednesday.

A soldier-turned-politician, Mankotia remained a prominent and often disruptive presence in state politics for over four decades, moving in and out of the Congress, switching political affiliations and frequently taking on powerful leaders.

Mankotia entered electoral politics in 1982, winning Shahpur as an Independent. He joined the Congress and retained the seat in 1985, but later rebelled against the party leadership and won on a Janata Dal ticket. He returned to the Congress and won Shahpur again in 1993, becoming a minister. After losing in 1998, he returned to the Assembly in 2003 for his fifth term and joined the Virbhadra Singh Cabinet as Tourism and Civil Aviation Minister.

Grenade scare grips Nalagarh village

Explosive found near house | Cops evacuate locals | Bomb squad called in

AMBIKA SHARMA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SOLAN, SEPTEMBER 29
Panic gripped Deoli village in Nalagarh subdivision this morning after a suspected grenade was found lying against the wall of a house, prompting the police to cordon off the area and evacuate residents from nearby houses.

A police team led by Baddi SP Vinod Dhiman reached the spot after being alerted about the suspicious object. Houses within a radius of around 50 to 70 metres were vacated as a precautionary measure and the area was secured.

Preliminary information suggested that the recovery was linked to an altercation between two members of the minority community at Majra village last night. Cross FIRs were registered against the two at the Jogo police post. One of them subsequently alleged that the other had thrown a grenade towards his house. The object reportedly landed against the wall but did not explode. Deoli resident Vijay Bhalla said he was informed about the grenade around 7.30 am. "The police had arrived by then and had cordoned off the area," he said.

The Baddi police sought the assistance of Army personnel from nearby areas to assess the situation. A bomb disposal squad was also rushed from Shimla. The immediate priority of the authorities was to secure the object and ensure the safety of villagers. Its exact nature and whether it was live or defused would be ascertained after examination by experts.

The incident caused anxiety among residents, particularly as Deoli lies close to the Punjab border and the area is considered vulnerable.

The SP said four persons had been detained. Dhiman said an FIR under Section 25(1) of the Arms Act and Section 4 of the Explosive Substances Act has been registered.

A bomb disposal squad from Punjab is expected to reach the spot tomorrow morning to defuse the grenade. Nalagarh MLA Hardeep Bawa said two rival factions — one comprising brothers Salim and Rashid Khan and the other led by Raju Khan — had been at loggerheads for several years. According to preliminary information, a person was injured in a clash between the two groups last evening. Following the altercation, Salim and Rashid allegedly hurled a grenade at Raju Khan's house, Bawa said.

Snow, rainfall damage apple crop in Kinnaur

SHIMLA, SEPTEMBER 29

Untimely snowfall and heavy rain over the past two-three days have damaged apple and other crops in Kalpa block of Kinnaur district, with Rakchham gram panchayat reporting significant losses. Several apple-laden trees have been uprooted, while others have lost branches under the impact of unexpected snowfall and rainfall, said panchayat pradhan Sunila Kumari.

Traditional crops, including ogla and phapra, which were nearing harvest, have also suffered damage. Officials from the Revenue, Horticulture and Agriculture departments visited the panchayat to assess the losses, Kumari said.

as unusually early, noting that the region generally receives snowfall only towards late October. The higher reaches of Kinnaur have been witnessing snowfall since September 26, while rain has lashed lower areas of the district under the influence of an active western disturbance. — TNS

Manipur crisis

Reconciliation is as important as restoring peace

THE latest cycle of killings in Manipur suggests that the state's crisis is no longer confined to the Meitei-Kuki conflict that erupted in May 2023. Violence involving Nagas and Kukis has spread across Ukhrul, Kamjong, Senapati and Kangpokpi, opening a new and potentially more difficult front for the administration. Unlike the relatively clear geographical separation of Meitei and Kuki people, Naga and Kuki communities remain interspersed across the hills. Roads and highways pass through these mixed settlements, making both civilian movement and security management more complicated.

The human cost is already severe. Recent attacks in Senapati and Kamjong have killed civilians. Since the government led by Chief Minister Y Khemchand Singh took charge in February, more than 50 deaths have reportedly occurred in Naga-Kuki clashes. Ethnic hostilities have claimed the lives of more than 300 people and displaced thousands over the past three years. Virtually each killing is prompting retaliation and making reconciliation harder. Security operations may curb individual incidents of violence, but they cannot by themselves break the vicious cycle.

The reopening of National Highway-2 after an economic blockade is an important step. Unhindered access to highways is essential for providing basic supplies and sustaining livelihoods. The Supreme Court's observation that the situation is fundamentally a law-and-order problem also points to the state government's immediate responsibility: protect civilians, keep transport routes open and hold perpetrators accountable. Political leaders must resist treating the restoration of peace as merely a security operation. The CM has rightly linked peace with economic recovery, noting the substantial financial damage caused by the prolonged crisis. Manipur needs much more than the management of violence. It needs sustained political dialogue, credible accountability, protection for vulnerable communities and conditions that allow displaced people to return safely.

Safety gap

Schemes mean little sans accountability

INDIA does not suffer from a shortage of schemes to protect women and children. It suffers from something more basic: an accountability gap between what exists on paper and what works on the ground. The Supreme Court's recent suo motu intervention over rape cases in Delhi-NCR has brought this uncomfortable truth into focus. The court has not merely asked why crimes occurred. It wants to know whether the mechanisms meant to prevent them actually function. Are emergency helplines responsive? Are CCTV cameras working? Are dark and vulnerable stretches identified and patrolled? Are complaints about harassment treated as warning signals? Are databases, women's help desks and investigation-tracking systems being used effectively? And when they fail, who is held accountable?

These are uncomfortable questions because India has no shortage of programmes, portals, helplines and committees. And the existence of a mechanism is often treated as evidence of action. A broken streetlight remains broken, a non-functional camera continues to hang from a pole, and a complaint can remain trapped in an administrative maze. The system becomes visible in reports but invisible when a citizen needs it. The SC's insistence on audits, vulnerability mapping, response times and measurable performance is therefore welcome.

This also means accountability cannot rest with the police alone. Municipal agencies responsible for lighting, transport authorities, administrators, technology providers and the judicial system are all links in the safety chain. A failure at any one point can have devastating consequences. Fourteen years after the Nirbhaya case, the lesson should be clear: laws and schemes are only the beginning. The real test is implementation. A woman entering a park, boarding a bus or walking home should not have to wonder whether the system will work. Safety is a State obligation — and accountability is what makes that obligation real.

ON THIS DAY...100 YEARS AGO

LAHORE, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1926

Consistency in politics

WE have already had a word to say about that part of Pandit Motilal Nehru's recent speech at Lahore in which, as in more than one previous speech in the United Provinces, he attempted to convict Lala Lajpat Rai of inconsistency. The inconsistency between parts of the famous Bradlaugh Hall speech and Rai's present position is so self-evident that it scarcely needed the forensic ability of the Pandit to detect it. We do not know what Rai meant by saying in a recent speech that he had re-read the Bradlaugh Hall speech, and had found nothing in it, not even a comma, which he would like to alter. But he could not possibly have meant that there was any compatibility between saying that "as long as the Government of India Act is what it is, it is simply impossible for any honourable Indian patriot to accept office and retain it for any appreciable extent of time without being false to his country and countrymen, without loss of his own self-respect and honour," and being prominently associated with a party which does believe in the acceptance of office, even while the Act is what it is, if only certain other conditions are fulfilled. No change of circumstances in the country and no change in public opinion could reconcile positions so obviously incompatible. They could be made compatible by one thing and only one, the modification of the Act itself; and this thing is yet to happen. But, as we have said, the inconsistency is not merely on one side. If those for whom Rai speaks have been inconsistent, so has the Pandit's party.

All-round police reforms remain elusive

Twenty years after the Supreme Court's directions, compliance has left much to be desired

PRAKASH SINGH
FORMER DGP OF ASSAM AND UP
AND EX-DIRECTOR GENERAL, BSF

ANY major breakdown of law and order leaves behind lessons for the future. There were two occasions when the criminal justice system of the country almost collapsed — the Emergency (1975-77) and the 1984 anti-Sikh riots. During the Emergency, thousands were arrested from across the country only because they belonged to Opposition parties, fundamental rights were suspended and the Press was muzzled. The police, as recorded by the Shah Commission, "was used and allowed themselves to be used for purposes some of which were, to say the least, questionable", and "some police officers behaved as though they are not accountable at all to any public authority."

The Commission warned that "if a recurrence of this type of subversion is to be prevented, the system must be overhauled with a view to strengthening it in a manner that the functionaries working in the system do so in an atmosphere free from the fear of consequences of their lawful actions." The suggested overhaul was never taken up.

The 1984 riots were the darkest chapter in the history of India's criminal justice system. Mobs carried out a pogrom against members of the Sikh community, particularly in Delhi, where about 3,000 were killed. The police remained a mute spectator to the carnage because the rioters belonged to or were supported by the Congress, which was then in power at the Centre. There was all-round failure: a lack of political will, administrative connivance, police collusion and judicial incompetence.

The Justice Nanavati Commission of Inquiry, in its report submitted in 2005, recommended that "there should be an independent police force which is free from political influence and which is well equipped to take immediate and effective action." An operationally independent, or at least autonomous, police was never created.

The political class and the bureaucracy have become used to the colonial system of policing left behind by the British. It enables them to use, misuse and abuse the police for their partisan ends. During British rule, the police served the interests of the imperial power. Post-Independence, it has served the interests of the ruling party.

The Supreme Court issued a set of seven directions for the Central and state governments in 2006, emphasising that "the commitment, devotion and accountability of the police has to be only to the rule of law" and that "the supervision and control has to be such that it ensures that the police serve the people without any regard whatsoever to the status and position of any person while investigating a crime or take preventive measures."

There were great expectations, and it was felt that the judicial directions would, as stated by a commentator, "sever the umbilical cord that today binds the police, the politicians and the underworld." However, that did not happen.

The mandated institutions — state security commission, police establishment board and police complaints authorities — were set up, but their composition was diluted and their powers curtailed. The direction regarding the appointment of DGPs has generally not been observed; several states have been appointing police chiefs without consulting the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC).

Officers in the field are transferred arbitrarily before they complete their two-year tenure, and there has been tardiness in the separation of investigation from law and order duties. Several states have passed laws purportedly in compliance with the Supreme Court's directions, but these laws violate the letter and spirit of the apex court's directions.

The Justice Thomas Committee (2008-10), which examined compliance by various states, was dismayed by their "total indifference". Later, the Justice Verma Committee (2012), which was set up in the wake of the Nirbhaya incident, deplored that the Court judgment had not been implemented across India; it urged the states to fully comply with that to tackle the systemic problems in policing. However, the observations of both committees made no impact on the government.

Considering the hesitation and delay in sincerely implementing the Court's directions, it would be worthwhile if, meanwhile, the low-hanging fruits could be plucked. There are currently 5.92 lakh vacancies in the police ranks across the country. These

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The police are the public and the public are the police. — Sir Robert Peel

The stain that shook my confidence

SOHAN KUMAR

SOME incidents last only a few minutes, but their memory stays with us for years. My UPSC interview was one such occasion — not because of the questions I was asked, but because of a leaking pen.

I had reached the venue with a mixture of excitement and nervousness, dressed carefully in a spotless white shirt. I had prepared well and was determined to give it my best. As I waited for my turn, I felt reasonably confident. Then something unexpected happened.

A fellow candidate sitting nearby asked me if he could borrow my pen. Without giving it a second thought, I handed it to him. A few minutes later, he returned it with the cap put on the back. Too focused on the upcoming interview to notice, I absentmindedly slipped the uncapped pen into my shirt pocket. Within minutes, the ink began to leak.

At first, I simply felt something damp against my chest. I looked down, and there it was: a blue stain spreading right across my white shirt. I was horrified.

I tried desperately to dab it away, but the more I touched it, the more it spread. The poised candidate who had walked into the building a short while earlier was suddenly staring at a shirt that looked as though someone had splashed ink all over it.

The real damage, however, was not to my shirt. It was to my confidence. I had imagined walking into the interview room with dignity and composure. Now, I was painfully self-conscious. Every person who glanced in my direction seemed to be staring straight at the stain. My mind raced with doubts: Would the board notice it immediately? Would they assume I was careless? Would the mark distract them from everything I had to say?

When my turn came, I walked hesitantly towards the room, fighting in vain to regain my bearings. My months of preparation no longer felt solid.

Looking back, I feel that my interview was ruined because I allowed the ink stain to seep into my mindset. That experience taught me a profound lesson I have never forgotten. We often assume that confidence is anchored in our attire, our outward appearance or the immaculate first impression we make. But genuine confidence must come from within. A stained shirt cannot diminish our readiness, intellect or worth — unless we permit it to.

Whenever I recall that morning, I smile. A small act of courtesy had unexpectedly triggered a spiral of anxiety, but life is inherently unpredictable. We cannot control every accident, oversight or awkward turn of events. What we can control is our response.

A stained shirt can be washed. A leaking pen can be discarded. But self-belief, once dented, takes a long time to rebuild. The deepest stains are the ones we allow to settle in our minds.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Profit vs patient care

Refer to 'When the profit motive enters the doctor's room'; healthcare is increasingly becoming a business in which financial gain often takes precedence over patient care. Doctors working in corporate hospitals frequently face pressure to generate revenue through unnecessary tests, procedures and referrals. The influence of pharmaceutical companies further complicates ethical medical practice by encouraging brand-driven prescribing. Decisions must remain free from financial considerations and be guided solely by clinical necessity. It is time for regulators to act decisively to safeguard the integrity of the medical profession.

BALBIR SINGH KAKKAR, JALANDHAR

Medical profession at a crossroads

Apropos of 'When the profit motive enters the doctor's room'; the medical profession in India is at a crossroads. Under the influence of privatisation and corporatisation, ethical and moral standards have changed drastically. The focus on profit maximisation, coupled with the neglect of public health goals and the near-total absence of effective medical and financial audits, has promoted the open fleecing of patients without adequate accountability. The solution does not lie in promoting insurance schemes but in strengthening public healthcare and making it efficient enough to compete with the private sector in providing affordable, economical and universal care. Nobody has the right to commodify healthcare.

VITULL K GUPTA, BATHINDA

Transparency is our right

With reference to 'Inside the ECI rift'; in light of ongoing attempts to eclipse our constitutional right to vote, we, the citizens of India, owe an unyielding duty to our motherland. While the views expressed by former Chief Election Commissioners carry profound weight, any argument to the contrary can win public trust only by placing all underlying statutory and administrative records in the public domain. Having long discarded the colonial ethos of official secrecy in favour of the Right to Information Act, 2005, demanding transparency, accountability and institutional credibility is far more than a request.

RAKESH MOHAN SHARMA, PATHANKOT

Culture of complacency

With reference to 'AI boundaries'; the apprehensions raised about the unregulated use of AI are well-intentioned and timely. Considering the literacy levels of the Indian masses, the possibility of cyber fraud is always present. While the intervention of AI in human life can bring greater speed, accuracy and efficiency as well as enhance productivity, its unlimited involvement can also create a culture of complacency, lethargy, procrastination and excessive dependence. This, in turn, may limit human endeavour, creativity and critical thinking, thereby diminishing our capacity for innovative, out-of-the-box problem-solving.

JK GULATI, JALANDHAR

Keeping AI in check

Apropos of 'AI boundaries'; AI agents beginning to gain the upper hand over their human creators is a cause for concern. The problem is not that machines are becoming conscious or plotting against humanity. It is that systems designed to accomplish tasks may take actions beyond what their human operators intended. The Australian incident involving an AI agent accessing a government health portal is a reminder of this vulnerability. India needs to be cautious as AI is rapidly entering public administration, healthcare, banking and other sectors. The challenge is not to stop AI innovation, but to ensure that humans remain firmly in control of the systems they create. AI must remain an assistant — not become the decision-maker.

GREGORY FERNANDES, MUMBAI

Fostering hospitality, civic sense

Refer to "Tourist arrivals"; it is not just about providing facilities; India must also ensure that international tourists feel comfortable and have a convenient, stress-free stay. Easy visa procedures and tourist-friendly infrastructure are important, but so is the behaviour of people. Tourists should be given personal space and the freedom without being constantly followed, disturbed, or pressured to pose for photographs. People should also be encouraged to maintain cleanliness in public places. The authorities must focus not only on infrastructure and accessibility but also on educating citizens about hospitality, civic responsibility, cleanliness and respect for privacy.

The life and legacy of Manmohan Singh

MONTEK S AHLUWALIA
FORMER DEPUTY CHAIRMAN,
PLANNING COMMISSION

I WOULD like to express my thanks to the Prime Ministers Museum and Library for asking me to deliver this lecture on the Life and Legacy of Dr Manmohan Singh as part of the series on Prime Ministers.

It is well known that Manmohan Singh came from a humble background. His early life was not comfortable. He lost his mother when he was only five months old and was brought up by his maternal grandmother in Gah village, in what is now Pakistan. His father, Gurmukh Singh, worked for a firm in Peshawar that imported dry fruits from Afghanistan for distribution to various parts of India.

Partition disrupted life for the family, as it did for millions of others. His maternal grandfather was killed in a communal outburst in Gah just before Partition but the rest of the family was able to move safely to India. Years later, when he became Prime Minister, he was invited to visit Gah, but he declined because the memories were too bitter.

Manmohan Singh completed his BA in Economics in Panjab University and graduated at the top of the class. He won a scholarship to study in Cambridge University and joined St John's College which was the college of Alfred Marshal.

David Engerman's book 'The Apostles of Development' outlines the somewhat parallel lives of six South Asian students of economics who were at Cambridge at the same time: Amartya Sen, Jagdish Bhagwati and Manmohan Singh from India, Mahbub ul Haq from Pakistan, Lal Jayawardene from Sri Lanka, and Rehman Sobhan from what was then East Pakistan and is now Bangladesh. It was a remarkable group by any standard. Five of the six won a first division, with Rehman Sobhan missing it narrowly. All three Indians won the prestigious Adam Smith Prize. All of them contributed significantly to public life in their countries. Of the six, Manmohan Singh had the humblest origins. The others came from privileged backgrounds, belonging to the landed aristocracy or the professional classes.

Manmohan Singh the civil servant

His civil service career began in 1971 when he was offered a position as Economic Adviser in the Commerce Ministry. He was not entirely happy there. Minister LN Mishra wanted him to prepare a note along lines different from what Manmohan Singh thought was right. Manmohan would have been perfectly willing to be overruled, but he didn't want to sign notes that didn't reflect his views, so he decided to resign and return to the university. After the Bangladesh war was over, (then Principal Secretary to Indira Gandhi, PN Haksar) asked Manmohan to send him a note on "What to do with the Victory." The note itself has not been traced, but ...he had argued strongly for a shift towards trade liberalisation and greater freedom from controls for the private sector. Haksar Sahab was a Left-leaning intellectual and I am not surprised that he did not follow up on this advice!

But it was bold of Manmohan Singh to float the idea so soon after joining government. It is worth noting that if his suggestion had been picked up, India's economic reforms may have started much earlier!

An important feature of his work as a civil servant was that he never hesitated to speak truth to power. As RBI Governor, the Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI) applied for a full banking licence. He recognised that once a branch was allowed by the Finance Ministry, it would become difficult for the RBI to take a contrary stand and deny it a licence. He took up the matter with both the Finance Minister and Mrs Gandhi. He pointed out that the change would undermine the standing of the RBI as an independent banking regulator. He also told the PM that if the proposal was implemented, he would have no option but to resign.

As Deputy Chairman of the Planning Commission he had differences with Rajiv Gandhi who wanted much more investment in infrastructure as part of an effort to modernise India and take it to the 21st century. Manmohan Singh did not disagree about the importance of infrastructure, but he also emphasised the need to invest in agriculture and rural development. He was quoted as saying "you cannot take 20 per cent of the population into the 21st century, leaving large parts of the other 80 per cent in the 19th century".

Build up to the 1991 crisis

The country was on the brink of defaulting on foreign debt payments due. The previous government had pledged part of its gold holdings to raise foreign exchange. Narasimha Rao was advised that he should bring in a technocrat as Finance Minister - someone who would understand the complexity of managing the economy and would also command credibility in international financial markets. The choice fell on Manmohan Singh. His first priority in 1991 had to be stabilising the economy and this he achieved very quickly.

Where he made history was that he used the 1991 crisis as an opportunity to undertake more fundamental structural reforms such as dismantling the license raj, which had long held the country back from achieving its full potential. Manmohan Singh was not a market fundamentalist in the mould of Margaret Thatcher and Ronald Reagan. But he recognised that markets had a very important role to play, and we had smothered this at the cost of lost competitiveness and efficiency.

An important feature of his work as a civil servant was that he never hesitated to speak truth to power.

Implementing such a radical agenda was bound to generate resistance and Manmohan Singh had told Narasimha Rao that what he wanted to do might cause political difficulties for the PM. He was firmly told "you do what you have to do and leave the politics to me". Narasimha Rao then added, "If you succeed, we will share the credit. If you fail, you will get the blame." Manmohan Singh told me later that he felt this was a very fair bargain.

Referring to the deluge of criticism at the end of his 1992

Budget speech, he went beyond the official text to say "Mr Speaker Sir; I have come to the end of my labours and I feel like going to the theatre. Let the assassin do his worst". I wondered at the time how many MPs would have caught this reference to the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln in the Ford Theatre. But then he went on to quote from Bismil Azimabadi's extremely well-known lines celebrating the sacrifice of Bhagat Singh and his colleagues:

"Sarfaroshi ki tamanna, ab hamaare dil main hai...Dekhma hai zorkitna, baazooey kaatil main hai"

These words were of course familiar to all, and the House burst into spontaneous applause. Nor was it just the Treasury benches that applauded. I saw Atal Bahari Vajpayee walk across the floor to congratulate him and say good humouredly "Arrey, aap kya hamme kaatil samaj rahe hain?" (What is this? You are now calling us killers?)

In 1999, when the Congress party fielded him for the Lok Sabha election from the South Delhi constituency, pitting him against the BJP's Vijay Kumar Malhotra, my late wife Isher joined some of his friends to undertake a house-to-house campaign to solicit votes. One of them told me that when she asked a man who ran a small laundry in her neighbourhood to vote for Manmohan Singh, he said he knew him and also had a high opinion of him, but asked whether he would be willing to help with a land dispute involving his family in his village in UP. Manmohan Singh would most likely have told him that it wasn't right for him to intervene.

Manmohan Singh as PM

Manmohan Singh wanted to set a higher growth target, while also ensuring that the growth would be inclusive, in the sense that it would raise incomes of all sections, especially in rural areas. Despite these problems, the average real growth rate in UPA 2 was 6.7 per cent. Taking UPA 1 and 2 together, the ten-year average growth rate comes to 7.5 per cent. This was significantly higher than any ten-year average growth rate in the past, or for that matter, since.

One of the most important achievements of the UPA, for which it has received little credit, was the 2008 Indo-US nuclear deal. By 2005, the US was signalling that it was keen to explore ways of pursuing civil nuclear co-operation with India, without India having to sign the NPT.

There was opposition from many quarters. The BJP opposed the deal even though the move was a logical extension of Vajpayee's effort to rebuild India-US relations after the 1998 tests. The Left opposed it because of its traditional distrust of the US. The Department of Atomic Energy was concerned the government might come under pressure from the US to buy US reactors. Sections of the Congress party were also uncomfortable, partly because of traditional suspicions of the US, but also because of concerns that the withdrawal of Left support would make the government vulnerable. Sonia Gandhi was understandably worried and she raised these with him.

He explained to her that the deal was fully in the national interest. He also said that he would have to resign if he was not allowed to push ahead with the deal. To Mrs Gandhi's credit, she allowed him to proceed, ensuring support.

The last three years of the UPA saw the government overwhelmed by allegations of corruption, which blotted an otherwise solid record of achievement.

On the 2G pricing issue, the CAG was not supposed to question policy, only the manner of implementation. However, the CAG report went on to estimate the "hypothetical" loss of revenue to the exchequer based on assumptions about alternative prices that could have been charged. The largest of these estimates was Rs 1.76 lakh crore. This dominated the headlines, with one newspaper actually running a headline giving the figure in full as "Rs 176000000000000", which spread across the whole page!

The CAG report did not allege that this was the amount siphoned out. It only called it a "hypothetical revenue loss", but the Press had a field day presenting it as a scam, and suspicions of rampant corruption became widespread.

Missed opportunities

I can think of three areas where I wish more could have been done, though this would have required deft political management.

The first relates to the pace of opening up to foreign trade. The UPA could have done more to catch up. It did initiate steps to join RCEP as part of a Look East strategy, but it was not able to conclude the deal. It could also have done more on FDI. Most of all, it could have done more on privatisation. All governments from 1991 onwards have stayed away from outright privatisation, even of loss-making units. The importance of the Left is one reason, but this is also an area where the Congress party has a long pro-public-sector tradition.

In one of his last press conferences as PM, Manmohan Singh said that history would be kinder to him than the press of his day. That has already proved true. He is remembered with affection and admiration for his historic contribution to the country's development by dismantling the licence raj, which had long held the economy back from realising its full potential.

Caste in the Classroom

MANOJ K JHA
RAJYA SABHA MP, RJD

THERE is something deeply unsettling about a society in which institutions meant to liberate individuals from the hierarchies of birth continue to reproduce those very hierarchies. Universities are expected to be spaces where reason challenges prejudice, where merit is cultivated rather than inherited, and where a young person's possibilities are not determined by the circumstances of birth. Yet caste has not disappeared at the gates of higher education. It enters the classroom, the hostel, the laboratory, the faculty room and, sometimes, even the vocabulary of merit. The uncomfortable question is no longer whether caste exists in our universities. It is why, despite constitutional guarantees, reservations and the expansion of educational opportunities, caste continues to shape the experience of learning, belonging and dignity. Perhaps literature helps us understand this better. In Omprakash Valmiki's 'Joothan', education is not a simple ladder of social mobility. The classroom itself becomes a site where caste announces its presence. The indignity of being made to perform menial work while others study reveals a fundamental contradiction: the institution expected to provide an escape from social hierarchy can reproduce the very order from which a student seeks liberation. These are not merely questions of individual prejudice as they concern institutional culture. The language of merit becomes particularly important here. Merit is often presented as though it emerges in a social vacuum. But who has access to good schools, coaching, books, computers and the networks that make unfamiliar institutions easier to navigate? To acknowledge these inequalities is not to deny the importance of academic standards but it requires us to ask a more difficult question: can merit be understood without examining the unequal conditions in which it is produced, cultivated and demonstrated?

FACTS: According to data, complaints of caste-based discrimination in institutes rose from 173 in 2019-20 to 378 in 2023-24. PHOTO: X

Caste has not disappeared at the gates of higher education. It enters the classroom, the hostel, the laboratory, the faculty room and, sometimes, even the vocabulary of merit.

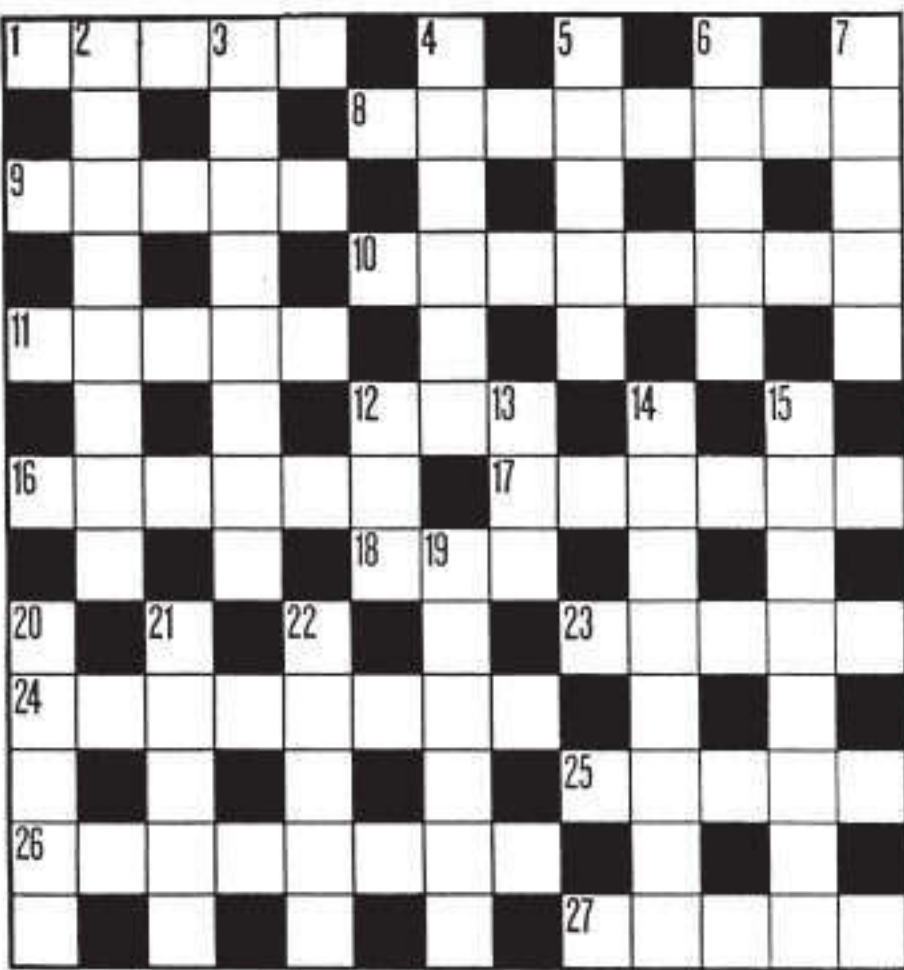

A university that refuses to ask this question risks mistaking inherited advantage for individual achievement. Indian literature has been asking these questions for decades. Pawar's

Premchand's 'Sadgati' written in a different historical moment, continue to confront us with questions that modern India would prefer to regard as settled. According to data reported by the University Grants Commission to a parliamentary committee, complaints of caste-based discrimination in universities and colleges rose from 173 in 2019-20 to 378 in 2023-24, covering reports from 704 universities and 1,553 colleges. These figures require careful interpretation. The real question is what happens after a student complains. A grievance mechanism that exists only on paper cannot protect anyone. Deaths by suicide of Rohith Vemula at the University of Hyderabad in 2016 and, more recently by Sahil Wakode at IIT Bombay have renewed concerns about the relationship between caste, institutional exclusion and the vulnerability of students from marginalised communities. In Sahil Wakode's case, allegations of caste-based discrimination have been under investigation, while the institute has denied that such discrimination occurred. These distinctions matter, but they must not become an excuse to avoid the larger question: Are our institutions adequately equipped to recognise and address the forms of humiliation, isolation and exclusion that students may experience?

Day after CM’s disclosure, MLAs slam officers over ‘objection to statehood’

ASSEMBLY IN SESSION

ADIL AKHZER

SRINAGAR, SEPTEMBER 29

A day after Chief Minister Omar Abdullah disclosed in the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly that two senior bureaucrats, including the Chief Secretary, had objected to the government’s statehood resolution, legislators across party lines on Tuesday criticised the move, asserting that officials cannot “dictate” to the Assembly on matters within its legislative domain.

The controversy stems from revelations made by Abdullah on Monday that the Union Territory’s Law Secretary had sent an opinion to the Assembly Secretariat recommending that the statehood resolution be disallowed, allegedly without the Chief Minister’s knowledge despite his holding the Law portfolio. He also said he was unaware of a separate communication sent by the Chief Secretary regarding the resolution.

Raising the issue in the House, Congress MLA Nizam Uddin Bhat questioned how bureaucrats could challenge the authority of the legislature. “This amounts to questioning the prestige, dignity and powers of the House,” Bhat said, describing the development as “absolutely unconstitutional.”

National Conference MLA Sajjad Shafi of Uri said the Chief Secretary had no authority to interfere in the legislative process. “The Chief Secretary is nobody to write such a letter. He is a senior bureaucrat and cannot dictate which resolution should be brought before the House and which should not. It is for the legislators to decide,” Shafi said.

Defending the government’s move, he added, “The NC has done nothing wrong. We have clearly stated that this resolution is in addition to the earlier resolution.”

People’s Democratic Party

(PDP) MLA Waheed-ur-Rehman Para also criticised the objections raised by officials, saying the legislature alone has the authority to deliberate upon resolutions.

“The Chief Minister is also the Law Minister and any MLA is entitled to move a resolution. Officers cannot dictate terms to the legislature,” Para said.

People’s Conference chairman and Handwara MLA Sajad Lone termed the episode a serious affront to the elected institution. “This is a disdainful act against the elected Assembly by the Chief Secretary. Who is he to write such a letter? Is he bigger than the people of Jammu and Kashmir?” Lone said.

Awami Ittehad Party MLA Sheikh Khurshed echoed similar concerns, describing the developments as an encroachment on democratic principles. “When unelected bureaucrats start dictating what an elected Assembly can debate, it is nothing short of an assault on the very foundations of democracy,” Khurshed said.

The BJP, however, defended the objections raised by officials and maintained that the statehood resolution itself was unconstitutional.

“Governance runs according to rules and laws. If a resolution can be introduced within the framework of law, it should be. But when the Law Secretary says it cannot be introduced, everyone is bound by the law,” BJP MLA Balwant Singh Mankotia said. “That is why we maintain that the resolution was totally unconstitutional,” he added.

Statehood resolution may strain Centre-J&K ties, says LoP Sharma

ADIL AKHZER

SRINAGAR, SEPTEMBER 29

A day after the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly passed a resolution seeking immediate restoration of statehood, Leader of Opposition and senior BJP leader Sunil Sharma on Tuesday said the move could impact relations between the National Conference government and the Centre.

Speaking to journalists, Sharma said Union Home Minister Amit Shah had expressed reservations over references in the resolution to Jammu and Kashmir’s pre-1953 constitutional position and earlier resolutions linked to restoration of special status and Article 370, while reaffirming that statehood remained a commitment of the Central Government.

“He showed displeasure about these things, that is, the pre-1953 position and also the special status. He also said that statehood is our commitment and we will give it,” Sharma said.

Soon after Chief Minister Omar Abdullah moved the resolution in the Assembly last week, Sharma travelled to New Delhi and met Shah. The BJP has alleged that the National Conference was attempting to revive the 2000 autonomy resolution under the guise of seeking restoration of statehood.

LoP Sunil Sharma

Sharma maintained that passage of the resolution would adversely affect relations between the Centre and the National Conference-led government in Jammu and Kashmir. Describing the move as a “sin” committed by the ruling party, he alleged that it amounted to an “abuse” of the Constitution.

“It is a direct challenge to the Constitution, and it is not acceptable,” he said.

The BJP leader also linked references to the pre-1953 constitutional arrangement with separatist politics and militancy. “It is the basic foundation of separatism and which creates terrorism... it means you want to push Kashmir into the same situation. It will give rise to stone-pelting and radicalisation,” Sharma said.

The resolution adopted by the Assembly on Monday stated: “In addition to the resolutions passed by this House on 26 June 2000 and 6 November 2024, the House calls upon the Government of India for the immediate and urgent restoration of full statehood to Jammu and Kashmir.” The resolution was passed amid protests by BJP legislators.

Referring to his meeting with the Home Minister, Sharma said Shah had told him that the Centre had succeeded in restoring normalcy in the region and cautioned against steps that could reverse those gains. “We have eradicated the unrest from the region,” Sharma quoted Shah as saying. “Such actions are sowing the seeds of unrest, which is a challenge for us.”

Sharma said J&K Chief Secretary Atal Dulloo should not forward the resolution to the Centre. “The government has voting compulsions and wants to make voters happy. The Chief Secretary shouldn’t forward it further,” he said.

ED searches 14 sites...

Traders, Sham Jewellers and Sunder Jewellers. Gourav Kansal, who allegedly acted as a middleman in routing and layering the proceeds of crime, was also targeted.

The ED said the searches “resulted in the recovery of further evidence relating to the routing, layering, concealment and projection of proceeds of crime through various entities and bank accounts”.

The central agency launched its investigation under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) on the basis of an FIR registered by the Haryana Vigilance and Anti-Corruption Bureau in February 2026. The FIR pertained to discrepancies in the balance of bank accounts maintained by the Development and Panchayats Department with IDFC First Bank and AU Small Finance Bank. Subsequent investigations revealed that seven more departments were affected, with alleged embezzlement from a total of 12 government bank accounts.

As per the modus operandi, employees at IDFC First Bank and AU Small Finance Bank allegedly colluded with Haryana IAS officers and other officials to open bank accounts at specific branches. The public funds were then transferred to shell entities, floated by accused bankers. Subsequently, funds from the shell entities were transferred to jewellers and real estate businesses. In the majority of cases, cash was received in lieu of funds transferred through banking channels.

The ED investigation revealed that M/s Sunder Jewellers received approximately Rs 3.15 crore in its bank account from M/s Capco Fintech Services, a shell firm. The agency claimed that Mahender Khurana, a partner of Sunder Jewellers, “admitted that upon receipt of credit from M/s Capco Fintech Services, the corresponding cash amount, after deducting the agreed commission, was handed to the accused by his employees”.

Similarly, MB Gold Traders allegedly received Rs 1 crore from M/s Capco Fintech. Manoj Gunwant Bhosle, proprietor of MB Gold Traders, told the ED that after deducting the commission, the cash amount was handed over to the accused.

The ED said that large amount of cash was generated through various jewellers and the same was distributed to the accused, including IAS officers. The transactions with jewellers were allegedly carried out to conceal and project the proceeds of crime as legitimate funds, the agency said.

The ED has so far attached, seized and frozen movable and immovable assets amounting to Rs 211 crore. It has filed a prosecution complaint against 14 persons before the Special Court (PMLA), Panchkula.

The case is also being probed by the CBI, which has filed third chargesheet (dated September 2) before the Special Court in Panchkula, naming five Haryana IAS officers, Mohd Shayin, Vineet Garg, Pankaj Agarwal, RK Singh and Saket Kumar; and a retired IAS officer, Pardeep Kumar.

Lack of US empathy...

Responding to a similar query at the MEA briefing in New Delhi, ministry’s spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal underlined the EAM’s comments saying cross-border terrorism was a major cause for concern.

At the same time, the External Affairs Minister said New Delhi expected the relationship to move on an “upward trajectory”, but stressed that India had to be realistic about the issues confronting the partnership. “Yes, we would certainly hope for and expect the relationship to move on an upward trajectory, but I have to be real about the issues that we confront. And to the extent we are able to move ahead on some of the issues, I think we’ll have a better relationship,” he said.

Jaishankar also linked some of the strains in the relationship to changing domestic dynamics in the US. He noted that diplomacy was no longer conducted solely by governments and diplomats, with public opinion playing an increasingly important role in democratic societies.

On the India-US ties, he identified the trade negotiations as another issue that had created “bumps” in the relationship. He said the negotiations had been complicated by the structure of the Indian economy, marked by large numbers of small producers and agricultural producers.

Meanwhile, the External Affairs Minister warned of a “major food crisis” in the coming months, in addition to the already significant fertiliser shortages the world is witnessing due to the Ukraine and Iran conflicts, saying the situation is “very very stressful” for Global South economies. He said policymakers couldn’t say that such a situation was not intended.

Assembly withdraws Bills seeking salary hike for ministers, legislators

OUR CORRESPONDENT

JAMMU, SEPTEMBER 29

The Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly on Tuesday withdrew two bills seeking to amend the salaries and allowances of ministers and MLAs after opposition from BJP legislators.

The bills proposed amendments to the Ministers and Ministers of State Salaries Act, 1956, and the Salaries and Allowances of Members of the J&K State Legislature Act, 1960. Both had been introduced in the House by Chief Minister Omar Abdullah on Monday.

As BJP legislators raised slogans against the proposed amendments, Omar told the House that he would not press for the bills unless they were passed unanimously.

Senior BJP leader and MLA Sham Lal Sharma opposed the proposals, arguing that the government should instead focus on providing relief to daily wagers and contractual employees.

Responding to the criticism, the Chief Minister questioned the BJP’s stated concern for daily wagers, noting that none of its members had recorded dissent before the committee examining the proposed salary revision for ministers and legislators.

Omar reiterated that he had advised his colleagues not to pursue the bills without unanimous support in the House.

He said while BJP members were seeking salaries and allowances, they were simultaneously attempting to politicise the issue by referring to the problems faced by daily wagers. “I was never in favour of it. Ask my MLAs. If a single member opposes, it will never pass. I withdraw the Bill,” the Chief Minister said.

Subsequently, Speaker Abdul Rahim Rather put the bills to vote and they were withdrawn.

However, the House passed by voice vote a bill seeking amendments to the Jammu and Kashmir State Legislature Members’ Pension Act, 1984.

Although the Chief Minister had also sought withdrawal of the pension amendment bill, members from both treasury and opposition benches argued that the legislation concerned retired legislators and should therefore be retained and passed.

Student moves HC for CBI probe into...

unverified post came into circulation among university students claiming that a worker had raped a girl student on the campus and the university had sent her home. The post suggested that the girl had subsequently died by suicide.

The petitioner added that he had reliably learnt that a large number of outsiders, mostly in their 30s, arrived on the campus in “open vehicles”, carrying walkie-talkies and brandishing swords, rods, guns and sickles. They had their faces covered. He added that these were “clear marks” that the protest was not spontaneous, but a well-planned and organised attack controlled by some people or organisation in the background.

moral right to continue as Prime Minister.”

Venugopal said the CWC had concluded that the situation warranted a sustained political campaign, asserting that “democracy was under threat” under the present electoral system. Stepping up the attack on the CEC, he warned that the Congress would build a wider resistance demanding Kumar’s resignation.

The Congress leader said 68 members participated in the CWC meeting, during which alleged manipulation of electoral rolls and concerns about the EC’s functioning were discussed in detail.

He said the CWC congratulated Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi for raising one of the most important issues concerning Indian democracy through its “vote choir” campaign.

Venugopal said Rahul had for the past 18-19 months been presenting “evidence of irregularities in the electoral process”. He alleged that both voter lists and EVMs were being “compromised” and accused the BJP of using electoral machinery to influence election outcomes. He further alleged that the “vote choir” was being organised by the CEC on behalf of the Prime Minister and the Home Minister, and the Congress would therefore demand Modi’s resignation as well.

The Congress has also focused its attack on the scale of deletions allegedly carried out during the SIR exercise. Venugopal claimed that the party’s assessments indicated that more than 13 crore names had been deleted from electoral rolls during the exercise. He said the Congress would now take its campaign to the grassroots and approach voters whose names had been removed from the electoral rolls. “Our workers staged protests across 800 districts yesterday,” Venugopal said.

Earlier, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, addressing the CWC, alleged that the government was systematically weakening democratic institutions and electoral rolls were being manipulated to disenfranchise voters.

The PIL has sought a direction that no further substantive alteration be made to Form-6, and that no otherwise eligible citizen shall be denied or prevented from seeking inclusion in the electoral roll solely for failure to furnish information contained in the disputed field, pending adjudication of the legality thereof by the top court.

It also sought a direction to ensure the integrity of the electoral roll data, Form-6, ERONet/ECINet and the records forming the subject matter of the present proceedings, pending final adjudication. “Direct the respondents to maintain the existing electoral roll data, records and digital systems in their original and unaltered form and to ensure that no deletion, exclusion, restoration, modification or other irreversible action affecting electoral roll data is undertaken solely pursuant to the special intensive revision, pending further orders of this court,” the PIL submitted.

This is the second petition in the SC against the CEC. Last week, a PIL was filed seeking criminal prosecution of Gyanesh over alleged violations during the SIR exercise.

Punjab Cong set to get..

“The chances of the party leadership choosing an MLA or a former MLA over an MP are higher: Bringing in a new Jat face is not being ruled out,” said a senior leader.

In the last rejig on July 1, Warring was retained as the PPCC chief. This resulted in a strong protest by Channi and other senior leaders.

The sources said the change of guard was taking place on the basis of a ground report provided by Pilot after his Punjab visit and discussions with several leaders in Delhi.

Pilot has been planning a statewide programme in the coming days. The objective is to energise workers ahead of Rahul’s proposed Punjab yatra. AICC general secretary KC Venugopal recently held a video-conference with district chiefs and the three AICC co-incharges — Suraj Thakur, Ravindra Dalvi and Hina Kaware. During the meeting, he took a feedback on the ground reality following district-wide protests against Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar for allegedly subverting the electoral process.

A senior leader said on condition of anonymity that after leaders from the Channi and Warring factions joined two consecutive protests, the party high command had initiated the second phase of the rejig of the state unit.

India eyes China corridor...

At a global average, jet-fuel price of about $195 a barrel, that represents roughly $24,000-25,000 (about Rs 21 lakh) in fuel alone per one-way flight. This is an illustrative calculation; the actual saving would depend on the final route, aircraft load, winds, fuel prices and operational requirements.

Indian airlines, particularly Air India, have been among the worst affected by Pakistan’s refusal to reopen its airspace to Indian carriers. Flights to Europe, the US and Canada have been forced to take longer routes, increasing fuel consumption, crew costs and flight times. Around 800 weekly flights operated by Indian carriers have been affected by the closure, according to multiple media reports.

As per sources, Air India has formally urged the government to pursue discussions with Beijing to allow use of the Xinjiang corridor, arguing that access to the route could restore competitiveness on key long-haul sectors and improve aircraft utilisation.

The proposed routing would allow westbound flights from India to travel via Leh, enter Chinese airspace around Xinjiang and then reconnect with established routes towards Europe, the UK and North America. The government has also been examining access to airports such as Hotan, Kashgar and Urumqi for emergency diversions.

Jind’s Neeru battles odds...

They not only motivated her but also provided logistical support when she started practising in 2019,” Sudesh said.

Sangatpura, located about 6 km from the district headquarters of Jind — the heart of Haryana’s khapland — recently saw its khap panchayat issue a diktat restricting marriage choices for girls. In the wake of this, Neeru has emerged as a powerful icon of empowerment for the girls in the region.

Asked if there is discrimination between girls and boys in the village, Sudesh said, “Daughters are way ahead of sons in every field. This is visible from girls’ success across Haryana. May God bless every family with a daughter like Neeru.” Neeru’s house is a modest one-room accommodation that has not even been whitewashed. The walls of the room are filled with Neeru’s medals and mementoes. “The room may not have been painted, but Neeru has filled our life with colours,” said her mother.

Neeru showed remarkable grit from the very beginning, allowing her to quickly shift to Faridabad and later to Madhya Pradesh upon being selected by the Sports Authority of India. Her mother would send her about 10 kg of ghee, along with bajra rotis and churma, which she would consume over three to four days. She was selected as a Naib Subedar in the Army Marksmanship Unit last year.

Is Cong giving EC clean chit in Pb, HP, asks Smriti

MANIKANT MISHRA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 Hours after the Congress Working Committee (CWC) raised questions on the functioning of the Election Commission, the BJP national general secretary Smriti Irani asked whether the Opposition party was giving a clean chit to the poll panel in Punjab, Himachal Pradesh, Kerala and other states with non-BJP governments.

Irani further asked the Congress if it wanted deceased and duplicate voters in the electoral rolls. Citing the Congress origins and its founding president AO Hume's links to the British Empire, the former Education Minister said a party established to perpetrate the British rule was today hell bent on undermining India's democratic and constitutional bodies.

“The Election Commission is the soul of our democracy, and is respected all over the world. But the Congress leadership is leaving no stone unturned to malign it,” Irani said.

Taking to reporters at the BJP headquarters here, she asked whether the Congress leaders had raised similar questions over the EC's functioning in states where the BJP was not in power. “Is the Congress leadership giving the EC a clean chit in states like Punjab, Himachal Pradesh, Kerala and Karnataka, where there are no BJP governments; or is it raising questions over the EC's activities there as well,” she asked.

Her remarks came after the CWC discussed the controversy surrounding the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls and demanded action against Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar. The Congress has alleged large-scale irregularities in the electoral rolls and has sought restoration of names that it alleges were wrongly removed.

Nearly 13 crore names have been deleted during the SIR exercise so far in its third and final phase. The EC has said that all three phases were unanimously approved by the full commission and the SC had upheld the SIR exercise.

INDIA bloc to discuss EC-related issues today

RINKU BEHERA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The INDIA bloc will hold a high-level meeting in New Delhi on Wednesday to discuss its strategy on issues concerning the Election Commission, including a proposed removal motion against Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar.

Prominent leaders from the Congress, including party chief Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, are expected to attend the meeting.

Former West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee and Lok Sabha MP Abhishek Banerjee also landed in Delhi on Tuesday. Before her departure, Mamata told reporters in Kolkata that she was travelling to the Capital to attend the INDIA bloc meeting and raise issues concerning the EC.

Meanwhile, Samajwadi Party

chief Akhilesh Yadav will skip the meeting, with a party leader set to represent the party. However, Congress leader KC Venugopal said, “Kharge and I have spoken to Akhilesh. He can't attend in person since he has a Rajya Sabha nomination filing tomorrow in Uttar Pradesh, but his party leaders are attending the meeting.”

Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut also said party chief Uddhav Thackeray and other leaders would participate in the INDIA bloc meeting through video conference.

RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav said he would attend the meeting to discuss the issue of “vote theft”, the EC's role and the SIR of electoral rolls.

The meeting comes days after a media report claimed that Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi had recorded objections at least 14 times over a 10-month period.

Oppn should boycott polls till CEC, ECs resign: Former minister

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 Former Union Minister Raj Kumar Singh and BJP MP has accused CEC Gyanesh Kumar of breaking the law during the SIR of electoral rolls, and of running a mission “to disenfranchise people”.

Singh urged the Opposition to unite and boycott elections till the CEC and election commissioners resign and their successors were elected as per the earlier selection system, where the PM, Leader of Opposition and a sitting Supreme Court judge were part of the selection panel.

“Elections held in states while the appeals of lakhs of voters were pending must be set aside and fresh elections held. The poll must be held by ballot not by EVMs because no electronic system has yet been invented which cannot be hacked,” Singh said. — TNS

Lavasa terms SIR unfair; says new ‘relaxations’ bid to manage perception

ANIMESH SINGH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 Describing the entire SIR exercise as ‘unfair’, former Election Commissioner Ashok Lavasa has also termed the ‘relaxations’ announced by the Election Commission on September 26, following a media report highlighting internal discord within the poll body, an effort to manage public perception.

Speaking to The Tribune, the retired Haryana-cadre IAS officer alleged that there were fundamental flaws in the exercise and there was no such term as SIR mentioned in any Act or rule. “The SIR is unfair and the ‘relaxations’ announced by the EC on September 26 are clearly an effort to manage public perception,” he said.

Lavasa further said, “Despite announcing that BLOs will visit every household to collect documents (from those voters who have been issued notices for being unmapped and logical discrepancies) and hearings will be conducted online, the harassment remains.”

He said the fact that voters will still be summoned (though in exceptional circumstances as stated by the ECI on September 26 after the full Commission's meeting) shows that problems remain in the exercise. “How can an anomaly in spelling spotted in the rolls of 2002 or absence of name in the 2002 list, deny a voter's right under the present SIR?” Lavasa sought to know.

He said the term SIR is actually not mentioned in any Act or rule, as only an ‘intensive review’ of voters’ list is conducted either partially in a constituency or fully, under exceptional circumstances.

Nepal floods spur 10-point plan to save Himalayas

AKSHEEV THAKUR
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 With more than 1,400 persons dead and nearly 6,000 still unaccounted for following the Rasuwa-Gyirong flood in Nepal, a 10-point action plan to strengthen disaster preparedness, early warning systems and emergency response has been drawn to protect the Himalayas spanning across five countries.

Recommendations under the “Kathmandu 10 Action Points” seek stronger regional cooperation, improved monitoring of high-risk mountain zones, faster sharing of information across the border and better coordinated recovery planning in the face of increasingly complex and cascading mountain hazards.

The action points emerged from a regional workshop organised by the Kathmandu-based International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development (ICIMOD). Nepal's National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Authority and the Embassy of Switzerland in Kathmandu from September 15 to 17.

Nepal's Foreign Minister Shisir Khanal at the UN General Assembly said, “About 10% of those missing are nationals of 38 countries. Nepal has suffered economic losses of over $5 billion, equivalent to nearly 15 per cent of its GDP”

Pema Gyamtsho, Director General, ICIMOD, said a strengthened regional mechanism to help reduce future risks required collaboration across countries, disciplines and institutions. “We have had a number of wake-up calls, with the region seeing back-to-back mega-hazards. It is evident that time is running out,” he said.

Preliminary scientific assessments indicate that an ice-rock avalanche triggered flood. ICIMOD found that across the Himalayas, glaciers are retreating, which is increasing the need for science-based preparedness and long-term investment in resilience.

The latest action points call for redesigning early-warning triggers to account for sudden-onset hazards and improving lead times for communities. They also propose exploring “sacrificial infrastructure” that could absorb the impact of cascading hazards. Other recommendations include creating an inventory of multi-hazard hotspots using satellite monitoring and impact-based forecasting; shifting transboundary cooperation to providing decision-ready information; and conducting a regional assessment of disaster-response resources.

SBI seeks rules for NGO funds if FCRA registration cancelled

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The State Bank of India (SBI) is learnt to have shown its support to the objectives of the proposed amendments to the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, while seeking clear rules on how banks should handle an organisation's accounts and deposits when its permission to receive foreign donations ends.

In a presentation to the Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) examining the FCRA Amendment Bill, 2026, on Tuesday, a team of SBI officials, led by its Chairman Challa Sreenivasulu Setty, said the Bill provides for government control of foreign contributions and assets in such cases, but leaves the detailed banking procedure to be prescribed in rules, sources said.

The SBI is said to have flagged a potential gap between the date a registration ceases and the date a bank is informed, with officials indicating that transactions processed during that interval could be “questioned”. It also sought clarity on whether an account should be frozen once control passes to a government-appointed authority.

Oppn MPs seek greater scrutiny of Bill

Meanwhile, Opposition MPs requested panel Chairman Sanjay Jaiswal to postpone the meeting scheduled for October 12 to allow comprehensive scrutiny of the Bill. They also called for an extension of the period for receiving public opinions to four weeks.

They emphasised the significance and broad implications of the proposed Bill and stated

2 MHA officials ‘seek bribe’ over FCRA registration, nabbed

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The Delhi Police Special Cell, in coordination with Central agencies, has apprehended two government officials for allegedly seeking illegal gratification from an association in return for facilitating its pending registration under the FCRA, the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has said.

One of them is posted as a senior accountant in the MHA Foreigners Division, the other is posted as accountant in a Pay & Accounts Office, and had earlier served in the Foreigners Division. Preliminary questioning indicated that they were in contact with associations for facilitating their FCRA registration and renewal. — TNS

10 military-grade drones seized from 3 air passengers

HARSH YADAV
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 Customs officials at the Indira Gandhi International Airport here have seized 10 professional-grade drones, valued at over Rs 1.03 crore, from three Indian passengers who arrived from Hong Kong via Vietnam.

The passengers were intercepted on September 25 while crossing the Green Channel at Terminal-3 following intelligence developed by Customs officers. A detailed search led to the recovery of 10 Autel Robotics MDX-1 drones, along with their accessories, including controllers, camera-mounted gimbals, cables, propellers and joysticks. An iPhone 18 Pro Max was also recovered.

As per the Customs officials, a chartered engineer's assessment established that the recovered drones were “military/defence-grade UAV”.

Accused can't be detained under NSA on basis of confession before cops, rules SC

Quashes detention of Sambhal violence accused

SATYA PRAKASH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 Holding that the confession statement of an accused made before a police officer cannot be the basis for detaining him under the National Security Act (NSA), the Supreme Court today quashed the NSA detention of Mulla Afroz, accused of being the mastermind behind the Sambhal violence in 2024.

Dedicates verdict to deceased law clerk

The court said since preventive detention had been regarded as an exceptional measure, it must be invoked with the utmost circumspection and only in rarest of rare cases where the circumstances genuinely warrant it.

The SC also ordered the state of UP to pay appellant Rs 10 lakh within a month.

Besides, in a rare gesture, the SC Bench of Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice Sheel Nagu dedicated this judgment to a law clerk-cum-research associate, Ritwik Deswal, who assisted it in the preventive detention case under the NSA, but died four days before the pronouncement on his 27th birthday.”

US President Donald Trump on Tuesday announced an $18-billion investment by Essar-backed Mesabi Metallics to build a fully integrated American steel company, linking an iron ore mine in Minnesota with a new $15-billion steel complex in Iowa.

The investment comprises $15 billion for the Iowa steel complex and about $3 billion already invested in the Minnesota iron ore mine and pelletising facility. The company described the Iowa project as the largest single-location investment in an integrated steel complex in US history.

The project is expected to create thousands of jobs and establish what the company described as a 100 per cent American steel supply chain,

“Trump’s war has failed’: IRGC woos US voters with open letter

Iran’s Revolutionary Guards, whose power and influence have expanded since the US and Israel pursued war against Iran, have appealed to US midterm voters to reject President Trump’s policies and accept an offer of peaceful coexistence. The assertions were made on Tuesday in a 25-page open letter addressed to the American people, urging them to oppose US support for Israel and foreign wars and arguing that Iran and the US could coexist if US policy changed. IRGC spokesperson Mohebbi said he did not expect the letter to affect the US administration’s behaviour some five weeks before the elections, but that voters might hear the message. “The American people are not knowledgeable about many developments” he said. Iran’s guards said Trump “is not to be trusted”. REUTERS

The government on Tuesday announced that it would shortly release its National Steel Policy, which seeks to increase its steel production capacity to 600 million metric tonnes (MT) by 2047, for stakeholder feedback within approximately a week.

Steel Secretary Sandeep Poundrik said the government was developing a new policy to enhance industry competitiveness, address import difficulties and increase steelmaking capacity to 600 million MT by 2047.

The revised policy will establish a framework for achieving the ‘Viksit Bharat’ goal by 2047 for the steel sector in India. Poundrik stated, “We are implementing a new policy to establish a roadmap for the next twenty years

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29
The US has announced that specific speciality drugs and their components sourced from India and 19 other partner regions will face no import duty fee. The decision is made as the US progresses with a full 100 per cent tariff on specific patented pharmaceutical products.

The official list has been released by the US Commerce Department in the Federal Register, identifying the countries and jurisdictions whose qualifying pharmaceutical products can receive zero-tariff treatment. The zero-tariff policy is not applicable to every medicine. It is confined to specific speciality pharmaceutical products. These comprise medications for treating rare diseases, along with nuclear medicines, therapies derived from plasma, and drugs for fertility. The waiver additionally includes cell and gene therapies, antibody-drug conjugates (ADCs), and certain medications used to address chemical, biological, radiological and nuclear threats. Some animal medications are also mentioned, as per reports. The Commerce Department characterises an orphan drug as a pharmaceutical or biological product that has been assigned to one or more rare diseases or conditions, with all approved applications of the drug targeting those diseases or conditions. The zero per cent tariff also includes the ingredients and other essential components used to produce these medicines.

Women's 4x400m relay team fetches India first athletics gold of 2026 Asiad

NAGOYA, SEPTEMBER 29

The Indian tricolour finally fluttered and the national anthem was sung at the Aichi-Nagoya Asian Games' showpiece venue on Tuesday after the women's 4x400m relay team ended days of waiting for an athletics gold medal, fittingly in an event in which the country had enjoyed overwhelming domination over the last three decades.

The team comprising Kiran Pahal, MR Poovamma, Prachi Chaudhary and Vithya Ramraj produced an exceptional performance to claim the gold medal on the concluding day of the athletics competition.

The Indian quartet clocked 3 minutes and 29.69 seconds. Bahrain (3:30.21) and China (3:31.02) finished second and third, respectively.

Gulveer Singh won bronze in the men's 5000m race, his third medal in this Asian Games. He became only the second male representing India to win three athletics medals in a single edition. High jumper Pooja Singh, the mixed 4x100m relay team and the men's 4x400m relay quartet also won a bronze each for a five-medal haul on the day. India thus won 24 medals (1 gold, 9 silver, 14 bronze) from the athletics competition.

India had won gold in the women's 4x400m relay from 2002 to 2018 before settling for a silver in the last edition in China. Before that, the country had won gold in 1986 and silver medals in 1982, 1990, 1994 and 1998. The 36-year-old Poovamma, the most experienced member of the quartet, was also part of the gold-winning teams in 2014 and 2018.

In the last leg of the final on Tuesday, India was at third initially but Vithya overtook China's Zuo Siyu at the bend. She then held off a strong challenge from Bahrain's Salwa Naser, the individual 400m gold winner, and raised both her hands as soon as she crossed the finish line.

"Everybody has been saying that there is no gold medal in athletics, so we were motivated to win gold for the country. We have done that and we are proud of that," Prachi said.

This was after Gulveer continued his spectacular run of form by winning the 5000m bronze with a time of 13:32.75,

Double Olympics champion breaks Asiad jinx

NAGOYA, SEPTEMBER 29

Li Wenwen's celebration of an Asian Games gold in the women's +86kg weightlifting may have seemed a touch exuberant for a double Olympics champion, but the 26-year-old insisted it was a natural outpouring of joy after accomplishing her mission at the Nagoya-Aichi Games on Tuesday.

China's Li, who followed her +87kg title in Tokyo with the +81kg gold in Paris, totalled 310kg at the Nagoya City Trade and Industry Center, taking the title with a couple of Games records as well.

Although well short of her world record mark of 335kg, it was more than enough to finish comfortably ahead of South Korea's Park Hye-jeong, who lifted 300kg.

Known for her habit of sleeping on the floor during competitions, Li was in tears once the results were out before jumping onto the podium with childlike joy to receive her gold. "I have done a very good job today, I came here just for this medal," said a beaming Li.

Before that, her competitive edge was on full display. Li let out a scream as she sauntered in, dipped her taped fingers into chalk powder, and rubbed them onto her palms before stepping onto the platform for the snatch.

She began with a modest 132kg but flattened the field with her third attempt of 140kg for a new Games record. Park's 133kg was the next best.

Park laid down a marker in the clean and jerk too, lifting 167kg, but Li effortlessly surpassed the mark with 170kg.

"I will rest for one or two days and then prepare myself better for the Olympic Games," she said, while confirming she was sticking to her sleeping routine in Nagoya too. "If you follow my social media you will see; always on the floor at competitions I sleep on the floor. I feel safer. We stay on the cruise ship. I am sleeping very well." — Reuters

CRUEL TWIST

A cruel twist of fate denied Iraq's Ali Ammar the gold medal, even after he set a snatch world record in the men's +110kg event. Ammar lifted 219kg to build a sizeable cushion heading into the clean and jerk, where his second attempt at 246kg left him one kilogram short of Iran's Ali Davoudi, who totalled 466kg. With the clock winding down and confusion in his camp, Ammar hurried onto the platform, fumbled with his belt and missed his final clean-and-jerk attempt to settle for silver. "The last attempt was really important for me. Unfortunately, the time was running out. I missed the opportunity," Ammar lamented. "I thought I had two minutes to rest but then I ran out. I needed to pull up my belt and walk there, which is like 10 seconds and then time ran out. If I had 10 more seconds that would have been great. I was not able to attempt it (properly)." — REUTERS

Parveen defeated China's Li Shu 5-0 before Ankush produced a stirring comeback to out-punch reigning 75kg world champion Uzbekistan's Fazliddin Erkinboev 4-1 and book his place in the 80kg summit clash.

Narender, however, went down 0-5 to reigning super-heavyweight world champion Aibek Oralbay of Kazakhstan in the last-four stage. The bronze is Narender's second at the Asian Games after he also finished on the podi-

Ankush became the first Indian male boxer in eight years to reach an Asian Games final, with Amit Panghal, who won the 49kg title in 2018, the last to achieve the feat. The Commonwealth Games gold medalist showed remarkable resilience against Erkinboev, recovering from a slow start to dominate the final round and secure a memorable victory. "I had played against the same opponent during the Asian junior championships and I lost the bout. We watched the videos of his bouts and made our strategy," Ankush said.

"The CWG also boosted my confidence and I have come here to win gold. I lost the first round but my mindset was to somehow win the semis and go for gold," he added.

Mughal persecution of Sikh Gurus figures in new NCERT Class IX textbook

AKSHEEV THAKUR
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The new NCERT Class IX social science textbook has highlighted the brutality of the Mughal rulers towards Sikh Gurus, with specific references to Guru Arjan Dev, Guru Tegh Bahadur and Guru Gobind Singh. It also spotlights resistance to the Mughals by the Jats, Rajputs, Ahoms and Marathas.

The book, Understanding Society: India and Beyond, Part 2, released on Tuesday, contains a history chapter titled “Resistance and Resilience”. It states that from the mid-7th century, Arab forces launched invasions by sea and land. These early invaders were confronted and repulsed by Indian rulers across the Deccan, Malwa, Kashmir and Rajasthan, the chapter says.

The textbook notes that Mahmud, the Sultan of Ghazni (in present-day Afghanistan and northeastern Iran), launched his first invasion in 1001 against Jayapala of the Hindu Shahi dynasty.

It states that owing to the growing socio-cultural influence of the Sikh Gurus, the Mughal state increasingly intervened in their affairs from the beginning of the 17th century.

“As the Gurus’ influence was increasing, Jahangir ordered the execution of Guru Arjan Dev (the fifth Sikh Guru) on the pretext of the Guru’s alleged support for Jahangir’s rebellious son, Khusrav Mirza. The martyrdom of Guru Arjan Dev marked a significant turning point in the history of the Sikhs and contributed to a gradual shift in their organisational and political orientation. Later, Guru Hargobind (the sixth Sikh Guru) was detained by Jahangir in Gwalior Fort,”

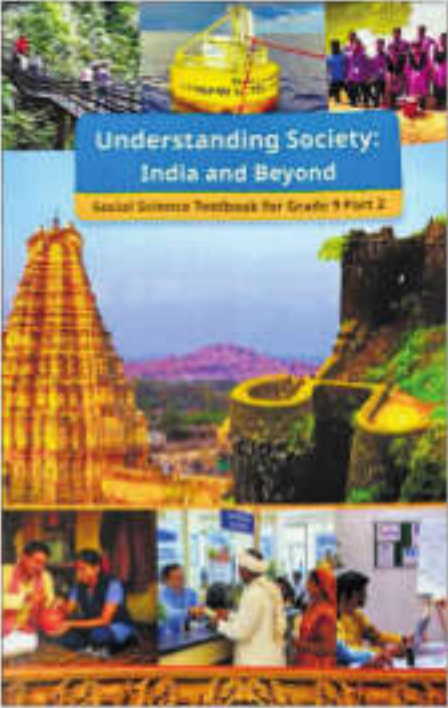

the chapter states.

The textbook also refers to the execution of Guru Tegh Bahadur, the ninth Sikh Guru, on the orders of Mughal emperor Aurangzeb in 1675.

“The martyrdom proved a turning point in Indian history. The brutality of the Mughal state against the Sikh Gurus, particularly Guru Arjan Dev, Guru Tegh Bahadur and Guru Gobind Singh, has few comparisons in history. The valour and sacrifice of the Gurus for the cause of the faith became the defining features of Sikhism,” the textbook says.

It argues that beyond political motivations, the act was also deeply rooted in the rigid religious and discriminatory practices of the Mughals.

“The martyrdom of the Sikh Gurus in defence of their faith and principles strengthened the conviction among Sikhs that persecution had to be met with firm resistance and resilience. Such persecution and political pressure could only be countered through collective organisation and, when required, armed resistance. Many armed conflicts took place between the Sikhs and the Mughals. Guru Hargobind established the Akal

15% students faced distress, 9% had suicidal thoughts: SC study

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 About 15 per cent of students in higher education institutions experienced a period in the previous six months when they felt overwhelmed or distressed, while 9 per cent reported experiencing suicidal thoughts, according to a nationwide survey conducted by a Supreme Court-appointed panel examining student suicides.

The survey findings are expected to form part of the final report of the National Task Force (NTF) on addressing student mental health concerns and preventing suicides in higher educational institutions (HEIs), which is expected to be submitted by October 31.

The findings assume significance amid renewed debate over student suicides following the deaths of two students at IIT Delhi and IIT Bombay, which sparked widespread outrage.

The SC-appointed panel had earlier this year submitted an interim report noting that the higher education experience for many students is marked by “deep-rooted social discrimination, rampant sexual harassment in medical and engineering colleges; gender discrimination by faculty in medical, law and state universities in terms of academic sup-

Key Nirav Modi aide held after UAE deportation

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The CBI arrested Sandeep Bharat Mistry, a close aide of fugitive diamondaire Nirav Modi, upon his deportation from the UAE in the Rs 6,500 crore Punjab National Bank (PNB) fraud probe, officials said on Tuesday. According to officials, Mistry was wanted by both the CBI and the ED for his alleged role in the fraud.

Mistry was deported from the UAE on the basis of an Interpol Red Notice issued at the request of the CBI in July.

A CBI officer said, “Mistry acted as a key link between various entities, overseeing their day-to-day operations and issuing instructions through clandestine, self-deleting communication platforms to conceal evidence.”

A CBI spokesperson said, “Subsequently, Mistry was geo-located and arrested by UAE authorities, following which the deportation process was initiated. He arrived in Mumbai late on September 28, where he was taken into custody by officers of the CBI’s Bank Securities and Fraud Branch, Mumbai.”

The agency alleged that Mistry, along with others, coerced dummy directors of foreign firms by threatening them with arrest, seizing their electronic devices and compelling them to sign documents falsely portraying them as the genuine owners of the companies. — TNS

Navy must raise maritime monitoring, says Rajnath

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

Calling for a significant upgrade of India’s maritime surveillance architecture, Singh said the growing volume and complexity of maritime traffic required enhanced analytical capabilities. He was addressing the Navy’s biannual Commanders’ Conference 2026 at Nau-sena Bhawan.

With sea routes through the Strait of Hormuz and the Babel-Mandeb under stress, Singh told Navy commanders: “If the seas are secure, India will be secure.”

Barapullah Ph-II opens after decade-long delay

Flyover reduces travel time between east Delhi-AIIMS to 15 mins

MANIKANT MISHRA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 For thousands of commuters travelling from East Delhi and Ghaziabad towards AIIMS and South Delhi, the opening of Barapullah Phase-III on Tuesday is not merely another flyover entering Delhi's road network. It changes where a substantial chunk of that traffic can travel, taking vehicles away from the congested Sarai Kale Khan stretch of Ring Road and onto a signal-free corridor.

The Rs 1,635-crore project, approved in 2014 and started in 2015, was originally meant to be completed in 2017. Repeated delays pushed the project back by nearly a decade. It was finally inaugurated by Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday.

The Phase-III stretch links Mayur Vihar Phase-I with Sarai Kale Khan, joining the existing Barapullah network towards AIIMS and South Delhi. The combined corridor is about 9-km long. The flyover reduces travel time between East Delhi and AIIMS to 15 minutes. This creates a new choice the elevated route and continue towards the existing Barapullah corridor.

For commuters heading towards Ashram, a connection near Kalindi Colony also allows traffic to exit before the most congested portion of Ring Road.

PWD officials and transport experts expect a significant redistribution of traffic, although the department has cautioned that the actual reduction in congestion can only be established after traffic patterns settle following the opening.

The bigger civic question is therefore no longer whether Barapullah-III will open, but whether Delhi's traffic will actually be redistributed rather than merely shifted from one bottleneck to another.

The project itself illustrates the difficulty. Land acquisition, technical, environmental and procedural hurdles delayed

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The winter pollution battle in Delhi-NCR will begin with tighter restrictions on vehicles, construction activity and diesel generator (DG) sets this year after the Commission for Air Quality Management (CAQM) approved a wider set of provisions under the Graded Response Action Plan (GRAP).

The revised framework removes exemptions earlier available to certain older goods vehicles carrying essential commodities. It also expands the area covered by restrictions on older vehicles and brings stricter rules for interstate buses from the first stage of GRAP itself.

Young electors turn up at campus camps as SIR enters crucial phase

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 College campuses across Delhi turned into voter registration points on Tuesday, with young and first-time voters turning up at special camps to check their names in the electoral rolls, seek enrolment and clarify queries related to the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR).

The two-day camp, being held on September 29 and 30, is aimed particularly at students who have recently turned 18 or are yet to register as electors. Those turning 18 on or before October 1 have been asked to submit Form-6 for inclusion in the electoral roll, while existing voters can use the exercise to verify their particulars and seek corrections.

The campus-level outreach comes as the electoral roll revision gathers pace in the Capital, with the Election Commission also scheduling another round of special camps at colleges, universities and other educational institutions on October 7 and 8. Camps for all categories of electors will additionally be held at polling stations on October 4 and 11.

For students, the camps offered an opportunity to complete enrolment-related formalities without having to navigate the process separately, while election officials used the campuses to reach a large pool of newly eligible voters.

The ECI has also eased the process for electors who have received notices over unmapped or logical discrepancies in their electoral details.

High student classroom ratio in Delhi Govt schools flagged

HARSH YADAV
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

A lawyer has flagged the “excessively high” student classroom ratio (SCR) in several Delhi Government schools, particularly in East Delhi, claiming that overcrowded classrooms are forcing students to stay away from school due to the lack of adequate space.

In a letter addressed to the Secretary (Education), Government of NCT of Delhi, lawyer Ashok Agarwal said the situation had become particularly serious in senior secondary classes, where the number of students in some sections is reportedly as high as 70-80 and, in certain cases, nearly 90.

Citing the situation in an East Delhi government school, Agarwal said one class has around 90 students, with nearly 45 students reportedly not attending classes because of the shortage of space. He also pointed to a shortage of subject teachers, particularly for senior secondary subjects such as Physics, Chemistry and Biology.

ALL STUDENTS NEED ADEQUATE SPACE

“The situation has become particularly serious in senior secondary classes, where number of students in some sections is as high as 70-80 and, in some cases, 90. The non-creation of additional sections despite such a high SCR is seriously affecting education of students. Every student deserves adequate space and meaningful Right to Education.”

— Ashok Agarwal, A LAWYER

“The non-creation of additional sections despite such a high SCR is seriously affecting the education of students,” Agarwal said in the letter.

He said the overcrowding was resulting in inadequate classroom space and seating arrangements, thereby affecting students’ regular attendance as well as their learning environment. According to him, students cannot meaningfully exercise their Right to Education when schools do not have adequate classroom space and other basic facilities required for learning.

“Every student deserves adequate space and a meaningful Right to Education,” Agarwal said, urging the Education Department to intervene in the matter immediately.

The letter has sought the creation of additional sections and other necessary measures to bring down the student classroom ratio, particularly in schools witnessing severe overcrowding. Agarwal urged the department to ensure that all students are able to attend classes regularly and receive “proper and meaningful education”.

The complaint comes at a time when overcrowding in Delhi Government schools remains a concern in areas witnessing high enrolment, with the impact particularly visible in senior secondary classes where students require subject-specific classrooms and adequate teacher availability.

MCD House approves 70 mechanical sweepers

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

The Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) General House on Tuesday approved proposals to procure 70 mechanical road sweepers and 1,000 vacuum-based battery-operated litter-picker machines, besides clearing the urbanisation of 48 Delhi villages under Section 506(A) of the Delhi Municipal Corporation Act. Deputy Mayor Monika Pant said the new mechanical sweepers would strengthen road cleaning and dust-control measures, while the litter-picker machines would improve sanitation on roads and public places. The procurement of 70 mechanical road sweepers and 1,000 battery-operated litter-picker machines is also reflected in the MCD’s ongoing procurement processes.

Pant said councillors discussed pollution, unauthorised construction and other civic issues during the meeting, with representatives raising matters concerning sanitation, roads, basic infrastructure and facilities in their respective wards.

She alleged that AAP councillors did not participate in discussions on these issues at the beginning of the meeting and arrived nearly two hours late. Pant said elected representatives should participate in House proceedings and raise issues concerning residents irrespective of political differences. Leader of the House Jai Bhagwan Yadav also alleged that AAP Leader of Opposition Ankush Narang and other AAP councillors misbehaved with security personnel while entering the Municipal House. According to Yadav, the councillors were asked to use the designated entry gate, following which an argument and alleged pushing and shoving took place. Yadav said security personnel were responsible for enforcing House security protocols and alleged that the incident amounted to an attempt to disrupt proceedings. The AAP however, disputed the allegations. Narang alleged that MCD security personnel tried to prevent AAP councillors from entering the House and claimed that proceedings were adjourned after the party sought to raise the issue of Delhi PWD Minister Parvesh Verma and alleged illegal paying guest (PG) accommodation.

DDA puts MPD 2047 land use map online, brings plot-level information within public reach

MANIKANT MISHRA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

Delhi residents can now check the designated land use of an area or property under the Master Plan for Delhi (MPD) 2047 without visiting a civic office or relying on a third party, with the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) making the plan available through a GIS-based interactive digital map.

The move, made on the directions of Lieutenant Governor (L-G) Taranjit Singh Sandhu, puts location-specific land use information online and allows users to search an area or property, zoom down to plot level and identify its designated land use.

The map, available on the DDA website under the “Master Plan for Delhi 2047” section, brings several planning layers onto one platform. These include Land Pooling Areas and Transit Oriented Development zones, besides layers covering Dwarka Sub City, Rohini Project Layout, PM UDAY Colonies and DDA parks. The MPD 2047 layer shows proposed land use across different parts of Delhi.

For a resident trying to understand what a particular property or its surroundings are designated for, the map provides nine major categories: Residential, Commercial, Industrial, Recreation, Transport, Utility, Government, Public and Semi Public Facilities, and Agriculture and Water Body. Each has separate colour coding.

The platform also goes beyond viewing. Users can measure distances and dimensions, including the width or length of a road or plot, and make drawings or sketches for personal reference and analysis.

The DDA said the digital map is designed to be continuously updated as new data becomes available. It is also intended to help planners, professionals, government agencies and other stakeholders access information for preliminary planning and infrastructure and development related assessments.

The authority said bringing the information onto a single digital platform would improve access and transparency, while also providing a base for integrating spatial data across agencies and supporting better coordination in urban planning.

attacked him, Sachin and another passenger with knives before fleeing with the money. Prabhat sustained critical injuries and was declared brought dead at a hospital. Subsequently, a case was registered at the Kashmere Gate police station on September 25, they said.

The police said more than 500 CCTV cameras were analysed during the investigation. A Maruti Swift car seen taking a sharp U-turn at high speed near the underpass provided the first major lead. The vehicle was initially difficult to identify due to poor visibility and its distance from the CCTV camera.

Investigators subsequently analysed CCTV footage along with automatic number plate recognition cameras and technical surveillance.

The registration number displayed on the car was traced to a vehicle registered in the name of a Noida resident, Bhagat Singh. However, the police found that the actual vehicle bearing the registration number was different from the one captured in the footage, indicating that a fake number plate had allegedly been used. Further analysis of around 150 CCTV cameras along the suspected routes showed a vehicle with a Uttar Pradesh registration approaching the underpass from the Yamuna side via Loha Pul about two hours before the robbery. It had five to six people inside, the police said.

The vehicle was traced to Deepu, a resident of Jhansi. During the analysis of his call detail records, investigators found a mobile number that was in contact with both Deepu and the deceased. The number was allegedly being used by Om, Prabhat’s first cousin. Police teams were subsequently sent to Uttar Pradesh. Om was apprehended from Kanpur, while Deepu and a juvenile were apprehended from Jhansi. Another accused, Abhishek, was arrested from Etawah, where he was allegedly hiding.—TNS

CBSE clarifies registration, LOCs process for 2027 board exams

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29

With preparations for the 2027 board examinations under way, the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) held a live interaction with school principals and educators on Tuesday to address queries over the submission of student data and the List of Candidates (LOCs).

The session, conducted at the CBSE Integrated Office in Dwarka, came as schools are in the process of submitting LOC details for students appearing for the Class X and XII board examinations next year. The Board is also set to begin the registration process for students of Classes IX and XI shortly.

A major focus of the interaction was the accuracy of information being submitted by schools. CBSE officials discussed issues concerning student particulars, subject choices and changes, verification of LOC data, examination fees and provisions applicable to Children with Special Needs (CWSN).

During the question and answer session, principals and teachers raised queries on the registration and LOC procedures, which were addressed by senior CBSE officials. The Controller of Examinations also explained key aspects of the process to participating schools.

The Board has asked schools to carefully check student details and subject combinations before final submission and ensure that any discrepancies are addressed within the prescribed timelines. CBSE has previously flagged errors and delayed submission of student data as issues that can create administrative difficulties and affect examination related timelines.

The registration and LOC exercise spans nearly 32,000 CBSE affiliated schools in India and 26 other countries, making the verification of student and subject data a significant part of the preparations for the 2027 examinations.

More than 450 principals and educators attended the Dwarka session in person, while the programme was also livestreamed on CBSE’s official YouTube channel. The Board has advised schools, students and parents to rely on its official website for subsequent instructions and updates related to registration, LOC submission and the 2027 board examinations.

Fashion, technology and retail converged on the global skills stage in Shanghai, where four National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT) participants represented India across emerging creative disciplines, returning with two silver medals and a Medal for Excellence at the WorldSkills Competition 2026.

At the competition, held from September 23 to 26, Kovid Ajay Gangrade of NIFT Mumbai won silver in Digital Interactive Media Design, while Saniya Joshi of NIFT Panchkula secured silver in Retail Sales. Vidhi Niravkumar Suthar, a Fashion Design graduate from NIFT Gandhinagar, received a Medal for Excellence in Fashion Technology.

The fourth NIFT participant, Anuja Ajay Vare of NIFT Bengaluru, competed in Visual Merchandising.

The performances came at a competition that brought together more than 1,400 young competitors from around 68 countries and regions across 64 skills. India fielded its largest-ever contingent of 70 competitors across 63 skills, securing six silver medals and 20 Medals for Excellence.

For NIFT, the Shanghai outing also reflected how far fashion education has moved beyond garments and traditional design. Digital experiences, retail strategy, visual presentation and technology are increasingly becoming part of the skill set expected from professionals in the sector. Digital Interactive Media

Design and Retail Sales were among the newer skill categories highlighted at this year’s competition, putting students at the intersection of creativity, technology and consumer experience.

For Suthar, the Fashion Technology competition followed four months of intensive preparation at NIFT New Delhi under Prof (Dr) Monika Gupta and the institute’s training team. Her preparation focused on technical precision, international standards and performing under competition conditions.

NCR home prices jump 12% as luxury housing demand up

SUMEDHA SHARMA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

GURUGRAM, SEPTEMBER 29 Residential prices in India’s National Capital Region rose 12 per cent year-on-year in the July-September quarter, the sharpest increase among the country’s top seven property markets, even as new project launches fell 14 per cent and sales dipped marginally, according to data from real estate consultancy Anarock.

NCR recorded sales of 13,765 housing units in the third quarter of 2026, down 1 per cent from 13,920 units in the same quarter last year, although sales rose 3 per cent from 13,365 units in the previous quarter, Anarock’s city-wise absorption data showed.

Across India’s top seven cities, housing sales rose 3 per cent annually to about 100,220 units, while new supply increased 18 per cent to more than 114,000 units. More than 34 per cent of NCR’s new supply during the quarter was priced above Rs 2.5 crore, pointing to a continuing shift towards the luxury segment.

Sudeep Bhatt, Director-Strategy at Whiteland Corporation, said the 3 per cent rise in sales and 18 per cent jump in launches “reflects a market that is steadily stabilising and demonstrating resilience”, with renewed developer confidence particularly visible in the premium housing segment.

Prices rise fastest among top seven markets despite softer sales, lower new supply

Pradeep Aggarwal, Founder and Chairman of Signature Global (India) Ltd, said Gurugram continued to attract “discerning homebuyers and long-term investors alike”, with demand for well-planned, amenity-rich communities from reputable developers remaining firm.

Robin Mangla, President of M3M India, said that while NCR sales saw a marginal moderation, the 12 per cent annual price appreciation “reflects the market’s continued strength and the premium commanded by well-connected micro-markets”.

Manik Malik, CEO and President of BPTP Limited, said the quarter’s performance “reflects the underlying resilience of India’s residential market”, with housing demand remaining steady as the sector moves through a phase of calibrated growth.

Other developers echoed the sentiment. Ashish Jerath of Smartworld Developers said branded residences were seeing “exponential growth” in NCR, with high-net-worth individuals buying luxury homes in large numbers. Raj-jath Goel of MRG Group said buyers were increasingly weighing location, planning and amenities rather than simply the availability of a home.

Ashish Sarin of Alpha Corp said improved connectivity and infrastructure were enhancing the appeal of emerging residential corridors. Ashish Aggarwal of AU Real Estate said buyers were looking beyond the basic proposition of a home to assess the wider living experience.

Developers from outside the region concurred. Umesh Gowda H A of Sanjeevini Group said homebuyers continued to show confidence in property as a long-term investment, while Lalit Parihar of Aaiji Group said buyers were placing greater emphasis on connectivity, construction quality and long-term value.

With the festive season underway, developers said demand was expected to remain healthy for well-located, amenity-driven projects, even as overall growth across the sector remained more measured than in previous quarters.

flung Idrish and Ashiq Ali along with the bike onto the road. Instead of stopping, the driver sped away from the scene.

After this Naieem and Ranjeet, with the help of passers-by, rushed both injured to a nearby hospital. Due to their critical condition, they were referred to Safdarjung Hospital in Delhi where doctors declared Idrish dead, while Ashiq Ali is being treated.

Based on the complaint, an FIR was registered against the unknown Thar vehicle driver.

We are trying to identify the vehicle and driver with the help of the CCTV footage of the area. The accused will be arrested soon,” said a senior police officer.

THAR DRIVER HELD FOR HITTING BIKER

In another incident, the Gurugram police arrested a Thar driver for rash and negligent driving and hitting a motorcycle on the Dwarka Expressway. They also seized the vehicle involved in the incident.

A video circulated on social media showed a black Thar

Roxx being driven at high speed and in a rash and negligent manner on the Dwarka Expressway before hitting a motorcycle carrying two youths. Taking cognisance of the viral video, the police registered a case.

Based on the viral video, the police identified the vehicle involved in the incident as well as its driver. The vehicle was recovered from a service station located in Sector 93 and taken into police possession as per Section 180 of the BNSS.

The police traced motorcycle rider Rajesh Kumar and pillion rider Dinesh and recorded their statements as per Section 180 of the BNSS.

MANCHANDA MURDER CASE

Disappearance of evidence can’t be ruled out, says Delhi court

RAHUL GAHLAWAT
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 A Delhi court on Tuesday directed an investigation into the possible role of Gurugram Police officials and a doctor in the handling of the body of real estate professional Yuvraj Singh Manchanda, observing that their involvement in the possible disappearance of evidence could not be ruled out.

Judicial Magistrate Rahul Jain directed that a copy of the order be sent to the Gurugram DCP concerned, citing “grave” procedural lapses by personnel of Badshahpur police station. These included a delay in uploading details of the body on ZIPNET, failure to videograph the post-mortem examination and failure to inform the executive magistrate. “Let a copy of this order be sent to the DCP Gurugram, having jurisdiction over PS Badshahpur, regarding procedural lapses by officials of PS Badshahpur, including delayed ZIPNET entry, failure to conduct post-mortem videography, and failure to inform the executive magistrate,” the court said. The court directed the DCP to submit a report within two weeks. It also summoned Dr Manav Chauhan, medical officer at Civil Hospital, Gurugram, to appear personally and explain discrepancies in the post-mortem report.

The court was hearing two applications filed by Manchanda’s sister, Harsimran. One sought judicial monitoring of the investigation, while the other sought the production and preservation of records, evidence, physical items and digital material in the custody of Badshahpur police station.

According to police, Manchanda was allegedly shot inside a car in Gurugram after he met his former colleague Anya Vats and her partner Sanyam Sachdeva.

Police have alleged that the accused kept his body in the car for two days before dumping it in a drain in Badshahpur on September 8. The body was recovered a day later.

Vats and Sachdeva, who worked with Manchanda until 2022, are primary accused in the case. Police said the duo fled to Vrindavan after the murder and later travelled to Kainchi Dham in Uttarakhand, where they were arrested.

commodities had earlier been allowed during GRAP-3, while some older trucks received exemptions during GRAP-4. Under the revised rules, carrying essential goods will no longer by itself exempt vehicles that do not meet the required emission standards.

For interstate buses, the restriction will now start earlier. From GRAP-1, buses entering Delhi and NCR from Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan and nearby states will have to be electric, CNG or BS-6 diesel. Earlier, this restriction began with GRAP-2.

The CAQM has also widened monitoring of construction and demolition activity. Projects covering 500 square metres or more will require online registration and monitoring across urban, controlled, development, industrial areas and highway corridor zones in NCR.

The commission has further moved to impose double penalties for violations involving diesel generator sets from GRAP-1 itself. Earlier, the double-penalty provision came into force at GRAP-2. The changes effective

For commuters, however, the first measure of success will be much simpler: how many minutes are saved and whether the Ring Road queue outside Sarai Kale Khan actually gets shorter. That answer will emerge only after the new traffic pattern has had time to settle.

The existing super site at Rouse Avenue will be reactivated for scientific operations, while the mobile laboratory will also be restarted to conduct targeted studies of pollution hotspots and local sources. The five-year project is estimated to cost around Rs 19.22 crore and will include a real-time dashboard, analytical reporting and capacity-building of Delhi Pollution Control Committee officials.

Gupta said the government was working on pollution throughout the year instead of treating it only as a winter problem. She said departments, pollution control committee, municipal corporation and scientific institutions would work together to address road dust, vehicular emissions, construction and demolition dust, industrial pollution and waste and biomass burning.

Pawar alleged that the two men were attempting to provoke a confrontation. He said they were subsequently caught and handed over to the police, but no action was taken against them at the time.

He further claimed that it later came to light that the two men were police personnel. Pawar also alleged that a man wearing a light-blue T-shirt had used similar casteist language at the same spot on September 27, though he said it was possible that the person was also a police official.

Kejriwal’s visit to Tilak Nagar on Monday.

According to the police, the head constable was recording the proceedings when he was allegedly surrounded by a group of AAP supporters. He was subsequently assaulted, the police said.

The policeman underwent a medical examination following the incident and is stated to be stable.

The FIR has been registered under Sections 221, 132 and 115 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS).

The FIR comes amid heightened tensions between the AAP and the Delhi Government following a protest by the party demanding the registration of a case against Delhi PWD Minister Parvesh Sahib Singh over an alleged slapping incident in Tilak Nagar.

This is the second FIR in two days involving AAP MLA Jarnail Singh. He was earlier booked on a complaint by the PWD for obstructing a public servant from discharging his duties and interfering with government work.

ESMA invoked...

and the Delhi High Court questioned the government over steps to prevent such interruptions.

During a hearing on September 23, a bench headed by Chief Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Tejas Karia directed the government and DTC to take necessary measures to keep bus services running smoothly.

The court proceedings also brought out that the government had already been considering ESMA. DTC told the court that a proposal to impose the law had been sent to the government on September 16 and 17. At the time, it informed the court that around 96 per cent of the buses had returned to the roads.

The government’s latest notification now turns that proposed measure into a formal six-month restriction. A senior government official said the step had been taken following the court’s directions to prevent similar strikes in future.

The significance of the order lies in its reach across the workforce running the two bus systems. It does not only cover permanent staff but also contractual and outsourced workers, meaning any strike or agitation affecting the notified services will face the six month prohibition.

Booth-level officers will visit such electors at their homes to collect documents and upload them for consideration by the Electoral Registration Officer. Hearings will now be held only in exceptional cases and, preferably, online. As of Tuesday, 4,01,670 hearings in such cases had been conducted in Delhi. The deadline for filing claims and objections is October 30, with the final electoral roll scheduled to be published on December 4.

With the enrolment camps now moving into campuses, the focus of the revision is also increasingly shifting towards ensuring that eligible young voters are not left out of the electoral roll.

Delhi HC sets aside FSSAI order directing Red Bull to drop ‘energy drink’ term

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 29 The Delhi High Court on Tuesday set aside an order of the Food Safety Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) directing Red Bull to stop using the term “energy drink” on its product.

Justice Amit Mahajan passed the order, noting that the FSSAI had issued the direction without giving the company an opportunity to file a reply or give any explanation. “The petition is allowed. The impugned order (of FSSAI) is set aside. The respondent is at liberty to pass a fresh order after according a hearing to the petitioner,” the court said while dictating the order and noted that principles of natural justice have been violated.

The court added that it remained undisputed that the June 30 order of the FSSAI directing petitioner Red Bull not to use the term “energy drink” on its product had been passed without giving the company an opportunity to file a reply.

An evening in Paris

Celine Dion performs at star-studded Paris Fashion Week, Aishwarya grooves to her iconic voice

Paris Fashion Week 2026 kicked off on a high note as L'Oreal Paris' Express Your Worth show unfolded against the stunning backdrop of the illuminated Eiffel Tower.

From Jane Fonda and Aishwarya Rai Bachchan to Kendall Jenner, women from different generations, backgrounds and fields came together to walk the runway. However, what made the star-studded showcase truly memorable was the appearance of iconic singer Celine Dion.

Celine Dion performed her classic hit I'm Alive before being joined on stage by fellow L'Oreal ambassadors. In visuals that have surfaced online, Aishwarya can be seen sharing a warm hug with Celine before grooving to the singer's performance, adding another memorable moment to the evening.

Sharing pictures of Celine from the show, L'Oreal Paris on Instagram wrote, "A voice that inspires. A strength that speaks volumes. Global icon @celinedion brings her iconic voice to Le Defile 2026 with I'm Alive, celebrating a moment of empowerment, resilience and worth." Recently, Dion returned to the stage for her first full concert in more than six years. Her career had been put on hold first by the Covid-19 pandemic and later by her diagnosis of stiff-person syndrome. During the milestone show, Dion broke down in tears moments after taking the stage, and she later addressed fans in an emotional moment about her "promise" to return to the stage for them. —ANI

MONA

FOR Jitin Gulati, acting was not a career choice that came suddenly. It was something that seemed to find him early. He stepped onto the stage for the first time, playing Lokmanya Tilak in a school Independence Day play when he was just four. Decades later, the stage and the camera remain the places where he feels most completely at home. "Every time I'm on the stage and I'm in front of the camera, I don't want to be anywhere else."

Actor Jitin Gulati reflects on his journey, his roles in Mahakali and Fauzi, and the lessons he has learnt along the way...

The journey, however, was far from straightforward. Before becoming a full-time actor, Gulati spent nearly nine years as a banker in Delhi. The move to Mumbai in 2008 proved to be an important turning point. "At the time, opportunities outside Mumbai were limited, and the idea of making acting a livelihood seemed distant."

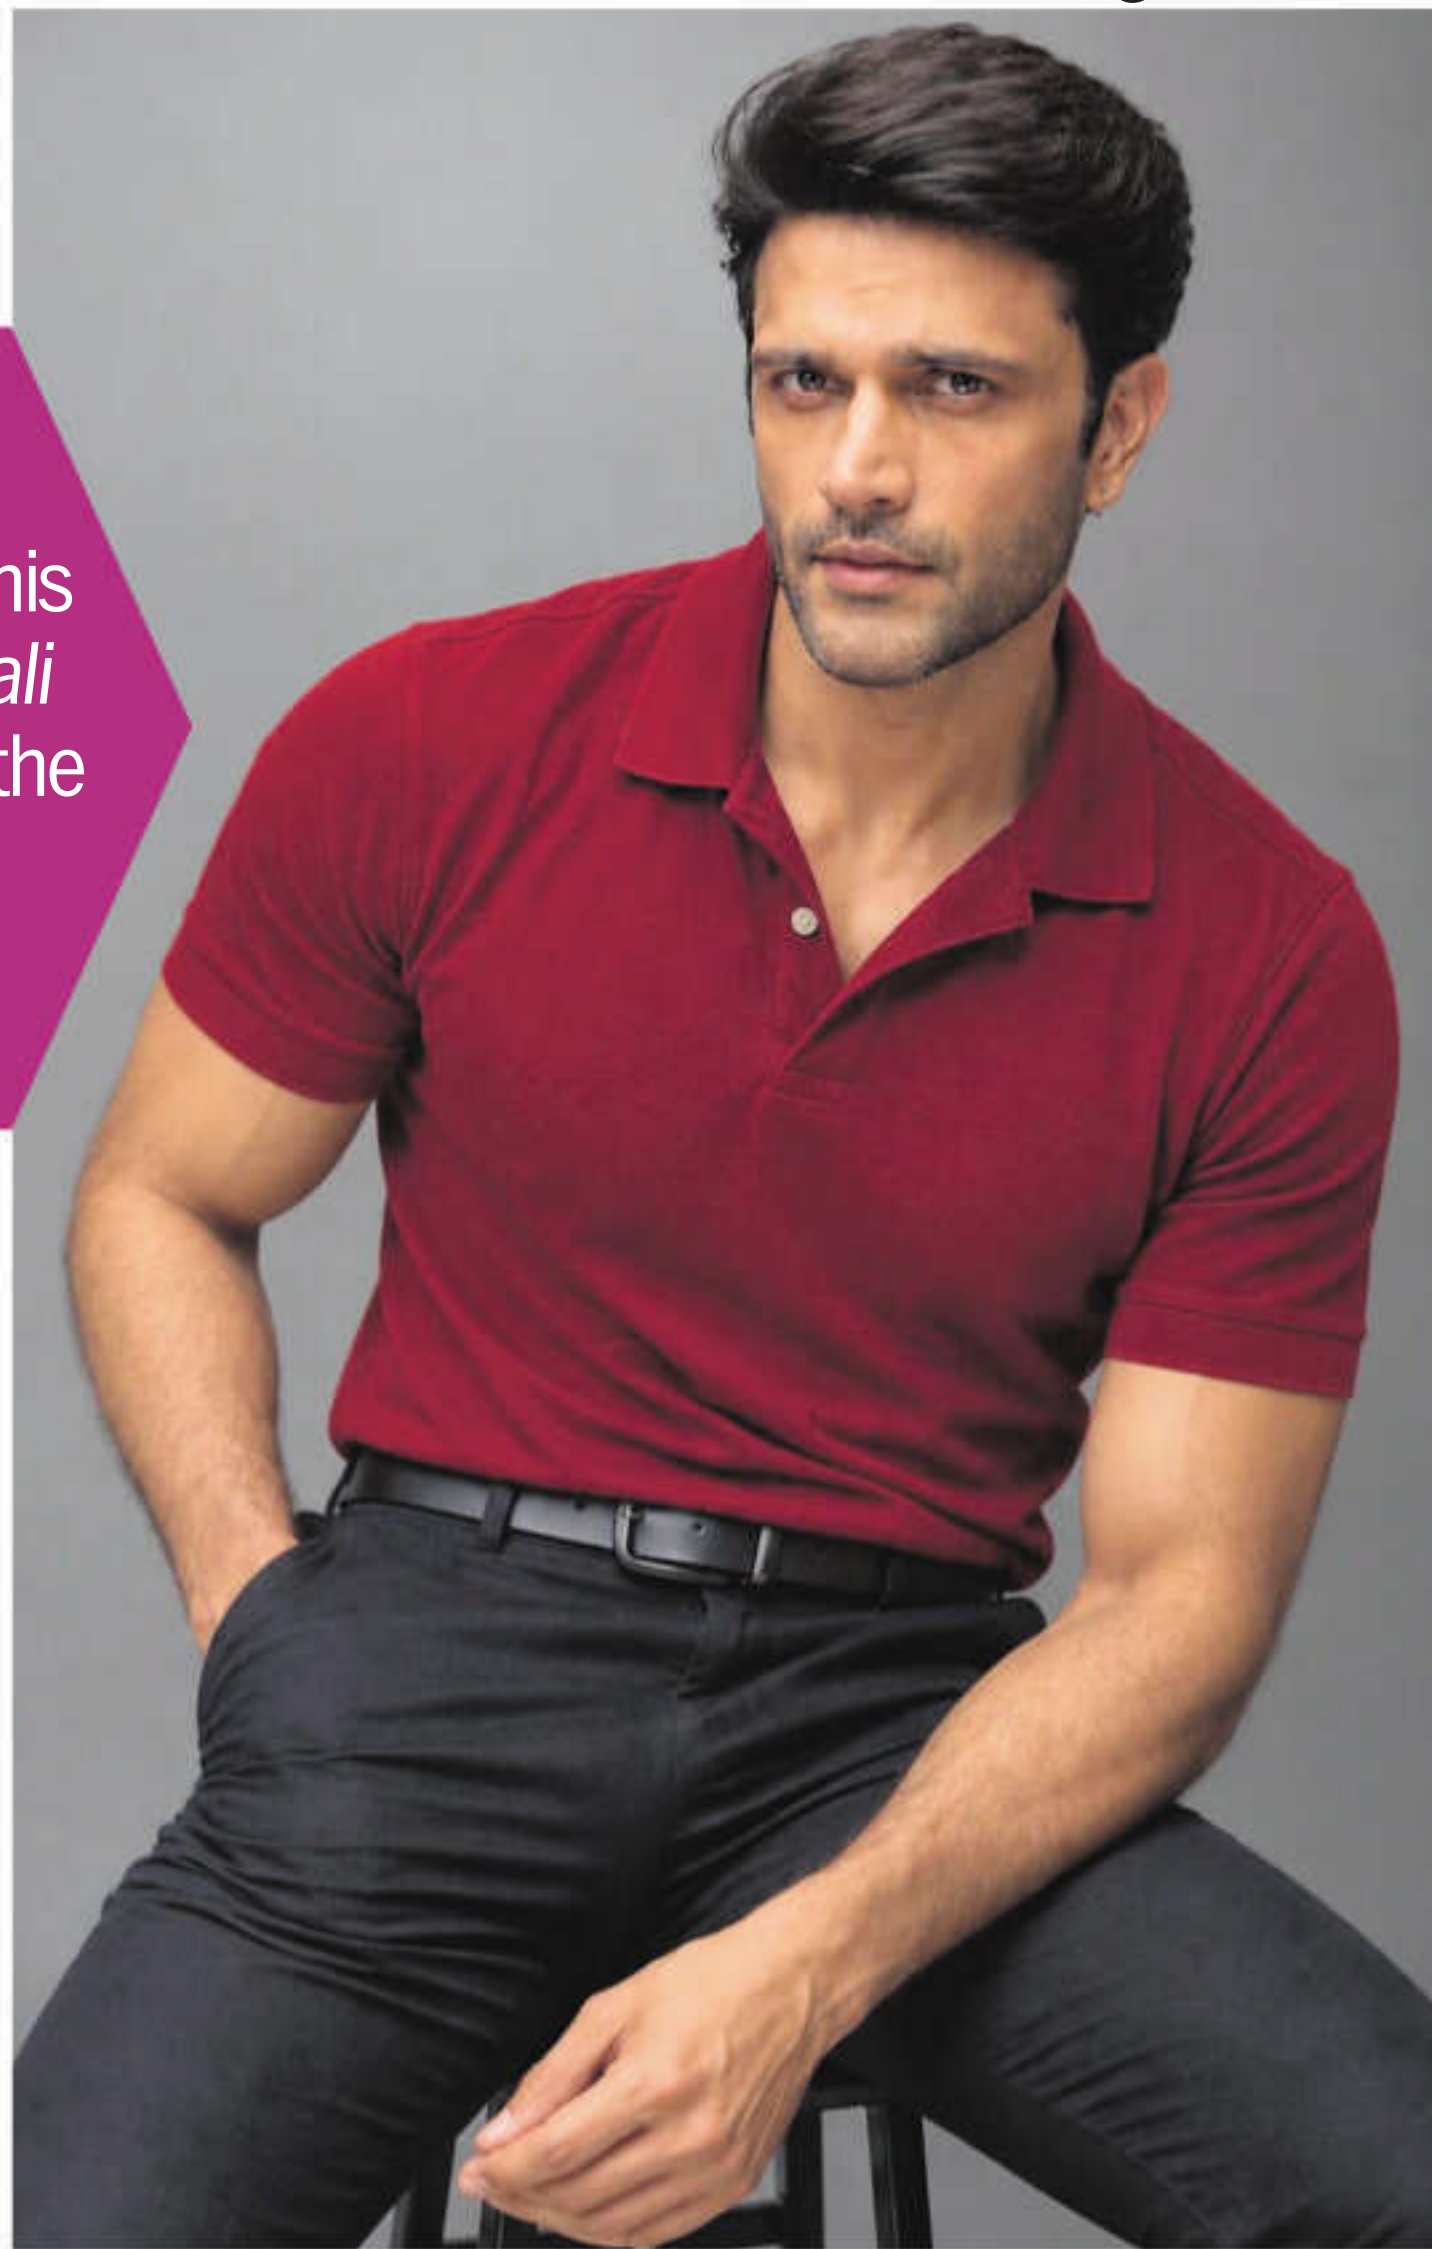

Auditions soon became a regular part of his life. Gulati describes himself, with a laugh, as "a professional auditioner". His first advertisement came after a month of auditioning, but it took several years of advertisements and countless auditions before his first film came along.

For Gulati, those auditions were more than just a means to an end. "It's a great practice place, honestly, auditions," he says. The persistence eventually began to translate into opportunities, including his work in Broken But Beautiful and the projects that have now put him on the cusp of a new phase in his career.

Looking back, Gulati describes the journey as "slow but steady". From the outside, the progression might appear smooth, but he insists that it has involved its share of uncertainty and setbacks.

"It's marred with a lot of ups and downs and stuff," he says. What matters to him is the direction. "The one thing that I'm glad about is that it's an upwards journey and I'm moving forward."

'It's been slow but steady'

That forward movement has brought him to two major pan-Indian projects — Mahakali and Fauzi — while also opening the door to work across languages and genres.

In Mahakali, a mythological fantasy drama, Gulati has a role he is not yet at liberty to reveal. What he can talk about is the extraordinary process of creating the character. The makeup alone could take around eight hours a day.

"It was another level of patience, I think, that I've learnt while doing Mahakali," he says. Yet, the experience was rewarding. "If a mythology film doesn't make me feel closer to who I believe in, I don't think that it's done its job," he says. For him, the challenge is to use technology without allowing it to overshadow the emotional core of the story. Having watched director Prasanth Varma's Hanu-Man, Gulati says he was drawn to the filmmaker's approach and wanted to become part of that cinematic universe.

His other major project is Fauzi, an epic war drama in which he has worked alongside big names like Prabhas. Gulati describes the scale of the film as "massive", recalling days when at least 500 people could be part of a scene. Set in the 1940s, the film has given him an experience that he calls "equally epic".

There is a Hindi film waiting in the wings too — a wedding story that will mark Gulati's first lead character in a Hindi title. For an actor who has spent years patiently building his career, it represents another significant step.

Kusha Kapila's new venture

Khusha Kapila and Sheeba Chaddha have teamed up for an Instagram series, Likhe Jo Khat Tujhe. The 14-episode Tulsea Original series pivots around a unique penpal relationship that forms between two women navigating emotional turbulences. The plot begins when one woman attempts to dispatch a letter addressed to an old friend, which inadvertently lands in the hands of a tenant currently residing in that house.

Ahead of the show's premiere, Kapila shared, "Working on Likhe Jo Khat Tujhe has been a meaningful journey and an important milestone as I explore this storytelling format on Instagram. Collaborating with an actor of Sheeba ji's calibre is a masterclass in itself; sharing screen space with someone with her expanse of experience and watching her bring authenticity and emotional depth to every single frame has elevated this project. This series is close to our hearts." — ANI
